The British Empire and The Union Jack.

Since the year 1847, the date of the establishing of the newer institution, so closely identified with the progress and prosperity of the great empire over which floats the Union Jack, many changes have occurred, yet still Victoria reigns, the happiest of all the crowned heads of Europe. The advocates of Commercial Union discuss and argue the many advantages which it would bestow upon the people of this country, but a large number forget the fact that all applications sent in to the British Empire Mutual Life Insurance Company before the 31st instant, will share in this year's profits. The profits will be allocated on the eleventh of April, proximo, and the cash dividend will be not less than 22½%. e. e. henderson is the general agent, to whom applications [illegible] dw

Reply to "Fellow-Workman"

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR.—In Monday's EXAMINER I find a communication addressed to myself and signed "Fellow-workman." In that communication I am taken to task for many sins of omission and commission. "Fellow-workman" has not hesitated to trump up charges which are wholly untrue. He makes insinuations which are not only without foundation but ridiculous.

I am called to account for offering myself as the working-man's candidate, and your correspondent proposes to be very funny at my expense; but I shall claim that I am entitled to the support of the workingmen. I am thoroughly one of the workingmen of the town, and, I hope, an honest one, and am entitled to their confidence.

"Fellow-workman" next takes me to task about economy. Men differ much in regard as to what constitutes economy. Since my friend has been kind enough to quote Scripture for my edification, perhaps a little would do him good. The Good Book says "there is that which scattereth and yet increaseth," and if, by my advocacy of spending a few hundred dollars, in whatever direction it may have been necessary, the town has been benefitted to the extent of thousands of dollars, I am quite satisfied. There have always been certain revenues coming into the town treasury from licenses, etc., and of these I have always endeavored to get the highest amount placed to the town's credit, and by so doing lessening the amount that would otherwise be required from the ratepayers. I am still further vilified for my advocacy of the water works. Well sir, I am not prepared to take a back seat on this question. From the first I was strongly inclined to favor a better system of fire protection than we then had, therefore I am quite willing to shoulder the responsibility that my "Fellow Workman" wishes to place upon me. I am even vain enough to wish to be called the Father of Water Works for the town of Peterborough. I would like to know what the town would be to-day without its water works, electric and gas lights? All of which improvements I have endeavored to promote. Is it, I may add, any benefit to the ratepayers of the town, that their rate of insurance is lower to-day than it otherwise would have been had there been no water works system? I leave it for the electors to says.

This is the second time that I have been called to account—first by an "Elector" and now by my "Fellow Workman," who, I assume, is the writer of both letters—for extravagance in furthering the system of water works.

I wish to set myself right and show my friend that he is wrong. What are the facts of the case? When the town was asked to take hydrants, I contended that it would be unjust to tax the ratepayers on the outskirts of the town to have to pay for the benefit of those living in the centre. For some time hydrants were put down, the people thus benefited paying by local tax. When it became necessary to extend the number, a by-law was submitted to the ratepayers, and this was carried. It placed sixty hydrants, thus covering a very large portion of the town; and in course of time, as the town enlarges, so will the water works system be extended.

In concluding this letter, I will say to my friend that I am extremely obliged to him for the good opinion he has of me. After the criticism I get, I am called a "good and useful citizen, and worthy of respect." That, Sir, satisfies me that "Fellow-workman's" bark is much worse than his bite. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper, I remain,

Yours, etc.,
ARTHUR RUTHERFORD.

Peterborough, Dec. 21st, 1887.

"Et Tu, Brute."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I note, with surprise, in your issue of yesterday a communication in which "vox populi" is certainly not "vox Dei". I only wish to refer to one little point. The writer refers—or rather alludes, for I think he must have been jesting—to Dr. Kane and Smith, as outsiders interfering in our private affairs. This point seems to be well enough taken, but it also seems to me to be a case in which the pot is indulging in recriminations against the kettle. Mr. Rutherford's candidature is advanced by imported outsiders, who sacrifice themselves in the interests of "Economy, Temperance and Municipal Progress"—at ten dollars a night. If the interference of Ulster "emissaries" in our Dominion elections is wrong, how can the interference of hired government officials and paid professional moralists be justified?

Yours submissively,
TU QUOQUE.

Canton Notes.

The regular Cantonment of Peterborough Canton Patriarchs Militant was held Tuesday evening, when two new Chevaliers were created. By-laws for future government were adopted, and it was decided to accept the offer of the Skating Rink Company to have the Canton conduct all the carnivals to be held this winter. General and sub-committees were appointed and will at once begin to prepare for the first carnival. On accounts of the holiday festivities the regular weekly drill to-night and next Wednesday night will be omitted.

Votes of Thanks.

At the quarterly meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, Monday evening, resolutions of thanks were unanimously adopted thanking F. H. Dairymen's Convention.

The Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario, will hold their annual meeting in Peterborough on Wednesday and Thursday, January 4th and 5th. Addresses on dairy farming, breeds of cattle, cheese and butter making, etc., will be delivered by prominent authorities on such matters. This convention will be of special interest to farmers and dairymen, who should everyone endeavor to be present. Read the advertisement elsewhere for particulars. The farmers in this county especially, where cheesemaking is a prominent industry, should make it a point to attend, as more generally useful information can be gathered at one of these meetings than probably can be gleaned from a month's reading. This is the second time the Association has convened here, and as the last meeting was poorly attend, the farmers and dairymen should make [illegible]

John's Prize Turkey.

Mr. J. Craig exhibits a large turkey at his store door which weighs 40 pounds. It came from Montreal. John is justly proud of his mammoth gobbler, and doubly so, no doubt, on account of his turkeyship's cleverness in escaping being stolen by the Montreal detectives, who had a peculiar penchant for "gobbling" big things

A Local Application

"Money makes the mare go," is an old sporting phrase, the principle of which may be applied in a different sense. Mr. A. McNeil, of Habliment Hall, finds that money is necessary to make his business go ahead at a rate that will keep him in the van of gents' furnishers and clothiers, and has advertised an immense clearing-out sale. He offers the whole of his $10,000 stock at and below cost for the next thirty days. Read his advertisement, "Money," in another column and see just how cheap he is going to sell.

A Neat Capture.

Mr. Joseph Griffin does things neatly, whether in fitting a boot or arresting a robber. On Saturday a lady came into his shop and told him that a man at the door acted as though he intended stealing a pair of boots. Mr. Griffin went outside and saw a man going west with a pair of stolen boots. He gave chase and overhauled his game, who was somewhat handicapped with the weight of whiskey as well as booty. Mr. Griffin having more soul than the boots, though they were a $6 pair, this fact, combined with the Christmas spirit—peace, good will, 10 per cent. off for cash, etc.—resulted in the release of the thief with some good advice.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

TWO LARGE FLOURING MILLS COMPLETELY DESTROYED.

Sewers Filled with Naphtha Cause the Disaster—Three Persons Known to Have Perished—Loss of Property Estimated at Over $200,000.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Dec. 21.—Shortly before 3.30 this afternoon a terific explosion occurred in front of the Poole flour mill on Mill-street, at the foot of Factory-street. The explosion was felt for a long distance, and Coroner Sharpe, who was at his sister's residence across the river, says he felt it distinctly. Only a few seconds after the first explosion another followed, and another and another, in rapid succession. Instantly flames burst from the Poole mill and the rear walls fell in. The fire burst with great fury, and although the workmen hastened to get out it is feared that some must have perished in the flames.

It was only a few minutes before the Washington mill adjoining the burning structure was also on fire. One workman jumped from the third story of the Poole mill and is seriously injured, another escaped by jumping into the race.

The cause of the explosion was that the sewers in the vicinity were filled with naphtha being pumped from the 4000-gallon tank of naphtha from the Vacuum Works through the pipe line in the bed of the old canal. It was intended for the Municipal Gas Company, but one or more breaks in the line allowed the naphtha to escape into the adjoining sewers. When the sewers became surcharged with the gas it escaped into the mills and exploded there or elsewhere, and made its way through the mains in the middle of the streets, throwing out man-hole covers and tearing up roadways.

The amount of damage cannot be calculated at this hour. Two of the three finest mills in America with their contents are doomed and several streets and sewers are more or less damaged.

In the vicinity of the fire and up State-street as far as Market-street, about three-quarters of a mile distance, the people were running in every direction and frequent explosions only terrified them more. The explosions continued at such frequent intervals for the first half-hour that the people were deterred from getting anywhere near the fire. Women and children are running around crying and screaming, thinking their brothers, husband or some relatives were in the mill and had been burned.

It is not known how many persons were at work or how many escaped. One man was seen to jump from the second story of the buildings to the river bank below, a distance of about fifty feet. His right leg was broken and he received severe internal injuries.

The walls of the Jefferson mill fell in about 4 o'clock and it is feared there are several men buried underneath

The engineer of the Clinton mill, with two companions, was standing near the front of the mill when the explosion occurred, not twenty feet from where they stood. They regained sufficient presence of mind to shut off the steam and get out of the mill. There were six persons at work in the Clinton mill, of whom four escaped through the water-wheel. It is now reported that three persons are known to be killed.

At the time of writing (11.30 p.m.) the fire is under control. The explosions ceased at 6.30 and no more danger is apprehended from them.

The explosions covered a wide extent of territory, windows were shattered in many buildings and other damage done. The tunnel through which the burning naphtha flowed for several hours is the largest sewer in the city, and is the outlet for the sewers on the West Side. How badly damaged this is as yet cannot be estimated.

The killed so far as known are: Ered Wilson, E. A. Webster, Abram Rogers and John Lee. The latter was an employe at the People's Mill and has not been accounted for, and it is supposed that he is dead in the ruins. The injured will number at least twenty. Most of them are bruised and cut by stones.

The total damage by the fire cannot be closely determined. The Washington mill was valued at $70,000, insurance about $35,000. The Jefferson mill with contents was valued at $60,000, on which there is about $35,000 insurance. The Clinton mill alone was valued at $65,000, on which is a probable insurance of $30,000. The Canton mill was fairly loaded with barrels of flour and grain in stock. The value of this is estimated at $12,000 to $15,000. The Washington mill contained about 15,000 barrels of flour and 800 bushels of wheat, valued at $10,000, and is mostly a total loss.

LIZZIE BRAY'S SAD DEATH.

EVIDENTLY BETRAYED BY A MARRIED MAN WHO ABANDONED HER.

The Testimony of Her Aunt, Her Sister and Two Other Ladies—How an 18-year-old Girl Shielded Her Wrong Doer—A Doctor Alleged to be Involved.

TORONTO, Dec. 22.

Last night in the front parlor of 60 Walton-street, the home of her aunt, Mrs. M. A. Parsons, lay the body of 18-year-old Lizzie Bray, whose death on Monday is alleged to have been caused by abortion, the work of John Gamble, with whom she had been intimate; and in the dining-room Coroner Powell opened an inquest on the body, with a jury of which J. H. P. Bonnick was foreman. Coroner Powell explained the gravity of the case and said that because of a missing link in the evidence several such cases in Toronto of late had been failures of justice. He said that the evidence of Dr. Teskey, who made the post mortem, would be reserved for a future sitting. Last night's witnesses were four ladies, who lived in the house, and as the Coroner explained at the close of the evidence, proved to be very strong against Gamble, who has not yet been located by the police. Even an attempt at the crime means murder, punishable with death.

Mrs. Mary Ann Parsons, boarding house keeper, and aunt of the deceased, said that she had raised the girl since she was 3 years old. Lizzie had been employed at the Crompton Corset works for two or three years together with her sister, who also lived with her aunt. Among recent boarders in the house was John Gamble who boarded there for about seven months until two months ago. He with the other male boarders, worked in the Williams piano factory. For a while her niece had been looking bad but only within the last three weeks had she been unwell. She went to her work till a week ago. And her aunt did not notice anything wrong till she learned it by means of an anonymous letter which came to her (Mrs. Parsons') brother and by another person asking if she thought there was anything wrong between Lizzie and Gamble.

Mrs. Parsons spoke to her niece two weeks ago but could get no satisfaction till a week ago, when the girl did not deny that she was in trouble. Dr. Ferguson was called in and concluded that there was something wrong. Lizzie wanted to go away but the doctor advised that she be kept and kindly treated. One day, week before last, Gamble came to the house but was ordered out by the witness, who had, eight or nine weeks before, told him she did not want a married man going out walking with her niece, as he had been accustomed to do. About three weeks ago Lizzie stayed away for two days and two nights, during which she was in communication with Gamble, although she said she was going to visit a young friend. Gamble had a strange power over the girl and she refused to give him up. Once the witness asked Gamble in Lizzie's presence if there was anything wrong between them and he said that his last thought would be to wrong an orphan girl. Upon receiving the anonymous letter he was accused of being the cause of the trouble, but he most solemnly denied it. He asked Lizzie to assert his innocence, which she did. Lizzie was not in the habit of going with any one else. Witness believed that Gamble put her up to say, as she did in her last sickness, that the cause of her trouble was a young man named Cooper, whom she had met at a picnic.

Mrs. Parsons was sure that Gamble was the man because she was told by boarders that such was the case, and because since the girl's death, she learned that the girl had confessed to a lady boarder her intimacy with Gamble, who had refused to acknowledge it to her aunt. Mrs. Parsons thought that on her death-bed Lizzie had tried, but in vain, to tell the truth. A week before she died she received a fright by Gamble coming in partly drunk and calling on the Lord to witness his innocence. Lizzie grew worse from Thursday and although attended by two doctors she sank and died early on Monday just as the doctors arrived. Dr. Ferguson thought death was the result of an abortion caused by the girl taking something. Witness heard that Gamble had given her some medicine, a married sister of Lizzie's saying she had seen her drink something out of a little black bottle not very long ago.

Miss Lillie Bray, sister of the deceased, said Gamble had known her sister since the spring. Gamble used to take both to the Island in the summer. In September Gamble told her that Lizzie was in trouble and that he was the cause. He seemed sorry and said he was going to give her some medicine which he thought would make her all right. He also said he had a doctor who would use instruments, but did not mention the doctor's name, nor did the witness know if the doctor had ever seen Lizzie. It was about September when Lizzie got the medicine, a dark fluid in a small, round bottle, which she identified on its being produced. She never saw her sister taking it but knew she was doing so. Lizzie knew that the witness was aware of the trouble, but they never spoke of it. Gamble also said he was going to get an instrument and use it himself and witness saw it in his possession. About two weeks ago Lizzie went alone to see Gamble, who was sick at a Gerrard-street west boarding house. Gamble told the witness that he was going to get a boarding house for Lizzie and he thought she would soon be all right. They remained away two nights and stayed at a boarding-house on Church-street, passing as Mr. and Miss Black, brother and sister.

Mrs. Elizabeth Butler, a boarder in the house, thought that the deceased was too intimate with Gamble, a married man, although she had no knowledge of anything improper. She heard Gamble accused of the wrong-doing, but he denied it. At last Lizzie admitted she had got into trouble at a picnic and that Gamble was to blame. The girl was desperate and said she did not care what became of her. The two went to Gamble's boarding-house, and he wanted to know if she had given anything away to her uncles. She commenced to cry, and he advised her to go away and he would look after her.

Miss Maxwell McAllan, also a boarder in the house, was examined, but nothing new was elicited.

The inquest was adjourned till Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1888, at 7.30 o'clock, at Agnes-street Station, when other witnesses will be examined.

The funeral, which was postponed from yesterday, will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

At Marthaville, three miles from Petrolea lots of natural gas are conveyed to several private houses for heating and cooking. It is used in Courtwright to run a mill, and is said to save about $40 a day for fuel.

Stocks in New York Elevated.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The Commercial Advertiser's financial says: "Not having met with much success in their efforts to sell down prices of stocks, the professional contingent made a little excursion this morning on the bull side. The effect upon the market was not very pronounced, but it served to show that just as present prices go up more easily than they go down."

ITEMS FROM TORONTO.

At the Dominion Grange meeting yesterday morning the committee appointed to wait on Mr. Oliver Mowat with reference to the adoption of the Torrens land system in Ontario stated they were not in a position to report. The alleged decrease in value of farm lands in the Dominion was discussed. In Durham, Bruce, Peterboro' [illegible] Grey counties farm lands it was claimed had decreased in value; in Halton, Wellington, Peel and Haldimand the farms were as valuable as ever. The Executive Committee reported a marked activity in grange work throughout the Dominion, attributable to the change in the constitution allowing direct representation from the sub-granges.

In the afternoon the Legislature Committee recommended that the Government establish the weight of a barrel of salt at 280 pounds and that inspectors be appointed who shall see that not a barrel is shipped unless it is of standard weight. The report also recommended the abolition of pensions to retired civil officers. A resolution was adopted to memorialize the Government for the regulation of the local tariff of railways. Resolutions requesting the Government to make the subject of agriculture more permanent in public schools were also passed.

At the evening session the Committee on Agriculture presented a report, in which it was stated that agriculture in Canada is in a depressed condition from keen competition with other countries, the cheap labor of India and the discrimination in taxes and freights against the agricultural interests. The committee recommended more extended and systematic improvement of the fertility of the soil by underdraining and by imparting to the soil a return of the ingredients extracted therefrom in raising grain; an equalization of taxes and freight, and the securing of enlarged markets by the adoption of free trade principles. The Committee on Legislation presented the second part of their report advocating Commercial Union. The majority of the committee were in favor of Commercial Union, but the clause was referred back, after a long discussion, for alteration in the wording. Jabel Robinson of Middlemarch, E. H. Hilburn of Uxbridge and W. Cumming of Huron, addressed the Grange on agricultural matters.

The extradition trial of T. W. Young of Detroit, who is alleged to be a forger, was continued yesterday before Judge McDougall. All the evidence available was heard and the case was adjourned for a week for further evidence.

$200 FOR TWO FINGERS.

An Interesting Case at Hamilton—Consultation of Railway Magnates.

HAMILTON, Dec. 21.—Joseph Hickson, General Manager, and Charles Stiff, General Superintendent of the Grand Trunk, were at the Grand Trunk Railway station here this morning. They went west on a special train. Before going the gentlemen had a consultation with Samuel Barker, General Manager of the Northern and Northwestern Railway. The general impression among railway men here is that the Grand Trunk has secured control of the Northern. The old rumor about the removal of the Grand Trunk shops from here to Stratford has also been revived.

At the General Sessions this morning the case of Flockton v. Ontario Cotton Mills Company occupied the court. This was a case under the Factory Act in which a girl named Maria Flockton sued the company for damages for injury received by getting her fingers lacerated in a machine at which she had been told to work without having first received proper instructions regarding the mode of running it. The defendants claimed that the girl was careless.

The judge left two questions to the jury. First, whether the defendants were guilty of negligence, and second, whether the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence. To the first the jury answered Yes and to the second No. The plaintiff accordingly got a verdict for $200, the full amount which the County Court can award.

A Steamer Burned in The Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—The freight steamer San Vincente, plying between this city and Santa Cruz, took fire last night off Pigeon Point, about forty miles south of Golden Gate and burned to the water's edge. The crew consisted of 19 officers and men. The burning vessel was sighted by the Pacific Coast Steamship Companies steamer Queen of Pacific, which was bound from San Diego to this port. Several boats were lowered and went to the rescue of the San Vincente's crew. Capt. Charles Lewis and the second mate were found on the deck of the steamer preparing to jump into the sea, as the flames were rapidly surrounding them. The first mate and four sailors were found drifting in a small boat in which they had escaped, and another sailor was discovered clinging to the bottom of an upturned boat. These men were all rescued and taken on board the Queen of the Pacific. No trace could be found of the other eleven men who composed the crew, and it is supposed they were all lost.

Stanley Reported at Wadelai.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 19.—A messenger has arrived from Central Africa who brings no direct news from Henry M. Stanley but says it is reported in the country on the eastern side of Lake Nyanza that Mr. Stanley, after many privations, reached Wadelai in the early part of September. The principal difficulty he encountered was between the Mabodi country and Wadelai.

The Liquor "Detectives" Out on Bail.

Capt. Dunne, lately Governor of Castlebar Jail and an ex-officer in the United States army, has been committed for trial in Dublin for firing a revolver at the Rev. Henry Melville. It appears that the Rev. Melville eloped with Dunne's daughter to the establishment, he having seduced her while she was residing with Mrs. Melville. They traveled to different places and finally returned to London, where Dunne discovered them. Melville fled to Ireland and was followed by Dunne, who traced him to Dublin, and on seeing him in a cab fired at him. Melville held a traveling rug before him and stopped the bullet.

Professor Virchow takes this favorable view."

In a letter to a friend Mr. Gladstone says that nothing would give him more satisfaction than to see the Tories returning to the position in which they appeared to be two years ago, and by autonomy bring about an indissoluble union between Ireland and Great Britain, "but if they leave the decision in the hands of the Liberals," he adds, "we will overcome not for the first or twentieth time by constitutional means their resistance."

The St. Petersburg Gracknews, semi-official, censures the British Government for supporting the triple alliance against Russia. It says Lord Randolph will confer with several Russian statesmen and if possible will interview the Czar.

Defensive operations are progressing in all parts of Austria. The telegraph offices have received orders to suppress reports of the number of regiments ready to proceed to Galicia, in the event of Russia reinforcing the troops now on the frontier.

The Canadian Gazette reviews the Canadian live stock export trade during the past year. The season just closed ranks numerically the greatest in the history of the trade. The total number of cattle shipped was over 350,000. There were only 35,000 sheep, the smallest number recorded since 1878. Prices were abnormally low throughout the whole season, the highest average barely reaching sixpence per pound. It was less than sixpence for many weeks, while in October and November it was fourpence three farthings and fourpence halfpenny, the lowest figure ever known in the trade. On the other hand, the cattle were bought very cheap and freights were low. The mortality was slightly in excess of the past two years, but on the regular losses the percentage was remarkably low, both in cattle and sheep, comparing favorably with any service of the kind, either from the States or the Continent.

A California Letter.

LOS ANGELES, California.
December 8th, 1887.

DEAR EXAMINER,—Being a resident of your beautiful city for a number of years, and they were, perhaps, among the most pleasant of my past life, I am naturally inclined to regard Peterborough as my home. If you choose to give space in your valuable columns to this article, I will endeavor to let your many readers in Canada know the plain condition, advantages and disadvantages of Southern California. It is almost impossible for Eastern people to get a correct or truthful statement of the boom in this part of California now at the present time, for this reason, viz: The land-owners and land-agents are printing circulars and pamphlets and writing to the eastern press, exaggerating the true state of the country, and by these base means hope to induce thousands of people to come in here and buy their lands at outrageous prices. They, of course, are simply misrepresenting this place, and are the means of many poor mechanics giving up their present situations and leaving their homes in the east and coming to California, spending their dearly-earned savings in trying to get here, and many arrive in this city with hardly a dollar in their pockets, expecting to get employment and big wages immediately upon their arrival.

True there is a vast amount of skilled workmanship and labor required here just now, and will be, but at the same time the supply is greater than the demand, and consequently there are many who find it a very difficult matter to get work, and in many cases come to want. Those who do get employment receive good wages for their services in all branches of work. The trade's unions are very strong in California. Bricklayers get $5.50 per day; carpenters, $5.50; house painters, $5. plasterers, $5.50; stone cutters, $5.50; teamsters, $3; laborers, $2.50. One person will pay $7 per week for board and lodging. The female waitresses here receive from $50 to $60 per month, and servants in private families receive $35 and $40 per month. Provisions are certainly dearer than in Canada. California eggs are 45 cts. per doz.; eastern eggs, 25 cts. per doz.; potatoes, $1 per cwt.; flour, $5 per cwt.; bacon, 12½ cts. per lb.; lard, 10 cts.; butter, 40 cts.; chickens sell at from $5 to $7 per doz.; turkeys, 6 cts. per lb.

California is an empire of itself, both in extent and importance. It is over 700 miles in length, and has an average breadth of over 200 miles. It is four times as large as the great state of New York, and nearly as large as France. There is no wonder that the above facts, considered in connection with the greatly elongated form of the state, should suggest the idea of the formation of a new state out of the southern part of California, which portion is now growing so rapidly, and so fast coming into separate commercial importance. Should such an event occur it is probable that seven counties would go off, viz.: Los Angeles with a population of 35,000, San Bernardino, with 20,000; San Diego, with 18,000; Ventura, with 7,000; Santa Barbara, with 16,000; San Obispo, with 14,000; and Kern, with 7,500; making a total of 167,500 for the new state, with an assessed valuation of $100,000,000. "Coronado" has been suggested as the name of the new state, as more suggestive and more euphonious than South California. The name signifies "The Crowned."

TWICE AS LARGE AS ITALY,

To people of wealth and means who wish to have a home on the Pacific coast for a winter residence, or who wish to pass the remainder of their life in the enjoyment of happiness, no better place can be selected than Los Angeles. For the invalid there may be life in every breath of our air as there is in our healing waters. Working in one's shirt sleeves in the winter is an every day occurrence, although thick underclothing is always worn by people who take good care of themselves. Our first rain this winter fell to the amount of one inch and two hundredths on the night of November 23rd. Since that shower the mountains are now glorious in their summits of white, the dust is gone and the grass is green. Winter is our rainy season, but six days out of seven during this season are clear and sunshiny. Driving is delightful in such weather. Fires are rarely kindled in sitting-rooms. Thursday, Nov. 24th, was Thanksgiving day, and, in company with a large party, we all went down to the beach, which is only twelve miles from Los Angeles, and can be plainly seen from any of the hills or high buildings, and enjoyed, with scores of others, a genuine sea-salt bath in the great Pacific. This is quite a contrast between Thanksgiving Day in Peterborough and Thanksgiving Day here.

In summer the days are warm, often very warm, yet sun-strokes are unknown and the atmosphere at 100 is not so oppressive as the eastern atmosphere at 80 degrees. This is owing to the dryness, the crispness, the rarity of the atmosphere, which in summer is so often free from moisture that the dew is as infrequent as the frost in winter. From April until the latter part of November it never rains here, and consequently there is a great amount of dust, which covers our beautiful shrubbery, trees, etc. This is a very disagreeable feature, and can only be remedied by the free use of water on our streets and in the gardens. The dry, rarified air from the deserts, of course, rushes into this valley, and gives us a wonderfully pure, hence the efficacy of our climate in all diseases of the head, throat and lungs.

One of the happiest features is that the night of our warmest summer day is delightfully cool—so cool that good, heavy bed-covering is a necessity to comfort. This ensures rest and recuperation. The invalid can take exercise in this climate three hundred days of the year. Snow in this valley was never known to fall but once, and then only to melt away in a few minutes. The contrast now between the mountain ranges, dazzling in an Arctic covering—cold, frigid, repelling—and the sub-tropical valley, resplendent in verdant meadows, glorious orange groves, evergreen turf and evergreen grove, where the weather is as warm and as delightful as the month of June in Peterborough, is one of the most striking presented by nature.

Come to the bridal chamber, Death!
Come to the mother, when she feels
For the first time, her first-born's breath,
And thou art terrible!

The untimely death which annually carries off thousands of human beings in the prime of youth, is indeed terrible. The first approach of consumption is insidious, and the sufferer himself is the most unconscious of its approach. One of the most alarming symptoms of this dread disease is, in fact, the ineradicable hope, which lurks in the heart of the victim, preventing him from taking timely steps to arrest the malady. That it can be arrested in its earlier stages is beyond question, as there are hundreds of well-authenticated cases where Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has effected complete cure. a

A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
J. STEVENSON.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

THE CARROLL CASE.

John Confessed for Murder—A Serious Accident in London Township.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 21.—The preliminary investigation in the case of John and Charles Carroll, charged with the murder of Mrs. Jane, wife of the last named prisoner, was concluded to-day, resulting in John Carroll being committed for trial. Charles was discharged. It is stated that John Carroll killed a man some twenty years ago at Hickory Corners, near Strathroy, at which time he was hooted for his brother Henry. John gave himself up to the authorities, stating that the dead was done in self-defence, and he was therefore acquitted.

At the conclusion of the trial, in leaving the court, a lady from Strathroy fell and broke her arm.

Charles and William Stephens, 12th concession, London township, while running a crushing machine yesterday were badly injured. Charles had his arm crushed off nearly to the elbow, and his brother, in trying to rescue him, had one of his hands mangled.

The Oriental Investigation.

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 21.—The investigation into the loss of the Oriental was continued before Mr. S. Risley, Government Inspector, this morning. The only witness was J. J. Harrigan of Port Dalhousie, first mate of the American schooner Abbie L. Andrews. The Andrews passed the Scotia and tow about thirty miles above Charlotte at 12 noon, and was in sight of her for about three hours afterwards. Witness saw the captain of her at the wheel. He supposed there was no one else on board who could steer the Oriental. If she had 700 tons of coal on board she must have been overloaded. She was deeper than that class of vessels usually are.

The court then adjourned to meet again in Kingston.

The New Fortune Rules.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Commissioner Fink to-day issued the following: "In accordance with the vote of the joint committee the rates of fourth, fifth and sixth classes, both ease bound and west bound, will be advanced on Jan. 2, 1882, to the following basis: Between New York and Chicago, fourth class, 33½ cents; fifth class, 33 cents; sixth class, 27½ cents per hundred pounds."

The Montreal Detectives' Case Postponed.

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.—Owing to the illness of Mr. Kerr, Q.C., counsel for the prosecution, the case of Fahey, Naegele and Bureau was postponed until to-morrow. Detective Flynn states that Conroy was a theatrical man at one time and only came to Montreal to assist in convicting Fahey and Naegele.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Coffee, tea, fat food, sloppy food, bad cooking, irregular meals, late hours, irregular habits, and many similar things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

Dr. Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health & happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

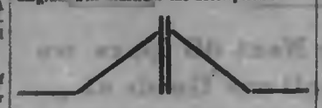
Christmas Preparations.

The spirit of the Christmas-tide is in the air, and everybody seems to have caught the infection. The most beautiful and profuse evidences of these things are to be seen in the shop windows of our merchants. Every window blazes with decorations and every window is dressed in its own peculiar holiday attire. To the young and sweet-toothed, the tempting arrays of the confectionery shops are an irresistible attraction; to the heavy gourmands the meat shops and butcher stalls are mouth-watering temptations. The ladies heave seal-skin sighs over the displays of the fur stores, and the millinery and dry goods shops waken agonizing longings. The sensible, hard-headed, sound-judging and prudent, however, when they want to indulge in Christmas buying, make a bee line for gough's, the wonderful cheap man, where they find the most gigantic stock of overcoats and readymade clothing, as well as dry goods, cut down in price beyond the reach of ordinary dealers, and then 20 per cent. knocked off of that. Santa Claus himself has been engaged as cashier, and the way the bargains are being shelled out is a wonder. Every sale is a veritable Christmas present, a mere nominal charge being made to save the buyer's self-respect. No words can express the magnitude of the bargains to be found at the great gough's, george street, peterborough.

A Strange Way to Die

Little Freddie McMaster Meets His Death in a Peculiar Manner.

Early this morning the cold, stiff body of Freddie McMaster, aged ten years, was found suspended from the loose plank floor of an old building adjoining his father's premises on Hunter-st. east. The lad had not been home all night, but as this was no unusual occurrence his parents were not alarmed at his absence. This morning on going to this out-building, known as Poole's old cabinet shop, in the cellar of which Mr. McMaster kept his household fuel, the boy's body was found. It would appear from the position of things that the lad had for some reason been seeking an entrance into the apartments above the cellar, and had secured a carpenter's trestle upon which he stood, and raised two of the planks upon their edges until he got his head through. The planks were heavy, and, in endeavoring to turn them completely over, the trestle on which he stood was upset, and, his body falling, the planks fell back towards their old position and caught the lad's neck, strangling him in a few minutes. The following little diagram will illustrate the description:—



The two perpendicular marks are supposed to represent the boy's body, the inclined planks resting at the neck. The rough sketch will be clearly understood. It is presumed he came home late and not wishing to disturb his parents thought to gain the upper flat of the old building where were stored a number of carriages and cutters belonging to Porter Bros., with cushions, etc., and remain over night.

Coroner Bell was notified by Acting-Chief Adams, but did not deem an inquest necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. McMaster, the parents of the lad, have the sympathy of everyone in the terribly sudden loss of one of their children.

A Question for the "Father of Waterworks."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—In Wednesday's edition of your valuable paper I have read with interest a letter over the signature of Mr. Arthur Rutherford, headed "Reply to 'Fellow-workman,'" in which he states "I am thoroughly one of the working men of the town, and, I hope, an honest one, and am entitled to their confidence." Being a workingman myself, and feeling a sense of duty devolving upon me as a working man to see that every workingman has his just dues. And, having heard a great many despiteous remarks passed by several parties in connection with Mr. Rutherford's candidature for the Mayoralty, I take the liberty of asking Mr. Rutherford a question, through your excellent medium, and trust it will elicit a reply, believing, as I do, that the public press is the proper place to deal with public matters.

The following charge against Mr. Rutherford is being freely circulated:

At the time the town buildings were being remodeled several iron vault doors had to be removed, and as the town authorities had no immediate use for them they were stored in the basement underneath the present fire-hall. Shortly after they (the iron vault doors) were stored away Mr. Rutherford received the contract to enlarge the Court House, which included the construction of two or three vaults. Mr. Rutherford, being a member of the Town Council, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and chairman of the Property Committee, was, by virtue of these offices held by him, the custodian of the vault doors.

It is charged that Mr. Rutherford took a set of vault doors belonging to the town, upon his own authority, and utilised them in the construction of a vault in the Court House. That in his bill of extras rendered to the county (of which the town paid its share) Mr. Rutherford charged and received thirty-six dollars for the vault doors, and that the town Treasurer is lamenting the loss to the town of this thirty-six dollars.

I have heard the above story several times and "I now ask Mr. Rutherford whether it is true or not?"

If not, it is a malicious statement to make about a citizen simply because he chooses to offer himself as a candidate for the mayoralty. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space granted, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
ANOTHER "WORKINGMAN."

Police Court,

THURSDAY, DEC. 22.

William Coorse, who is suffering from cancer and unable to support himself, was committed to gaol for six months.

Thomas Whitfield, of Douro, was yesterday committed to gaol for six months on a charge of vagrancy.

P.M. Edmison, at Keene on Tuesday, fined Messrs. J. Frost and D. McFarlane each $50 and costs for infractions of the Scott Act, complaints of which had been lodged by Inspector Darling. The case against D. Howson, charged with a second offence, was tried at the same time and adjourned to Peterborough for Wednesday, in order to allow the Inspector opportunity to prove a first conviction. This was done and the defendant fined $100 and costs.

Personal.

At the thirteenth annual meeting of the Dominion Grange, Mr. John Garbutt was appointed a member of the Legislation Committee, and Mr. D. Kennedy a member of the Press Committee.

Mr. H. H. Moore, of Walsall, Staffordshire, England, arrived in town to-day, to visit his cousin, Mr. J. E. Jacques, organist of George street Methodist church. He leaves this evening for Regina, N.W.T., where he will enter the Northwest Mounted Police Force. He secured the position on the staff through Mr. J. J. Colmer, Secretary for the Lord High Commissioner of Canada, in London, Eng., Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Moore has been a member of the 18th Royal Irish Hussars, Dublin.

Working for Promotion.

The entrance examinations began Wednesday at the Collegiate Institute, and will continue till Friday night. There are 83 pupils writing, 39 girls and 44 boys. Of these the large majority are from the town. The examinations are being held under the supervision of the Board of Examiners, Mr. J. Stratton, chairman, and Messrs. J. H. Long, S. Bean and Barton Earle. There will in all probability be a large accession to the number of Institute pupils after this examination.

Christmas Presents.

There is no need for Peterborough people to go out of town now for fine goods in china, silver, etc. China Hall has a stock equal to any in Canada. The store will be open till 10 o'clock in the evening from now until after 'Xmas, and as very few have yet seen the "basement show room" we would like every lady and gentleman in Peterborough to pay us a visit now and inspect our Christmas stock and at the same time make a note of anything likely to suit them for a Christmas purchase. No one asked to buy. dw

An Opportunity Presented.

One of the most interesting features of the New Year's Festival of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, will be the competition for the possession of a portrait of His Lordship Bishop Dowling. A Chicago artist of the highest standing is now busy completing an excellent portrait of the respected bishop which, of course, will be, owing to the high respect and veneration in which he is held, an object to be sought after with great avidity. Another object will be to assist the Cathedral building fund, for whose benefit the portrait is to be disposed of, at the coming New Year's Festival to be held in the Opera House in the first week in January.

Debating Society.

St. Peter's Literary and Debating Society held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday night. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, that the execution of Charles I. was justifiable." The affirmative was shouldered by Messrs. J. J. Sheehy, R. Henry and J. O'Meara; the negative by Dr. Brennan, Dr. Collins and M. Hackett. The affirmative won. After the debate a short musical programme was rendered, consisting of a duet by Misses McCormack and Tangney; a reading, "The Tramp," by Mr. Roach; a solo by Miss Bagley; a recitation, "Lady Claire," Mr. D. O'Brien; a reading, "The Tyrrel Maid," Miss O'Brien. The debate for the next night will be upon the subject: "Which is the happier, the savage or the civilized man?"

Unable to Lecture.

Mr. J. H. Long, M.A., President of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League, the other day received a letter from the Secretary of Hon. Joseph Chamberlain in reply to an invitation to that hon. gentleman to deliver an address in Peterborough, under the auspices of the League, while on his official visit to Canada, stating that he did not intend to visit either Montreal or Toronto, and that as soon as his business at Ottawa was completed he would return to Washington, where he is engaged on the Fisheries Commission as British representative. He stated, however, that the objects of the League had his warmest sympathy, but that for the present he could not decide to address the people of Peterborough.

THE BATTLE RAGING

And will Continue for Two Months.

Great Slaughtering and Cutting OF PRICES IN DRY GOODS AT THOMAS KELLY'S

After considering the matter over carefully I have decided to force the sale of my large and well assorted stock of Dry Goods. This means a loss, but, rather than carry goods over until another season, I feel justified in taking this course. It is not my practice to make random statements misleading to customers, therefore when I say the prices will be cut down you will find that the prices WILL be cut down. Remember that price alone is no criterion of cheapness. You should see the goods and judge of their values. What we say we do, and more than that we reduce seasonable goods, not old goods lying around the shelves from season to season. A few quotations will serve as a guide, and possibly startle you into the advisability of calling.

DECIDED IMPROVEMENT IN THE CROWN PRINCE'S CONDITION.

A Missionary to the Pope—An Emeute Among Students—A Semi-Official Denial—A Priest Sent to Jail—A Speech of King Milan.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The report of Dr. Tobelow, the court dentist who went to Sans Remo to operate on the Crown Prince's teeth, and who has returned to Berlin, says there is a decided improvement in the Prince's appearance and in his voice, which is clearer and stronger. The Crown Prince, he says, asked him to give a wide circulation to this report in order to counteract the unfavorable rumors that have been published regarding his condition.

A despatch to The Vienna News Freie Press from Milan says that on the advice of English physicians, the Prince's neck has been cupped and the blood thus obtained is being analyzed at the Milan laboratory, in order to ascertain whether it contains an excess of sugar or whether it is in a healthy condition. If it contains too much sugar, the treatment advised by Freund of Vienna, having in view the reduction of the sugar in the blood to its normal quantity, will be followed. The theory of Dr. Freund is that the blood of patients suffering from cancer contains an abnormal quantity of sugar, and that cancer growths may be destroyed by a reduction of the amount of sugar.

It is asserted by United Ireland that Sir Michael Morris, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, Ireland, has gone to Rome to help convert the Pope to an approval of coercion.

Father Matthew Ryan, of County Limerick, one of the projectors of the Plan of Campaign, will undergo one month's imprisonment, without hard labor, for inciting the people to commit illegal acts.

Father Ryan declines to divest himself of his clerical attire in prison, and the Catholic wardens sustain him in his refusal.

King Milan of Servia, says the News Freie Press of Vienna, in replying to a congratulatory address presented by the Chamber of Deputies, said the present time was fraught with danger to Europe. Should a conflict occur between German and Slav ideas, he said Servia should remain neutral. It would be impossible to Germanize Servian individuality but it might be Slavicized, and then it would disappear. The Obrenovitsh family (his own) live only of a Servian idea.

"My desire," he continued, "is to follow my family traditions which are the secret of my foreign policy."

Great anxiety is manifested in the Berlin military circles to learn whether Russia will grant the usual long furloughs on Jan. 13 to her army officers who are longest in the service. Letters from Moscow indicate that a number of officers have already been told not to arrange for leave of absence.

All vessels, pontoons and tugs belonging to the Austrian Navigation Company have been ordered from the Lower Danube to Turnu-vorin for the winter. This is an unusual precaution.

It is semi-officially said that the Austrian and Russian Governments have exchanged no communication whatever with regard to the present situation in Bulgaria, nor has Russia intimated anything about the movements of her troops on the frontier. It is thought an arrangement is still possible for the resignation of Prince Ferdinand and the subsequent appointment of a regent in Bulgaria who will be acceptable to Russia.

The report that Gen. Von Schweinitz, the German Ambassador to Russia, took with him an autograph letter from Emperor William to the Czar, is semi-officially denied in Berlin.

The University of St. Petersburg has been closed owing to an emeute among the students.

The Roumanian Chamber of Deputies has sanctioned the expenditure of $3,000,000 for the purchase of repeating rifles, and $1,000,000 for forts.

The jail wardens at Clonmel yesterday threw Mr. Sheehy, M.P., to the floor, tied his hands and forcibly removed his clothes. He is under sentence for one month's imprisonment for inciting resistance to evictions.

ANOTHER BILL FILED AGAINST COHNFELD AT DETROIT.

Golden Stock in Toronto—Lawyer J. B. Clarke's Connection with the Case Purely Professional—Another Version —Cohnfeld is not "Hoffman."

DETROIT, Dec. 22.—Another effort was made to get at the Cohnfeld bonds to-day. A bill was filed in court in which Silva & Co. of New York were the complainants. The defendants were Cohnfeld, Sophie Victorine and the Police Department.

The complainants asked for an injunction restraining the transfer of the bonds to Cohnfeld or Sophie Victorine. They based their demand on the belief that the bonds were in the Police Department's possession and declared that they had offered the department an indemnity bond of $160,000 to save them from any consequences that would result from giving up the bonds under the attachments issued yesterday. They renew this offer of indemnity if the court will compel the department to give up the bonds to the sheriff.

The injunction has been granted pending the hearing of the case in court. Cohnfeld, the woman and J. B. Clarke have returned to Toronto with the bonds.

WINDSOR, Dec. 22.—Sensational despatches have been sent from Detroit in connection with the arrest of Mrs. Frank Olsen and the appearance of Isidor Cohnfeld of New York. Stripped of all sensationalism, the simple facts are as follows:

Above two months ago Mr. Cohnfeld became embarrassed by a sudden demand made by one of his creditors for the immediate payment of a very large sum of money, with which Mr. Cohnfeld was not able to comply at once. On seeing that financial difficulties must follow he executed an assignment of a large amount of real and personal property to trustees to dispose of and apply the proceeds in payment of his debts, the property in question being more than sufficient to satisfy his liabilities in full. Mr. Cohnfeld being in bad health and acting under the advice of his physician, visited several of the cities in the United States and came to Canada, at the same time making a proposition to his creditors to return to New York and pay them their claims in full and continue his business, a certain limited period of payment being granted as to a part of his liability.

Owing to the objection of one creditor considerable delay occurred in concluding this settlement, and Mr. Cohnfeld retained Messrs. Foster, Clarke & Bowes of Toronto to look after his interests, and Mr. Clarke proceeded to New York, and after spending some days in negotiations, was unable to bring the matter to a close, as certain of the creditors would not allow Mr. Cohnfeld to pay Mr. Lichtenhein, the objecting creditor referred to, so large an amount as he wished to be paid at once. The terms of this settlement are still under consideration, and may be closed at any moment.

On Mr. Clarke's return to Toronto Mrs. Olsen, above referred to, who is connected with Mr. Cohnfeld's family, wished to realize upon certain United States bonds amounting to a large sum, and under the advice of Mr. Cohnfeld retained Mr. Clarke to advise her in disposing of the same and requested him to meet her in Detroit, which she thought would be the best market in which to dispose of American securities. Mr. Cohnfeld and Mrs. Olsen left Toronto for Windsor on Saturday, and Mr. Clarke followed the next day, all arriving here on Sunday evening. On Monday, when Mrs. Olsen offered the bonds for sale, the largeness of the sum created suspicion in the minds of the brokers to whom they were offered and they, fearing that the bonds had been improperly obtained, notified the police, who detained Mrs. Olsen until such time as they had fully investigated all the circumstances connected with her possession of the bonds. Mr. Clarke, who was acting professionally as Mrs. Olsen's legal adviser, retained J. C. Patterson, M.P., of Windsor, and Mr. Cowsly of Detroit along with him in the matter. The fullest information was given to the police respecting Mrs. Olsen and where, when and how the bonds were obtained, and the police were requested to investigate the matter as expeditiously as possible and satisfy themselves that Mrs. Olsen was the bona fide owner of the bonds and had a perfect right to dispose of them as she saw fit. No legal proceedings were taken to embarrass the police; they were allowed the fullest opportunity to satisfy themselves that all was right.

After the fullest investigation the police were satisfied that their suspicions were unfounded, and they thereupon released Mrs. Olsen and returned her her property. Mr. Clarke's connection with the matter was purely a professional one and above suspicion, and any innuendo contained in despatches from Detroit that it was not much, was not only unjust, but totally uncalled for.

Cohnfeld is Not "Mr. Hoffman."

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—J. Julius Frank, counsel for Isidor Cohnfeld, the feather merchant who recently disappeared, said to-night that he had to-day received a letter from Mr. Cohnfeld. Where his client was he would not say but he did say that Mr. Cohnfeld urged him to tell all reporters that the "Mr. Hoffman" so frequently spoken of as Cohnfeld of late and himself were too entirely distinct persons. Mr. Frank said Cohnfeld was in constant communication with several business men in this city. If the Chief of Police of Detroit had returned these bonds to the Olsen woman he did so because those who levied an attachment on them were unable to give the necessary security. The governess spoken of in the case as Mrs. Fenner was not a Mrs. but a Miss. She did not leave the city with Mr. Cohnfeld, but followed afterwards with the children.

GRANGERS AND C.U.

The Dominion Body Recommend Negotiated Trade with the United States.

The Dominion Grange resumed its labors yesterday morning, when the Committee on Constitution recommended an alteration in the constitution, allowing sub-granges to be represented by proxy. The report was adopted. The Committee on Legislation submitted:

That in the opinion of this Grange the removal of all restrictive and protective regulations between Canada and the United States would be for the public good, and in the best interests of the people; and this Grange requests its members to use their influence in support of a measure on a fair basis for the free interchange of commodities between the two countries.

The clause was adopted by the unanimous vote of the Grange.

Mr. T. S. McLeod, Dubuna, then introduced a resolution in favor of unrestricted trade with England, which was also adopted. A resolution was also adopted that all clauses in the reports on legislation relating to Ontario be selected from the reports and forwarded to the members of the Government.

The afternoon session was devoted mainly to the consideration of the report of the Committee on Grievances and Claims. The secretary's report showed that one division grange and nine subordinate granges had been organized during the year. The capitation tax received from sub-granges amounted to $770.77. The total membership of the order in Canada is 6000. If more activity was shown by the secretaries of the sub-granges, the report claimed, there would not be so many dormant granges. The report was adopted.

At the evening session the auditor's report was presented: the receipts were $1322.60 and expenditure $706.52. The report of the Committee on Temperance was submitted. Mr. Cummings said the Scott Act in Huron was a failure. Mr. Hilborn praised the act in Ontario County and said it did away entirely with the abominable system of treating. The Committee on Fire Insurance recommended farmers to insure in companies managed by farmers and advocated an amendment to the insurance law which made three years the limit to issue a policy.

HOW THE DEACON FELL.

Trial of a "Green Goods" Man in New York —The Deacon Lectured.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Anthony Nelson, one of the "green goods" men recently arrested, was put on trial to-day. Allen Gilliland, the deacon of a church at his home in Tennessee, or "Bunker No. 32," as the "green goods" gang termed him, identified the letters he had received inviting him to come to New York, where he could purchase $16,000 for $600. Counsel for the prisoner asked to have the case taken from the jury and his client discharged on the grounds that there was no proof that the "goods" mentioned in the circular and letters was counterfeit money. Judge Cowing held that the point was well taken and discharged the prisoner.

Turning to the deacon the judge lectured him severely: "The best thing you can do," he said, "is to hurry back to Tennessee and don't come here again. Go back and tell your congregation how you fell."

The Court of Revision Case.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

It is hardly worth my while to reply to Mr. Moore's last letter, seeing that it is no answer to my previous letter, and that it is only a quasi apology for his former statements. Mr. Moore surely doesn't mean to say that my property should be assessed differently and for more than the law directs? Yet he does in effect say so, and he also claims that it ought to be taxed so heavily as to compel me to sell it, whether I wish to do so or not. And he also asserts that I have no right to keep it and have the benefit of its increased value through the increased growth and prosperity of the town. If Mr. Moore would confine himself to what he knows to be the law and then show, if he can, that I have disobeyed the law, and that in complaining of my over assessment I was complaining against the law, he might have some show of reason in his favor. But this he has not done and this he cannot do. All I asked for was to have my assessment made according to law, and this Mr. Moore refused to do. And he, as chairman of the Court of Revision, not only denied me my rights but he had the shamelessness to appear before the County Judge and advocate the same thing. And, for his greater success, he brought all the three assessors there also. But despite Mr. Moore's efforts the County Judge did his duty fairly, as he always does. Mr. Moore evidently feels the falseness of his position, and it is not pleasant to him to be brought before the tribunal of the people and have his conduct held up for these condemnations and judgment. And pray who is Mr. Moore, that he should take upon himself to override the rights of others simply to gratify a morbid ill-feeling and a bad desire to injure those when he does not like. I have paid taxes on my park lots for upwards of fifty years, and part of these taxes went to support a school at which McNaughton says Mr. Moore got his education for nothing. And during all that time not one dollar of these taxes was ever spent for the benefit of my parks, except probably some five dollars some two years ago. The late James Hall and I gave the land free for the new road just laid out between them, amounting in all to nearly three acres. I was not anxious for the opening of that street, although, to please Mr. H. Hall, I gave a small subscription towards it. And, I understand, Mr. Hall also paid the cost of laying down the side walks, it being intended principally for his use. I don't want to part with my property. It has cost me a good deal to make it what it is, and many years of hard work. I have lived there nearly all my life-time and I want to live there the rest of it, as I have become attached to it by long usage, and it reminds me of old times. And surely there is no harm in this. And if my doing so troubles Mr. Moore I am sorry for it but I can't help it. I don't think the time has yet come for Mr. Moore, comparatively speaking a man of yesterday, and with no very large stake in the town, to say who shall hold his property and who shall not hold it. If the law says I can hold it I intend to do so, Mr. Moore's dictum to the contrary notwithstanding. And whether my life be long or short I desire to live on in the same old home as I have done heretofore. If money was my object I would sell the property and invest the proceeds, the interest on which would be of more profit to me than the holding of the property. But money is not my object. And if I may be allowed to live there free from the annoyance and trouble of Mr. Moore I will be content. Mr. Moore is anxious to have people believe that he is not actuated against me by any feeling of spite and that he is merely trying to do his duty. But Mr. Moore's duty does not consist in doing wrong. To show how far Mr. Moore is desirous of doing right in this business, I may state that when I applied to the council to refund me the excess of my taxes wrongfully paid, he told the council that if they paid me they would have to pay others also. That is he would do wrong to me lest he might do right to some one else. I don't believe the electors of Ward three approve of such conduct as this, or that they want Mr. Moore to do me any such gross injustice. Mr. Moore did not say, and he could not say that I had paid my taxes wrongfully and was entitled to their return, but he argued with all his might that I should not be paid, and he succeeded. Now I will give the oath which Mr. Moore took as a councillor, and then I will ask the people to say what they think :

"I do solemnly promise and declare that "I will truly, faithfully and impartially, to "the best of my knowledge and ability, ex- "ecute the office of Councillor to which I "have been elected."

Yours truly,
E. BURNHAM.

A Correction.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

DEAR SIR,—In your telegraphic despatches the other day mention is made of a Rev. Wm. Hammond, of Chicago, having been guilty of conduct unbecoming any person—let alone a minister. Will you kindly give me space in your columns to remove any wrong impression that the publication of this paragraph may make on the minds of some who might suppose that this Hammond was one and the same person that conducted evangelistic meetings in Peterborough some few years ago. The Rev. E. P. Hammond is the minister that was here, and is not the person who was arrested. The Rev. E. P. Hammond is a duly accredited minister of the Presbyterian church in the state of New York.

Yours, etc.,

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—As I understand, all the work under contract on the Trent Valley Canal has been completed, could you inform the taxpayers, who have to foot the bill, what the present expensive staff of engineers find to do to earn their pay? From an account published a short time since in your valuable paper, it appears that a very large percentage of the money voted by Parliament for Trent Valley canal work was spent to pay large salaries. If there is now no work on hand, and as the work on the canal has been practically abandoned, would it not be wise on the part of the government to close the offices here, so that much would be saved to this over-taxed country?

I remain, etc.,
CONSERVATIVE.

Peterborough, Dec. 22rd, 1887.

["Conservative" gives us a hard one. We would refer him to the Dominion Government, or to the Minister of Railways and Canals—not Mr. Pope, but the real Minister—Sir Charles Tupper, who fathered the canal in the name of the Government. "Conservative," whom we can vouch for as a faithful member of the party, should know better than to insinuate that Dominion Government employes are expected to earn their pay—especially those on the T.V.C.—ED. EXAMINER.]

Freemasonry in Scotland.

In view of the approach of the festival of St. John the Evangelist (on 27th Dec.), the following items of Masonic news, taken from a recent number of the Hawick News, a paper published on the borders of Scotland, will no doubt be perused with interest by our Masonic readers, as showing how things are done in the old land :—

"The brethren of Lodge St. John, No. 111, met in their Lodge Room last night, for the purpose of nominating office-bears, and celebrating St. Andrew's festival. There was a large turn out—Bro. Walter Scott, R.W.M., presiding. The usual loyal, patriotic, masonic, and local toasts were duly honoured; and songs and recitations given by a number of the brethren. Bro. Scott, R.W.M., in the name of the Lodge, presented Bro. Alex. D. Turnbull with a handsome Rosebery cabinet, in recognition of his services as secretary at the late bazaar."

"On Tuesday evening the brethren of Lodge St. James' R.U.R.A., No. 424, celebrated the anniversary of St. Andrew's eve in the Washington Hotel. Bro. Wm. Scott, R.W.M., occupied the chair, while Bro. Geo. Pow, D.M., discharged the duties of croupier. An excellent repast having been served in first class style, the usual loyal, patriotic, and masonic toasts were given and duly honoured. Thereafter a well balanced programme of songs, recitations and addresses was entered upon and kept up with great spirit during the evening. A feature of the meeting was the stirring and highly intellectual addresses of the host (Bro. Luff), whose eloquent disquisitions on the many topics he handled were much enjoyed."

Missionary Work.

Instead of the usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting in the George street Methodist church last night, an entertainment under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary was held. After the opening exercises and prayer by members of the Auxiliary, the Secretary's report was read. The audience sang a hymn, after which Miss Lizzie Sanderson gave a reading, Mrs. Daly a solo, and the pastor an address upon missionary work. Miss Milly Sanderson's address was a beautiful production. A solo by Mrs. Johnston brought the evening's proceedings to a close.

China Hall.

China Hall's stock is now complete and an invitation is hereby extended to the Peterborough people to pay it a visit and see the large and varied stock of new goods contained in the two show rooms. The store will be open till 10 o'clock in the evening from now until after 'Xmas, and as very few have yet seen the "basement show room" we would like every lady and gentleman in Peterborough to pay us a visit now and inspect our Christmas stock and at the same time make a note of anything likely to suit them for a Christmas purchase. No one asked to buy. dw

Farm Lands in Peterborough.

At the annual meeting of the Dominion Grange in Toronto on Wednesday among other subjects, the question of the alleged decrease in the value of farm lands in the Dominion was taken up. Mr. Dawson Kennedy (Peterborough) is reported to have said that farm property was decreasing in Peterborough County, while town and village property was on the increase. Mr. Brock (Durham) said that there was a marked decrease in the prices of farm property.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

THE REWARD OF INNOCENCE.

BY CALEB FORSYTHE.

I do not suppose any man ever lived who carried in his breast a greater weight of pure, lamb-like innocence than myself. In fact such an appearance of innocence hangs my person that every human man in New York has presented his little schemes to me and given me so much annoyance that I have supplied myself with cards bearing this legend in bold type: "I am on to your little game." Every stranger who greets me gets one before he has had time to grasp my hand. On one occasion I came near ruining my matrimonial prospects by handing one of them cards to my prospective father-in-law, whom I met in a crowded thoroughfare after dark.

In spite of my natural goodness I was once identified as a notorious crook under circumstances so peculiar that I feel warranted in telling the story.

A number of burglaries had taken place in our neighborhood. One man had been murdered in cold blood before the eyes of his wife, and the murderer had escaped without leaving any clue. Large rewards were offered and the police redoubled their vigilance. Now, burglars were always regarded with marked aversion in our house, and during the season of general alarm every door and window was supplied with extra bolts, and the basement was patrolled by a particularly suspicious terrier that my wife had borrowed. While this excitement was at its height I was called one day to a neighboring city. I did not return until late at night. After leaving my car I had to walk several blocks to my house in the outskirts of Brooklyn. The streets in that part of the city were not at that time lighted, and I was in momentary expectation of being sandbagged as I made my way through the darkness. I was carrying a large hand-bag and had reached the block on which we lived when someone from behind suddenly asked me to halt.

I quickly turned around and could plainly discern the figure of a man hastening toward me. Taking him for a robber, I started down the street at a dead run. Before I had gone ten paces the report of a revolver broke the stillness of the night and the demand "halt!" was repeated. I felt that my last moment had come, and, dropping my satchel, ran as a man only can when his life is at stake. I could hear a number of men in hot pursuit. Crack, crack, went the pistols as I plunged madly onward with the knowledge that by me is uncomfortable proximity. On I rushed past my own gate, for I did not dare stop, they were so close on my heels. Despite my superhuman efforts I could hear people raising their windows and talking excitedly as they watched the chase. I felt my strength leaving me, and although nearly out of breath, I called as lustily as possible for help without abating my speed. But no help came, and I gave up the shouting and tried to think. Every moment I was expecting that a bullet would penetrate my crazed brain or strike me in the back. I tried to stoop so as to make a smaller mark as I dashed over rocks and through mud holes in the open lots. Although I had not felt any pain I was quite sure that several bullets had entered my body. Where would it end? My strength would not hold out more than a moment longer. How long it might have held out I shall never know, for the next instant I plunged headlong into a cellar, helplessly exhausted. I shall never forget the sensation as I struck bottom, and I shall never be able to recall what followed during the next few hours. As to this let it suffice to say that my backbone has never been the same since. When I recovered my senses I was lying in the station-house, at least I was so informed by a man in uniform. I supposed it was the place of condemned and departed spirits. It seemed to my half-dazed mind that such pains as I was suffering must have been reserved for the damned. It took a good deal of argument to convince me of my error, but it finally cleared clear. While I was thinking over an explanation of the occurrences of the preceding night the door opened and my wife rushed in and threw herself upon my prostrate form. I spoke harshly to her, for her caresses hurt and angered me. I was in no mood to exchange affectionate greetings. When she asked me with tearful eyes how I felt I looked at her sternly and told her that it was a pretty question to ask a man in my plight. "Who made you run?" she asked, with an assumed smile, as she surveyed my prostrate and mud-bespattered form. Great heavens, I thought, is it possible my wife was a witness of my cowardice! It was more than I could stand to think of the shameful treatment I had been subject to, all without cause. Leaping to my feet I broke into imprecations, and shaking my fists I demanded to know what I had done and why I was detained in that place. It was some moments before my wife could induce me to sit down and listen to the following which she read in one of the morning papers:

Early this morning while Officer Donnelly was patrolling Briar-avenue, near Fulton-street, he saw a suspicious looking man walking hurriedly along the avenue and carrying a heavy hand satchel. As the officer requested him to halt he dropped his satchel and started at a dead run toward East New York. Drawing his revolver the policeman fired three shots at him, none of which took effect. Attracted by the shots two other officers and a citizen, who happened to be near at hand, joined in the chase. With wonderful speed and endurance the fleeing desperado kept well in advance of his pursuers until he fell into an uncovered cellar on a vacant lot, near the Catholic cemetery, fully a mile from the starting point. Stunned and bruised by the fall, he was taken to the station-house in a dazed condition and locked up for the night. No papers were found on his person or in the satchel he dropped, which afforded conclusive evidence of his identity. A number of cards were found in his overcoat bearing these words in large type: "I am on to your little game."

Officer Donnelly has positively identified him as "Jimmy the Kid," a notorious New York crook, and his connection with the recent burglaries in the Eighteenth Ward is undoubted.

My wife and I both looked at each other, and, in spite of my sufferings, I joined her in a hearty laugh. My release was not long delayed, but as I emerged from the station-house a free man I felt several years older than the day before.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a fun to spoil nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this evil business and making the American people healthy and they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

POKING FUN.

The public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the whole general community are taken for idiots;—that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the public, lamb like, will take it all in, and believe every word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents! = 33 1/3 Cents! = 33 1/3 Cents!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash, and comprise largely, just such goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, : SHAKING, : CRASHING, : SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this, if merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost, to compete with SHEPPARD'S Prices, which he is realising a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARDS MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it;—

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $3.75, this is an All Wool Coat, well made and Sheppard's price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, Sheppard's price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the Man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a Pure Wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suites really nice and lot of them $1,95 and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, Shoddy Goods, Sheppard is not in that business.

LOT THREE.— 'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, Sheppard's price 99 cents, Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, Sheppard's price 50 cents, Satchels cheap in fact all Christmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

☞ Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Services Recognized.

At a regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening, Mr. W. Baddiley, a member of Durham Lodge, Port Hope, who has resided in Peterborough for a number of years and has taken an active interest in Oddfellowship, particularly in connection with Peterborough Lodge, to which he has been the means of adding a large number of new members, was presented with an address recognizing his valuable services to the lodge, though not a member of it, accompanied by the gift of a complete smoker's outfit, comprising cap, meerschaum pipe, tobacco pouch and bowl, match-box, etc.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—In answer to "Another Workman" I wish to state that the charge against Mr. Rutherford of taking old sods down without proper authority, is wholly false and without any foundation. In the first place I am not in the council, and second when I found out that the town had the drawn I went to see Mr. John Douglas, who is chairman of property, about them, and from him I was directed to go to James English, who had them in charge, and he to fix the price, to which I agreed, and for which I have paid the town Treasurer.

We the undersigned declare the above to be correct.

JOHN DOUGLAS.
JAMES ENGLISH.
CHARLES D. MACDONALD,
Town Treasurer.

I trust that this will satisfy "Another Workman," as I believe he has been played upon by a certain individual holding a very responsible office in the town. Now, Sir, I would recommend this so-called "Workman" to turn over a new leaf, as I verily believe him to be the author of a number of anonymous letters that have appeared in your paper of late. If this, Sir, were all that he is guilty of I could allow him to pass, but I am sorry to say it is not the case. He is getting to be an old man and I am inclined to think that he is in his dotage, and a person who has forfeited all right to be called a man.

[The paragraph here following in the manuscript of this communication is of a most bitterly personal nature, and as it is directed against an individual who is not the writer of the letter to which the above refers, and as he is not in public life nor seeking a public position, it is omitted.—ED. EX.]

Thanking you again, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper, I remain,

Yours, etc.,
A. RUTHERFORD.

Personal.

Mr. T. A. Rowan, B.A., has been in town for the past few days and purposes remaining in Peterborough over Christmas. Mr. Rowan is fully recovered from his recent illness and is as good looking as ever.

Mr. Albert Loch's many friends will be pleased to know that he has recovered sufficiently to be up and about his room. We trust he will soon be able to attend to his usual duties and eat his proper share of 'Xmas goose.

A Fine Window.

The display of Christmas fruits, etc., made by W. J. Mason, next door to the Bank of Toronto, for artistic arrangement and effect probably excels anything yet produced in town. And the pleased exclaimations of the ladies—who are doubtless the best judges in such matters—is strong presumptive evidence that they regard the good things on show as of the very freshest and best. By all means see that window. d

A Writing Parlor.

Beginning with the new year term (Jan. 3rd, 1888) the proprietors of the Business College intend opening a Writing Parlor, where young ladies and gentlemen will be skillfully trained in a beautiful, graceful, Spencerian style of penmanship. Members of the parlor class may come at any hour of the day most suitable and receive individual instruction by Principal Sawyer, who, by the way, might very appropriately be termed the Prince of Canadian Artist Penmen. dw

My Partner.

The boards at the Opera House last night were occupied by Baird's Dramatic Company a "My Partner." The scene of the play is laid in a mining camp, and the play is a vigorous representation of mining life; its steadfast friendships and burning hates; its trustful confidence and villainous treachery. The bill was a strong one and proved the company a first rate one. Mr. R. H. Baird made as hateful a villain "Scragge" as could be imagined; Louis Haywood as "Joe Saunders" won the audience by his brave manliness; Mr. James H. Rowland received the applause of the audience in his role of "Major Britt." Miss Josie Robinson's "Mary Brandon," the heroine of the play, displayed unusual talent, and Miss Lizzie Walton took the part of "Posie" admirably. The company is strongly balanced and should draw big houses during their stay of this week.—Times, Port Hope.

His Last Call.

Santa Claus has made his last call before Christmas and has left a magnificent stock of goods in every variety and style at C. B. Routley's, comprising, among other things, plush companions, dressing cases, writing desks, work boxes, order cases, parlor mirrors, albums, writing portfolios, etc.; games, fort games, Japanese and card games; toys in every conceivable make and form. Mr. Routley has a large staff of competent clerks ready to meet the demands of business, which is always good at Routley's. He has no need to sell under cost, but will guarantee every article in his store will be sold as cheap if not cheaper than the goods of those who are always advertising "selling under cost." Mr. Routley claims, and the facts justify him, to have the finest stock of presentation goods in Peterborough.

A National Entertainment.

One of the finest entertainments of its kind ever presented in Peterborough will be that of Prof. Buell's, "The New Way Round the World," which will be presented it St. Peter's Cathedral on January 6th. This extraordinary spectacular entertainment consists of magnificent views of cities and scenery of Canada, together with viva voce explanations of the same by an experienced traveller. The views, which are projected on a canvas, 30 feet square, include illustrations of the history as well as scenery of Canada, its resources, etc., dealing particularly with the North-west and the new world opened up by the C.P.R.; Riel's Rebellion illustrated by graphic pictures of the chief events, etc. The merits of this entertainment are such that the Bishp has given the use of the Cathedral, no other place in town being suitable in the matter of size and height of ceiling for the purpose. No better evidence of the merit of the entertainment than this can be given. The trouble with this entertainment is not to get a "house," but to get a hall large enough to hold the people that flock to witness it. Further particulars hereafter.

A Bogus Cheque.

Yesterday afternoon a few minutes before three o'clock, Mr McWhinnie of the firm of Foote & McWhinnie, went to the bank as usual to deposit. In the deposit was a check for $18 made by "James Stevenson" to "William Ferguson", which had been taken in that forenoon by Mr. Foote from a stranger in payment for a $2.50 pair of overshoes. Mr. Foote thought the signature was that of Mayor Stevenson and accepted the note without any hesitation, handing back the purchaser his change, first taking the precaution to ask the stranger, who was supposed to be "William Ferguson," to endorse the check; but the latter, saying he could not write, made his mark on the back of the paper. The check was refused at the bank by the cashier and declared bogus. Mayor Stevenson was seen, but he denied the signature. It was indeed a very clumsy forgery, the calligraphy on the note not in the least resembly Mayor Stevenson's signature. Acting-Chief Adams was notified of the affair late the afternoon, and sent word to constable Mitchell, of Omemee, to be on the lookout for Mr. Ferguson, who had told Mr. Foote that he was going to that village to take out ties for the Grand Trunk. A reply was received this morning that the constable was in Lindsay, but that he would attend to it as soon as he returned.

GENERAL FOREIGN NOTES.

THE CROWN PRINCE WILL RECEIVE A CONGRATULATORY ADDRESS.

Arrest of a German Spy—Interview Between Salisbury and Ambassadors—A Danube Steamship Company—A New Menagerie for Barnum.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—A number of the leading inhabitants of Berlin have started a movement to present a congratulatory New Year's address to the Crown Prince.

The Grand Duke of Baden has sent letters to the Diet saying that the Crown Prince was deeply moved by the Diet's expression of sympathy with him and in view of the perceptible improvement in his condition he feels justified in cherishing the hope that he will ultimately recover strength to fulfil his duties to the Fatherland. The Grand Duke quotes the following words uttered by the Crown Prince:

"I place my trust in God, who has so often been gracious to us when encompassed by dangers. But if anything earthly can raise and restore me it is the universal sympathy of the Fatherland. I feel as if there existed between my fellow-citizens and myself a bond which is proof that greater confidence has been placed in me than I believed possible. May it yet please the Lord to give me an opportunity to show myself worthy of it."

The Roumanian Government is preparing a bill to establish a Danube steamship company. The vessels will be purchased by the funds derived from the Danubian harbor dues levied on all foreign ships. Under an agreement with the powers this revenue should be applied to maintain the traffic between the Iron Gates and Sulimis; consequently the bill will infringe upon foreign rights. Austria will lead, it is stated, in taking diplomatic action in the form of a protest against the project.

The steamer Ludgate Hill left London today with a complete menagerie consigned to Messrs. Barnum & Bailey.

A subpœna was served on Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, to attend the Portumna Assizes in January, when the court will hear the appeal of Sir Wilfrid Blunt, who was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for taking part in a proclaimed Home Rule meeting.

A man named McNamara has been sentenced at Ennis to two months' imprisonment with hard labor for selling copies of United Ireland.

A German pedlar named Chauirn has been arrested at Bethune on the charge of being a spy. He had been expelled from France some time ago on the same charge.

The German Ambassador in London, Count Von Hatzfelt, left suddenly for Germany today after holding a long interview with Lord Salisbury, who had especially requested the meeting. The Prime Minister subsequently had an interview with the Russian and French Ambassadors.

HANLAN WILL ROW TRICKETT.

The Match Fixed for May 3—The Fast Skiers of 1887—Other Sports.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Dec. 23.—The Hanlan-Trickett sculling match is fixed for May 3, 1888. Hanlan has challenged Bubear to two matches, to take place in England in September, each for £500 a side.

The Freight War.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The war on freight rates between Chicago and St. Louis raged fiercely to-day, culminating this evening in complete demoralization. The Wabash having met the 10 per cent. cut of the Chicago and Alton made yesterday, the officials of the latter road at once announced to its patrons and shippers that the rates by the Alton were 10 per cent. less than by any competing line. Next week it seems certain that the fight will extend into the passenger business.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

HALIFAX, Dec. 23.—An explosion of dynamite at a limestone quarry near Brookfield, Colchester County, this morning, killed four men, one of them being Alex. McDonald, the proprietor of the quarry. They were warming the dynamite previous to using it for a blast, when it exploded, it is supposed, from over-heating. A man and woman escaped with slight injury, while the other four present were killed. The building in which they were was destroyed.

Capt. Fraser Surprised.

KINGSTON, Dec. 23.—Captain S. Fraser, commander of the propeller Scotia, from which the schooner Oriental broke away and was lost, was surprised yesterday to learn that an investigation had been begun touching the condition of the wrecked vessel. He says he was not notified when and where the investigation was to begin, and heard of the St. Catharines proceedings first through the papers.

RAILROAD MEN ON STRIKE.

OVER 1000 MEN ON THE PHILADELPHIA AND READING QUIT WORK.

The Introduction of Non-Union Men Causes the Trouble—Trade Men, Coal Handlers and Freight Handlers Involved—Other Labor Troubles.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Over 1000 men employed by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad on their lines running from West Falls to the Port Richmond coal wharves, either as train men, coal handlers or freight handlers, quit work this afternoon at 4.30. This action was caused by the introduction of a train crew of five non-union men to do the work upon which union men had been employed but who had been discharged. This movement will be communicated to all the employes of the road, and a general strike on all the lines of the company may be the result. The trouble originated yesterday morning, when a crew of freight handlers engaged in shifting cars loaded with flour into a pier controlled by the firm of Charles M. Taylor's Sons refused to deliver any more freight to the firm unless the non-union laborers employed in handling the freight should be discharged. Word was immediately sent to John O'Kosiw, the general freight agent and shipping clerk at the Port Richmond wharves, who telegraphed the news of the refusal to the general offices of the company. Upon the receipt of the telegram Superintendent Sweizard issued an order discharging the crew who had refused to handle the freight, and threatening the same punishment to other crews who would follow the precedent. All the remaining force, which consisted of four crews, refusing to obey the order, were discharged, and the engines were taken to the round house and the men left the yard.

The news of the discharge quickly spread among other employes of the company in Port Richmond, and the stevedores to the number of about 600 dropped their work and left the yard. The news of such a large body of men quitting work soon spread through Port Richmond, and a committee of Knights of Labor to which the strikers belonged called upon General Manager McLeod and Superintendent Sweizard with the purpose of settling the difficulty and preventing a general strike. The object was unsuccessful, however, as the officers would not listen to any excuses, claiming that the work had to be done, and, if the present employes found it difficult to obey orders, the management would be compelled to look elsewhere for help.

The situation was unchanged this morning and no freight was delivered tot be covered piers at the foot of Williams-street nor where the stevedores at work. The company was determined to operate its lines however and made preparations to secure crews for the idle locomotives but was unsuccessful until about 1 o'clock when aid was secured by forming a mixed crew of non-union men at the Third and Beach streets station. The engine, No. 238, manned by the obnoxious crew, arrived at the scene of trouble at about 3.30 and proceeded at once to move the boycotted freight. The news of the renewal of work was quickly communicated among the other men at work and a concerted action of quitting was speedily agreed upon. An hour was given to allow the employes on the road from West Falls to the river to learn of the determination, and at 4.30, when the signal was given, every man stopped work. Shifting engines that were working on the coal wharves quickly ran to their usual resting place until the whole number (14) was placed in one line, and the crews immediately drew the fire and blew out the boilers. Men that were wheeling coal dropped their barrow handles, switchmen closed their switches and left the main line open. Conductors, brakemen and other employes left their work and quickly went to their homes.

Coal Handlers Laid Off.

ELIZABETHPORT, N.J., Dec. 23.—The Reading Railroad coal handlers refused to-day to load a Cross Creek Lehigh Coal Company's vessel at Elizabethport docks. They were all (about 100) laid off. Shipping is entirely suspended. A general "tie-up" is the talk.

Miners on Strike.

ASHLAND, Pa., Dec. 23.—The miners of Riley & Co.'s Logan colliery struck this morning, throwing over 500 men and boys out of employment.

An Aged Couple Found Dead in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—James Miller, a real estate dealer, 70 years old, was found lying dead this morning on the floor of his home, No. 357 West Sixteenth street. Beside him lay his wife unconscious and dying. She was removed to the hospital, and it is supposed that the old man died of heart disease in his chair and fell from it, knocking the chair and the stove down in his fall, and that Mrs. Miller was too weak-minded to notify the neighbors of her husband's death and that her weak and exhausted condition is due to starvation, as she was unable to procure or cook food for herself.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 23.

St. Lawrence Market presents a beautiful sight to-day in its holiday attire. Everything that can be desired in the shape of meat is to be found dressed tastily and neatly. The butchers have vied with each other to make their stalls attractive by the ornamental displays of meat from one end of the arcade to the other. Very little beef fattened to uselessness has been displayed. The inferior stuff which glutted the market a month ago has almost disappeared. Pork is easier at $6.50 to $6.80. Poultry is selling still at high figures. Butter and eggs are steady. Trade this morning was brisk. On the grain market 200 bushels of wheat sold at 84c to 85c for fall, 78c to 82c for spring and 73c to 75c for goose; 2000 bushels of barley at 63c to 77c, and 300 bushels of oats at 40c to 40½c. Peas were not offered. Oats are becoming scarce and it is predicted will reach half a dollar within a month.

We quote the following figures: Beef, hindquarters, per lb, 5c to 8c; beef, forequarters, per lb, 3c to 5c; mutton, per carcase, 6c to 7½c; lamb, per carcase, 7½c to 8½c; veal, 6c to 8c; pork, $6.70 to $6.80; chickens, per pair, 45c to 60c; ducks, per pair, 60c to 75c; geese, per lb, 6c to 7½c; turkeys, per lb, 10c to 12c; wheat, fall, per bush, 84c to 85c; wheat, spring, per bush, 78c to 82c; wheat, goose, per bush, 73c to 75c; barley, 60c to 77c; oats, new, per bush, 40c to 41½c; peas, 70½c; timothy, $14 to $16; clover, $13 to $13; straw, $11 to $13; butter, pound rolls, 24c to 26c; butter, tub, 18c to 20c; cheese, per lb, 12c to 15c.

Mexican Inducements to Immigrants.

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 23.—It is announced that the Mexican Government has made and granted extraordinary concessions to a real estate company to induce immigration to the eleven states of Mexico. The company has obtained a title to 55,000,000 acres of land and proposes to establish agencies in all the large cities of Europe and America. The Government has granted exemption from taxation to all settlers on the tracts and insures proper protection.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Board of Trade dinner is to be held next Friday night. A special invitation has been extended to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, who has decided to accept it.

A certificate of incorporation was granted yesterday to the Brantford Natural Gas Company, with a capital stock of $100,000, divided into 200 shares.

An English mail will be closed at 2.45 p.m. daily, except Sundays and Wednesdays. It has been found necessary to take this new departure on account of the English mails leaving Toronto at night having twice lately missed connections at New York. On Wednesdays the Canadian steamer's mail from Halifax is closed at 10 p.m.

At 11 o'clock last night the first through Canadian Pacific train for Sault Ste. Marie pulled out of Union Station. It will go over the Northern Railway to North Bay, thence over the C.P.R. via Sudbury Junction to the Sault, where it is timed to arrive about 10 o'clock to-night. Several gentlemen from Toronto and other places were on board. They are property owners in the Sault and will vote on Monday for granting a bonus to the C.P.R. if the company houses its station, workshops, etc., in a certain part of the town.

James Copeland was yesterday sentenced by Judge McDougall to one month's imprisonment for breaking into the house of Mrs. Crawford on Isabella-street and stealing several articles. His previous good reputation and his acknowledgment of his guilt induced the court to take a lenient view of his transgression. W. P. Dwyer, the bartender found guilty of stealing $140 from a guest at the Hotel Brunswick, was remanded for sentence on two sureties of $500 each, F. B. Morrow and C. A. Kelly furnishing the bonds. The cases of Lizzie Doyle and Albert B. Prior will be tried at the next term.

A few days ago James Graham, a young Englishman, swindled William Dorsey, a Somerville farmer, out of a valuable horse. Graham gave Dorsey $10 in cash and three checks on the Dominion Bank in the city for $285, the balance of the purchase money. When Dorsey presented the checks for payment he was told that Graham was unknown to the bank and had no funds there. Dorsey then complained to the police. Detective Slemin located Graham at the Clyde Hotel yesterday afternoon and placed him under arrest, after having attempted to make a bargain with Graham for a horse, for which the latter wanted $30. The animal was one Graham had received in a trade with William Gibson of Scarboro for the Dorsey horse. Both Dorsey and Gibson will be on hand this morning to prosecute Graham.

The Provincial Cabinet held an informal session yesterday afternoon, when it is understood the York shrievalty was discussed. Mr. Hardy left for Brantford to spend the Christmas holidays, after the meeting. The other Ministers who live out of town also went home.

The inquest on the body of Eliza Burke, supposed to have been poisoned by her daughter, was to have been resumed last night but owing to the fact that the analysis of deceased's stomach was not completed the inquest was adjourned till Friday, Jan. 6 at 9 p.m. at the hotel, Carlton and Parliament streets.

The cold weather of the last few days has caused ice to form on the Bay about half an inch in thickness. The wharves and ships present a desolate appearance.

The nomination of candidates for municipal offices will be held on Monday next.

DETECTIVE FAHEY'S STATEMENT.

He Says that He is as Innocent as a Child Unborn.

MONTREAL, Dec. 23.—The detectives' case was continued to-day, when several more employes of the Grand Trunk were examined as to money being in the safe. The case was then adjourned to Tuesday next. Fahey made a statement to reporters to-day saying that the story of The Globe purporting to come from Wilson, like a great many more, was a mere fabrication. Fahey said, in answer to a question regarding his case:

"As far as I am concerned I am as innocent as a child unborn. Of course the conspiracy is deep, well laid and finely worked, and so far all one sided in the public's eyes, but though things look bad for us now it will all come out in time and we will change the tone of affairs. If we could only place our case before the public at present we would change their opinion of us, but we cannot. Everything is against us, even the public being prejudiced by hearing only one side of the story, and what can we expect? A jury without hearing our side would be prejudiced before entering the box. How far these reports have spread and the great effect they have taken can easily be imagined when a priest (referring to Father Gibard) speaks against us. What, therefore, what can we expect from the public? Not their sympathy anyway, since this affair has spread so. Meantime we must submit to everything, and indeed our Christmas turkey will not be a very enjoyable one."

A Railway Collision in Iowa.

MCGREGOR, Ia., Dec. 21.—Two passenger trains on the St. Paul road collided at Jackson Junction early this morning. The engineer, fireman and baggageman of the west-bound train are said to have been fatally injured. No passengers are reported hurt. Owing to the heavy snowstorm all trains are delayed and particulars are not obtainable.

Has He Resigned?

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—A Tory paper announces to-night that Baird's resignation as M.P. for Queen's County has been received and that a new election will take place in that constituency on Jan. 17. John R. Dunn is not to be Returning Officer this time, but Joseph Holton of Sage-town will act in that capacity.

THE MANITOBAN CABINET.

MR. NORQUAY RESOLVES TO GIVE UP THE STRUGGLE.

Dr. Harrison Will Form a Cabinet—Complement of Provincial Secretary Lectures Absent Sir John's Treachery.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 23.—At the Local Government caucus Mr. Norquay, Premier, and Mr. Larivière, Treasurer, intimated their intention of resigning their portfolios immediately. Mr. Norquay retires in favor of Dr. Harrison as Premier, who will immediately form a new Ministry, assisted by Hon. Mr. Hamilton and Dr. Wilson. The other two portfolios will probably be left vacant till the meeting of the House. Mr. Larivière made a speech at the caucus and reiterated his charges against Sir John in regard to the handing over of the Hudson Bay land grant, as telegraphed on Wednesday. He said that Sir John had with perfect blameless deal out of the whole thing, and expressed his wonder that man's imagination could construct such a story. He (Larivière) was clearly entrapped and had to retire a victim of Sir John. He, however, would give support to the Government led by Dr. Harrison. The writ for the new election in Assiniboia has been issued. Nomination takes place on Jan. 3 and polling on Jan. 10.

Hon. Dr. Harrison was born in London Township, Middlesex, in June, 1843. He was educated at Toronto University and McGill College, Montreal, and graduated M.D. in 1864. From then until 1882 he practised his profession in St. Mary's, Ont., retiring in the latter year and settling on a large farm near Minnedosa, Man., where he has since carried on farming operations on a large scale. He was returned to the Manitoba Legislature for Minnedosa electoral division in the general election of 1883, and in the Cabinet shuffle of August, 1886, became Minister of Agriculture. The new Premier prides himself on being of the straightest sort of Tories, and has regarded his presence in the Cabinet as a splendid safeguard to Sir John Macdonaldism in Manitoba. The re-organized Cabinet will naturally be of the same ultramarine hue.

C. U. IN MONTREAL.

The Feeling in Its Favor on the Increase—Hon. Peter Mitchell Will Go to Boston.

MONTREAL, Dec. 23.—Conservatives here pretend to be in great glee over the result of the Northumberland election, what they seem to think is a defeat for Commercial Union. The Conservative organs have the effrontery to deny that Mr. Cockburn ran on the Commercial Union issue, advocating openly the "fullest measure of Unrestricted Reciprocity." The fact is, however, that despite all its opponents can do, and notwithstanding the fact that Montreal is a hotbed of protection, the Commercial Union sentiment is increasing. Realizing this principle, the Government here has been endeavoring to make out that the unanimous sentiment of prominent Liberals as well as Conservatives is against it. To-day, however, it got a bad set back by several of the parties, who, it was claimed, had been interviewed, coming out and publicly denying that they had expressed the sentiments attributed to them. Mr. Jonathan Hodgson, one of Montreal's wealthiest citizens and one who is respected by all parties, who was represented as being opposed to Commercial Union, denies the imputation and is of opinion that a meeting of the Board of Trade should have been called to express its views on the matter. Your correspondent was informed to-day that it was very possible that such a meeting may be called at no distant date. Meantime, Hon. Peter Mitchell will attend the Boston merchants' banquet to give his views on the question at issue.

Commercial Union at Norwich.

NORWICH, Dec. 23.—A large mass meeting was held here yesterday, when the question of Commercial Union or Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States was very fully and ably discussed, both pro and con. The meeting was convened under the auspices of the South Oxford Farmers' Institute, the commodious hall being packed to the doors. Mr. G. H. Cook, President of the Institute, occupied the chair. Mr. Valancy E. Fuller, Hamilton, President of the Central Farmers' Institute, in a most masterly speech of two hours' length, discussed the advantages that would accrue not only to the farmers but also to the country as a whole, were all trade restrictions removed that at present exist between us and our neighbors across the lines. Mr. J. Castell Hopkins, Ingersoll, with much ability spoke in opposition, but it was evident that he failed to convince the audience of the soundness of his arguments. At the close of the discussion a resolution was moved by Mr. S. Pitcher, South Norwich, seconded by H. S. Lossee, North Norwich, favoring Commercial Union or Unrestricted Reciprocity, which was carried amid much enthusiasm, only one hand being held up in opposition.

Mr. Chamberlain on Imperial Federation.

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—The Secretary of the local branch of the Imperial Federation League had an interview with Mr. Chamberlain at Rideau Hall to-day. He expressed himself in sympathy with the general objects of the movement as set forth by the Imperial Federation League. England, he thought, would be prepared to go half way to meet the colonies in every arrangement tending to promote mutual interests. Mr. Chamberlain, in short, approves of this principle of federation, but has not seen any feasible scheme for its accomplishment submitted yet. He declined to lecture on the subject.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Representatives Butterworth of Ohio and Moffatt of Michigan, who are detained from the House on account of sickness, are both somewhat better to-day. Butterworth is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, but his condition is not considered dangerous.

THE MATTER OF MARKET TOLLS.

The question of market fees and market tolls is at present eliciting considerable discussion, and as it is of importance to the farming community; and as many of the latter are making demands for specific information, we thought it best to deal generally with the subject.

Prior to the year 1862, the town had power to pass by-laws regulating all vehicles, vessels and all other things in which anything was exposed for sale or marketed, and for imposing reasonable duty thereon and establishing the mode in which it should be paid, but in the session of 1862 the law (amended in 1863) was very materially altered in favour of the farming community by the Mowat Administration, owing to the repeated demands of the agricultural interest.

Under the present law no market fees whatever can be imposed or collected upon grain, seeds, dressed hogs or wool, hides, whether sold or brought for sale upon the market place or any other place within the town of Peterborough, and all market fees collected thereon are wholly illegal and unjustified.

Under the same law no market fees can be charged or collected on articles of any kind delivered within the town in pursuance of a prior contract for the sale thereof, nor can fees be charged on any articles of any description brought into town after ten o'clock in the forenoon where such articles are not exposed for sale upon the market place.

If the town should pass a by-law providing that the vendors of the articles in the next paragraph mentioned, may offer for sale sell or otherwise dispose of any such articles at any place within the town excepting only at or upon the market place, then such by-law may impose fees on persons voluntarily using such markets.

But as the town has not deemed it advisable to pass such a by-law, we understand that no fees can be imposed upon hay, lumber, laths, shingles, cordwood or other firewood, cheese, straw or other fodder that may be brought to market for disposal; and further, no by-law shall require hay, straw, or other fodder to be weighed or wood to be measured where neither the vendor nor the purchaser desires to have the same weighed or measured.

Any enactment of the town conflicting with the preceding is void.

The Peterborough Market by-law, passed under the authority of the Statute, repeals previously existing by-laws, and among its provisions, pertinent to this subject, are the following:

The market square and the streets adjoining are made the market place, and every day in the year is a market day, excepting Sundays, Good Friday, the Queen's Birthday, Christmas day or any other day set apart by royal proclamation as a holiday. Subject to certain conditions, all farm produce, except grain, shall be weighed on market scales at the request of either the buyer or the seller, a ticket to be furnished if required, to both parties by the market clerk. Fresh meat may be sold from farmer's waggons, but by the quarter only. Forestalling—that is, the purchase of produce etc., by hucksters or dealers before 11 o'clock—is forbidden and penalties imposed if practiced. The following are the market tolls and charges for the undermentioned articles offered for sale on the market-place:

For each load of hay, including weighing.....twenty-five cents
For each load of straw, including weighing.....fifteen cents
For each waggon, buggy, cutter or sleigh with articles for sale, except wood, hay, straw, grain.....ten cents
For each stand, table, etc., other than that for butcher.....five cents
For each crate, barrel, box handcart, wheelbarrow, basket or pail, etc., containing articles for sale.....two cents
For each horse.....twenty-five cents
" " ox, bull, cow, steer, colt..fifteen cents
" " halter, pig, sheep, calf or lamb, exempt in vehicle.....ten cents
For each buggy, waggon, cart, sleigh, etc., for sale.....twenty-five cents
For each threshing, mowing, reaping or sowing machine, etc., made to be drawn (sic) by horses, steam or water power.....one dollar
For each Machine to be worked by hand.....fifty cents
" " load of wood, including measuring.....five cents

The following are the charges for weighing the undermentioned articles:—

Load of Coal.....five cents
" of Hay (including market fees.....twenty-five cents
" of Straw (including market fees.....fifteen cents
Each head of cattle, horses, etc.....ten cents
For all other drafts up to 5 lbs.....one cent
For all other drafts from 5 to 10 lbs.....two cents
For all other drafts from 10 to 20 lbs.....three cents
For all other drafts from 300 lbs.....five cents

The penalties for exposing articles of light weight for sale are set forth, and the by-law enacts that all articles shall be measured and weighed, which provision is, however, modified by the closing clause of the by-law providing that the weighing is not compulsory except by the request of buyer or seller.

In order that comparison may be made of the town by-law, section No. 5 and No 6 of the "Act Respecting Market Fees" is given below:

5 No market fees shall be imposed by any municipality higher than those contained in the following scale:

Upon articles brought to the market place in a vehicle drawn by two horses, upon which fees may be imposed, not more than ten cents
Upon articles brought to the market place in a vehicle drawn by one horse, not more than.....five cents
For articles brought to the market place by hand or in any basket or vessel, not more than.....two cents
Upon or in respect of live stock driven to or [illegible] same fees shall be imposed or levied by any municipality for weighing or measuring greater or than as follows:—

For weighing a load of hay.....fifteen cents
" " slaughtered meat, or grain, or other articles exposed for sale under one hundred pounds.....two cents
Over one hundred pounds, and up to one thousand pounds.....five cents
Over one thousand pounds.....ten cents
For weighing five animals, other than sheep or pigs, per head.....three cents
Sheep or pigs, if more than five, per head.....one cent
If less than five, for the lot.....four cents
For measuring a load of wood.....five cents

Farmers will observe several discrepancies—where the town by-law exceeds and supercedes the statute itself.

Those paragraphs of the schedule to which an asterisk is prefixed (thus *) are either in excess of the schedule of rates of the Act or are not mentioned therein.

Lines of Thanks

To Wm. Hamilton, Lakefield, for the deep interest he manifested in me while I visited that village, also his willingness in assisting me in selling my book of poems:

Sir, how shall I your friendly act repay?
In simple verse my thanks I can't convey,
My liviest thoughts seem all inadequate
To thank your, sir, in words appropriate.
Your work of love deserves much higher praise
Than my best thoughts, or brightest theme can raise;
Your help seems trifling, but its worth in fact
Flows from the power that urged you to the act.
Into your village I a stranger came,
And me you in the store of Robert Graham;
Your pleasant face my confidence did win—
Bright mirror of a noble soul within.
You viewed my book with keen and searching eye,
It pleased your fancy, though I knew not why,
Some unseen power in your possession took
And bound you to the author and his book.
Love was the mainspring that compelled your heart
To go with me and take an active part;
Your powerful pleading and your winning ways
Made ready sales, and few in count were nays.
As summer showers revive the drooping flower
So on your heart my book displayed its power;
As rushing waters through your village roll,
So through deep channels love bursts from your soul;
Upon rough highways or on crowded street,
It cheers my heart, a friend like you to meet.
Wholesouled, obliging, genial, free and kind,
In you I found those qualities combined.
Gold would my heart be, and my muse's, too.
If I did not return my thanks to you.
But proper language fails your humble bard
To tell your worth, far less a fit reward.
Your generous act—the assistance you did give
To me—its impress upon my heart shall live,
While I exist my pen and tongue shall own
The noble work of William Hamilton.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

THE MAYORALTY FOR 1888.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers who have promised me their support, I am before you as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1888. I beg to ask you to give me your support, therefor, on the following platform:

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

If length of public service is deserving of recognition, I may modestly claim your consideration. During the eighteen or twenty years which I have sat at your Council board, I have endeavored to faithfully advance the best interests of the Town; I have spared neither time nor work to conscientiously carry out my pledge to my supporters, and have worked to the best of my ability for the general good—if I have erred, I have done so unknowingly.

I offer myself as, in particular, the Workingmen's Candidate. I hope to receive a solid Workingmen's support. I consider I am fairly entitled to it. I am a workingman myself, and, if elected, will endeavor to repay their confidence by advancing their interests in every honest way.

I may say that, in taking the field, I am not actuated by any feeling of rivalry with the present occupant of the Mayor's chair, but I feel that, with the many demands on his time and services, the position is not sought for. Should I prove correct in my inference, you cannot fairly overlook the claim that years of service have on your consideration.

I recognize thoroughly what the necessities of the town demand. Thorough economy in all departments of municipal expenditure must be the rule, a liberal policy to encourage the establishment and growth of new and existing industries. In this regard I am opposed to any money bonus being granted but in favor of exemption from taxes and, possibly, free sites, under proper restrictions.

I shall—if elected—give particular attention to matters as outlined above.

Possibly one of the most prominent questions that will come before the ratepayers next year will be in connection with the enforcement of the Scott Act. I will maintain in this regard the position relative to temperance which I have held for the last twenty-five years. So long as the Scott Act remains in force, I will, to the extent of my ability and office, see that the law is strictly enforced, and that, too, through the proper officers of the town.

Such, gentlemen, are the grounds on which I ask your support. I may not have the opportunity of personally soliciting your favor, but venture to hope that the above statement of my views will meet with your approval.

Trusting that I may have your hearty support on the basis of

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours faithfully,

A. RUTHERFORD.

Peterborough, December 8th, 1887. dw

A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. If I have in these endeavours met with any degree of success worthy of recognition by the ratepayers of the town, or if I have, in my capacity as Mayor for half a dozen terms, looked after the interests of the Town to the satisfaction of the Public, I can with confidence claim a renewal of your support at the coming Election.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Great Slaughtering and Cutting

OF

PRICES IN DRY GOODS

AT

THOMAS KELLY'S

After considering the matter over carefully I have decided to force the sale of my large and well assorted stock of Dry Goods. This means a loss, but, rather than carry goods over until another season, I feel justified in taking this course. It is not my practice to make random statements misleading to customers, therefore when I say the prices will be cut down you will find that the prices WILL be cut down. Remember that price alone is no criterion of cheapness. You should see the goods and judge of their values. What we say we do, and more than that we reduce seasonable goods, not old goods lying around the shelves from season to season. A few quotations will serve as a guide, and possibly startle you into the advisability of calling.

CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS AND LEGENDS.

We purpose, in this short article, referring to some old customs which have been observed at the Christmas season in the ages past and some traces of which still exist.

There were many beautiful and significant customs in England in connection with this festive season which were not found among the southern nations of Europe. It has been well said that we may judge of the character of a people by the manner in which they observed their festivals, as well as by their ballads and legends. The converts to Christianity from the religions of the North brought with them Druidical customs, some of which, although not allowed in the ritual of the Church, were yet suffered to cluster around the festivals which Christians observed.

To give an example: It seems most fitting to all lovers of Christmas to adorn their churches and dwellings with bright evergreens, the pine and hemlock and cedar in this country, the holly and the mistletoe in Old England. And yet this custom is but the survival of a heathen ceremony. The Druids believed that the woods were inhabited by friendly gods, who, as the cold and rigorous winter approached, would perish, unless their votaries provided for them. So the halls of our ancestors were filled with small evergreen trees, and the members of the household all aided in distributing them throughout the different rooms; and underneath these sylvan branches the little deities, the Penates of this strange race, were supposed to find shelter. It matters little, however, where the idea of Christmas decorations first originated, for it is universally deemed appropriate, since it adds cheerfulness and brightness to our churches and dwellings, and is an outward expression of our inward joy and gladness.

A heathen custom still practised in parts of England, is the presentation of the boar's head at the close of the great Christmas dinners. At some of the Oxford colleges on this festival day, the head waiter appears with the smoking head of a boar, and as he enters the great dining hall the students sing:

Caput apri defero,
Reddens laudes Domino.

It was the practice of the heathen to swear upon the boar's head, and thus it seems, if the whole ceremony is carried out, very inappropriate for table ornament at a Christmas feast.

One of the superstitions concerning the Yule Log, so famous in Christmas lore, was that each year it must be kindled from the brand of last year's fire; and on no account must the fire go out during the night, for such a catastrophe would betoken an ill omen.

An old custom, intended to show the unity of all mankind, was the use of the Wassail Bowl, for family and guests alike. It was brought in after dinner, with roasted crab apples floating on the surface of the spiced wines and passed to each one in turn; this typical custom gave way to each individual guest having a separate bowl.

In mediæval times the Waits walked through the streets on Christmas Eve, singing quaint carols and accompanying themselves with strange musical instruments. This practice is still in vogue in England.

There is a very pretty legend concerning the Glastonbury hawthorn. This tree, it is said, buds on the day before Christmas and blossoms on the feast itself; its pure, white flowers being emblematical of the Spotless Robe of Bethlehem.

The Bible informs us that our blessed Lord was born in a stable and laid to rest in a manger, and so it has always been inferred that the patient ox and the humble ass were stabled when slept the holy guests of Nazareth. From this, fancy represents the oxen always on their knees on Christmas Eve, and they and the ass, that lowly beast of burden, are supposed to feel an interest in Christmas that no other animals can appreciate.

Such are some of the old superstitions which were once current among both nobles and peasants, although it must be confessed the age of implicit faith in legends is almost past.

Always Taking The Lead

An Address.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., addressed a meeting of his constituents in Union Hall, 5th concession of Smith on Friday evening. Mr. George Elliott occupied, and a very pleasant interchange of opinions was expressed on questions affecting the interests of the agricultural population.

Memorial Window.

A handsome and costly memorial window has this afternoon been placed on the south side of the nave of St. Luke's Church. It is from the firm of Messrs. McCausland & Son, Toronto, and has been erected by the Misses Mills in memory of their mother, who died in September last.

In the Field.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be observed that Mr. Adam Hall has announced himself as a candidate for a seat at the Council Board for 1887. Mr. Hall is the kind of man the people want, shrewd, careful and painstaking in every thing he undertakes, and has the business capacity and integrity to make a good, efficient councillor.

33⅓ Cents on the Dollar.

Sheppard has purchased at auction brand new goods, as well as a part of a bankrupt stock averaging about 33⅓ cents on the dollar. It comprises nice, new and novel Xmas goods in albums, children's china tea sets, boys' tools, scrap albums, dry goods, clothing, etc., etc.; and this entire stock will be slaughtered at a small advance on the above. Sheppard's noted cheap store, George street, Peterborough. 6d145

Turnbull is selling heavy Costume Dress Goods, 56 inches wide, for 45c. a yard, which beats anything I've had thrown at me at supposed Cost Prices. I always find Turnbull has the Bottom Prices.

A Fine Window.

The display of Christmas fruits, etc., made by W. J. Ma-on, next door to the Bank of Toronto, for artistic arrangement and effect probably excels anything yet produced in town. And the pleased exclamations of the ladies—who are doubtless the best judges in such matters—is strong presumptive evidence that they regard the good things on show as of the very freshest and best. By all means see that window. d

Christmas Presents.

Such as Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books, Story Books, Albums, Satchels, Purses, Plush Goods, Gold Pens and Pencils, Desks, Work Boxes, Toilet Cases, Companions and Xmas Cards in large variety at lowest prices at A. L. Davis & Co.'s. 6d145

A Writing Parlor.

Beginning with the new year term (Jan. 3rd, 1888) the proprietors of the Business College intend opening a Writing Parlor, where young ladies and gentlemen will be skillfully trained in a beautiful, graceful, Spencerian style of penmanship. Members of the parlor class may come at any hour of the day most suitable and receive individual instruction by Principal Sawyer, who, by the way, might very appropriately be termed the Prince of Canadian Artist Penmen. dw

Xmas Goods.

Do you want a lovely china tea sett, complete? It is china, in gold, cardinal and white, and gold and brown and white; sold elsewhere for $1.50. Sheppard's price for this beautiful Xmas gift, only 50c. per set. Also sets of boys tools cheap, jewelry cheap, puff boxes cheap, albums cheap. Fancy, if you can, a $7.50 album, in solid leather cover, heavy brass mountings, newest design, for $3.50; also $3 goods for 99c.; scrap albums, regular price $1, for 25 cents each. You might well say all these goods are being sold for next to nothing. Go straight to Sheppard's noted cheap store, George street, Peterborough. 6d145

The Danites.

The Guelph Mercury says:—The R. H. Baird Dramatic Company was greeted with a crowded house last evening to witness the performance of the border drama "The Danites." R. H. Baird himself has become so well known in our city as a comedian that it would be superfluous to praise him. In his role of Wm Wise he kept the whole audience in a state of uproarious laughter. E. Houghton, as the "Parson" did remarkably well. Mamie Harvey, as "Nancy Williams" and as the unknown boy "Billy Piper," excited frequent applause. The company is well balanced, and the public should not fail to witness the "Bells of Shandon," this evening.

Church Chimes.

St. John's Church is beautifully decorated for Christmas. There will be two services to-morrow—Holy Communion at 8.30 and full morning service at eleven o'clock.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church, Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A., B.D., at 11 a.m., and Rev. I. Tovell at 7 o'clock. Evangelistic services.

There will be two services in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, Christmas morning. At 8 o'clock,—Holy Communion,—and at 11 o'clock. The Christmas decorations of the church are extremely beautiful.

The merchants of Peterborough are keeping up with their enthusiasm in other lines of trade and are making extra Christmas displays of meat. Probably the most imposing exhibit is that of the George street butcher, whose model shop is lined with tier upon tier of beef, lamb and pork carcasses, neatly trimmed, and ornamented with strings of evergreens, rosettes, etc. The outside of the shop is also neatly dressed in like manner. Mr. Howden's display comprises the best qualities of beef, mutton, pork, lambs, fowl, game, etc. For the Christmas trade he has secured a rare good quality of animals. His purchases include, in cattle, the following, all thoroughbreds:—From Mr. W. Armstrong, Otonabee, one heifer; E. Clayton, S. Monaghan, 2 heifers; D. Truscott and Mr. Whitlington, S. Monaghan, each 1 heifer; C. D. Dadman, Douro, 1 heifer; 1 purchased in Toronto and three fed by himself. He killed besides a large number of sheep, lambs and pigs fed by himself of prime quality. Altogether his display is a tempting one.

MR. HARRY WINCH

also makes a most creditable display. His spacious stalls are filled with a tempting array of fresh meats decorated with evergreens, rosettes and satin flags. Mr. Winch's stock comprises meats of every kind, fowl, sausage, venison, tongue, etc. For the Christmas market he has purchased two prime Durham heifers from Mr. A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, and Mr. R. Carter, of Otonabee; two grade heifers from Messrs. J. Fife and P. Fife, of Otonabee; two extra fine heifers from Wm. Forster, N. Monaghan; and four fed by himself especially for the occasion. In mutton, Mr. Winch has secured a number of fine lambs from the fields of Messrs. Neil McDonald and Robt. Bell, Smith; E. Finney, N. Dawson and R. Emerson, South Monaghan. He also shows some fine pork, including and extra good quality pig from Mr. Thomas Howden. An elaborate display of turkeys is made, secured from the celebrated turkey-farmers of Cavan, Messrs. R. Staples and R. Swane, who annually supply Mr. Winch for the Christmas trade. Geese and other fowls are shown also

MR. JOHN MERVIN

Shows the same taste and neatness in the beautiful decoration of his shop, corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, and in addition to the merely ornamental and decorative, he has paid particular attention to the solid part of the programme. Mr. Mervin is an extensive buyer and has a splendid opportunity of picking up choice animals, and this year he has excelled himself. His purchases have been made from the following well known breeders and feeders of first-class stock. They never stint the meal nor withhold the hand that contributes to the wants of their stock:—Mr. Arthur McQuade, of Emily, supplies five prime steers; Mr. Alex. Stewart, Smith, one prime heifer; Miss Mills, Ashburnham, one well fed heifer; Mr. John Young, of Smith, one excellent steer; Mr. E. Sutton, Cavan, one extra heifer; Mr. James McKibbon, Smith, two first-class heifers; Mr. James Fee, of Emily, five lambs; Mr. Israel Payne, of ——, several pigs fed expressly for the holiday market; and Mr. McEwen, of Smith, a fine lot of extra-fed sheep. In addition to the superb supply of meats from these sources, Mr. Mervin has a full supply of poultry and fancy, and prepared meats of every description.

People wishing to supply their Christmas tables with meats fit for princes, have the splendid stock of three of our most enterprising butchers to select from, and at their shops will be found enough for all.

Annual Christmas Festival.

St. Luke's School Rooms were well filled last night, the occasion being the children's annual Christmas festival. The platform was, at the commencement of the proceedings, shut off from view by a curtain. On it were placed two very large Christmas trees, bowing under the weight of a huge variety of presents of all sorts and sizes. A short programme of songs and Christmas carols was rendered as follows:—1 "A Song and a Carol for Christmas-tide", by the School; 2, Carol, "Shine Calm and Bright," by the School: 3, Song, "Waiting," Miss E. Tivey; 4, Carol, "Prince of Peace," by the School; 5, Song, "The Old Mill," Mrs. Bowman; 6, Ventriloquism, Mr. W. A. Dixon; 7, Carol, "Star, Bright and Wonderful," by the School.

The second part of the proceedings consisted of the distribution of prizes to the Sunday scholars and gifts from the trees. The Rector stated that the school had never been so prosperous as during 1887. The average attendance for the first six months had been 140, and for the last five months 167. Many of the children had attended every Sunday in the year, and a large number deserved prizes. He explained the plan upon which these were distributed. It was as follows:—Children to secure a first prize must attend 50 Sundays and receive 320 marks; for a second prize, they must attend 46 Sundays and receive 280 marks; and for a third prize, they are required to attend 43 Sundays and obtain 260 marks. The prizes, which consisted of valuable books, were then given to the following scholars:—First prize, Jennie Lipsett, Martha Beatty, Mamie Rogers, Mabel Bradshaw, Alice Tivey, Susie Young and Alex. Long. Second prize, Minnie Harrow, Edith Burnham, Edith Byers, Maude Adams, Hetty Burnham, Clara Woods, Fanny Ball, Sarah Payne, Effie Bennett, Ada Curtis, Emily Shuter, Mary McFadden, Louie Butcher, Charlie Crowe, Thos. Catheart, Fred Long, Sam. Adams, Charlie Young, Willie Adams, Willie Mien, Reuben Castle, Berths Woods, Albert Hall and Harry Phillips. Third prize, Emma Milliken, Sarah McWha, Edwin Heap, Willie Ball, Carrie Young, James Tighe, Gertie Denne, Willie McWha, Minnie Lipsett, Mary Butcher, Willie Cathcart and Hugh Tighe. Over 175 children received gifts from the tree, distributed by Mr. Richard B. Rogers, Mr. B. Everett and the teachers. At the close the chairman asked Miss McNab to approach the platform, whereupon he presented her with a handsome easy chair stating that it was a gift from the members of the infant class and the children's singing class, conducted by her, and expressing the deep regret of all that they were about to lose her valuable services. He also stated that he was commissioned to present her with another gift from the choir and Sunday school teachers, expressive of their regard and esteem for her work as organist during the last three years, and wishing her the compliments of the season. He then handed her a very beautiful plush dressing and jewel case combined, suitably filled. Mr. Rogers replied on behalf of Miss McNab and thanked the donors for their very handsome and valuable gifts. The proceedings then closed in the usual way.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Alex. Sargent, Bailiff of the Millbrook Division Court, dropped dead yesterday in the village on his way home. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his sudden death.

Rushing Business.

Messrs. Elliott & Tierney have blossomed out magnificently for the holiday trade. They have two dashing teams to deliver their goods and both are kept busy, so that if people want to see them they will have to wait till they stop at some house or at the shop for a fresh load. Both teams are hitched to beautifully painted and gilt new delivery sleighs, made by Porter Bros. One team is a jet black, decked out with waving hanoverettes, and the other a dashing cream-match team—"Maseppa" and M. Tierney's black "Deck."

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S VIEWS ON SEPARATION CONDEMNED IN ENGLAND.

Criticism of Doherty's Sentence—The Abyssinian Mission—Gladstone Welcomed at Chester—The French Will Evacuate the New Hebrides.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The St. Petersburg Official Messenger says that on Dec. 15 students of the Charkoff University went into the streets, where they met a number of pupils of the Technological and Veterinary Institutes. They began to act in a riotous manner, and smashed the windows of the university. On Dec. 14 the students of Odessa University engaged in a riot, and on Dec. 16 the Kazan University and Veterinary students also indulged in riotous proceedings. The classes to which the students implicated belonged have been suspended.

The French Commandant of the New Hebrides has received orders from his government to vacate the islands in January.

Mr. Parnell's health is much improved and he will probably address his constituents in Cork in January.

The Crown Prince's condition continues to improve. In answer to the representations of Count Von Munster, who was sent to San Remo by Bismarck to urge upon the Crown Prince the necessity of abdicating in favor of his son, on account of the imminence of a fearful war, he said that so long as he drew breath he would not surrender his rights nor his duties. The Tagblatt suggests that endeavors are being made to induce the Prince to submit to an operation the result of which may be fatal and so put an end to the political embarrassment. The National Zeitung refers to the insinuation in indignant terms, but The Tagblatt's assertions are thought to rest on good grounds. The court opposition to Bismarck has been strengthened by the defeat of the intrigue.

An enormous number of Christmas presents have been received at San Remo from all parts of Germany. The gifts include wines, beers, gingerbread, sausages, woolen wraps, and all kinds of home-made articles. Pomerania, of which the Crown Prince is hereditary Governor, sends choice products of the province.

The Prussian Grand Lodge of Freemasons has received a letter of thanks from the Crown Prince for their sympathy and their demonstrations of joy over the improvement in his health. There was no foundation in the report that Dr. Mackenzie had gone to Algeria to select a residence for the Prince.

Lord Randolph Churchill has arrived at St. Petersburg. It seems certain that he has not gone to Russia as the messenger of Lord Salisbury. Should an interview take place between him and the Czar, it will be granted only on account of his personal political importance. It may be added that he has not gone to Russia to intrigue against the policy of his own government.

The Cabinet have decided to introduce two Irish bills. One will be aimed at conciliating the Catholic bishops. The other bill meets the appeal of the Irish landlords and their mortgagees for advances from the Treasury to the landlords at 3½ per cent., the loans to be repayable in instalments covering thirty-six years. The Irish mortgagees, who are now paying 4½ to 6 per cent. interest on their borrowings, will be eager to get the treasury loans at 3½ per cent.

Lord Churchill will probably see the Czar to-day.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The St. James' Gazette editorially comments upon Mr. Chamberlain's interview in Ottawa, and condemns his blunt assertion that Great Britain would not object to a separation if Canada desired it; it says that the question has not come into the range of practical politics. If it ever does, it will then be the duty of Imperial statesmen to ascertain whether it is the Canadian nation in reality or a mere faction which desires to secede.

The financial editor of The Daily Chronicle asserts that beyond the fact that a scheme seems maturing to cancel the Canadian Pacific Railway's monopoly in Manitoba, there is nothing authentic in the reports that the Government will be persuaded to take over the railway.

The crofters of the island of Lewis have passed a unanimous vote of confidence in Mr. Morrison as a delegate to report on the suitability of British Columbia as a future home.

At a meeting of the North of Scotland Canadian Mortgage Company at Aberdeen the report and dividend were approved. Mr. Barclay stated that the business was in a very steady-going shape.

The Canadian Phosphate Company, whose mines are situated at Portland, Quebec, has floated its shares at a premium.

The Dominion Dairy Society has decided to join the Wigtown Society in securing a Canadian instructor for cheesemaking operations.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that the university students there, irritated at being confined to the university building, renewed the rioting. They deny that politics have anything to do with their actions, and say that their aim is to bring about the dismissal of the rector, the abolition of the new university statutes, and the release of the students arrested during the late trials. Prof. Mendlejeff promised to would report the matter to the curator, whereupon the students were released and dispersed quietly. They are not satisfied with the Professor's promise, however, and will send a petition to the Czar.

M. Delianow, the Minister of Public Instruction, has tendered his resignation. It has not been accepted, but the Czar is displeased with the Minister, and has declined to grant him an audience.

The editor of The Parliamentiare Nezeale has been arrested for publishing laudatory articles about Russia.

M. Garnier, a member of the Sarah Bernhardt troupe which visited America, assaulted M. Clemenceau in the street yesterday on account of the latter's criticisms of M. Garnier's acting.

Mr. Mandeville was greeted by thousands at Mitchelstown on Saturday on the occasion of his release. He received a most enthusiastic welcome.

Mahmoud Ogelaledden, the author of the new budget scheme for balancing the revenues of expenditure, has been appointed Minister of Finance by the Sultan, in place of Zubdi Pasha.

Mr. Gladstone left Hawarden to-day for the Continent. Five thousand persons gave him an enthusiastic welcome on his arrival at Chester.

The London Observer to-day pronounces the sentence passed upon Doherty as monstrous.

The British Mission to Abyssinia was unsuccessful in its efforts to induce King John to sue for peace, and the Italians are jubilant over the failure. Ramabula harrassed the Mission on their journey. The members will sail for Cairo on the next wave steamer.

During the whole of last week the tendency of American and Canadian railway shares was downward. While Union and Northern Pacific rose 1 during the week, Canadian Pacific fell slightly, and Grand Trunks during the week declined. Second preference dropped ½ and first preference, guaranteed and ordinary, dropped ¼ each to-day on the rumors of the transfer of the Northern and Northwestern roads to the Grand Trunk. The stocks of the latter road stiffened somewhat.

Opinion in the best informed circles is that the danger of war is over for the season.

CHAMBERLAIN AND WIMAN.

Mr. F. B. Thurber Waxes Wroth at the Commissioner's Criticisms.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The criticisms which Mr. Chamberlain made on Mr. Wiman to the reporters at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, on Thursday last have excited some attention here and his friends are offended. Among them is Mr. Frank B. Thurber. He has addressed the following to the New York Herald:

To the Editor of the New York Herald:

Sir—There is an old saying that the "bit bird flutters," and the truth of it is illustrated in your despatches from Ottawa announcing the utterance of Hon. Jos. Chamberlain upon the subject of Commercial Union, for it is astonishing that Mr. Chamberlain, who is supposed also to be a trained diplomat as well as a gentleman, should have exhibited so much feeling and have indulged in such discourteous personal remarks, as he is reported to have done in his allusions to Mr. Erastus Wiman, who is too much of a gentleman to speak of Mr. Chamberlain in terms such as that gentleman is reported to have used toward him. Certainly Mr. Wiman enjoys the respect of all who know him and if rabid epithets are thrown at him by those who differ with him on public questions he should remember that "the most stinks and stones are always found under the best apple trees."

As regards Commercial Union, Mr. Chamberlain may find that he has underestimated both sides of the fair public opinion in favor of some such proposition, although it may not come in the precise form advocated by Mr. Wiman.

F. B. THURBER.

A KENTUCKY "AFFAIR."

Four Men Shot in a Sunday Morning Saloon Row.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 25.—At midnight last night the Sheriff of Kenton County, Ky., received a telegram from the toll-gate keeper at Erlanger, a village about eight miles from Covington on the Cincinnati Southern Railway. The telegram read: "ERLANGER, Ky., Dec. 25.—Send officers; bloody riot. (Signed), JEFF CHILDERS." The Sheriff and a posse went from Covington.

The facts of the case are that in Boone County, Ky., prohibition prevails and Erlanger is a near station for Boone County boys to get liquor at. They had been assembling there Saturday nights and drinking at John Connor's saloon. They disliked Albert Cates, the barkeeper, and having given him notice to quit, decided last night to drive him away. They got up a fight in the saloon late last night and Cates put them out. They then smashed in the windows with stones and fired pistols through the doors and windows. Cates and his two companions returned the fire. The assailants retired to reload, and returning made a rush at the house. The three within fired from the windows with deadly effect. The outsiders shot were Rome Respers, thigh and arm; Frank Respers, head, very bad; Ben Stevens, face, ball lodged near the ear; John Dorsey, breast and leg.

A SWINDLER AT LONDON.

He Victimizes Several Women Before His Character is Discovered.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A Frenchman with the un-Gallic name of John Smith was taken in charge last night by the police authorities as a swindler. Smith's game was to interview some woman, widow preferred, and represent himself as having discovered that the party addressed was heir to a legacy of more or less value, to secure which the victim would pay him $2 or $3 to cover the cost of necessary documents. By his polite and plausible stories he beguiled several women before his true character was discovered. He is about 30 years old, 5 feet 11 inches in height, dark complexion, hair streaked with gray. In his possession were several letters written in French, a photograph, which he says he found in Windsor, a rolled gold chain, and checks on a Chatham bank.

A DISABLED OCEAN STEAMER.

A Red Star Liner, Probably the Waesland, Reported to be in Trouble.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—The steamship Albany, which arrived in Liverpool on Dec. 21, reports that on Dec. 18 she passed a four-masted steamship disabled and showing three red lights, indicating a Red Star Liner. The Red Star Line authorities said: "It could not have been the Westernland, because the Albany, which sighted her on Dec. 18, reached Liverpool on Dec. 21, and the Westernland did not leave here until Dec. 17."

They seemed to lean toward the opinion that the disabled steamship was more likely to have been the Waesland, which sailed from Antwerp last Saturday, and which had probably turned back when she became disabled. If it was the Waesland she probably had a large number of passengers.

The Big Raft Broken Up.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 25.—The United States steamer Enterprise arrived here this afternoon after an unsuccessful search for the big lumber raft abandoned by the steamer Minnesota on Nantucket Shoals. When the Enterprise was 126 miles southeast by south from the shoals she fell in with an immense number of logs from the raft, proving beyond doubt that the raft had broken up.

WAR CLOUD THICKENING.

A SIGNIFICANT CHRISTMAS BOX GIVEN TO COUNT ANDRASSEY.

Hostilities Believed to be Impending Between Russia and Austria—The Czar Will Probably be in the Early Spring—Russian Papers Bellicose in Tone.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The expectation of war is growing steadily in Berlin and Vienna in spite of the persistent attempts to quiet general apprehensions. The concentration of the armies goes on actively, and both sides are throwing men and ammunition on the frontier. All the false statements of the situation made by the war officials and the inspired press cannot conceal the present condition of feverish activity. Russian agents are trying to negotiate a loan of £10,000,000 in Paris.

Military experts are now discussing the probable period of the opening of the campaign. The Vienna Army Gazette declares that a winter campaign is impossible, and that deep mud and snow continues in Poland until May, making even a spring campaign in that region impracticable. The Kreus Zeitung and all the German newspapers contend in favor of a winter campaign, because the Austrian war office is all ready to mobilize the whole imperial army and has ample supplies in readiness to operate in Poland, notwithstanding the deep snow and other hindrances of the season. It is doubtful if any movement will be made until well into the spring, although the earlier the better probably for the allies, and the worse for Russia, who cannot move quickly.

The Spectator says that the judgment of men who have the means of knowing the symptoms is that the situation is most serious. The Economist believes the situation dangerous, but the Government has not abandoned hope of smoothing matters.

If war in the early spring is averted, military expectation in Berlin will be disappointed and official anticipation deceived. It has become evident within the past few days in diplomatic circles that the Panslavist faction has gained the ascendancy over the Czar, who is now under the control of the war party, the leaders of which are likely to precipitate a conflict by some act of provocation committed without the Czar's full assent.

The return of Gen. Von Schweinitz, the German Ambassador to St. Petersburg, was hoped to be signalized by a decisive turn of the tide peaceward. The conference between Gen. Von Schweinitz and M. DeGiers, the Russian Prime Minister, on Thursday last had a contrary result. Whatever passed during the interview has deepened the distrust in Berlin and increased the irritation of the Austrian Government towards the Czar's Ministers. M. DeGiers appears to have abandoned his policy of peace pressure upon the Czar and to have thrown his influence on the side of the military party. He is reported as telling Gen. Von Schweinitz that the Czar is sincerely desirous of peace, but is unable to tolerate longer Austrian duplicity in thwarting Russian endeavors to obtain the just fruits of her sacrifices in the Balkan campaign. Apart from what transpired at the interview with Gen. Von Schweinitz, M. de Grers has complained openly at diplomatic reunions in St. Petersburg of Count Kalnoky's language in reference to Russia, declaring it to be unbearable and that it justified every measure Russia might take to reenforce her troops on the frontier.

An ominous indication of the extreme tension of the situation is the bellicose tone of the St. Petersburg papers towards Austria. There is no further pretence of concealment as to what are the Russian aims. Bulgaria, the papers say, must be deprived of any shadow of autonomy and become a Russian province, while Austria must be forced to evacuate Bosnia and Herzegovina. A notable feature of the articles in The Novoe Vremya, Novosti and other Russian papers, is the statement that a war with Austria would not necessarily involve Germany. An inspired article in The Grashdanin states that the Russian Government has obtained the knowledge that the terms of the treaty of alliance leave Germany free not to interfere unless Austria is threatened with a collapse which would involve territorial losses. This is contrary to the official press of Vienna and Pesth, which treats the war question as a common matter between Austria and Germany. The Berlin official view concurs with that of the Austrian press, and the closeness of the intimacy between the War Departments distinctly points to concerted plans of military action in the event of war.

Since his conference with M. De Giers, Gen. Von Schweinitz has been received by the Czar, who made the reception a formality, avoiding conversation.

The report that Count Von Wolkenstein, the Austrian Ambassador at St. Petersburg, had received assurances from M. DeGriers that the movements of troops had ceased, is semi-officially denied from Vienna to-night. The Russian Government has not ventured to make any statement either to the German or to the Austrian Ambassador regarding the position on the frontier. Reassuring representations would be useless in the face of facts. During the past week Russian cavalry and light artillery have been pushed forward to extreme outposts, for instance to Malakow, a few kilometers from Cracow, and to Chillakovo, a station on the Lemberg and Dembus Railway.

A careful estimate in The Post gives Russia eight and a half army corps within the frontier districts of Warsaw, Wilna and Kieff, with 120 field batteries, against a combined Austrian and German force of five and a half army corps with 83 batteries. Russia has also an immense preponderance of cavalry strength.

Count Andrassy was presented yesterday with a magnificent portrait of himself as a Christmas gift by the Emperor Francis Joseph. The gift is believed to have a political significance, the opinion being that the Emperor wished to express his approval of Count Andrassy's energetic policy.

It is stated when the Count returned from the Berlin Congress the Emperor wished to Premier Mercier's Florida Trip Abandoned.

MONTREAL, Dec. 26.—Premier Mercier has abandoned his trip to Florida and returned to Quebec. The failure of a proposed provincial loan, the approach of carnival lip-chestnuts and a decision to assemble the Legislature at an early date have combined to decide this course on his part.

Shot His Sister's Tradesman.

STEVENSON, Ala., Dec. 24.—John Thomas, postmaster of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad at this place, met Isaac Haynes on the street to-day, and, enraged by slighting remarks the latter is alleged to have made with regard to his (Thomas') sister, shot Haynes dead. Haynes recently drew a prize of $15,000 in a lottery, and had been living rather a fast life. Thomas surrendered himself and is in jail.

Struck With Dynamite.

W. H. Olive has brought suit at Montreal against J. B. Hogue for $150,000 damages for false arrest.

An attempt was made last week to set fire to Hopkin's door and sash factory, Montreal. A large quantity of cotton waste, saturated with oil, was found on fire, and the door against which it was placed was also covered with oil.

Municipal Nominations.

A Field of Nineteen Entries for the Civic Race — Mayoralty Nominations and Speeches—Copious Crop of Ward Nominations.

Promptly on the stroke of ten Returning Officer McDonald read the proclamation and called for nominations for Mayor, and in response the following were made :—

ARTHUR RUTHERFORD, nominated by Mr. Geo. Hilliard, Ex-M.P., seconded by Mr. John Metheral.

JAMES STEVENSON, M.P., nominated by Mr. W. H. Moore, barrister, seconded by Mr. Wm. Lech, Fur Manufacturer. Mr. Moore, in making the nomination of Mr. Stevenson, referred to his forty years' experience in municipal matters, and his large personal interest in seeing that the affairs of the town were economically administered.

Mr. RUTHERFORD, in support of his nomination and candidature, spoke of his lengthened experience in municipal matters. He referred to the fact as a coincidence that thirty-six years ago he did his first work in the very room where they were now assembled. He thought Mr. Stevenson, though, of course, he had a right to be a candidate, should, in consideration of his multiplicity of offices, have retired and allowed another to have the position. Two years were thought long enough for one man to occupy the Mayor's chair. The speaker said he was in favour of encouraging industries in town, though he would admit that Mr. Stevenson had well performed his duty in this respect. He (Mr. Rutherford) said that he would be favorable to helping new industries by way of exemption, though he was opposed to bonusus. He also thought that existing industries should be helped in some way. He defended himself from the charges which had been made against him in connection with extravagance. He admitted that he had taken an active interest in the extension of the waterworks system, and he believed that the increased fire protection now enjoyed justified the efforts he had taken. He did not think that his interest in the waterworks had been detrimental to the town, nor, in fact, anything that he had done. His past record was what he should be judged by. In reference to the Scott Act he said that in his past eighteen years' experience he had always sought the best interests of the town in keeping up to the letter of the license laws. As to the Scott Act, he believed that it was the duty of the chief magistrate to enforce that Act as fully as possible. He admitted that it had been very fairly enforced the past year, and if he were made mayor he would insist on its enforcement by the proper officers, the police, and he gave notice that if a license act were restored he would insist on the highest license the law allowed being imposed.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON—If you are elected would you pledge yourself to vote for the payment of the Edward's note of $700, or Mr. Rossiter's salary?

Mr. RUTHERFORD said he would not be in favor of paying either sum. That should have been settled by last year's Council. Mr. Rossiter was engaged by the Scott Act Association, and had no right to a cent of the town funds. Continuing, Mr. Rutherford insisted that the hotel-keepers, by their neglect to observe the Crooks Act, were responsible for the passing of the Scott Act. He asserted that there was not one hotel-keeper who had observed that Act.

M. H CROFT—Yes there is! I defy anybody to say that I did not strictly observe the Crooks Act.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said he thought there was not one hotel-keeper who could say the same with regard to the Scott Act. He closed his address by pledging himself, if elected, to use every endeavor to promote the best interests of the town.

Mr. WM. LECH, who volunteered an address, thought he could not be accused of ambition for he had been 27 years in town and this was the first nomination he had attended. He asserted there was good economy and foolish economy. In reference to spending $40,000 for encouraging industries, this would represent an increase of population, and it was the duty of the town to provide for the health of the town. Spalding's bay was denounced as unhealthy, but he asserted that George street was the dirtiest street in the town. (Applause.) He asserted that increased sewerage was the most important question of the hour. (Cheers.)

Mr. STEVENSON began by wishing the people a Happy New Year, adding that no man could please everybody. During the past year the expenditure had been increased by the carrying away of the bridges. All the resulting repairs but one (and that had been provided for by debentures) had been made without adding to the debt of the town. Last year he had promised that the taxes should be reduced to 12½ mills on the dollar and that had been done, and besides there was not only a clear balance sheet, but a surplus of $3,000. (Applause.) Although there had been an increase of expenditure of $2,000 beyond the estimates in the matter of the bridges. (Applause.) He was not anxious for the office of mayor, but he felt it his duty to occupy the office till another suitable man was found. He had been charged with neglecting the enforcement of the Scott Act. His power in the matter had been largely curtailed by the power given the supervision of police committee. But he believed the police had fairly done their duty, and there was no other town in Canada where so large an amount of fines had been imposed—$6,045—which were all collected, that could be by any means collected, except two fines imposed on Saturday. In 1886, when the Act came into force, the Scott Act Association had ignored the mayor and town council, and declared they would enforce it themselves. He had been instrumental in procuring the passing of an order-in-council by which the portion of Scott Act fines imposed in the town should go to the town, and it was due to this action that there was $3000 in fines in the town treasury that otherwise would not have been there. (Cheers). He had striven his best to do his duty, and if they did not think he had done so, they must find another. He referred to the practical interpretation he had given to his belief in the wisdom of encouraging manufactures, and if elected he would continue to give effect to that policy. During the past year, with a reduced expenditure, great improvements have been made in the system of fire protection, a large share of which was due to the chairman of the committee, Mr. McNish. There was no doubt that greater attraction should be sold to sewerage, but in view of the fact that $72,000, Municipal Loan Fund Debentures, matured in 1888, it would, perhaps, be better to defer action for the present, though there was now $60,000 invested as a sinking fund.

Ward Nominations.

NO. ONE WARD.

HARRY WINCH, proposed by Mr. Henry Best, seconded by Mr. P. McKennera.

E. S. DAWSON, proposed by Angus Williams, seconded by George Ross.

THOS. CRAIG, proposed by Mr. J. P. Bryson, seconded by Mr. P. McKennera.

JOHN MCNAUGHTON, proposed by Mr. John Patterson, seconded by Mr. J. P. Bryson.

RANNELL SAWYER, proposed by Mr. J. L. Hughes, seconded by Mr. Geo. Ross.

NO. TWO WARD.

ANDREW MCNEIL, proposed by Mr. Jas. Griffin, seconded by Mr. Geo. W. Hall.

THOS. KELLY, proposed by Mr. T.G. Hastlet, seconded by Mr. James Stevenson, M.P.

ADAM HALL, proposed by Mr. Walter Paterson, jr., seconded by Mr. D. H. Moore.

J. T. STENSON, proposed by Mr. Jas. Best, seconded by Mr. Thos. Rowantree.

NO. THREE WARD.

WM. YELLAND proposed by Mr. Robert Mein, seconded by Mr. W. B. Ferguson.

JOHN DOUGLASS proposed by Mr. W. B. Ferguson, seconded by Mr. Thomas Doris.

W. H. MOORE proposed by Mr. J. D. Beptie, seconded by Mr. Thomas McKee.

EDWARD SUTTON proposed by Mr. Thos. McKee, seconded by Mr. T. McFadden.

J. D. BAPTIE proposed by Mr. R. W. Munnester, seconded by Mr. John Douglass.

NO. FOUR WARD.

J. J. HARTLEY, proposed by Mr. W. Lee, seconded by Mr. Jas. Kendry.

THOS. MENZIES, proposed by H. Deane, seconded by Mr. W. H. Hall.

JAS. KENDRY, proposed by Mr. J.J. Hartley, seconded by Mr. J. S. Martin.

WM. LANGFORD, proposed by Mr. H. Deane, seconded by Mr. T. Menzies.

WM. LEE, proposed by Mr. J. S. Martin, seconded by Mr. G. J. Griffin.

There was considerable interest taken in all the ward nominations, there being a good attendance of electors at all the polling places, and more or less vigorous and "promising" addresses were delivered by all the candidates. The EXAMINER has notes of the addresses but not space enough to admit of their publication to-day. There are in all nineteen candidates for councillors in the four wards, and it is hinted by the "knowing ones" that there is likely to be some few changes at least in the composition of the council board as compared with that of last year.

The Cutest Little Things.

"Cute" I he echoed. "Well I don't know as the adjective would have occurred to me in just that connection. But if you mean that they do their work thoroughly, yet make no fuss about it; cause no pain or weakness; and in short, are everything that a pill ought to be, and nothing that it ought not, then I agree that Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are about the cutest little things going! b,

I HAVE NOT used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and nose bleed daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget, I procured a bottle, and since the first days' use have had no more bleeding—the soreness is entirely gone.—D.G. FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

MR. MANNING IS NO MORE.

The ex-Secretary of the Treasury Passes Away at Albany Saturday Afternoon.

ALBANY, N.Y., Dec. 24.—Hon. Daniel Manning died at 1.34 p.m. to-day. His wife, his two sons and two daughters, brother and other members of his family were at the bedside. The end was quiet and peaceful and welcome to the sufferer.

[Daniel Manning, ex-Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, was born in Albany, N.Y., Aug. 16, 1831. He began to earn his living at the age of 11 as an errand boy in the office of The Albany Argus, subsequently becoming a compositor, then a reporter, and finally manager of that journal. He was the leading spirit in the New York delegation to the Democratic National Convention, which nominated Mr. Tilden in 1880, and again in 1884, when his tactical skill in enforcing the unit rule bestowed the Presidential nomination upon Mr. Cleveland, and his services were recognized by the tender of the Treasury portfolio, which he held until last February, when ill-health compelled his resignation.]

Quebec Election Cases.

QUEBEC, Dec. 23.—Judgment was rendered here to-day by Judge Caron, dismissing, but without costs, the petitions against the elections of Sir A. P. Caron for Quebec County, Hon. F. Langelier (Liberal) for Quebec Centre and Mr. Chas. Langelier (Liberal) for Montmorency, on the usual ground that the parties had failed to proceed within the six months. The judgment was a most elaborate one and occupied two hours in delivery. In support of his ruling Judge Caron quoted numerous authorities and very freely from the speeches in Parliament in 1875, when the election law was passed. He also alluded to the contrary decisions given by Judges Bourgeois at Three Rivers and Taschereau at Joliette, to say that to his mind the law was so clear and imperative that he could not see how there could be any divergence of opinion on the subject. In the Quebec County case there was on record a formal consent on the Militia Minister's part, distinctly waiving his right to avail himself of the six months' rule, but the judge declared it nil. In the Quebec Centre and Montmorency cases the petitioners signified their acquiescence in the judgment and moved for permission to withdraw their deposits, which was granted, but in the Quebec County case the petitioners at once gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court.

A New System of Vessel Classification.

BUFFALO, Dec. 24.—Capt. W. W. Bates, Manager of the Inland Lloyds' Register, has issued to-day for next session a new system of classification for the instruction of vessel-owners wishing to insure their property. Vessels are classed into nine grades solely for adjusting the rates of insurance. According to their intrinsic qualities for safe navigation, oak-built vessels are to have for their class seven years; other woods for five years; if composite and strapped, or if iron or steel, ten years; if composite, with metal decks or metal shell, with double bottom and metal decks, fifteen years. The grade of A1 will be given to all vessels new, built of perfectly sound materials, in strictly workmanlike manner, fully and thoroughly fastened, the scantlings of materials, model and plans, equipment and free board, all conforming to the best general practice on the lakes. New vessels not filling these conditions will be classed and graded to correspond with their merits. Vessels which overload may be withdrawn from one class and assigned to a lower one, unless the disqualification be promptly removed. Another new feature is a chapter on repairs, which provides that materials and workmanship for repairs must be equal to the standard for new vessels of the grades given. All vessels rebuilt must be surveyed by the manager of the Inman Lloyds before the work is completed, so that it may be known what manner of work is done before a higher classification is accorded to the boat.

$2300 Damages in a Slander Case.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Dec. 24.—In the case of Thomas F. Congreve, attorney-at-law, against Harry W. Gardiner for slander, in which damages were laid at $10,000, a jury awarded $2300 damages. This was a case in which Gardiner, Congreve's client in a suit against Henry J. Steers for felonious assault, withdrew the charge in open court, confessed to perjury, and accused Congreve of conspiring with him to blackmail Steers. Gardiner has already been in jail six months, and Congreve told the court that he would pay his board for the six months additional that must elapse before he can take the poor debtor's oath.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, rough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes Philip H. Ernst, of Montcith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results." 2w51d

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

Friends [illegible]

We extend to you, and through you to your friends, our most earnest wish for a happy and prosperous New Year, and beg of you to accept our sincere thanks for your most generous patronage during the year just closed.

We esteem your favours, and in the year to come, as in the year now passed, we shall use every endeavor to meet your highest approval.

We shall cater to your wants with renewed energies, and leave nothing undone that is honorable to merit a liberal share of your patronage.

Although there has been raised the hue and cry of "Hard Times", "Depressed Trade," "Scarcity of Money," etc., we can say with truthfulness this has not been our experience. Our trade has increased beyond our expectations. Hundreds of new customers have come to us.

We take just pride in this and feel that the public appreciate our efforts, and are willing to encourage every honest endeavor in their behalf.

Again permit us to wish you and yours A Happy New Year.

"A Christmas Chat"

Horse Injured.

On Saturday as Mr. S. Stewart, of Otonabee, was driving to Peterborough, his horse got one of his feet caught in a space between the planks of the Locke Bridge, and before it could be extracted the animal had so twisted and injured himself as to make it doubtful whether he would not be useless in the future. The damages sustained will have to be met by the town and county jointly.

A Final Fond Farewell.

Sunday evening Rev. F.H. Wallace, M.A., B.D., delivered his farewell address to the members of his congregation in the George street church. The reverend gentleman spoke feelingly of his brief but happy pastorate, and regretted that he was obliged to leave his many warm friends in Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Wallace and family went to Cobourg on Monday.

The forty-first issue (for 1888) of this sterling work is to hand, for which Mr. Thos. Menzies is to be thanked. Its map this year is a new railway map of the Province of Ontario. An indispensable book of reference. Price only 150c., at T. Menzies' bookstore.

Brutality Exposed.

Sunday night about 11 o'clock at Millbrook, a young farmer named Clark was pounced upon by an enemy and brutally kicked about the head and body. Some neighbors who heard a cry of "murder" hastened to the scene and found Clark weltering in blood and unconscious. He recovered after a while and said that while walking along the street he was struck down from behind and kicked until he fell dead. At last accounts he was yet alive, though not expected to recover.

A Good New Year Resolution.

Will be to attend the grand concert under the auspices of the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame, to be given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Jan. 3rd, 1887. A splendid programme in preparation. Tickets, 25 and 35 cents. eod

Fine Scalettes made to order at greatly reduced prices this week and next week, at Turnbull's.

The Play.

The Baird Dramatic Company performed "The Bells of Shandon" to a large house last evening. The performances of this company are really meritorious, and were the fact that a first-class entertainment is provided at the opera house for a small sum better known, the building would not be able to contain the crowds. The play to-night is "My Partner."

Turnbull is selling heavy Costume Dress Goods, 54 inches wide, for 65c. a yard, which beats anything I've had thrown at me at supposed Cost Prices. I always find Turnbull has the Bottom Prices.

A Fine Window.

The display of Christmas fruits, etc., made by W. J. Mason, next door to the Bank of Toronto, for artistic arrangement and effect probably excels anything yet produced in town. And the pleased exclaimatons of the ladies—who are doubtless the best judges in such matters—is strong presumptive evidence that they regard the good things on show as of the very freshest and best. By all means see that window. d

An Undesigned Coincidence?

The new organ of the Conservative party, the Empire, long promised made its first appearance to-day — St. John the Evangelist's day. Has the redoubtable premier begun to imitate the Ritualists by thus marking the Saints' days? Did he consider it fitting that on St. John's day Sir John's organ should first see the light? On that day we believe many Masonic lodges install their officers for the ensuing year. We hope the wily premier will improve in morals by following the loving apostle, but we fear installing "Kribs Creighton" et al., on such a day indicates no such purpose.

Business College re-opens January 3rd, 1888.

A Grand Affair.

The second grand ball given by the Peterborough Baseball Club Monday evening in the Parlor Roller Rink was another gratifying success. The fire brigade band orchestra supplied excellent music. The committee of management have every reason to congratulate themselves on the success of the affair. They are: F. H. Brennan, M.D., president; J.E. Fitzgerald, vice-president; J.E. Landy, secretary; G. C. Clark, treasurer; A. R. Moore, floor director; J. K. Fitzgerald, F. Billings and J. V. Callaghan, floor managers.

Hymeneal.

At St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, Monday forenoon, at 10.30 o'clock, Mr. C.H. Gaale, of Montreal, was married to Miss Helen McNab, by Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. Miss Burnham was bridesmaid, and Mr. McDonald, of the Bank of Toronto, groomsman. There were a number of guests present to witness the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Gaale left immediately after the wedding for their future home in Montreal, followed by the heartiest wishes for a long life of happiness from a host of friends. The bride was exceedingly popular in every way—in general society and especially with the Sunday school, congregation and choir of St. Luke's. She filled the position of organist for some time with great acceptability and the loss of her presence will be greatly felt.

Conference Tea Meeting.

A Bootle Tryst for the Children and the Congregation.

A delightfully successful and enjoyable entertainment was held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Monday evening. On Sunday afternoon an open Sunday school was held, enlivened with excellent singing by the children and addresses by the Rev. Messrs. Tovell and Wallace and by the superintendent of the school, Mr. F. H. Brown.

On Monday evening a magnificent Christmas tree, reaching from floor to ceiling was raised in front of the organ, laden with a splendid array of presents. Rev. Mr. Tovell occupied the chair and introduced a most entertaining programme consisting of four anthems excellently rendered by the pupils of the school, led by Mr. A. L. Davis, Mrs. Davis accompanying on the organ and a very pleasing programme of recitations, dialogues, etc., by the juvenile pupils as follows :—Recitation, "Drive the Nail Aright"—Jas. McCormack; "Guilty or not Guilty" — Flo McFadden; "Evening Hymn"—Wellington Langford; dialogue, "Fanny's Secret"—Alice Davis, Daisy Babbidge and Emma Robinson; recitation, "Boys Rights"—Wallace Kennedy; recitation, "The Dead Doll"—Lizzie McCormack; recitation, "All the Children"—Silas Brenton; recitation, "Sixty years Ago"—Maud Morrison; recitation, "My Dollie"—Kate Nicholls; recitation, "Katie Lee and Willie Gray"—Louie Redmond; recitation, "Match Girl's Prayer"—Nettie McFadden; recitation, "A Sketch"—Freddie Benton; song — and well sung too — "When there's Love at Home"—Lily Bell; recitation, "Merry Christmas," Hattie Richardson; recitation, "Gas," May Nicholls; recitation, "My Best Friend," Edith Lyle; recitation, "Ned's Best Friend," Charlie Stone; recitation, "Flaher Boy's Faith," Harry Froude; recitation, "Mother's Fool," Annie Sutherland.

At the conclusion of the programme the unloading of the gigantic Christmas tree began, and was an hour's uproarious delight to scores of delighted youngsters. And after all, refreshments, which had been spread in the school room, were partaken of by all so disposed. The entertainment was a most thoroughly successful and enjoyable one, much credit of which is due to the exertions of the superintendent, Mr. Rowe. Mr. Davis was very successful in the musical training of the children, their choral singing being one of the best features.

The present is a fine one, and Miss Begley is to be congratulated on the handsome recognition of her efficient services. She wishes to take this medium of thanking the donors in the most cordial manner for the beautiful present which has to her a double value—its intrinsic worth and its being a mark of the esteem of valued friends.

Great Slaughtering and Cutting OF PRICES IN DRY GOODS AT THOMAS KELLY'S

After considering the matter over carefully I have decided to force the sale of my large and well assorted stock of Dry Goods. This means a loss, but, rather than carry goods over until another season, I feel justified in taking this course. It is not my practice to make random statements misleading to customers, therefore when I say the prices will be cut down you will find that the prices WILL be cut down. Remember that price alone is no criterion of cheapness. You should see the goods and judge of their values. What we say we do, and more than that we reduce seasonable goods, not old goods lying around the shelves from season to season. A few quotations will serve as a guide, and possibly startle you into the advisability of calling.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE

MR. GLADSTONE IS SNOWBALLED BY ROUGHS AT DOVER.

The War Scare—Welcome to the Czar—Lord Randolph Churchill Receives an Audience—King John Marching on Massowah—Canon O'Mahoney's Serious Charges.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—On Mr. Gladstone's arrival at Dover to-day, on his way to the continent, a small crowd assembled at the depot and he was greeted with hoots. He was pelted with snowballs by a number of roughs outside of the depot, but none struck him. He was waited upon at the Town Hall by a delegation of Kentish Liberals and presented with an address. Replying to the address, Mr. Gladstone referred to the uncertain character of the declarations of Lord Salisbury with regard to Free Trade, and said they indicated, so far as the majority in Parliament is concerned, that Free Trade is unsecure. He relied upon the masses to oppose a return to Protection.

The coming session did not promise well for the country. If it were true that the great measure of the session—a local Government bill—would not be introduced until April, the Government would inflict an undisguised mockery on the country.

Lord Salisbury talked about the consolidation of the Empire while pursuing a policy of national disruption. "How," the speaker asked, "could that be a policy of consolidation which disregarded centuries of national tradition and opposed the will of four out of five millions of the Irish people? Ireland continued within the boundaries of moderation because she knew that she had friends in England. So long as her moderation continued so long would the sympathy be continued.

"Not long," the speaker said, "could any government face a unanimous people. With the single exception of the Belfast Council all the elective authorities sided with Home Rule. The foreign imported Government stood alone. "The Liberals' term of minority in Parliament would cease at the first election. Their appeal lay with the country. The party had never inscribed on its banner the name of a cause without carrying it through. Having taken up the cause of Ireland the cause would assuredly triumph." [Cheers.]

In a speech at Cork recently Rev. Canon O'Mahoney charged certain local Government officials with systematically corrupting young girls. The statement is endorsed and amplified in The Dublin Freeman's Journal to-day, and the paper demands the arrest of the guilty officials. The Pall Mall Gazette asserts that only one man, a trusted agent of Dublin Castle, is implicated. Four girls, who are now inmates of the Good Shepherd Convent at Cork, were his victims.

King John of Abyssinia is advancing upon Massowah by rapid stages. He has three bodies of troops under his command.

Extensive preparations are being made in Tiflis in Russian Trans-Caucasia for the reception of the Czar next spring.

In an audience with the Czar today, Count Schevemetreff, a prominent noble of Moscow, protested against the treatment of the students in the universities, charging the authorities with making grossly untrue reports with regard to the situation of affairs in the universities. Orders have been given by the Czar to make a stringent inquiry into the charges.

The Czar gave audience to Lord Randolph Churchill yesterday. The Morning Post and Daily Telegraph both declare that Lord Randolph had no official mission.

At a secret sitting of the Roumanian Chamber of Deputies lately the Prime Minister alluded to the alarming aspect of affairs abroad and said he would be forced to ask, before the close of the session, an extra credit of $12,000,000 on account of armaments.

The Senate passed an amendment to the Recruiting Bill under the operation of which the number of recruits will be largely increased in 1888.

The Austrian Consul here has intimated that Austrian subjects in Roumania should be ready to rejoin their regiments.

A correspondent from Munich to the Paris Figaro states that workmen belonging to Austrian reserves have been ordered to rejoin their regiments at once.

The present comparative calmness is attributed by the moderation and love of peace of those cabinets, which The Invalide Russe, the War Office organ in St. Petersburg, would lead its readers to believe are treacherously preparing for war.

Lord Randolph Churchill was granted an audience by the Czarina to-day and he presented to her letters from the Princess of Wales and the Duchess of Edinburgh.

The following despatch from the Cosmo has been received in London: "No news of Stanley has yet reached Bonna, but no uneasiness is felt there.

A HAMILTONIAN ROBBED.

By Highwaymen—Collapse of a Building—A Toronto Man in Custody.

HAMILTON, Dec. 27.—Yesterday afternoon Edward Carpenter, living at 23 Murray-street, took a drive out to Waterdown and stayed until late in the evening. Shortly before midnight he was returning and had just reached a very lonely spot of the road, about a quarter of a mile north of the Valley Inn, when three men sprang into the roadway. Two o them caught the horse and the other presented a revolver at Mr. Carpenter's head and demanded his money or his life. Carpenter, however, resisted any attempt to remove his wealth, but finally the whole three of them got on to him and he was forced to part, with $22.25.

Yesterday afternoon the upper flooring of a portion of a building in Rousley's Hollow collapsed and several persons were injured. The building was formerly a brewery and it is very dilapidated. At present it is occupied as a workshop by George Jenkins, and he and a man named Mapham were almost buried in the debris, which also caught fire, but was extinguished. The injured are Jenkins, Mapham, Edward Connors and Robert Collingwood.

A young man from over the border, who gives his name as George W. Perry, was operated on Saturday by Detective Doyle as a pickpocket. The detective had seen him delve into the pockets of three ladies who were in the market, but in no case did he succeed in fishing up a prize. He was then arrested, and yesterday, when he was brought up in the Police Court, he refused to say where he was from, giving as a reason that he did not wish his friends to know he was in trouble. He was remanded for further examination.

John Moses of Toronto was on his way to Buffalo and stopped over here. While going to the station last night he said, four or five young men were approaching him with, as he supposed, robbery intent, and as he had some $30 on his person, he pulled out his revolver and began firing. A policeman heard the shots, and, after hearing the story of Moses, he concluded to look him up. When the case was called at the Police Court this morning it was adjourned for a few days, in order that further inquiries might be made.

WEDDING BELLS IN LONDON.

The Nuptials of Dr. Atkins, Son of Lieut.-Gov. Atkins, and Miss Wood.

LONDON, Dec. 27. — Dr. W. H. B. Atkins, youngest son of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, was married to-day to Augusta Hawkesworth Wood, only daughter of Mrs. F. R. Eccles, Ellwood Place, and granddaughter of Amaas Wood, St. Thomas. The wedding took place at Queen's-avenue Methodist Church and attracted a large attendance. Among the bridal party were Dr. D. G. and Mrs. Sutherland and Dr. and Mrs. Graham of Toronto. The first named gentleman, assisted by Rev. J. G. Scott, conducted the religious ceremony. Miss Lina, daughter of Judge Davis acted as bridesmaid, and Dr. Bucfield as groomsman. The bride wore a handsome dress of white faille francaise, long square train, bodice trimmed with jessamine, myrtle and orange blossoms. The bridesmaids wore a dress of white China silk. After breakfast at Ellwood Place the newly wedded couple left for Government House, Winnipeg.

Miss Hillary, Mrs. W. Archer, Miss J. Stoke, Mr. Edward Fisher, Mrs. Tilley, Mr. A. E. Fisher, Miss Elwell and Mr. V. P. Hunt are representing Toronto at the third annual convention of the Canadian Society of Musicians, now in session in this city.

At to-day's meeting of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association Mr. Samuel Munro was elected president and G. H. Walker first vice-president. The assets of the society are $10,300 more than the liabilities.

About 8 o'clock last night as Mr. Pickard of Exeter was starting to drive home he was asked by a man named Henry Stewart to give him a ride. Mr. Pickard consented, and Stewart got in the rig beside him. When only a short distance from Mount Rose, Stewart started to quarrel with Mr. Pickard and accused him of owing him ten cents. Pickard tried to reason with him, as the man was under the influence of liquor, whereupon the villain pulled two large stones from his pocket and attempted to strike Pickard, who, however, proved too much for him, and getting him in the bottom of the cutter drove at once to the police station, where a charge of "drunk and vagrancy" was entered opposite his name. No doubt the man was bent on robbery, but was a little too drunk to know where to commence the attack.

THE READING STRIKE.

Traffic Generally Resumed—The Men Return to Work Unconditionally.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—General Superintendent Swolgard of the Reading road said this morning that the statement that he had agreed with the Knights of Labor to submit the questions in dispute to arbitration was incorrect. Last evening a committee representing employes of the company called at his office and he talked with them briefly regarding the threatened strike. He told out no inducements to the men, however, and would listen to no proposition which had for its object the reinstatement of the men discharged for refusing to deliver cars to Taylor's elevator. "Those men," he said, "have been discharged, and will never again be employed by the company." He says no agreement was proposed either by the committee or by him, and that the committee left when he informed them that he would hold no conversation regarding the discharged men.

Traffic has been generally resumed. The men returned to work unconditionally. The leaders of the strike have been discharged.

Prospect of a General Strike.

SHAMOKIN, Dec. 27.—The strike at this place and Pottsville continues. Among the strikers are Despatcher Huntley, master workman of an assembly, and several laborers on the coalclocks who had been discharged for refusing to work. The local officials declared their unwillingness to employ these men and the strikers refused to return to work on any other terms. It is not possible to move the coal or local freight traffic under present circumstances and therefore the collieries will not be worked to-morrow. There is again a prospect of a general strike over the entire system.

A NOTED CROOK.

Charles Leavitt Pleads Guilty at Buffalo to the Charge of Grand Larceny.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 27.—Charles Leavitt, the well-known crook, whose connection with the murder of Joseph Dale, of Yorkville, is yet well remembered in Toronto, was up for trial in the Court of Sessions to-day. He was under indictment for burglary, third degree; grand larceny, first degree, and receiving stolen property, enough, if convicted on all counts, to send him to prison for life.

Leavitt has spent most of his brief manhood in American and Canadian jails. He is a man about 35, with glossy black whiskers, clear complexion and gentlemanly appearance.

While the work of swearing in a jury was in progress his counsel reached an agreement with the District Attorney and Leavitt was allowed to plead guilty to the indictment charging him with grand larceny, first degree. He will be sentenced to-morrow.

Tenacious Kalakaua.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24.—Advices received by the steamer Mariposa, which arrived from Sydney and Auckland via. Honolulu to-day, report that King Kalakaua has vetoed two bills passed by the Hawaiian Legislature, one of which was to abolish the office of governor. The Legislature denies the right of the King to use veto power and claims that one of the specific pledges given by Kalakaua at the time of the revolution provided that he should not interfere with legislation.

A Railroad Collision at Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A through train on the Long Island Railroad ran into the rear car of a Rapid Transit train at Ralph-avenue, Brooklyn, this morning during a fog. One car was telescoped and a dozen passengers were injured, but none seriously. The passengers had warning enough to enable them to get into the forward part of the car or the disaster would have been frightful.

VILLAINOUS PLOT FOILED.

A YOUNG GIRL ENTRAPPED INTO A LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Her Own Father the Culprit—The Evidence in the Hands of Referee Winchester—Sensational Developments Expected.

TORONTO, Dec. 28.

A case which promises to become a cause célebre in the criminal annals of Toronto, and which will be one of the most sensational ever brought to light in this city, when the full facts are placed before the public, is pending before Mr. Winchester, Official Referee at Osgoode Hall.

The case referred to is that of Monaghan v. Monaghan, and Mr. Winchester is expected to hand down a decision in a few days, a large amount of evidence having been submitted for his perusal.

The plaintiff is Miss Catharine Monaghan, a prepossessing young lady of 22, who is connected with a well-known and wealthy family in this city. The defendant, in part at least, is her father, Mr. John Monaghan, who is an attache of the Postoffice. On Jan. 9, 1883, Miss Monaghan's mother died and left the young lady an estate which is said to return a revenue of between $1,200 and $2,200 per annum. The executors named in Mrs. Monaghan's will are her husband and Mr. James Beaty, Q.C. According to the young lady's evidence, as submitted before Mr. Winchester, she has ground for complaining that not only was her estate not properly administered, but she was the victim of a vile conspiracy by which she was incarcerated in the Providence Lunatic Asylum in Buffalo for a period of thirteen days, and then she was only liberated by the visiting doctors of the institution absolutely refusing to detain her longer.

The story told by the plaintiff is as follows: In April last Miss Monaghan went to New York with a lady friend, who was recalled to Toronto by telegraph. Mr. Monaghan also went to New York to bring his daughter home. They stopped at Buffalo on the return journey, and engaged rooms at the Genesee House. During the afternoon Mr. Monaghan took his daughter for a long drive around the city, and finally they entered a large building where they were received by Sisters of Charity. When she asked where she was the Sisters told her she was to stay there. She protested and the father told the Sisters that she was likely to have another fit. The sisters took hold of her and dragged her along. She was placed in close confinement for a couple of days, and afterwards put at large among the other inmates. She remained thirteen long days among the maniacs, and it is only a matter of wonder that she did not become insane.

It is said that the certificate under which she was admitted into the asylum emanated from a Toronto medical gentleman against whom insinuations of a strong character are preferred by the young lady and her friends. These startling facts have been sworn to by the young lady herself.

Besides her experience in Buffalo the young lady was an inmate of a sanitarium at Dansville, N.Y., for a time. As to the certificate issued by the Toronto physician in question it was understood she was to be taken to Dr. Creasy's private hospital in Buffalo, but instead of this it was used to secure her incarceration in the mad house named.

The solicitors engaged in the case are Mr. R. E. Kingsford for Miss Monaghan, Mr. McPhillips for Mr. Monaghan, and Mr. Allan Cassels for Mr. Beaty.

The result of the examinations held at the Ontario College of Pharmacy a fortnight ago is appended:

College gold medal: Ernest Shoff, Thorndale; Shuttleworth gold medal: J. C. Hedley, Toronto.

Passed in order of merit: Ernest Shoff, Thorndale; A. L. Foster, Ottawa; Jno. B. Wynne, Brigden; Jno. C. Hedley, Toronto; Ed. Morton Devitt, Berlin; Milton P. Lent, Dresden; F. W. McLean, Wingham; Thomas Quirk, Cobourg.

Passed in branches: Botany—Wm. Kerr, Chatham; Wm. E. Galley, Toronto; T. C. Nichols, Uxbridge; J. H. Laidley, Ridgetown; Jas. S. Labelle, Toronto. Chemistry—J. H. Laidley, Ridgetown. Pharmacy—Wm. Kerr, Chatham; Jno. V. Kannawin, Acton; Carlos M. Hewitt, Sparta; Jno. S. Labelle, Toronto. Materia Medica—T. C. Nichols, Uxbridge; Jno. V. Kannawin, Acton; Chas. A. Rice, St. Catharines; Carlos M. Hewitt, Sparta. Prescriptions—Wm. Kerr, Chatham; Wm. E. Galley, Toronto; Jno. McKay, Toronto; Jno. V. Kannawin, Acton; Carlos M. Hewitt, Sparta. Dispensing—Wm. Kerr, Chatham; Jno. V. Kannawin, Acton.

Coroner Powell and a jury last night enquired at the Morgue into the circumstances attending the death of Maria Green. Deceased was an elderly woman and was found dead on Sunday evening in a stable attached to a disreputable house on Albert-street, where she was employed. It did not take the jury long to come to the conclusion that she died from "the general effects on the system of the intemperate use of alcoholic liquors."

Mr. Justice Street yesterday settled the question as to whether or not the proposition for a further reduction of liquor licenses shall be submitted to the ratepayers on Monday next. An application, it will be remembered, was last week made on behalf of Mr. Robert Davies for an injunction to restrain the Council from submitting the bylaw. "I have," said His Lordship, "come to the conclusion that the vote proposed to be taken is proposed by the Council to the electors with a bona fide object of obtaining a fair impression of their views upon the important question to which it relates, and that no claim of the ratepayers can be prejudiced by its submission. I must therefore refuse to grant the injunction. The plaintiff is still entitled to have a decision upon the question as to whether the funds of the city could properly be devoted to the purpose of taking such a vote."

The Wreck of the Cordelia Found.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Dec. 27.—Capt. McKinnon of the schooner Ada M. Hall, from the Grand Banks to-day, reports that on Dec. 7 he boarded the schooner Cordelia, dismasted, waterlogged and abandoned in latitude 43, longitude 51. The body of one man was found in the cabin in a decomposed state. The schooner is supposed to belong to Shelburne, N.S., and

COMMERCIAL UNION.

An Answer to Captain Bates' Attacks—The Shipbuilding Trade.

BUFFALO, Dec. 27.—Captain W. W. Bates, manager of the Inland Lloyds, having written several letters against Commercial Union because of the probable injury of that policy trade on the shipbuilding and the ship owning of the United States, a correspondent to-day takes him to task and says "if he (Capt. Bates) will put aside his bigoted views for a moment and still his apprehension as to the direful consequences which he fears will follow Commercial Union in our lake commerce long enough to follow out the logic of its effects, he will see that, with unrestricted business intercourse between the United States and Canada, it would not be long before the wages of all operatives—shipwrights included—would be equalized in the two countries. The prices paid for labor at our lake ports and in our shipyards generally would regulate the wages of Canadian operatives. The wages paid in Maine would make the rate for Nova Scotia just as the wages paid in New York State have their influence now in what is demanded for the same labor in Ohio or Pennsylvania. This is as plain as daylight, and dispels all Mr. Bates' ghosts as the sun dispels the fog. And as there would be no duty on any Canadian material we wished to use in vessel construction, that equilibrium would be established also."

He Hated Her for Breaking.

BUFFALO, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Patrick Brennan celebrated Christmas by filling up with whisky, and when her husband, who is useless here for the New York Central Railroad, went home he found that the turkey had not been cooked. Mrs. Brennan and her husband then indulged in a fight, and her dead body was afterwards found on the doorstep. She had a black eye and her skull was crushed. The police arrested Brennan last night and charged him with murder. A son of the couple, who manifests perfect indifference at his mother's death, is held as a witness.

Detective Naegele's Christmas Turkey.

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—Ex-Detective Naegele said he passed a miserable Christmas in jail. "I had my turkey," he continued, "just as well as any other person, but of course it does not taste quite as good behind the bars." He added that he certainly could clear himself. He claimed that the public would be surprised when the detectives make their defence and tell what they knew of some of their accusers. "We are only the victims of circumstances," he concluded. "I will not tell you what our defence will be, as it would only put our enemies on their guard." The examination was continued to-day.

Election Petitions Dismissed.

QUEBEC, Dec. 27.—Hon. Justice Caron gave his decision in three contested elections yesterday—those of Quebec County, Quebec Centre and Montmorency—dismissing the petitions on the ground that more than six months had elapsed since their presentation without proceedings being begun. As a consequence Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. F. Langelier and Mr. Charles Langelier retain their seats.

The South Grant to the C.P.R.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 27.—The bylaw granting $30,000 to the Canadian Pacific Railway was carried yesterday by a large majority. The company will proceed with the erection of their buildings immediately. A regular passenger service will be established before the New Year. There is great rejoicing.

A Vessel Company Fined.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—The steamer Roman, from Liverpool, which arrived here on Thursday last, brought a stowaway, a Scotch boy of 15, and permitted him to land. Commissioner of Emigration Corde has fined the company $100. The vessel is detained in port until the stowaway is produced or the fine paid.

To Enlist Sympathy for the Fish Pirates.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Mr. C. S. Crowell, one of the Philadelphia directors of the American Fishery Association, has received a letter from Gov. Beaver accepting an invitation to preside at a meeting to be held in Horticultural Hall in this city on Jan. 3, for the purpose of stating the grievances of the New England fishermen and enlisting public sympathy in their behalf.

King Kalakaua's Troubles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—The steamer Australia arrived from Honolulu to-day and brings advices to Dec. 20 confirming the reports received by the Mariposa Saturday in regard to the conflict between King Kalakaua and the Legislature, growing out of the King's action in vetoing two bills, but no additional details are given.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 27.

On St. Lawrence Market to-day 200 bushels of wheat sold at 83c to 85c for fall, 78c to 82c for spring and 74c to 75c for goose; 1000 bushels of barley at 60c to 77½c, and one load of oats at 40c a bushel. The general market was quiet and prices were steady.

The Civic Elections.

MR. RUTHERFORD,—I am sorry to see you losing your temper. It is a bad sign. You surely did not expect that your claim to the office of Mayor would go unquestioned. And I don't think you have any right to complain if any one of the electors refers to your past record as councillor, and if he judges of your fitness for the position of Mayor by your conduct whilst discharging your public duty in another position of trust in the town. And if a reference to those past acts of yours displeases you I can't help it, for the fault is your own, and you ought to be willing to be judged by them. Remember, Mr. Rutherford, I am only dealing with you as a public man and as an aspirant for public favor. And surely you will allow me to do this. As I said before, as a private citizen you are entitled to respect. And this is what you deny to those who do not uphold your ambition and who desire to keep you in private life. The fact of the matter is, Mr. Rutherford, your vanity and your ambition are too great. You think you are cut out for some important position, and you can't understand why others do not think the same. You are something like the man who said he felt as if he was made either to build a palace or to command an army. If you only had a little more ballast on board than you now possess you might manage to keep yourself within bounds and then you might do better. Agrippa said unto Paul, "Paul, thou art beside thyself, much learning hath made thee mad." I may repeat and apply these words, with some variation, to you, "thou art beside thyself, much vanity and ambition have made thee mad." Mr. Rutherford, the best thing you can do is to retire into private life, and if, after a few years of common sense, you showed any improvement the electors might then let you into the council as a councillor but never as mayor. You are mistaken, Mr. Rutherford, in the person who wrote the letter about the iron doors; I myself have not the slightest idea as to his identity. But, after all, why should you be so angry because he wrote about a matter which, I understand, you do not deny. Was it because he made your doings public. If you really got these doors, and if they were the property of the town, and if you intended to pay for them, why did you not pay for them when you took them and when you got the money for them several months ago. And why did you not pay the town the full amount which you received for them. That is a matter which I will have you to answer. The only reason, Mr. Rutherford, for opposing your election as mayor is because I want the taxes of the town and the general business of the town managed with prudence and economy. If you were mayor there would be no holding you in and you would repeat the dynamite and wheelbarrow nonsense. And I would consider it a great misfortune both to the town and to yourself if you were made mayor. And the best thing which I can wish you is that you may be left at home. And while there I hope you will read your Bible more carefully than you appear heretofore to have done, and that you will learn moderation in all things, especially in conducting a controversy, and that you will learn that abuse is no argument. It does no good, Mr. Rutherford, for you to get angry and say things of me or any other, that had better be left unsaid. The public does not approve of such conduct and if you have not yet learnt modesty and forbearance it is time you did so now. The fact is, Mr. Rutherford, you were not cut out for a public man. You must expect, when you enter public life, to encounter opposition, and you must not imagine that everybody should think of your qualifications as you do yourself. I have no doubt you have an ambition for anything, no matter how high or how great. I sometimes fancy you of an evening sitting in your easy chair, contemplating the lives of the great men who have gone before you, and imagine how much better you could have done had you been in their places than they did. Your acquaintance with the history of ancient and modern heroes no doubt stimulates you to desire to fill some important position, in order that you might benefit the world and render your name great and honorable. The lives of such great men as Alexander the Great, of Cæsar, of Demosthenes, of Hannibal, of Cincinnatus, of William the Conqueror, of Cromwell, of Napoleon, of Cavour, and Wellington and Palmerston and Washington no doubt afford you food for thought as well as for imitation, and no doubt the world will some day hear great things of you. And it is a wonder to me that a man of your great abilities and lofty imagination could come down so far as to seek for the petty office of Mayor for the town of Peterborough. Surely, Mr. Rutherford, that would be hiding your light under a bushel. As bad as you think of me, I wish you better things. And as some people say the millennium is near at hand there may yet be a chance for you to signalise yourself in a manner worthy of your high vocation. Before finally leaving you, Mr. Rutherford, I wish to express a hope that you and I will continue to be good friends. And I hope that you will practice that part of the universal prayer, "forgive me my trespasses as I forgive those who trespass against me."

Presentation to Teacher.

At the examination at the close of the Christmas term of school section No. 7 Douro, Miss C. Boland, who has resigned her position after holding it with great credit for two years, was made the recipient of a complimentary address and a handsome present. The following address was read by Maggie O'Brien and Miss Aggie Moher made the presentation:—

To our dear Teacher, Miss C. Boland:—

It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we, the pupils of S.S. No. 7, learn that you are about to take your departure from our midst.

During your stay of two years among us, your kind treatment, as well as the interest you have always taken in our temporal and spiritual welfare has gained for you the love and esteem of all, and we would repeat again that it is with feelings of regret that we learn of your departure.

We wish you to accept this toilet case and [illegible] same time wish you the same success, which has crowned your efforts here.

Signed in behalf of the school,

Literary Notes.

The January number of "Scribner's Magazine" foreshadows the fulfilment of all the promises of its publishers' programme for the year 1888. It is full of interest in every page and the contents are so judiciously diversified as to embrace the elements of popularity, while at the same time retaining a solidity and literary excellence, giving it the position of the leading magazine on this continent. Its contributors are all of recognized merit in the literary world, while its splendid illustrations reveal the handiwork of the best artists, both creative and executive. The following list of its contents gives but a poor idea of their excellence compared to that gained by a careful perusal:—The Man at Arms—I. By E. H. Blashfield and E. W. Blashfield, illustrated by E. H. Blashfield; Our Leader—By C. P. Cranch; First Harvests—Chapters I-III, by F. J. Stimson, a continued story, full of promise in plot, character portraiture, delicate satire and literary finish; White Edith—By Thomas Bailey Aldrich; Municipal Finance—By Clayton C. Hall; Christmas Eve, Germany—By Reansell Rodd; The Great Pyramid—By Edward L. Wilson, with illustrations from photographs by the author and from drawings by J. D. Woodward; Natural Selection—A Romance of Chelsea Village and East Hampton Town, in three parts, part I, by H. C. Banner, with illustrations by Carl Hirschberg; A New Light on Balzac—By Edward S. Holden; The Poet—By Charles Edwin Markham; The End of the Beginning—By George A. Hibbard, illustrated by the author and Francis Day; American Antiquities—By Andrew Lang, with and illustration by H. The newest fashion in ladies' hats will doubtless cause a flutter of pleasurable excitement among the fair sex. Ladies are always susceptible to the changes of a fashion plate; and the more startling departure, the more earnest the gossip over the new mode. This sovereign panacea can be relied in cases of displacements and all functional derangements. It builds up the poor, haggard and dragged-out victim, and gives her renewed hope and a fresh lease of life. A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. If I have in these endeavours met with any degree of success worthy of recognition by the ratepayers of the town, or if I have, in my capacity as Mayor for half a dozen terms, looked after the interests of the Town to the satisfaction of the Public, I can with confidence claim a renewal of your support at the coming Election.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedient Servant,

J. STEVENSON.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

WARD No. 1.

Your Vote and Influence Respectfully Solicited for

BANNELL SAWYER

as Councillor.

To the Electors of

No. ONE WARD

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, I have consented to be a candidate for Councillor for No. One Ward. Believing that I can promote your interest and being willing to give my best abilities and attention thereto, I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours Respectfully,

dw HARRY WINCH.

To the Electors of

WARD No. TWO:

At the urgent request of a large number of the citizens of the town and of a very large number of the Electors of No. 2 ward, I have consented to be a candidate for the representation of this ward in the Town Council. Being identified with no party, and having no personal interests to serve—no axes to grind—my sole aim, if elected shall be to promote the best interests of the town, and on these grounds, I claim and respectfully request your support both in the canvass and at the polls.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,

d139 ADAM HALL.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

AFFAIRS IN MANITOBA.

A Week Cabinet—Will it Live?—Deep Snow—How Wire Singles.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 27.—The new Provincial Cabinet has been completed for the present by the admission of Jas. Burke, M.P.P. for St. Francois Xavier, as Provincial Secretary. Mr. Norquay's resignation was accepted on Friday, Mr. Burke chosen on Saturday by the remaining members, and last night the following Ministry was sworn in by Governor Aikins: Dr. Harrison, Premier, President of the Council, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Agriculture; Dr. Wilson, Minister of Public Works and Commissioner of Railways; Mr. Hamilton, Attorney-General; Mr. Burke, Provincial Secretary. The fifth portfolio will be left vacant for the present, the Government being afraid to open any English constituency. The writ for the election in St. Francois Xavier has been issued, nomination being fixed for Jan. 5 and polling for Jan. 12. Very probably the election will be by acclamation, as the district is strongly Tory. Mr. Burke's admission to the Ministry cannot be regarded as strengthening the new Cabinet in the slightest degree. Dr. Harrison is the only man of any ability in the new combination, which is admitted on all hands to be the weakest ever formed in Manitoba. Mr. Norquay will vacate office to-morrow. He says he will give the new Government a hearty support, and promises when the Legislature meets to make a satisfactory explanation regarding the handing over of the provincial lands of the H.B. contractors before the land grant was carried. The ex-Premier will probably enter the legal profession.

THE CANADIAN MILITIA

Severely Examined by Sir Charles Dilke—False Economy Out of Place.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—In The Fortnightly Review for January Sir Charles Dilke continues his criticism of the British army. He examines the Canadian militia severely and condemns the false economy which he holds is practiced in Canada. He admits that in the Riel revolt the Canadian troops satisfied one of the severest tests. The system, he says, is indefinitely better in point of organization than that of the Mother Country, but the English vice of cutting down necessaries to please false economists is visible in the colony, as at home. He says that, like ourselves, the Canadians pay for what is not efficient for war purposes, then hoped there will be no war. He is very doubtful whether any considerable proportion of the militia could be mobilized to resist an American attack. He is quite certain no use could be made of them in general service, principally because there are not arms enough. England in a serious war would want more than she has at home.

The Times reviews the Manitoba census of last year. It quotes figures which, it says, seem to show a highly satisfactory rate of progress, which, if continued, must soon place Manitoba abreast of the older provinces.

A SOCIAL SCANDAL.

The Daughter of an English Baronet Loses Her Heart to Her Groom—Her Father's Anger.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—A baronet, whose town house looks upon Hyde Park, recently discovered that his eldest daughter had lost her heart to an under-groom in his employment. This menial of the stable used to attend the lady in her daily rides. The baronet chanced some days ago to enter a West End Restaurant, where, to his horror, he beheld his daughter and the groom seated comfortably at lunch. There was a scene, of course, and the angry parent carried off his indiscreet child and threatened terrible things to the audacious stable-help. What was the baronet's rage upon reaching home to find the groom, who had arrived before him, calmly engaged at the vocation. The baronet rushed at him, struck him and was promptly knocked down. The baronet's son, who is an officer in the army, happened to be on hand at the moment and, seeing the fate of his father, dashed to his aid. The groom subsequently left the premises, and has announced his intention of taking legal proceedings to recover damages for assault, wages due and other grievances, which are as all events substantial enough to bring out the particulars of this passage in the private history of one of the first families here.

POKING FUN.

The public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the motion some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the whole general community are taken for idiots;—that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the public, lamb like, will take it all in, and believe every word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents! = 33 1/3 Cents! = 33 1/3 Cents!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash, and comprise largely, just such goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, : SHAKING, : CRASHING, : SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this, if merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost, to compete with SHEPPARD'S Prices, which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARDS MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it;—

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $8.75, this is an All Wool Coat, well made and Sheppard's price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, Sheppard's price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the Man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a Pure Wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suites really nice and lot of them $1.95 and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, Shoddy Goods, Sheppard is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, Sheppard's price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, Sheppard's price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Christmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

☞Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

The display of Christmas fruits, etc., made by W. J. MASON, next door to the Bank of Toronto, for artistic arrangement and effect probably excels anything yet produced in town. The New Conservative Organ.

The Empire, the new organ of Conservative opinion and practice is out at last. Taken by superficial area it is a very creditable production of the paper-maker, printer and pressman. But taken as a live 19th century journal it is somewhat disappointing to even its own friends. But there is no disappointment to those of the conservative party or liberal party either, who go to gough, the wonderful cheap man and buy the marvellously cheap overcoats, ready-made clothing and gents' furnishings, which he has put down to the lowest notch and then capped the climax by knocking off 2½ per cent of that! If you want the biggest bargains on earth go to gough, the wonderful cheap man. Remember you can get a splendid overcoat for the subscription price of The Empire for one year—$5.

Ladies! Remember Turnbull's is the right place to look for beautiful Fascinators and Clouds in all the new tints.

Sunday School Institute.

The Cobourg World says:—"A Sabbath School Institute, under the auspices of the Presbytery of Peterborough, was held in the Presbyterian Church, Grafton, on Dec. 15th and 16th. The following Sunday Schools were represented:—Baltimore, Varnesville, Lllangowran, Hoskin's Union, Wicklow,—Baptist, Wicklow, Methodist, Grafton,—Methodist, Grafton,—Presbyterian. The chair was occupied by the Rev. W. A. McKenzie, B.D., and the following reverend gentlemen delivered addresses:—Messrs. Learcyd, McCrae, Duncan and McEwen. The Institute was under the control of the Rev. J. McEwen, of Lakefield, who is a noted Sabbath School worker, and was for several years Secretary of the Sunday School Association of Ontario. The blackboard exercises were full of instruction, and the subjects handled by Mr. McEwan were intensely interesting. The teachers carried off many suggestions and thoughts which they intend to utilize in their schools. The attendance was good."

Local Meeting of the Town Council.

The Town Council Held a Very Lengthy Session—A Large Batch of Accounts.

There was a full board at the council meeting Tuesday evening, all the councillors being present. Communications were received and disposed of as follows:—

From the President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, relating to the annual convention in Peterborough Jan. 4th and 5th, asking the council to take an active part in the proceedings, and grant them a place of meeting. On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McNeil, the use of the old music hall was granted.

From G. Ostrom & Sons, Flin and Rasp Manufacturers, Montreal, giving details regarding their prospects and reasons for desiring to remove, particulars of which have already been given in the EXAMINER.—It was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. E. Pearce, County Treasurer, addressed a communication to the Clerk, re Scott Act fines, acknowledging receipt of the clerk's check for $302 "in full of all demands as per memorandum," which words he didn't understand. If it was intended merely as a receipt and in no way affected the understanding arrived at by the council, he expressed a willingness to sign it. Awaiting a reply he deferred receipting the check.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

The petition of Catherine Daly for remission of taxes, and Mrs. Robert Nicholls for assistance, were ordered to be granted, less the school tax.

Mr. MOORE presented the report of the Court of Revision, recommending as follows on the applications:—Taxes on $300 of Margaret Sheehan's property, to be refunded to Robert Kingan; Ellen Anglayo, Melissa Thornton and Jas. Warner, no reduction; Susan Welsh, Agnes Plunkett, Mrs. John Barrie and Thos. Cahill, remission of taxes less school tax; E. B. Wilson and J. Whyte & Co., 8/12 of taxes to be remitted as their premises were burned.

The report was adopted.

MOTIONS.

Mr. MCNEIL introduced a motion which was seconded by Mr. Kelly, granting to the Fire Brigade $25 to assist in defraying the expenses of their annual entertainment, expressing the council's appreciation of their services, and wishing the brigade a happy New Year.

MAYOR STEVENSON verbally reported the fines of the police court for the current year to have been $9,186.15.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON, who was in a critical mood, inquired where the $2,000 appropriation for charity had gone to. His ward had only received $165. He accused the "bloods" of some of the other wards of appriating more than their share. Mr. Hartley denied the assertion on behalf of No. 4 ward, and a little wrangling followed, Councillor McNeil finally calling the disputants to order.

COUNCILLOR CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor Douglas, that a deputation composed of Messrs. Moore, McNeil, Kendry and Kelly be sent to Toronto to enquire into the frontage tax system of that city.—Carried.

Mr. KENDRY moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the charity committee be instructed to do something for the blind man in south ward.—Carried.

The council adjourned for two weeks.

Presentation and Address.

Mrs. Cox Remembered by Her Lady Friends—A Magnificent Gift.

Friday evening Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto, while on a visit to her old home in Peterborough, was surprised on having a large parcel [had been delivered to her, which, on investigation, proved to be a magnificent epergne. Enclosed was an address explaining matters, which is given below. The epergne consists of a heavy marble base about two feet long, with the middle of which rise four pillars of silver enclosing a beautiful statuette, while on the tops of the pillars rests a large handsome glass and silver basket. On either side of this centre piece are smaller baskets supported each by strong posts of silver. Baskets, supports and pedestal are ornamented by fruits and flowers in oxidized silver. The epergne is about the handsomest of its kind in Canada, and was purchased through China Hall. Following are the address and the reply forwarded by Mrs. Cox:—

ADDRESS.

DEAR MRS. COX,—Many of your numerous friends in the various churches of this town have felt that they could not permit you to depart from their midst without offering you in some way an expression of their loving regard for you, and of their regret at parting with you.

Throughout the years of your life in Peterborough you have endeared yourself to the whole community by your genial disposition, by your unaffected cordiality of friendship, and by your generous devotion of your time, your energy, and your wealth to every good cause.

Neither your friendship nor your beneficence has been confined within the limits of your own church. You have not turned a deaf ear to the cry of distress, from whatever quarter it has been directed to you; and in many an enterprise for the common good you have been a foremost helper.

As a faithful friend, as an earnest christian worker, as a liberal almoner of God's bounty to the poor, you will be long and greatly missed.

Innumerable good wishes and fervent prayers will follow you from Peterborough to Toronto. May all earthly blessings brighten your future pathway. May you have abiding joy in your family. May you feel constant pleasure in doing good. And may you hear at last God's "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Kindly accept the accompanying piece of silver as a slight expression of the very warm sentiments cherished towards you in this community.

Signed on behalf of many friends,

MRS. E. PHELAN. MRS. J. BRADEN.
MRS. L. A. FOWLER. MRS. J. HACKETT.
MISS A. MERCER.

Peterborough, Dec. 23rd, 1887.

REPLY.

DEAR FRIENDS,—I assure you this expression of your kindness has taken me wholly by surprise; and at the same time my mind is filled with a sense of delight and humiliation, delight that you should think me worthy of a place in your hearts, and humiliation when I think of my own unworthiness of such a warm place in your affections. It deeply affects me to know that not only friends of the church to which I belong, but also friends in other Christian churches of Peterborough, have united together in this generous expression. While I sincerely appreciate your kindness, I cannot allow myself to think my life among you has been as useful as you say, and certainly not as helpful to others as I could wish it had been. Of this I am sure, however, that I love to do some some little good, and these words of yours, I trust, will nerve me in the future to serve others, and for the Master's sake, for in such service, as you know, is real happiness.

Believe me, dear friends, that the friendship expressed in this kindly worded address is sincerely reciprocated, and I trust no matter where my lot may be cast, ever to think with the greatest pleasure of the associations of these past years; and I shall always be much interested in your happiness and prosperity.

In accepting your very elegant gift as a token of your love and good will towards me and my family I cannot find words fitly to express my appreciation of your act; please accept my thanks, the thanks I cannot speak, for a tribute so beautiful, and please convey my thanks to all the dear friends you represent, and I thank you all for your good wishes and prayers, and I trust the blessings you ask to be given us as a family may be your portion also.

Yours sincerely,
M. COX.

Mark Street Methodist Church

Christmas Services on the Ashburnham Side.

The Christmas services of the above church have this year been of unusual interest. On Christmas day at 11 a.m., the Rev. J. C. Wilson conducted a children's service, taking for his text "The Babe." He at once arrested and retained to the close the attention, not only of the children, but of all present. In the evening the sermon was based upon "No Room for Them in the Inn." The speaker contrasted the present with the age in which Jesus lived, showing that the wonderful advance made was due to the influence of Christianity. He stated that the leading characteristic of the present age was "The Recognition of the importance and influence of Childhood." Noticing further that the fact that there was no room for Jesus in the Inn was being repeated every day by those who had no room for Him in their hearts, and as a result there was no room for him in their homes, business, reading, pleasures, etc. He concluded with a very earnest appeal to all to let Jesus not only into our hearts, but to rule there and thus regulate our lives. The musical part given by the choir and school added very much to the interest and profit of the day's services.

On Monday evening the entertainment in connection with the Xmas Tree under the auspices of the Sunday School was given. Mr. A. D. Russell, superintendent, was master of ceremonies. A short but excellent programme, consisting of songs, readings, recitations and dialogues, was given, doing credit to all taking part. Old Santa Claus then appeared, to the great delight of the children. He proceeded to make himself at home, and from the way he acted showed that he was fully up to his business. It took him one hour to remove from the beautiful tree the numerous presents. Among many noticeable was a very beautiful plush album for Mrs. J.C. Wilson, given by the members of her Bible Class; also a handsome writing desk, given by the members of the choir to Mr. Ivison Wilson, organist. At 10 p.m. the proceedings were brought to a close, Rev. J. C. Wilson pronouncing the benediction.

The New Conservative Organ.

The Empire, the new organ of Conservative opinion and practice is out at last. Taken by superficial area it is a very creditable production of the paper-maker, printer and pressman. But taken as a live 19th century journal it is somewhat disappointing to even its own friends. But there is no disappointment to those of the conservative party or liberal party either, who go to gough, the wonderful cheap man and buy the marvellously cheap overcoats, ready-made clothing and gents' furnishings, which he has put down to the lowest notch and then capped the climax by knocking off 2½ per cent of that! Sunday School Institute.

The following Sunday Schools were represented:—Baltimore, Varnesville, Lllangowran, Hoskin's Union, Wicklow,—Baptist, Wicklow, Methodist, Grafton,—Methodist, Grafton,—Presbyterian. The chair was occupied by the Rev. W. A. McKenzie, B.D., and the following reverend gentlemen delivered addresses:—Messrs. Learcyd, McCrae, Duncan and McEwen. The Institute was under the control of the Rev. J. McEwen, of Lakefield, who is a noted Sabbath School worker, and was for several years Secretary of the Sunday School Association of Ontario. The blackboard exercises were full of instruction, and the subjects handled by Mr. McEwan were intensely interesting. The teachers carried off many suggestions and thoughts which they intend to utilize in their schools. The attendance was good."

THE ELECTION TRIALS.

EVIDENCE ATKEN IN THE RUSSELL CASE AT OTTAWA YESTERDAY.

The East Elgin Case—Yesterday's Evidence in the Trial of the Petition Against Mr. Wilson's Return.

OTTAWA, Dec. 28.—The taking of evidence in the Russell Election case was continued before Judge Osler to-day. A number of new charges of paying the expenses of speakers, etc., were added to the particulars.

Edward Phillips, of Gloucester Township, swore that Alex. Lumsden had taken him to Neville's grocery store in Ottawa, where he had obtained a jar of whisky. In cross-examination the witness said Lumsden did not promise him money or whisky, though he had asked for it. He had seen some of Mackintosh's committee before meeting Lumsden, and told them what he was about. He did not want to sell his vote, but wished to beat somebody out of whisky.

Cornelius Neville said that Phillips had ordered the whisky himself and it was charged to him. Lumsden had not asked that whisky be given to Phillips. He intended to see Phillips for the account if it was not paid.

Michael McArdle said he had received $60 from Lumsden to be used in the election campaign. He had paid some men for coming to and from St. Joseph's Village and Ottawa. He had also paid $10 to a man named Defrene to induce him to work for Mr. Edwards. The balance of the money was still in his possession.

The Phillips case was then argued and judgment reserved.

Etienne Dufresne said he had received $10 from McArdle, which he had spent in paying for taking voters to the poll.

Joseph Rocque had received $25 to pay for the use of a school-house as a committee-room. He had kept some money for the use of his own house.

Joseph Lalonde, of Embrun, had received $150 to organize committees in Cambridge Township. He had paid $25 to Duncan McDiarmid, $40 to A. Lalonde and $25 to Pierre St. Onge.

The question of Lumsden's agency and the legality of the payments will be argued to-morrow.

THE QUEBEC LOAN.

Mr. Mercier Has Not Yet Communicated the Result of His Negotiations.

MONTREAL, Dec. 28.—The Hon. Mr. Mercier has returned from New York improved in health, but still too unwell to transact business. What the result of his negotiations in New York was about the provincial loan has not been communicated.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, arrived in town yesterday afternoon, and is staying at the Windsor.

The water in the river opposite is rising and is attributed to the fact that the ice is forming below the Boucherville Islands and is slowly taking hold near the city. The gaps in the dyke are nearly closed up, but gates will be provided for the benefit of those who require to cross the ice.

The actions for damages in connection with the death of Miss Ida Hawkins, who was suffocated through a defective flue in the house of Miss Tenney, are being multiplied. The first was taken by the mother of the deceased against Miss Tenney for $3000; the latter lady took out an action for a similar amount against the proprietor of the house, the Hon. James Ferrier, who has now taken out an action for $3000 against Messrs. Lamarche & Massy, who constructed the furnace.

Detective Lapointe received a telegram from Valleyfield a few days ago asking him to arrest a man named Caldwell alias Calvert, who was trying to escape the execution of a warrant for breach of promise of marriage. Lapointe arrested him and gave him in charge of Sheriff Pottras. The prisoner stated that the young lady in question gave him money to take out the marriage license and he came to Montreal on a spree with it. He now repented of his bad conduct and would marry her.

Knights of Labor Still Out—Conflicting Reports—Dissatisfaction of C. & P. Men.

SHAMOKIN, Dec. 28.—The Reading Railroad Knights of Labor here are still out and declare they will not return to work until their discharged associates at this place are reinstated. Three train crews of non-union men are at work but there are thirty-one locomotives here without crews. The collieries in this locality are all idle owing to the lack of transportation facilities.

What the General Manager Says.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The General Manager of the Reading Company stated this morning that the operation of the road was almost without obstruction.

A Denial.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 28.—The officials of the Pennsylvania Company deny all knowledge of the trouble among their employees. The railroaders also deny the report except the Cleveland and Pittsburg men. There is some dissatisfaction among the latter.

THE NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF THE DOMINION.

Reduction of Judicial Rents—The Crown Prince Hospital—Mr. Gladstone Misquotes—Lord Churchill in Russia.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Manchester Courier, which stated recently that Lord Stanley of Preston was offered the Governor-Generalship of Canada, now declares that he has accepted it, and will succeed Lord Lansdowne in August. I can obtain no authentic confirmation of this statement. The opinion is expressed that though Lord Stanley showed much sympathy with the colonies when Colonial Secretary he is hardly the stamp of statesman to succeed Lord Dufferin, Lord Lorne and Lord Lansdowne.

The Canadian Gazette urges that the Dominion Executive be invested with the power to prohibit a repetition of the raft enterprise with a view to the grave danger to navigation so caused.

The War Office report reveals a serious state of things in connection with the horse supply of the British army. In the Household cavalry there is a large deficiency, also in the dragoon regiments. The new horse registration system is not yet operative. It is believed, however, in some well informed quarters that it will hardly suffice to meet the pressing needs of the army. It is expected that if Canada will take prompt measures to improve horse breeds and to encourage the raising of suitable remounts a ready and large market will speedily be found here.

The directors of the Canada Company recommend a dividend of 30s. per share for the half year ending Jan. 10. Last year's dividend was £3. The decline is due to the failure of the Ontario harvest.

The Dublin Gazette published an order ordering reductions of rent throughout practically the whole of Ireland, and ranging from 6 to 22 per cent., the average being 14 per cent. The aggregate reduction is estimated at £3,000,000.

For more than a month the Crown Prince has not experienced the unpleasant sensation in his throat which he first felt in January. Dr. Mackenzie says the Prince is hopeful and cheerful.

Doctors Mackenzie, Schraeder, Hovell and Krauss, after an hour's consultation, agreed to despatch to Berlin a favorable bulletin concerning the Crown Prince. Dr. Mackenzie will return to San Remo from time to time.

Mr. Gladstone was cheered by a crowd which had assembled to see him off on his embarking upon the Channel steamer Folkestone this morning.

The Times, referring to the snowballing of Mr. Gladstone yesterday, says it was a discreditable act, though the Gladstonians set the example by their doings at Unionist meetings. The position and age of Mr. Gladstone, says The Times, ought to insure him against such insult.

The Moscow Gazette, commenting upon Lord Churchill's visit, says: "His visit will dispel his prejudices. He will find no trace of aggressive plans against India. He will discover a readiness on the part of Russia to solve questions in accord with England, a full guarantee being given for the security of India provided England does not oppose Russia's legitimate interests in Europe."

Lord Randolph will start for Moscow on Saturday. He will return to St. Petersburg, where he will remain during January. He has visited no political personages during his stay here with the exception of the Prime Minister and the Imperial Secretary of State.

Herr Eszrnatony, an intimate friend of Herr Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, writes from Pesth to The Nemzet as follows: "The guiding spirits of the German army are in favor of war to stop Russian designs. They apprehend nothing from an attack by France, and are confident of success in the case of war against Russia. If it were not that Prince Bismarck favors peace the German army would already be fighting Russia, in company, of course, with Austrian and Italian armies." In conclusion, the writer says he expects peace will be maintained, now that Russia finds the powers do not fear her.

A despatch from Berlin says that Austria, yielding to the pressure of friendly powers, has made advances to Russia, whereby continued peace is assured.

The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent, who had just been to Galicia on a visit of inspection, asserts that there are no unusual military preparations on the Austrian side of the frontier, and that no Russian troops have advanced near the boundary.

The German Ambassador in Constantinople has informed the President of the Council of Ministers that Germany will give active military support to Austria if Russia provokes a war.

A delegation of sixty members of the postical army, headed by Generals Kausler and Charette, was received by the Pope to-day. His Holiness expressed sorrow at being deprived of his army, but he hoped the day was not far off when he would again see his devoted soldiers around him. Upon receiving from the delegates a jewelled inkstand and pen he said that he would use those on the day on which he would sign a decree for the reorganization of the papal army.

The Pope to-day entrusted the Duke of Norfolk with an autograph letter to Queen Victoria. The Duke started immediately for England to deliver the letter.

Although the British Consul in Madagascar has remonstrated with the Authorities there against the imprisonment of Gen. Willoughby, a former Malagasy Ambassador in London, and who is a British subject, the Hova Premier refused to release the general or to mitigate his punishment. The Government, he said, had legal control of Europeans in its employ. Gen. Willoughby is charged with misappropriating a large sum of money.

There are symptoms of relaxation in the tension between Russia and Austria. The Grosheslanin says an entente is possible, even on the most difficult points in the Bulgarian dispute.

A despatch from Vienna says that the Russian ambassador there has assured Count Kalnoky that Russia is pursuing a policy of peace and that the massing of troops on the Galician frontier is not meant as an aggressive movement. Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador to Germany, had a short interview with Emperor William to-day.

He Wouldn't Release Gen. Willoughby.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The British Consul in Madagascar recently remonstrated with the authorities there against the imprisonment of Gen. Willoughby, formerly the Malagasy ambassador in London, who is a British subject. The Hova Premier refused to release Gen. Willoughby or to mitigate his punishment. The Government, he said, had legal control of Europeans in its employ. Gen. Willoughby is charged with misappropriating a large sum of money.

A Chicago clergyman, in a recent sermon on the vice of great cities, gave a severe rap at certain eminent divines who have been in the habit of visiting the slums to obtain ocular evidence of their iniquity. Indications now point to the existence of a sub-marine volcanic crater between the Canary Islands and the coast of Portugal. From a cable laying steamer in 20 degs. 25 mins. north, 9 degs. 54 mins. west, the water was found to measure 1,200 fathoms under the bow and 900 under the stern, showing the ship to be over the edge of a deep depression in the ocean bottom. LATEST TORONTO NEWS.

THE CITY IN A FLUTTER OVER THE MONAGHAN CASE.

Mr. Chamberlain's Visit—Deaths at the Jail—A Roman Pantheon at Grimsby Park—Sir Hannah and Mr. Cranmer in Town.

TORONTO, Dec. 28.—The Monaghan case was the talk of the town yesterday. Miss Monaghan has the name of being one of the handsomest girls in the city, and her appearance yesterday certainly verified such reputation. She has a splendid clear red and white complexion, a wealth of wavy brown chestnut hair, a fine carriage, judy-like address richly but quietly dressed and the last one in the world that anyone would think should be incarcerated in an insane asylum. Miss Monaghan attained her 23rd birthday yesterday. She seems to have all the graces that only the heroines of the novelist are supposed to possess.

Miss Monaghan and her solicitor are anxious that nothing more should be said about the matter; they had hoped that it would have escaped the press; they were, however, surprised at the accuracy of the published report. They imagined that a copy of the evidence given before Referee Winchester had been used by the press correspondents. On the contrary, the story as given was gathered from interviews with the friends of the parties to the suit. No copy of the evidence can be got; the lawyers and the referee claim that the proceedings in such cases are private. And yet who have a better right than the public to know of such things as that the locking up of a handsome heiress in a foreign lunatic asylum is possible? If it is possible that a family doctor will, without seeing a patient, sign a certificate of insanity? If even Sisters of Charity will tear the clothing off the back of a young woman in their endeavor to keep her a prisoner?

It is a duty that the press owes the people to make these things known. Of course it is rather unpleasant for young ladies like Miss Monaghan to so closely find their affairs talked about outside of their own circle; but Miss Monaghan has at least this result from the publication of her case—that no one will ever attempt to lock her up again.

Mr. Chamberlain and staff will arrive at North Toronto this evening at 8.30 on the C.P.R. express from Ottawa. The party will immediately be driven to Chestnut Park, where a dinner party will be awaiting them.

At mid-day it is understood that several prominent men will be asked to meet him at luncheon at Sir David Macpherson's, and in the evening he will attend the dinner of the Board of Trade. Blacksmithing on The Sabbath.

From The Canada Presbyterian.

The question, Who should be our Mayor or our member? is not of sufficient importance to merit calling a meeting on the Sabbath. Is it not a little singular that an Episcopalian and a lawyer (Mr. S. There was a time when Presbyterians were considered the boldest defenders of the Sabbath. Has that time past? Or is defence merely kept in abeyance until the elections are over?

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1887.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD.

We have all seen men "spoiling for a fight" at fairs and on public occasions, and the party, thus affected, is, sooner or later accommodated. But it seems that the European nations which are similarly "spoiling for a fight," have been grieviously disappointed in their aspirations. One day we have the most bilicose indications in the cable reports, to be contradicted by the most pacific assertions the next. One day one would think, from the tone of the despatches, that the dogs of war could not be restrained and the next we have the assurance that all Europe is nothing more nor less than a vast dove cote or olive orchard —dedicated to perpetual peace. In spite of these contradictory rumours it is quite apparent that there is a dangerous degree of tension existing in the relations between several of the great powers. The dead of a rigirous would not be selected for gigantic military manoeuvres for the mere purposes of drill or military parade. And if the vast expense incurred were incurred for such a purpose, the frontier of a possibly hostile empire would not be selected for the theatre of such royal recreations, if there were not something more practical than mere menace, involved. Russia is particularly active and seems determined to intrigue the Bulgarian situation into a casus belli—the first step on the way to Constantinople. Of course, she has reason to fear the active interference of Germany and Austria, and the concentration of some quarter of a million of troops upon their frontiers can easily be interpreted as precautionary means to counteract the effect of such interference. Where there is much smoke there must be a little fire, and where there is so much hostile demonstration and preparation the breaking out of active hostilities would not be a surprise at any moment. And once war does break out, there is no telling where it will end or what powers may become involved.

It is understood, says the Empire, that bona fide daily or weekly newspapers will not be affected by any change which it is proposed to make in the regulations regarding postage on newspapers.

The Empire is out—the new Conservative organ—the journalistic expression "of a desire, universally expressed by the Liberal-Conservatives of Canada, to have a journal which would represent the principles and aims of the Liberal-Conservative party in all their integrity." And the Empire will have, like the Tory party, to look to the public chest for support and profit. The Conservatives made one gallant attempt to establish and maintain a paper representing their principles "in all their integrity," but it was a dismal financial failure. The Mail, as the party organ, never, it is asserted, paid expenses, though over a quarter of a million of dollars were sunk in the search for dividends. And The Empire is only a weak imitation of the Mail, with no indications of the editorial ability which the Mail has always had the help of. The imitation is in the typographical style and make up, and there the imitation ends. If the Mail failed, with the best of ability and experience at its head and "barrels of money" at its back, what will be the fate of The Empire, in the face of sharper competition, under the management of a gentleman whose only experience has been acquired in connection with a country weekly, assisted by other newspaper men who have helped to run other journals into the ground?

Shorthand in Public Schools.

A writer in the Quebec Rev., referring to the remarks of another correspondent upon the subject of introducing the study of phonography into the public schools, pulls a paragraph indited by the latter to pieces. The first writer had said:—"There is no doubt that shorthand in the public schools would be of advantage to a certain portion of pupils by giving an elementary instruction. But you cannot rely on public school shorthand for earning a livelihood." Whereupon the other replies:—"It seems to us that the writer of these reflections labors under a mistaken view, both of the province of phonography and of the province of the public schools themselves. * * * * If it can be shown that phonography is a study which has nothing in it to benefit every child who is sent to the public schools, if it is true that its highest mission is to educate a limited class of skilled technical workers, however important that class may be, then we are ready to concede, once for all, that it has not the slightest claim to recognition in the public school course of study. But if it is thought necessary that every child who goes to the public schools be taught to write, it is clear that every child is interested in being taught to write in the best way; and if he can be readily equipped with a means of putting words on paper in we will say, half the time required by ordinary script, there can be no valid reason for withholding such a valuable instrumentality from him. If, having learned phonography in its simple form, he afterwards applies himself to the business of shorthand writing as a means of livelihood, and desires to perfect his technical skill in it, he has no right to look to the public schools to give him the necessary training. * * * * * Any teacher competent to teach the regular branches can readily qualify himself or herself to give all necessary instruction. It is fortunate that this is the case, for, should phonography have to wait for highly successful reporters to leave their paying profession to enter the ranks of public school teachers at the meagre salary usually paid, its hopes would be built upon an expectation of a display of self-sacrifice and enthusiasm rarely found even among shorthand writers." These articles are of interest in Peterborough in view of the recent agitation to have stenography placed among the studies of the Collegiate Institute. Whether or no the movement succeeds, Miss R. Harper, the young lady who applied for the position of teacher, a thoroughly qualified and competent teacher and graduate of Bengough's Shorthand Emporium, Toronto, will be found at the Mechanic's Institute ready to give instruction at reasonable rates. A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. If I have in these endeavours met with any degree of success worthy of recognition by the ratepayers of the town, or if I have, in my capacity as Mayor for half a dozen terms, looked after the interests of the Town to the satisfaction of the Public, I can with confidence claim a renewal of your support at the coming Election.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedient Servant,

J. STEVENSON.

To the Electors of WARD No. TWO:

At the urgent request of a large number of the citizens of the town and of a very large number of the Electors of No. 2 ward, I have consented to be a candidate for the representation of this ward in the Town Council. Being identified with no party, and having no personal interests to serve—no axes to grind—my sole aim, if elected shall be to promote the best interests of the town, and on these grounds, I claim and respectfully request your support both in the canvass and at the polls.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,

ADAM HALL.

d130 Peterborough, Dec. 24th, 1887.

To the Electors of No. ONE WARD

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, I have consented to be a candidate for Councillor for No. One Ward. Believing that I can promote your interest and being willing to give my best abilities and attention thereto, I respectfully solicit your suppo t.

Yours Respectfully,

dw HARRY WINCH.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD No. 1.

Your Vote and Influence Respectfully Solicited for

BANNELL SAWYER

as Councillor.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

FOUND IN MANILLION.:

A Mystic Stolen by Brantford Turns Up in the Ambulance City.

HAMILTON, Dec. 28. The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Presbyterian Church was held yesterday. The society is in a very flourishing condition. Since its organization in 1880 $4361.35 has been raised, and at the present time there is $1612.77 in the banks to their credit.

Rev. Dr. Burns has accepted the invitation of the Montreal St. Patrick's Society to deliver the customary address at the concert in the Academy of Music on March 7.

Last evening the employes of the Ontario rolling mills, to the number of about seventy, held their anniversary supper at the Dundurn hotel.

E. D. Baker was charged in the Police Court to-day by Owen Nowlan with assault and uttering profane language. Nowlan had placed a small account for collection in his lawyer's hands, and it had been sued in the Division Court. Monday night Baker was sitting in the St. Nicholas Hotel, and Nowlan stepped up to him and wished him the compliments of the season. Baker construed that the salutation was more ironical than festive, and gave Nowlan a blow under the ear, following it up with expletives. Nowlan then drew his cane to give Baker a cut, when the parties were separated. Baker was fined $3.

On Monday last a young man hired a rig from Hunt & Bennett's livery stable in Brantford. Yesterday it was found by John Cleaves near the corner of King and Bay streets, in this city, and handed over to the police. Mr. Hunt came to the city this morning and identified the horse and rig.

A Georgian Crime.

MACON, Ga., Dec. 28.—In Lee County last Sunday night a man named Nathan Reed, who did not live happily with his wife, sent a half-grown boy, who lived with him, after a doctor. When the doctor and boy returned they found the cabin a heap of smoking ruins, and in them the charred bodies of Reed's wife and their six children. A further search of the premises disclosed Reed's body in the well with his throat cut. His wife was found beside the well, and it is supposed he killed his wife and children, set fire to the house, and then killed himself.

Murderer Maxwell Becomes a Catholic.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—Hugh M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, the young Englishman under sentence of death for murdering Arthur Preller, has embraced the Catholic faith. Last year the Catholics were given permission to celebrate a Christmas mass in the jail annually. At the service on Sunday thirty prisoners knelt to partake of communion, and the first to receive the consecrated wafer was Maxwell. John D. Shea, Officer Doran's murderer, was also one of the communicants.

Bought Back a Burning Town.

WAKEFIELD, Mich., Dec. 28.—The lawless element had full control of this town during the progress of the fire on Sunday. Hundreds of shots were fired by the roughs to intimidate the merchants, who were endeavoring to save some of their stock. Whisky, secured from saloons in the block, made the men perfect demons, and people who had property stood by aghast.

The Pope's Life.

"Life of Leo XIII., from an Authentic Memoir furnished by his order," by Bernard O'Reilly, D.D., L.D. This publication has been getting a hard drubbing from The Saturday Review, of which these are some samples:

At least half of the book is made up of the merest padding, or what only escapes the imputation of mere padding, because it is often offensive as well as superfluous. And moreover it is a compilation manufactured quite as much by the use of the scissors as of the pen.

The Pope, we believe, does not read English, and is thus spared the slumbering fit which a perusal of Dr. O'Reilly's "Life" would cost him at almost every page. It is fair to add that nearly every ecclesiastic mentioned in the volume comes in for an abundant, if less overpowering, dose of the same indiscriminate laudation, especially if he belongs to the Jesuit order, whose "apostolic virtues, eminent learning, and still more eminent holiness of life" give them an "undisputed excellence in every department," while "in the science of sacred knowledge they surpass themselves." No writer surely but one through whose swelling veins the noble blood of Erin and America runs in mingled stream, would have been equal to bringing forth such vast libations of "butter in a lordly dish."

We are further assured in a note that "it is still problematic whether the Phœnix Park murderers were not suborned by the Dublin Castle officials." It is doubtless "problematic" that Dr. O'Reilly may entertain that opinion, nor does it matter two pence to anybody but himself whether he does or not; but it can hardly be deemed "problematic" whether his inserting this impudent falsehood in a life of Leo XIII. is not a gross outrage alike on the readers and the subject of his biography.

It is precisely because much of the commendation so copiously showered on the subject of this memoir is well merited, that all sensible readers will be sickened past endurance by the endless effluence of bunkum and bathos. They have too sincere a respect for the character and policy of Leo XIII. to feel tolerant, still less grateful, towards his pretentious and maladroit biographer.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 28.

St. Lawrence Market was quiet to-day with prices nearly stationary. Turkeys are selling lower, at 7c to 9½. Pork is steady at $6.50 to $6.60, and likely to remain so. On the grain market about 300 bushels sold at yesterday's figures.

We quote the following figures: Beef, hindquarters, per lb, 5c to 9½; beef, forequarters, per lb, 3c to 5c; mutton, per carcass, 5c to 7½c; lamb, per carcass, 7½c

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings healthand happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

PRICES IN DRY GOODS

THOMAS KELLY'S

After considering the matter over carefully I have decided to force the sale of my large and well assorted stock of Dry Goods. This means a loss, but, rather than carry goods over until another season, I feel justified in taking this course. It is not my practice to make random statements misleading to customers, therefore when I say the prices will be cut down you will find that the prices WILL be cut down. Remember that price alone is no criterion of cheapness. You should see the goods and judge of their values. What we say we do, and more than that we reduce seasonable goods, not old goods lying around the shelves from season to season. A few quotations will serve as a guide, and possibly startle you into the advisability of calling.

A Little Runaway.

To-day the horse attached to Messrs. Breese & Bain's delivery sleigh, excited, no doubt, by the abnormal amount of ozone circulated by the blizzardous breezes, ran away from the front of their shop and passing up street very dexterously slipped in between a load of wood and the walk in front of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company's offices. Here it left the sleigh behind, upsetting it and breaking the shafts and whiffletrees. The horse was caught a little further up.

Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of S.S. 16, Otonabee, took place on the afternoon of Friday, Dec. 23rd. Quite a number of the parents and friends of the pupils were present. After a test of the standing of the pupils had been concluded by the teacher, Mr. J. S. Ivison Wilson, a short programme was given, consisting of readings, recitations and singing. The prizes, awarded by the teacher to the pupils taking the highest standing in the various classes, were now presented by the Rev. J. C. Wilson, father of the teacher. The following are the names of successful pupils :—

Fourth, jr.—Mary J. Guthrie, Minnie Rose. Third—Maud Finnamore. Second, sr.—Albert Frost; second, jr.—Nettie Stewart. Part II.—Ernest Welsh. Part I., sr.—Jennie Heston; part I., jr.—Lorne Brooks.

Scarcely had this exercise been concluded, when Miss Eva Hambidge and Miss Minnie Rose came forward and said it was their turn, and having in a few well chosen words expressed their appreciation of their teacher's efforts to aid them on their road to learning, and having wished him the compliments of the season, presented him, on behalf of the school, with a beautiful scarlet plush album. Mr. Wilson, being taken totally by surprise, answered briefly, thanking the friends for the beautiful gift and their kindness to him during the year, and concluding by wishing all a Happy Christmas and a Bright, Joyous New Year.

NO ONE will excuse the Prince of Wales for his injudicious curiosity in seeking an interview with Slugger Sullivan, the man with the physique of a Hercules and the moral character of a badly-bred brute. No doubt the newspapers are making more out of the affair than there is in it, and this is perhaps unavoidable. "The fierce light which beats upon a throne," as well as upon an heir-apparent, brings into prominence, of both commendation and reprobation, actions which in meaner mortals would pass unnoticed. Her Majesty has written the prince, sharply rebuking his unseemly association with an doubtful a character, thus maintaining the high reputation she has deservedly earned of setting up and upholding a standard of morality which no other European sovereign has ever attained or even aimed at.

Appreciative Addresses and Presentations.

We have received several copies of addresses presented to different teachers at the close of the school term, and reports of entertainments, but have not space to publish them in full and must therefore present them, as well as other correspondence, in a condensed form.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Mr. Wm. Hickson, on the occasion of his retirement, to take the headmastership of the Mohongoras School, was presented with a highly complimentary address accompanied with a present of a fine lamp for himself and a silver cake basket for Mrs. Hickson. The address was signed, on behalf of the school, by Florence Ewing, Nellie McLean and Ella V. Best.

On Friday evening last a number of teachers and scholars of the Mount Pleasant Sunday School met and presented Mr. and Mrs. Hickson with an elegant china tea set and an address signed by Annie E. Best and Ella Sutcliffe. Mr. Hickson and wife have reason to feel pleased with the appreciation their good qualities have met with.

SCHOOL SECTION NO. 3, OTONABEE.

A very pleasant and successful entertainment was held in the school house in aid of funds for a library. The teacher, Miss A.G. Young, took an active part in promoting the success of the affair. The excellent programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, readings, recitations, tableaux, etc. Mr. Hutchinson principal of the Norwood Model School, gave an address on "The Child Mind." Subscriptions ranging from 25 to 25 cents were added to the receipts at the door, the whole amounting to $21.50.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

On the evening of the 21st Dec. a delightful and successful Sunday school entertainment was held in the town hall school house, North Monaghan. There was a large attendance, and everything passed off with the greatest satisfaction to all concerned. Proceeds were $20. Mr. Wilson occupied the chair. A lengthy programme was rendered, in which a number of Sunday school pupils and others took part; Wesley Lang, Nelson Roddy, Thomas Lang, Lilly Beavis, Ida McRoberts, Wm. Hunter, Harry Brown, Cora Jewison and Wm. Whitfield took part in songs, recitations and dialogues. Mr. R. H. Leary, Miss and Mr. McBain, Mr. McCall, Miss Fowler, Miss Clark, Miss McRoberts, and Miss Wilson also assisted. There was also a Christmas tree for the Sunday School scholars. The presents were numerous and some of them handsome. After the Christmas Tree the event of the evening took place, consisting of a presentation to Miss Clark, teacher of S.S. No. 3, who is about to leave. Mr. R. H. Leary read the address, which was signed by Ida McRoberts and Cora Jewison. Miss Clark was presented with a large Bible, prayer and hymn books.

FRASERVILLE.

Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., favored the electors of this vicinity with a practical address on Tuesday evening, Dec. 20th. He confined himself to the workings of the Provincial House during its last session. Mr. Stratton is becoming a very pleasing speaker and is highly respected in this neighborhood, (which was his home in earlier days,) by the leading men of both parties. All went home from the meeting pleased with the remarks, feeling they had spent one profitable evening at least in political circles. We feel that the Liberals in Peterborough county made a judicious selection in the person of Mr. Stratton. We hope a full career of success is before him. He has our best wishes.

ENTERTAINMENT AND CHRISTMAS TREE.—On Friday evening, December 23rd, the annual entertainment and Christmas tree, in connection with the Fraserville Methodist Sabbath School, took place. The church was crowded, and both old and young enjoyed themselves. The programme was an excellent one, and the children performed their part remarkably well. The singing was especially good on this occasion. The Misses Hutchings and Messrs. Lackie and Steer appeared three times and delighted the audience with sweet music. The quartettes given by them were given in superlative style, their voices blended beautifully and each took his and her part perfectly. Master Harold Eastwood, who is nine years old, assisted in the service of song. Harold is a grand singer, and possesses a loud, sweet voice. The Christmas trees were well filled with handsome presents, also a few comical ones which elicited loud laughter. Mr. T. Smyth was chairman.

SPRINGVILLE.

The annual tea in connection with the Presbyterian church at Springville was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, on Monday evening last, tea being served in Mr. Goodfellow's Hall from five to seven o'clock—and a splendid tea it was—everything required being bountifully supplied by the ladies. After the tea an adjournment was made to the church, where the evening's entertainment was entered upon by the singing of the doxology. Mr. J.R. Stratton, M.P.P., was voted to the chair on motion of Rev. Mr. Bennett, and opened the meeting with an address appropriate to the occasion, referring to Christmas Day observance.

The Gillott family and Mr. Byers sang several times during the evening and were loudly applauded. Master Gillott has a sweet voice and took the leading part in two negro melodies. Miss Lillie Beavis gave a recitation, "Foolish Little Maiden"; and Mrs. Lackie sang the "Old House at Home". Mr. Orr Bennett gave an interesting account of his last summer's mission work in the lower provinces, and Mr. W. A. Dixon gave an interesting exhibition of his exceptionally good ventriloquial powers. "Nelly and Darby" pleased the audience very much. The Misses Sanderson rendered, in good voice, a sacred song, and Miss McDowell recited "The Creeds of the Bells", and Mr. Geo. McDowell sang several times during the evening and was enthusiastically encored, as were all the ladies and gentlemen who kindly assisted with the programme. The Rev. Mr. Bennett, in conclusion, gave an admirable fifteen minutes address. Votes of thanks were passed to all those who had in any way assisted in making the annual tea a success, and the meeting dispersed by singing "God Save the Queen."

—A farmer residing in the neighborhood of Idyl Wild says that he can see the electric lights of Cobourg, Port Hope and Peterborough from his residence. He certainly has no cause to complain.

—Meetings of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held in the town hall, Norwood, on January 6th and 7th. Professors from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will be present and take part in the proceedings.

—The Whitby Chronicle says:—"We notice a local paragraph going the rounds of the press to the effect that a Whitby man killed the family cow because his wife would not allow him to raffle the animal during a drunken spree. It was at Peterborough this occurred, not at Whitby. We have a number of men here who get full every chance they have, but they are scarcely so far gone as to gamble away the family cow."

FURS —OF A— SUPERIOR QUALITY

The results as anticipated, which the cold season of September and October would have on Fur bearing animals, has been realized to the fullest extent. Their pelts have not only become earlier prime but have also been provided with a richer color of fur than many a season before. Therefore the collection of Furs bought this season from the trappers direct by us, are of a far Superior kind and we are now ready for filling Orders. There is an unusual run on PLUCKED BEAVER in Cities, and Peterborough will not fall behind in fashion. An early call has many advantages in selections as in making up at short notice. All our goods offered to the public are manufactured on the premises, the only place in Peterborough manufacturing Furs, and therefore we can recommend our make to the public. Highest price paid for Raw Furs.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

THE CROWN PRINCE'S CONDITION SATISFACTORY.

A Cruel Captain and Mate Arrested. President Carnot Receives Mr. Gladstone. A Duel Between French Journalists. Judicial Rents in Ireland.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The order for the reduction of judicial rents in Ireland applies only to the year commencing on the gale day immediately before Aug. 23, 1887.

John Dillon, M.P., speaking at Newcross, said that the reduction of judicial rents completely justified the policy of the Nationalists, and the plan of campaign. It was true that Lord Salisbury had said that the measure he now adopted was a Unionist measure, but that only showed that Salisbury and his colleagues were quite ready to do that which is dishonest a order to cling to office.

The Standard says it may be right in the interests of peace to make a haphazard present to the tenants, but the landlords have reason on their side in declaring that the boon ought not to be given exclusively at their expense.

The Times says some annoyance is perhaps excusable in landlords, but the majority will, on reflection, own that reductions awarded in general are more than just.

A bulletin was issued at San Remo to-day by Drs. Mackenzie, Schroeder, Krause and Hovels regarding the Crown Prince's condition. The bulletin says the Crown Prince's condition has been perfectly satisfactory for several weeks past.

The Sobranje has authorized the Government to conclude treaties of commerce with all countries, and to issue a loan of $10,000,000 for railway building.

Considerable anxiety is felt in Queenstown concerning the British steamer Lord Gough, which left Philadelphia on Dec. 15 for Liverpool and this port, and has not yet arrived.

A British Steamer Lost.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 28.—Capt. Seavy, from Boston, reports that on Dec. 24 Capt. Thornton of the British steamer Newcastle City, from Newcastle for New York, arrived in a small boat and reported that his ship had been lost with a heavy cargo of assorted merchandise on the morning of the preceding day. The crew numbered twenty-five, and they had sought refuge on the lightship.

MISS MONAGHAN'S CASE CONTINUES TO ATTRACT ATTENTION.

Solicitor Patrick McPhillips Defends His Client Against The World's Alleged Extravagance—What Mr. James Beaty Said.

TORONTO, Dec. 29.

Solicitor McPhillips, counsel for Mr. Monaghan, protested yesterday against the publication of the reports concerning Miss Monaghan, on the ground that they presented only one side of the case and that the matter is in the hands of the Official Referee. He claims that when the time comes he will be able to show facts that will justify the actions of his client towards his daughter. There are outside parties, he said, who took a more prominent part in this affair than my client did, and after the referee's decision is given in the matter, I will be prepared to give the whole facts of the case, as shown by the evidence.

What Mr. James Beaty Said.

Mr. James Beaty, Q.C., in an interview yesterday, said he was an advisory executor of the late Mrs. Monaghan's will. He was sorry that Miss Monaghan had forced the matter into publicity. It was, he believed, on the strength of a letter from Archbishop Lynch and a certificate from Dr. Norman Bethune that the young lady was asylumed. He had done his best to keep the thing out of court, and even when there to withhold documents and evidence that was damaging to Miss Monaghan's contentions, but as her counsel had insisted on them they had to go. Now everything would come out.

MISS MONAGHAN AT BUFFALO.

Something About the Providence Lunatic Asylum and Its Management.

BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—The Providence Lunatic Asylum, in which Miss Monaghan was incarcerated, is a private institution under the management of Roman Catholics, but is open to people of all religious denominations. It is situated near Buffalo Plains, and is under the charge of Sisters of Charity, Sister Mary Thomas and Sister Servant being at the head. The institution bears an excellent reputation in this city, and many inebriates and insane patients are sent there in preference to the public institutions. The rooms are large and commodious, and there are no cells such as Miss Monaghan thought she saw when she first entered. The windows are barred, and patients are placed under restraint as in other like asylums.

At the time Miss Monaghan was brought here Dr. Ring, now superintendent of the insane department at the Erie County Alms House, was the senior physician at Providence Asylum, but Dr. Floods Crego, a well known physician, had charge of her. He is now senior visiting physician there. He said to reporter this afternoon that he remembered Miss Monaghan well, although not present when she was brought to the asylum. He visited her frequently when she was there. Prior to her being brought a woman representing herself to be an aunt called at the asylum and wanted attendants sent to bring Miss Monaghan here, but it was refused, and later on her father made arrangements and brought her and she was committed on the certificates of physicians whose names he could not now remember. He saw Miss Monaghan the day after she was brought and found her quiet and self-possessed, but she had evidently passed through some nervous trouble. She was willing to remain a few days to have her condition examined and he then found it was neither necessary nor beneficial to keep her in the institution. He telegraphed her father at Toronto to come for her, but received a letter saying that he didn't want to, and thought it rash to discharge her. Dr. Crego felt so fully convinced that he peremptorily telegraphed again to her father to take her home at once, and then he came. The doctor remarked to the reporter that it was through his insistence that Miss Monaghan was taken away from the asylum. He understood that prior to her being brought to Buffalo she was being treated at Dr. Jackson's Sanitarium in Dansville, N. Y., but that is not an institution for insane patients. He also understood she had been under doctor's care in New York.

A Narrow Escape.

On Wednesday night Gen. T. Zimmerman of Cobourg arrived at Union Station and on the way to his hotel went astray by going along the Esplanade instead of up York-street. When between Lorne and Bay streets he was attacked by two men, who struck him on the head and grabbed a locket from his watch. At this stage a couple of railway men came along and the highwaymen fled. Had it not been for their timely appearance the thieves would doubtless have secured $1300 in cash and $750 worth of jewels which Zimmerman had on his person.

Commercial Travelers' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada was held yesterday and was one of the noisiest sessions that body ever held. The election of officers for 1888 resulted as follows: J. C. Black, President; A. Allan, First Vice-President; John Burns, Second Vice-President; C. C. Van Norman, R. J. Orr, H. Morrison, T. P. Hayes, John Walker, H. S. Davison, George West, R. H. Cosby, James Haywood, Directors.

Mr. Arthur O'Connor, the Irish M.P., left for Quebec by yesterday morning's Grand Trunk Railway train. Rev. Father Hand, Brother Tobias, Mr. R. B. Teefy and Mr. J. J. Curran were at the station to see him off.

Hon. John Beverley Robinson, Hon. John Macdonald, Hon. C. S. Wood, Dr. Larratt, Mr. Smith and W. B. McMurrich are the new administrators of Upper Canada College.

Hon. Jos. Chamberlain arrived here at 8.50 yesterday, and proceeded to Chestnut Park, the residence of Sir. David McPherson, whose guest he is.

DOMINION NEWS.

It is rumored in Quebec that changes are imminent in the Mercier Cabinet. Hon. Mr. Shehyn and Mr. François Langelier will change positions, Mr. Shehyn going to Ottawa, and Mr. Langelier assuming the post of Acting Premier during Hon. Mr. Mercier's illness.

The Hamilton Board of Trade has tendered an invitation to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain to partake of the hospitality of that body on his way back from Ottawa to Washington.

Lieutenant-Governor Angers was presented with an address by the Quebec Associated Press yesterday.

The immigration sheds on Louise Embankment, Quebec, were formally handed to the Minister of Public Works yesterday.

YESTERDAY'S STORM.

A Violent Gale in Maryland—Cold Weather in the South.

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 28.—This city was visited early this morning by the most violent wind storm ever known by the oldest people here. A number of houses were unroofed and large trees uprooted. Several wagons and the Jefferson mail coach were uplifted and dashed to the roadside and completely demolished. People were afraid to venture on the streets. Much damage is reported throughout Frederick County.

THE BOSTON BANQUET.

Speeches Unanimous on International Relations—Practicability of an Anglo-American Settlement.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—At the Merchants' Club banquet last night Mr. Snowball of New Brunswick followed Mr. Mitchell, expressing as a Conservative a desire for closer trade relations. Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky made the closing speech.

Hon. John Macdonald of Toronto spoke as follows: Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Merchants' Association—Allow me to say that the manner in which I have been presented to you has somewhat disconcerted me. I assume that it is no small honor to be present at this banquet, to exchange with you friendly greetings and to express by the living voice those feelings of amity and mutual obligation that are represented by the flags of both nations. We live under the flags of the two greatest nations in the world, the two great English-speaking peoples. I shall not attempt to take a position on any question on which I cannot be endorsed by this assembly. In the first place, I believe that the two countries should adopt the largest possible Commercial Reciprocity compatible with existing right and with national obligations. Now, what do I mean by existing rights? I am not going to talk about Protection, Free Trade or a Revenue Tariff. I have my opinion on all these questions, but I am not going to obtrude them upon you. I will say this much, however, on the question of Protection. I think every man here, whether he be in favor of Protection or Tariff Reform, will agree with me that it is not right to sweep away by legislative enactment industries which have been fostered and called into life by legislative action. [Applause.] And I will say further, that I think it is not a wise, economic policy for any Government to over-protect any industry. An over-protected industry is never a blessing. I venture to affirm that the great thing that is needed to settle the difficulties between the countries is a greater display of magnanimity and generosity. If these elements could enter into a solution of the question it would be settled in a manner satisfactory to us and to the whole civilized world. I have spoken about national obligation. I suppose you will ask me what I mean by national obligation. You are proud of the grand achievement of your people and you worship their heroic deeds. We, on the other hand, are proud of the glory of Great Britain, and we should do nothing that would make that glory pale. As patriotic subjects of Great Britain we should do nothing—we should adopt no measure—that would act as an entering wedge to Annexation to the United States and the severance of our political relation with Great Britain. While I have the honor to occupy a seat in the Canadian Parliament, my voice shall always be lifted to preserve peace and prosperity between the nations of the United States and Canada.

How a Mother Cured Fits.

CAMDEN, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Patrick Kane got into jail yesterday through her 10-year-old boy's misfortune in having fits. The boy was playing on an open lot at the rear of the house, when he was seized with one of his fits. His mother was getting over Christmas and was drunk. She staggered out to where her boy lay, picked him up and carried him into the house. Then she took off the child's hose and placed the almost red-hot stove lids at the soles of his feet. The boy screamed with pain. She threw salt in his mouth and he choked and sputtered, but the fit lingered. She then poured scalding water over him and thumped him. That cured the fit, but came near killing the boy. Neighbors who heard his shrieks went into the house and were compelled to hold the woman to prevent fresh attacks upon the unconscious lad. The drunken mother was taken to the City Hall and locked up.

Kalakaua's Kingdom.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Private advices received here from members of the Hawaiian Legislature say that were it not for the presence of English and American men-of-war in the harbor an outbreak would undoubtedly have occurred. On assembling the Legislature Dec. 19, Minister Ashford brought out the Honolulu Rifles, with the intention of subverting the Government, but the success of the design was prevented by the officers of the vessels. A letter from one of the legislators says if the King does not assent to the acts of the present Legislature he will be dethroned, and a provisional Government substituted.

A Jealous Husband's Crime.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—A special from St. Francis, Ark., says: Wm. Herrig, a wealthy planter, was for some time jealous of the attention paid his wife by Wm. Matthewson, and forbade him coming to his house. This was disregarded by Matthewson, and on Tuesday last he called and invited Mrs. Herrig to take a drive with him. While she was getting ready Herrig shot and killed Matthewson and then forced his wife to drive to Matthewson's house with the body. On her return she found her home in flames and was shot and killed by her husband, who then fled. Mrs. Herrig was formerly an actress.

Railway Cars Telescoped.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec 29.—The caboose ball express from Chicago ran into a snowdrift near Ely, Iowa, at 2.20 this morning. Before the drift could be cleared away a freight engine drawing a caboose dashed into the rear of the train, telescoping the dining car and crushing the ends of nearly all the cars on the train. Several people were seriously injured and many suffered bruises, but none were killed.

The Fisheries Commission.

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—Mr. Chamberlain and his secretaries left here to-day for Toronto and Niagara Falls en route to Washington. The date of the reassembling of the Fisheries Commission has been changed from Jan. 4 to Jan. 7.

WAGEEARNERS ON STRIKE

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE U.S. BUREAU OF LABOR.

The Reading Strike—Delegates of Pennsylvania Knights—Meeting of the Railroad Officers and Strikers—A Stormy Session.

READING, Pa., Dec. 29.—The vanguard of the delegates to the convention of the Reading Railway employes, to be held in this city to-night, arrived this forenoon. Every local assembly in the Knights of Labor in the anthracite region, embracing the Schuylkill, Lehigh and Wyoming regions, will be fully represented, and the meeting will be one of the most important that has been held for a long time, as it will decide whether the Knights will pool their issues in the fight and stand together, or let the railroad men fight their own battle.

Of the company's working collieries in the Schuylkill region thirteen were at work today. Of the others twenty were idle for want of cars, four on account of the storm and two for repairs. Meanwhile all trains are running and it is believed here that the railroad strike is about over.

A Stormy Session.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—The officers of the Reading Railroad and a committee from the Executive Committee of the striking employes who belong to the Knights of Labor came together again this morning and parted after a short but stormy session, in which the company refused to recognize the callers as a committee but agreed to recognize them as individuals. The committee refused to be so recognized and demanded a conference as a Knights of Labor body, and being refused they left in anger. Chairman Lee of the Executive Committee said it was the last chance the company would have of treating with a committee of the Knights unless apology was made for the treatment he and his fellows had received this morning and unless the company conceded recognition to the Knights as a body.

Uniformed policemen guarded every entrance to the Port Richmond coal wharves. There has been no trouble of any kind whatever to-day. The stevedores on the freight wharves, who struck yesterday afternoon, did not return to work this morning. A large force of stevedores was secured in the city and taken to the freight wharves and put to work under guard of twelve policemen. There was nothing at the Ninth and Broad streets stations to-day that would indicate the existence of a strike. All the trains moved as usual.

A Secret Meeting.

READING, Pa., Dec. 29.—Two hundred and fifty delegates, representing the Reading Railroad and Coal and Iron Company's employes throughout the territory covered by the company's tracks, met here to-night in special convention. The meeting was a secret one. The majority of the delegates seemed to think the strike on the railroad was for the most part over, and that the convention should devote itself to doing the best it could for the miners.

Report of U. S. Bureau of Labor.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 29.—Commissioner Wright has submitted to the Secretary of the Interior the third annual report of the Bureau of Labor, which relates entirely to strikes and lockouts for the period of six years, ended Dec. 31, 1886. The report covers about seven hundred printed pages and gives the details of each strike and lockout occurring in the United States during the period named. It exhibits the facts belonging to each industrial trouble for each locality where trouble was found without attempting to establish or decide upon the connection between them. In the six years there were 3,902 strikes, involving 22,336 establishments, and in 1887, the report says, there were, according to the best information obtainable, 903 strikes, details of which are not available. The results of the strikes, so far as gaining the objects sought were concerned, are shown to be as follows:

Success in 10,467 cases or 46.50 per cent. of the whole; partial success in 2809 or 12.45 per cent. of the whole, and failure in 9210 cases or 39.89 per cent. of the whole. By lockouts 584 establishments or 25.85 per cent. of the whole succeeded in gaining their point; 190 or 8.71 per cent. partly succeeded, and 1305 or 59.99 per cent failed.

As to causes or objects of strikes it is shown that increase of wages was the principal one—42.44 per cent., and the other leading causes were for reduction of hours, 19.45 per cent.; against reduction of wages, 7.75 per cent.; for increase of wages and reduction of hours 1.57 per cent.; against increase of hours 0.66 per cent. Total for the five leading causes, 77.63 per cent.; all other causes, 22.17 per cent.

The report gives the losses of employes and employers resulting from strikes and lockouts as follows: Losses to strikers during the six years, $51,816,163; loss to employers through lockouts for the same periods, $6,132,717, or a total loss of wages to employes of $30,948,882. The employers' losses through strikes for the six years amounted to $26,732,653; through lockouts, $3,432,261, a total of $34,164,914.

A Political Thunderbolt.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Gov. Hill has removed the State Civil Service Commissioners, August Schroonmaller and John Jay of New York, and Henry A. Richmond of Buffalo, and appointed as their successors Gen. Sickles of New York, Jas. H. Manning and Major Treadwell of Albany. The new commissioners have assumed office. No cause has been given and the coup has fallen like a thunderbolt in the political camp.

The Weber Heirs Claim a Vast Estate.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—When Wilfrid Weber came over from Holland about 1636, and settled on Manhattan Island, he little realized that he was laying up trouble for his descendants of two centuries later. But the Webers propose to capture a big $20,000,000 slice out of the heart of the city.

Trent Valley Canal.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In the EXAMINER of recent date and in the Toronto World of the 22nd inst. appear letters, the former signed "Justice" and the latter "Law," in reference to the meeting lately held in regard to the Trent Valley Canal. Their letters might have been more properly signed "Engineer" than have appended to them the fancy titles they have. I am accused of making a false statement at the meeting, and of "attacking the reputation of a government engineer of well known ability and honesty who, in the discharge of his duties, has made an estimate of the cost of construction of the Trent Valley Canal, to do which entailed years of labor."

As to the statement I made as to the cost of a nine foot canal, I beg to repeat it. Such an estimate was made and it is on record in the department at Ottawa. The engineer that made it is a man of ability and honesty, and as capable of estimating the cost of such work as "Law," "Justice" or "Engineer." He did not have to take the years of labor or spend the vast sum of public money that Mr. Rubidge has in getting at his figures, but still he made a thorough enquiry and estimate. Mr. Rubidge has certainly spent years (whether of labor or not I cannot say) in his work. Since 1861 he has been at it, and after six years' labor he has brought forth (so it is alleged) a report. When we examine the public accounts and see what the expenditure on capital account of the canal works has been, and the amount expended in engineering and surveys, &c., the result is appalling. From 30th June, 1861, to 30th June, 1886, the total expenditure has been a little over $379,000, and of this nearly $66,000 is engineering, surveying, &c., over seventeen per cent. of total expenditure. Assuming the expenditure on capital to date is $400,000, and allowing for engineering at the rate of former years, we find the engineering, &c., amounts to $85,000, or over twenty per cent. of the total expenditure.

When we consider that Mr. Rubidge was practically verifying Mr. Baird's report as to a great portion of the route, the public, I think, will agree with me that some years of labor, and a good deal of money, have been wasted. I am referred to Mr. Rubidge's report of 15th November last, as to what the result of his labor has been, and I am reproached with withholding what it contains from the public. I think before the gentleman that writes these letters finds fault with me for not reading a report that I verily believe does not exist, he had better read the reports made by as competent engineers as his friend, and which are readily accessible. Who has seen his report anyhow, but "Law" and "Justice"? Mr. Stevenson, M.P., knows nothing of it, for so late as Nov. 11th last, he is reported in the Peterborough Review as saying on his return from Ottawa, where he had gone to get some information about the progress of the survey, "That a man had been sent up to Mr. Rubidge's office to complete and finish the report at once." I suppose the Government thought enough years of labor and sums of money had been expended, and to stop it took this means of getting some return for the outlay. I cannot get a copy of this report. Will "Law" or "Justice" lend me their copy?

Mr. Rubidge having finished his report, his official connection with this scheme, which this town and county are so much interested in, ceases, and the work to be hereafter done will, I trust be in charge of a man who will be more careful in his management than he has been. The figures I have given above the cost to the public, but there should be added the cost there has been to individuals through the blundering of contractors or engineers. Do the people of this place or the manufacturers below Lakefield using water power, forget the summary manner in which the water was drawn out of the river in the winter of 1885 when the temperature had been twenty or thirty below zero for many days? Has Mr. Rubidge ever assisted in getting them recompensed for the great loss on they sustained at that time? I have no desire to injure Mr. Rubidge in any way and nothing I have said or done warrants the statement made by "Law." In conclusion I may say that the opinion I have of Mr. Rubidge is no more unfavorable than is held by the people among whom he has spent years of labor.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN BURNHAM.

Peterborough, Dec. 26th, 1887.

[It is gratifying to see a prominent citizen, whose position and interest in the work have qualified him to be an authority, coming to the conclusions which the EXAMINER has long since arrived at. We have from time to time set forth the manner in which the Trent Valley Canal scheme has been trifled with. There is any amount of evidence to convince any man that the work has, for a long time past, been reduced to mere political subserviency. Of course the friends of the government were slow to believe this; but the weight of evidence has become so overwhelming that the staunchest supporters of the government cannot close their eyes to the fact that the government does not at present entertain the remotest intention of prosecuting the work in bona fide. In no part of the Dominion has the government received a solid support so cheaply as in the Midland district, by means of its simulated interest in the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. It has done double service: a pretended interest in the work coupled with a solemn official assurance of an intention to push the work, has resulted in the sending of an almost solid contingent of supporters from this district, while the farcical work of construction has been the means of fattening political hangers-on by giving big pay for little—and in many cases—no work. We have more hope now than ever that the work will be prosecuted. We pointed out years ago that when government supporters dropped their blind faith and indulged in vigorous kicking, the government would come to its senses. And there are indications that the kicking has [illegible] and a vote of censure] disembolden the government to telegraph the Commission to hasten its report. Sir John thought the Commission [would settle the thing for a time, but he mistook the temper of the people of this district. They refuse to be gulled by his plan "how not to do it", as cleverly set forth in the last number of Grip, as below:—

When the country demands some particular measure,
Which doesn't quite suit the Premier's pleasure,
Sir John A. Macdonald will promise compliance
If on Tory rule they will still place reliance. "It
Years pass without action—the clamor's removed,
And, when pic-nic pledges no longer dolude—
When he cannot with safety from action refrain,
And hopes the support of his friends to retain,
He gets out of the fix and secures his position
By referring the thing to a Royal Commission;
A few party hacks get handsomely paid,
And the measure is still sine die delayed.

A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. If I have in these endeavours met with any degree of success worthy of recognition by the ratepayers of the town, or if I have, in my capacity as Mayor for half a dozen terms, looked after the interests of the Town to the satisfaction of the Public, I can with confidence claim a renewal of your support at the coming Election.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedient Servant,

J. STEVENSON.

To the Electors of WARD No. TWO:

At the urgent request of a large number of the citizens of the town and of a very large number of the Electors of No. 2 ward, I have consented to be a candidate for the representation of this ward in the Town Council. Being identified with no party, and having no personal interests to serve—no axes to grind—my sole aim, if elected shall be to promote the best interests of the town, and on these grounds, I claim and respectfully request your support both in the canvass and at the polls.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,

ADAM HALL.

To the Electors of No. ONE WARD

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, I have consented to be a candidate for Councillor for No. One Ward. Believing that I can promote your interest and being willing to give my best abilities and attention thereto, I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours Respectfully,

HARRY WINCH.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now unti January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

THE MAYORALTY FOR 1888.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers who have promised me their support, I am before you as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1888. I beg to ask you to give me your support, therefor, on the following platform:

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

If length of public service is deserving of recognition, I may modestly claim your consideration. During the eighteen or twenty years which I have sat at your Council board, I have endeavored to faithfully advance the best interests of the Town; I have spared neither time nor work to consistently carry out my pledge to my supporters, and have worked to the best of my ability for the general good—if I have erred, I have done so unknowingly.

I offer myself as, in particular, the Workingman's Candidate. I hope to receive a solid Workingman's support. I consider I am fairly entitled to it. I am a workingman myself, and, if elected, will endeavor to repay their confidence by advancing their interests in every honest way.

I may say that, in taking the field, I am not actuated by any feeling of rivalry with the present occupant of the Mayor's chair, but I feel that, with the many demands on his time and services, the position is not sought for. Should I prove correct in my inference, you cannot fairly overlook the claim that years of service have on your consideration.

I recognize thoroughly what the necessities of the town demand. Thorough economy in all departments of municipal expenditure must be the rule, a liberal policy to encourage the establishment and growth of new and existing industries. In this regard I am opposed to any money bonus being granted but in favor of exemption from taxes and, possibly, free sites, under proper restrictions.

I shall—if elected—give particular attention to matters as outlined above.

Possibly one of the most prominent questions that will come before the ratepayers next year will be in connection with the enforcement of the Scott Act. I will maintain in this regard the position relative to temperance which I have held for the last twenty-five years. So long as the Scott Act remains in force, I will, to the extent of my ability and office, see that the law is strictly enforced, and that, too, through the proper officers of the town.

Such, gentlemen, are the grounds on which I ask your support. I may not have the opportunity of personally soliciting your favor, but venture to hope that the above statement of my views will meet with your approval.

Trusting that I may have your hearty support on the basis of

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours faithfully,

A. RUTHERFORD.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 29.

There was little movement on St. Lawrence market to-day. Trade was quiet and prices steady. On the grain market 500 bushels of barley, 500 of wheat and 300 of oats sold at the prices that have prevailed during the past few days.

We quote the following figures: Beef, hindquarters, per lb, 5c to 9c; beef, forequarters, per lb, 3c to 5c; mutton, per carcase, 6c to 7½c; lamb, per carcase, 7½c to 8½c; veal, 6c to 8c; pork, $6.50 to $6.80; chickens, per pair, 45c to 60c; ducks, per pair, 50c to 75c; geese, per lb, 6c to 7½c; turkeys, per lb, 7c to 10c; wheat, fall, per bush, 83c to 85c; wheat, spring, per bush, 78c to 82c; wheat, goose, per bush, 74c to 75c; barley, 66c to 77½c; oats, new, per bush, 40c; peas, 70½c; timothy, $14 to $15.50; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $11 to $12; butter, round rolls, 20c to 23c; butter, tub, 18c to 20c; cheese, per lb, 12c to 13c.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And when they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

Do Avoid Dandruff on Your Clothes.

Use Dr. Stevenson's Great Quinine Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from Dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature grayness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and favor a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists.

POKING FUN.

The public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the whole general community are taken for idiots;—that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the public, lamb like, will take it all in, and believe every word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33⅓ Cents! = 33⅓ Cents! = 33⅓ Cents!

Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash, and comprise largely, just such goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be misled don't be hoodwinked with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents about 10 per cent on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent off.

QUAKING, : SHAKING, : CRASHING, : SLASHING,

But SHEPPARD cannot help this, if merchants pay too much for their Goods and then have to sell at less than cost, to compete with SHEPPARD'S Prices which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARDS MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it;—

LOT ONE.—Piles of Men's Overcoats, regular price $3.75, this is an All Wool Coat, well made and Sheppard's price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to men's sizes, regular price $6.50, Sheppard's price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the Man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Men's Suits $3.75 and a Pure Wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Men's all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suites really nice and lot of them $1.95 and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, Shoddy Goods, Sheppard is not in that business.

LOT THREE.— 'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, Sheppard's price 99 cents. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, Sheppard's price 50 cents. Satchels cheap—in fact all Christmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

☞Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to SHEPPARD'S where you will save DOLLAR for DOLLAR This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

We esteem your favours, and in the year to come, as in the year now passed, we shall use every endeavor to meet your highest approval.

We shall cater to your wants with renewed energies, and leave nothing undone that is honorable to merit a liberal share of your patronage.

Although there has been raised the hue and cry of "Hard Times", "Depressed Trade," "Scarcity of Money," etc., we can say with truthfulness this has not been our experience. Our trade has increased beyond our expectations. Hundreds of new customers have come to us.

We take just pride in this and feel that the public appreciate our efforts, and are willing to encourage every honest endeavor in their behalf.

Again permit us to wish you and yours A Happy New Year.

Northwest Immigration

The various municipalities along the line of the Manitoba and North-Western railway and the adjacent towns, have been holding meetings lately and discussing the most practical way of assisting immigration to that country. As a result of these meetings a number of gentlemen were elected to visit points in the east. The municipality of Harrison delegated Mr. T. McGill, of Beaswood, to visit Peterborough.

At the Opera House.

Baird's Dramatic Company produced "Queen's Evidence" last night to another large audience. The play, though an old one, scored a fresh triumph as put on by this company, whose performances are first-class ones for popular prices. To-night "The Lightning-rod agent," an entirely new and sparkling comedy-drama, will be presented. Mr. Baird and his company are the first to produce it in Canada.

The Lodge Initiator.

A real, live, genuine goat, with a handsome blanket bearing the three links and the name of the lodge, was taken to Norwood by the I.O.O.F. delegation this morning. He will be used in the active work of instituting the lodge, and if his goatship is filled with as much enthusiasm as was the "Royal Bumper" of Peck's Bad Boy fame, there will be fun at the opening ceremonies of Norwood lodge this afternoon.

Another Saw Works.

Still another saw works is in prospect for Peterborough. A couple of practical men of means, who propose embarking in business, are casting about for a suitable place to begin, and have selected Peterborough. It is probable that the present movement will result in something definite, as the gentlemen are enterprising and have capital. The town will only be called upon to give the customary exemption from taxation. Negotiations are in progress.

Homes of Refuge.

The united counties of Durham and Northumberland are considering the establishment of a house of refuge to provide for the poor of the county. The Port Hope Times says "the cost of maintaining the poor in the counties on the present plan is $7,500 per year, while the cost of maintaining an equal number in a House of Refuge would be $6,400, including payment of interest on cost of buildings, etc., equivalent to a saving of $1,100 per year." It is to be expected that charity on the wholesale plan would be cheaper than the retail article, while the number of applicants would be less. Many persons who now get charity smuggled to them would refuse to enter a home, and would rather go to work and maintain themselves.

The Choir Entertained.

The choir of St. Peter's Cathedral were last evening entertained at supper by Rev. Father McEvay, parish priest, at the Presbytery. The full choir responded to his kind invitation and a very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent. Speeches were made during the evening referring to the high degree of popularity developed by Rev. Father McEvay during his pastorate here, and unanimous tribute was paid to the efficient manner in which he discharges the many and important parochial duties devolving upon him. Reference was also made to the satisfactory progress made by the choir and church during the past year, and to the impetus given to every department of church work by the presence and example of His Lordship Bishop Dowling.

Business College re-opens January 3rd, 1888.

Little Red Riding Hood.

A Christmas tree entertainment was held in the Sunday School room of St. Andrew's Church last night. There was a good attendance in spite of the cold weather. Rev. Mr. Bell occupied the chair. The programme consisted of selections from the cantata of Little Red Riding Hood, and other recitations and dialogues. The first two scenes of the cantata were given at the beginning and the last scene at the close of the entertainment. There was a chorus of about thirty school children. The principal parts were taken as follows :—Little Red Riding Hood, Ethel Galletly; Mamma, Miss Galletly; Buttercup, Ida Hill; Rose, Maud Macfarlane; Robin, Herbert King. The musical portion of the entertainment was conducted by Mr. D. D. Galletly, under whose supervision and training the pieces were prepared. In the interim between the two portions of the cantata a number of dialogues and recitations were given. A dialogue by four boys, "Boys Rights," was followed by a recitation by Master VanEvery. Then came a dialogue in which five girls took part—Ella Stewart, Josephine Rose, Agnes Kerr, Hannah Bell and Jennie Mercer. Kenneth McClelland also gave a recitation. The entertainment was brought to a close by the distribution of presents to the children from the two large 'Xmas trees which stood on either side of the platform. The principal gift was a pair of fur gauntlets for Rev. Mr. Bell from the members of the Bible class and the young people of the church. There were besides a number of books for those pupils of the school who, by their regular attendance and diligence, deserved special recognition.

A Frenchman on Cricket.

His Peculiar Ideas of the Silent Game.—A Rich Description of a big Cricket Match.

M. Anatole Gonjon, a day or two after the great cricket match in England in 1884, between Australia and England, contributed the following to the St. James' Gazette :

"I have heard say that there is at Paris an English cricket club, which holds its reunions in the Bois de Boulogne. That may well be true; but I have never seen in France the great English game played; and it is today, in England, for the first time, that I have had the honor to assist at a cricket match. At mid-day I rendered myself at the Oval, at Kensington. It was the occasion of the grand encounter between the champions of England and the delegates of Australia. In entering, I paid for the privilege to preserve the struggle; and I shall now say that never in my life have I seen, at so cheap a price, a spectacle so extraordinary. It was a scalding day; and, without losing time, I have found myself a shelter from the rays of a tropic sun. 'Ah!' I have said to myself in looking curiously around me, 'the cricket has place then in the open air!' I was truly astonished, for naturally I figured to myself that when it was hot they should play cricket in some pavilion. And I sit myself and regard attentively. The spectators have disposed themselves in an immense circle, in the middle of which a smooth lawn finds itself. Soon the players of the English party have ranged themselves irregularly in different corners of the field, and at certain distance from two light barricades of wood that had been erected face to face perpendicularly on the grass. I begin to interest myself. Then I see two players of the Australian party march firmly towards the barricades. Each one is habited in a white costume, and carries a heavy staff with a broad blade; and, in addition, each one is fortified with stiff greaves and gauntlets of thick caoutchouc. I attend impatiently the moment to commence. I hesitate to believe that the delegates are upon the point to fight with weapons so dangerous, yet I find no other explanation of the armour. I see the two Australians gravely take up their positions before the fragile barricades and assume a defensive attitude. It was then that I have happily assured myself that they had not meditated a struggle together. But I am once more confused, when I see a player of the English party possess himself of a formidable ball and hurl it furiously, and with a great precision, towards the legs of one of the Australian delegates. Although then I had not examined the ball, and had no idea of its frightfully dangerous character, I trembled; and I was right. The ball is like a cannon bullet. But hold! With his staff the brave Australian has dexterously turned aside the projectile, which he has sent far to his right, where it has descended among the spectators. I fear that some one shall be killed; yet it is nothing. Immediately I remark that a player of the English party seizes the ball and throws it with all his force to one of his colleagues, who, while the two Australian delegates rapidly cross from one barricade to the other, receives it skilfully in his hands, and presents it smiling to the summit of the nearest barricade, but without actually touching there. The ball is then sent back to the player who has first thrown it, and at once he has thrown it again, as at the commencement, against the legs of the unfortunate Australians. This time the brave delegate has failed to touch it; but it is received in his hands by an Englishman behind, and again sent back. And in this manner the game continues. I do not comprehend how it is amusing for the players, and especially for the Australian delegates, who are in great peril at each instant. More than once the ball strikes the leg of a delegate; but, thanks to the protecting greaves fails to actually break it. I admire the strategy of the Australians, which leads them a defence so excellent; but, at the same time, I regard with horror the barbarity of the English. Then I learn that each time that the Australian delegates succeed to exchange positions they gain one point. It is the law of the game. Suddenly one of these brave men strikes the projectile violently in passing, and sends it towards an Englishman who has courageously assigned himself a very dangerous post close to one of the barricades. The Englishman has time to avoid the blow; but no! He receives the ball in his naked hands. Then all the world shouts, and the ball is thrown towards heaven; and the delegate who had struck it with so much vigour quits his barricade with his eyes low. His post is occupied without delay by another delegate, and the game has continued for a long time without fatal accident, although some of the players have been slightly wounded. But it is not necessary that I shall describe the match to the end. The process was always the same, and I am writing, not to inform the public of the manner to play cricket, but to offer to them my regrets that some people, sensible, polished and well raised, can find a pleasure to take part in a labor so dangerous. To stand upright during so many hours of an extreme heat; to take a violent exercise without any need; to run deliberately a grave danger not less than that which one is obliged to encounter on a field of battle—all this is folly of the most profound. I cannot believe that there is really some pleasure at all in it. You English are eccentric; and the verity of it is that you play cricket, because in playing it you show yourselves different from all the rest of the world. . . . . "

Economy in Wealth.

The Italian street-merchant, who rusticates at the corner of Hunter and George streets, is brilliantly economical at times. By the adroit use of a number of shining tin wrappers torn from the interior of tobacco boxes, with which he has decorated the outside of his portable pea-nut stand, he has converted that formerly sombre and unattractive combination of candy, nuts and smoky glass into a marvel of glittering refulgence. It was a bright idea with a brighter result.

HONOR TO CHAMBERLAIN

THE BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET THE BRITISH COMMISSIONER.

A Great Gathering at the Rossin House Last Night—Mr. Chamberlain Makes an Eloquent Speech—He Thinks a Settlement of the Fishery Troubles will be Come to.

TORONTO, Dec. 31.—The Board of Trade dinner last night was a most successful affair. The dining hall of the Rossin was not large enough to accommodate those who had applied for tickets. About 300 were seated at the tables. Mr. Chamberlain occupied the seat of honor to the right of the chairman, Mr. Ines, the Hon. Mr. Mowat sitting on the left of the chairman. Among the other prominent guests were Sir David Macpherson, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. A. M. Ross, W. C. VanHorne, Vice-President C.P.R.; W. A. Anderson of Montreal, Lieut.-Col. Denison, Senator Macdonald, etc. In reply to "The Commercial Interests of the Empire," Mr. Chamberlain spoke for half an hour, during which time the audience gave him the closest attention and took in every word of the distinguished gentleman with the liveliest interest. He was received with great applause both on rising and taking his seat. The following is a verbatim report of his speech:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN: I thank you most sincerely for the kindness with which you have received me, and for the assurance which this kindness gives of your sympathy and support. I am very glad to be here among you, and to have the honor of meeting so many of the prominent representatives of that activity and enterprise which has done so much for the prosperity of the Dominion, and which has made of the Queen City of Canada a great centre of commercial life and enterprise. [Hear, hear.] Mr. President, you said very truly that the subject to which you had called me to respond is a far-reaching one. It is the commercial interests of the Empire, not of a part alone. [Hear, hear.] I am glad that the Board of Trade of Toronto think me worthy of responding to so large an interest. It proves to me that you, at all events, have not been prejudiced by anything that you may have heard to my disadvantage. I read this morning in one of your influential journals an article that was addressed to myself personally and in which it was stated that I had declared that the interests of Canada must be subordinated to those of Manchester, and in other articles in the same paper I have seen it alleged that I came over here to represent British exporters. That is a most unfortunate misapprehension on their part. [Applause]. I am here as the representative of Great Britain, [hear, hear] acting on behalf of her colony, Canada, whose interests she is bound to honor, to maintain and defend. [Loud applause.]

If I had used any language like that which has been imputed to me I should have been unworthy of the position I hold, and gentlemen, I can assure you that, except so far as the interests of Birmingham and of Manchester are identical with yours, you may trust me to lay them aside on the present occasion. I regret these mistakes on the part of an influential organ of public opinion, not so much on any personal grounds as because they tend to discredit and to embarrass the negotiators who are engaged in your business—[hear, hear]—and of course to that extent they damage your cause. But I have referred to this matter for another reason, because I want to point out to you that we hear a little too much about antagonism of interests. [Hear, hear.] Our interests, yours and those of the Mother Country, and I will go further and say those of the United States, all lie in the same direction. [Hear, hear.] What the plenipotentiaries have to do is to show that there is no divergence but rather an identity of interests, and if it does not exist we have to create it. We have to deal with these points in such a spirit as shall show that we desire to reach a friendly agreement which will be mutually beneficial and satisfactory. [Hear, hear.]

I am speaking to-night under considerable difficulty. I confess that at first I hesitated to accept your hospitable invitation because I was afraid it would not be possible for me to make an adequate response to your kindness, since, as you are well aware, the relusion that I have undertaken imposes restrictions upon me that I am compelled to observe. [Hear, hear.] I am not free to discuss as I should like some of those questions which have probably the greatest interest for you, but I was assured you would make every necessary allowance for me, that you would not expect from me any premature disclosure of confidential negotiations, or any full and complete discussion of the matters in controversy. And although I am afraid I cannot promise you a communication of any state secrets, yet I think there are some general considerations which affect my mission, and which I may, with your permission, lay before you.

In the first place, as to the spirit in which a mission of this kind ought to be undertaken. As I passed from England to the United States, and again when I crossed the boundary into the Dominion, there was one idea impressing itself upon my mind at every step, an idea which is indelibly written on the face of this great country, and that idea is the greatness and the importance of the destiny which is reserved for the Anglo-Saxon race. [Hear, hear, and loud applause.] That great population, self-governing and resolute to a man, which no change of clime or condition can alter and which is bound to be the predominant force in the future civilization of the world. [Applause].

It is said that patriotism begins at home. I am an Englishman—[hear, hear]—I am proud of the Old Country from which I come, I am not unmindful of the glorious traditions which attach to it and to those institutions molded by slow centuries of noble endeavor, but I should think that patriotism dwarfed and stunted indeed if it did not embrace Greater Britain beyond the sea—[applause]—that strong and vigorous nation everywhere carrying throughout the globe the knowledge of the English tongue and the English love of liberty and law. [Hear, hear.] Gentlemen, with this feeling I refuse to speak or to think of the United States of America as a foreign nation. [Hear, hear.] They are our flesh and blood. Still less am I trying to make any distinction between the interests of Englishmen at home and Englishmen in Canada or Australia. Gentlemen, what is the fact with regard to all these peoples, the elder and the younger nations? Their past is theirs, their future is ours. You cannot if you would break the invisible bonds that bind us together. [Applause.] Your forefathers worshipped at our shrine, they sleep in our churchyards, they helped to make our institutions, our literature and our laws. These things are your heritage as much as they are ours. If you stood up to deny us your speech, your countenance and manner of life and your institutions would all continue to betray you. [Applause.]

Gentlemen, I urge upon you our common origin, our relationship, because while these things confer privileges they also entail obligations. We are all branches of one common stock. It behooves us to do all in our power to promote the good feeling, the affection which ought to characterize the intercourse between us. When differences arise, petty conflicts of interest and of rights, if we approach them in the proper spirit and with mutual respect and consideration, I do not believe that any controversy can or will arise amongst any portions of the English speaking race that will not be capable of satisfactory and of honorable adjustment—[hear, and applause]—and it is upon the existence of that spirit, that I base my hope and my belief we shall find an arrangement of this difficulty, of this controversy which will be satisfactory to every man who desires sincerely to promote the amity of English speaking people. [Hear, hear and loud applause.]

Gentlemen, I do not think it necessary that I should urge upon you your special interest in good neighborhood with that great Republic which for thousands of miles is separated from you only by an imaginary line. The great interests with which we are entrusted, important as they are, are really insignificant beside the importance of maintaining these good relations. [Cheers.] And to secure these good relations, to maintain and promote them all that is necessary is we should approach the difficulty in the spirit that I have indicated, we should deal with it as among friends who are anxious to come to a satisfactory arrangement and not as between adversaries sticking for petty points and for extremist rights and counting every concession as though it were a loss and a sacrifice to the party who made it. [Hear, hear.]

Another general observation I will venture to make, and it is one to which I anticipate a general assent. Anything which can increase and develop commercial relations between two countries is not only a good thing in itself but it tends to carry out the good feeling which I suggest. [Applause.] I think that the prospect of improved relations with the United States never looked more hopeful. [Hear, hear.] My hope is altogether independent of any formal bargain or negotiation. No man who considers intelligently what is passing in the United States at this moment can doubt that circumstances, at no distant date, will force the Government of that country to modify its tariff in a liberal direction. Whatever party may be in power, in my opinion, it is certain within a very few years that its tariff will be diminished—[hear, hear]—or altered so that it will cease to be what it is at present, a wall of commercial exclusion between the United States and the rest of the nations of the world. And, gentlemen, if this change comes about, as I predict, although I know how dangerous it is to attempt to prophesy, what influence will it have upon your policy on this side of the boundary?

It is quite true that you are not now, and I am afraid you are not likely at any early date to be embarrassed by a surplus of $120,000,000. [Laughter.] It is only the United States which is likely suffer from this plethoric condition, but there are other considerations which may tend perhaps in a similar direction. What is the pressing and most urgent need with Canada at this moment? It is the early development of the illimitable resources of your country—[applause]—which have been opened by your magnificent railway enterprise. [Cheers]. You want to get upon the ground at the earliest possible time an active, industrious population who will work your mines and your fields. [Hear, hear]. A tariff which is unnecessarily high—understand I do not presume to offer any opinion—I merely make a general observation. I do not say whether it is worth anything or not, and do not say whether your tariff is or is not unnecessarily harsh; that depends upon how you feel. [Applause and laughter]. But I say that a tariff which is unnecessarily high must have a tendency to shackle precisely the industry, the agricultural industry, which you wish to foster and to divert from it labor which will go into other industries stimulated by its operation. [Cheers.]

I am ready to sympathize with the inhabitants of a new country who repudiate any idea that their country shall be one in which existence will be monotonously confined to a single trade or industry. [Hear, hear.] I understand the desire. I can go further and say the need for the various pursuits and occupations, but I say that in the case of Canada any anxiety on this score is surely a little premature. The first object is to get the population on the land. [Hear, hear.] When you have multiplied these industrious producers you will find that you have created a vast population of consumers, and powerful industries suited to your local necessities will spring up and prosper whether there be a tariff or not. [Cheers.] You will see from what I have ventured to say that I am in favor of the widest possible Commercial Union and intercourse, not only with the United States, but with all the world. [Cheers.] That is the true unrestricted reciprocity. [Hear, hear.] That is a very restricted reciprocity indeed which would make you dependent for your financial freedom upon the Government of another State, and perhaps for something which is still more important—I mean your political independence. [Loud cheers.]

Some may adopt the well-known saying of Mark Twain, who appeared to think that as upon this continent the lion must lie down with the lamb, it would be better if the lamb consented at once to lie inside the lion. [Laughter]. I confess I am not entertaining that opinion. [Cheers.] And I do not think it worth while, even if it were proper to discuss to-night the various proposals more or less disguised, more or less insidious, for your painless extinction and possible absorption. [Laughter and cheers.] I have not discovered in the course of my stay in the United States any general desire on the part of the American people, who have a good stock of territory of their own, to increase it or to increase their responsibility at the same time; and any such arrangement as I have been considering, if it comes about at all, must come about after full discussion and with good will on both sides. [Hear, hear.] Gentlemen, when you become tired of the mild sovereignty of the Queen, when you cease to be proud of the institutions yourselves have framed with due regard to your local needs and requirements, and when the slender tie which still binds you to the Mother Country, and which like electric cable, although it exercises no force or pressure, still maintains the unity of sympathy and of interest, when that becomes an intolerable strain with you, then it will be time for us to consider the necessary measures of severing. [Applause and loud cheers.] But in the meantime I cannot but think that in working out the great problem of Federal Government, which seems to have been left in charge of the English people, that we shall quicker reach the perfection of our free institutions by diversity of method, and that this will prove to be more fertile and more instructive than the immediate and general adoption of a single and stereotyped experiment; and you may rest assured that if you desire to remain an integral part of the vast empire of the Queen that your interests will be maintained, your rights will be respected through all the influence that that empire can wield. [Loud and prolonged cheers].

Your fellow subjects throughout the world will rejoice in your prosperity, will take pride in your ceaseless activity, will look forward with confidence to the speedy development of your illimitable resources. It is only a short time in the history of the nation since the federatin, less than a human generation has passed away, and yet a new Canada has been revealed to us: not the ice bound deserts which imperfect information formerly pictured—[hear, hear]—but a vast stretch of fertile territory which is sure to be the home at no distant date of a teeming population of God-fearing, law-abiding and industrious men and women. [Cheers.] And if they are determined, as I hope they will be, to maintain, not only to maintain but to draw closer the bonds which unite them to Great Britain. I am convinced that their loyalty and affection will never lack a warm response. [Cheers.] And, gentlemen, they will be free citizens, free men in the Dominion, the like of which the world has never seen, whether in regard to its extent, its resources, its population or its beneficial influence on the people that owe it allegiance.

One of our poets, Mr. Matthew Arnold, has written of the overwhelming burden of this vast empire; he has spoken of Great Britain as weary, dying, staggering under the too vast importance of its fate. Yes, gentlemen, the obligations are vast, but we would not loosen them by a cowardly surrender—[applause]—or by a mean betrayal of the interests that are entrusted to our care. [Loud cheers.]

Relief must be found, if relief is to be sought, in widening the foundation of the great edifice, and not casting away an outpost or cutting away a bulwark. The tendency of true democracy is not towards anarchy and the disintegration of the Empire, but rather towards the linking together kindred races with similar objects. [Applause.] Gentlemen, it may yet be that the federation of Canada may be the lamp to light our paths to the federation of the British Empire. [Cheers.] That may only be the imagination of an enthusiast, but I say it is a grand idea. [Hear, hear.] It is one to stimulate to patriotism and statesmanship every man who loves his country. [Cheers.] Whether it be destined or not to practical realization, at least we all cherish the sentiment it inspires, and let us do all in our power to promote the larger knowledge, the closer relations, the kindly feeling and the good will which ought always to exist between the sons of England throughout the world and the old folks at home. [Loud and prolonged cheers.]

Among the other speakers were Hon. O. Mowat, Hon. G. W. Ross, Sir David Macpherson and W. C. VanHorne.

At 12.15 the feast was over, and three rousing cheers were given President Ines and the Queen.

Mr. Chamberlain Repudiates.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—A letter is to-day made public from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, in which he repudiates the statements attributed to him by The New York Herald of Friday last in a cooked interview on Commercial Union published in that paper. Mr. Chamberlain was made to speak very disparagingly of Mr. Wiman. In his letter he declares he said nothing unfavorable concerning Mr. Wiman but that the reporter interpolated the remarks.

A STRIKE ORDERED.

By the Convention of Reading Employes—The Order Fails Flat.

READING, Pa., Dec. 30.—The convention representing all the employes of the Reading Railroad Company and the miners of the Schuylkill, Lehigh and Wyoming regions adjourned shortly before 4 o'clock this morning after ordering a strike of all the employes of the Reading Railroad on the whole system from Elizabethport, N.J., to Williamsport, Pa. This order does not include the passenger train service, signal towermen, street crossingmen, flagmen and trackwalkers. It is left to the discretion of local assemblies as to whether such men shall be allowed to work or not. It is understood there will be no miners' strike, at least before the end of the year. A reward of $2000 is offered for evidence that will lead to the conviction of any person using violence to the company's property. The sentiment of the miners' delegates was in favor of a strike.

The Order Disregarded.

READING, Pa., Dec. 30.—None of the employes of the Reading Railroad or shops in this city struck to-day in accordance with the order of last night's convention. It fell flat throughout this section and the only turbulent feeling is reported from the coal regions.

All at Work.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 30.—The Reading employes at this point are all at work and freight trains are moving as usual. At Harrisburg no trouble has yet occurred, and it is thought no attention will be paid to the order to strike issued to-day.

To Be Taken Over Grease Spits.

CLEARWATER, Minn., Dec. 30.—Willie Baxter died of diphtheria on Monday and on Tuesday his body was made ready for the coffin. Half an hour afterwards the boy got up and dressed in his every day clothes. He insisted that he was not dead and was not going to die. However, in about an hour, during which time he talked cheerfully to those around him and seemed to be getting better, he suddenly fell over and was stone dead in an instant.

Death of an Inventor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—M. D. Babcock, inventor of the fire extinguishing apparatus bearing his name, died at the almshouse on Saturday, aged 70. At one time he was in receipt of $10,000 a month for royalty on his machines, but after selling the patent rights his money was soon spent, and for some years he wandered about the state in a destitute condition. Six years ago he was admitted to the almshouse.

A Burning Steamer.

GREEN POINT, L.I., Dec. 30.—The steamer City of Richmond of the New Haven Line was run ashore at Pottery Beach at 4 o'clock this afternoon, fire being discovered in her hold. The passengers were all taken off in tugs.

PRINCE BISMARCK DECIDEDLY OPPOSED TO A CONFLICT.

American Capitalists and the Panama Canal—"No Jew Need Apply"—A Humiliate Prayer from Don Carlos—A Treaty With The Sultan of Zanzibar.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The Paris correspondence of The Standard says that Senor Matera, the Columbian Minister, in an interview yesterday, declared that his Government would not be induced, either by threat or subsidy, to let America have anything to do with the Panama Canal, even should M. de Lesseps fail to carry the work through. They would rather do without the canal than see the Americans complete it. De Lesseps enjoyed his perfect confidence, and Columbia would prolong the concession granted him if necessary.

The Grashdanskin, a semi-official organ, says the proposal of the Imperial Commission to permit Jews to reside in any village of Russia has been rejected by the higher government authority.

Don Carlos, according to a special Paris despatch to The New York Herald, has issued a stirring manifesto. He says a treaty, one clause of which has been violated, forbids the union of the two crowns of France and Spain. "I have said that I would never abandon Spain. I repeat it to-day. She has bound me to her destinies by rivers of generous blood shed before my eyes. I swear never to abandon her. But having, by my father's death, become the head of the house of Bourbon, it is my duty to preserve the rights which belong to my family."

Last night the Italian Camps at Massowah was aroused by an alarm that they were about to be attacked by the Abyssinians. It was afterwards learned that it was merely to test the troops. The experiment proved that everything was in perfect order. The Abyssinians continue to advance.

The Berlin National Zeitung, in an article on the political situation, to-day says: "Germany neither expects nor desires war. Prince Bismarck has thrown into the scale the decisive word in favor of peace. It is hardly probable that Russia will be in a position to force a war upon Germany and her allies. The chances are therefore that peace will prevail, although this peace cannot be taken as synonymous with the restoration of European tranquility, a fact for which Russia must answer to the world."

The Constantinople papers say that Lord Salisbury has assured Rustem Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador at London, that England will not permit the equilibrium in the Mediterranean to be disturbed to the prejudice of Turkey.

The French Minister of War, Gen. Logerot, has given orders for the speedy completion of the office for the manufacture of Lebel rifles, given by Gen. Boulanger, but which had been rescinded by Gen. Ferron.

A despatch from Bucharest says 50,000 troops are massed at Benderi in Bessarabia and that guns and ammunitions of war are constantly arriving there.

Prince Alexander of Oldenburg, who has just arrived in Paris from St. Petersburg, is reported to be charged with a mission to settle the details for a common Russo-French action in the event of war.

In an interview in Paris Mr. Gladstone described the reduction of judicial rents as a "tremendous decision," and said he was thunderstruck at the news. He added that the Tory Cabinet, having alienated the tenants, would now alienate the landlords.

The Mouvement Geographiques of Brussels says that a treaty has been concluded by the British East African Mission, under which the Sultan of Zanzibar cedes a fifty years' sovereignty over the territory between Port Wanger and Vita to the Association. This will facilitate the opening of a route to Victoria Nianza, and show the desire of England to found a colony which will extend its influence to the sources of the Nile. Stanley, on his return will probably be asked to undertake the work of extending civilization.

Each day brings fresh evidence of the extreme discontent of the Irish supporters of the Government with the reduction of rents that has just been decided on. It is said that private remonstrances are being addressed to the Premier. No doubt there will be a public expression of these feelings at a formal meeting of the party before the meeting of Parliament.

Lord Stanley of Preston announces that he had not heard the report of having been offered the Governor-Generalship of Canada until he saw it in the newspapers. There is reason to believe the report to be absolutely correct.

Mr. Thomas Robinson of Winnipeg has been appointed by the Royal Colonial Institute Honorary Corresponding Secretary for Manitoba.

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1887.

THE DEPARTING YEAR.

Another year will soon be gone! Very soon indeed the year 1887 will be numbered with the past, and, ere another issue of the EXAMINER, its successor shall have been ushered in with the usual felicitations and good wishes. The Jubilee Year, as it will be termed for many generations, has been one noted for progress and advancement in all directions. For Canadians it has proved one of comparative prosperity, marred certainly by a degree of depression in business circles, and noted for some serious disasters by flood and fire. Still, on the whole, it must be admitted, Canada has advanced, she has had peace within her borders and her industries and manufactories are fairly prosperous. Our own town has thriven apace, the population has increased, the taxation is low, no epidemic has invaded our homes, crime has been almost unknown, and, although money is not plentiful, the year closes with a hopeful feeling among business men.

The departure of the Old, and the advent of the New Year must, perforce, awaken sober reflection and serious thought in the minds of even the most confirmed cynic or dullest clown. The associations of Christmas are all joyous and pleasant, but around the New Year cluster reflections of a prudential and solemn character. The silent, ceaseless flight of time makes us pause and consider. It casts our thoughts backward in sober reflection, while it also directs us to look forward anxiously and hopefully for what the future may bring. In one of his delightful essays of Elia, Charles Lamb says: "Of all sounds of all bells (bells, the music nighest bordering upon Heaven) the most solemn and touching is the peal which rings out the old year." We all associate feelings of gravity and solemnity with the close of a year. The completion of another year touches every age and every circumstance of human life. What is a year? Only a unit, we say, of life's measurement, only a particle of the world's growth and progress. And yet for man, whose days are few and evil, with his restrained opportunities, with his narrow boundary and horizon of sight, a year after all is a deep reality, not to be lightly esteemed, not even to be thought of without minds attuned to sober reflection and contemplation. No wonder then we think of the departing year with due solemnity.

A few hours from the time our readers peruse these words the clocks and bells will proclaim the advent of a new year. Far and wide, over hill and dale, over watchful city and rural homestead, their voices will be heard, but ere the hand on the dial shall point to the hour of twelve, there will be a silence in the heart and a suspense in the air, as we each ponder on the changes and chances of the twelve months which have passed into eternity. The year that is almost gone carries with it a mingled story of success and failure, of storm and sunshine, of sowing and reaping, of loss and gain. The new year which comes in its place, is entered on; whether for weal or woe, we know not. Even the most thoughtless and careless must therefore surely ask, "How will it be with me this time next year? Let all in any case endeavor to avoid the mistakes of the past to gird up their loins, and "Bating no jot of heart or hope, fare right onward."

In the spirit of Longfellow's sentiment let us make wise resolves for the future. He bids us "Look not mournfully into the past; it comes not back again; wisely improve the present, it is thine; go forward to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart." In this spirit let us go forward and do with our might whatever our hands find to do. That our Dominion and our fair town and county may be blessed and prosper during the coming year, is our earnest desire, and with the fervent hope that all our readers may greet 1888 with confidence and remember it with pleasure, we heartily wish them one and all

A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

CANADA, second, seems to be the motto of the Tory element of the Conservative party. The new party journal is named The Empire. This would be a most appropriate title for a journal devoted principally to a watch over the empire at large, but it is certainly a misnomer as applied to the organ of one of the two great political parties of this country, ostensibly devoted to Canadian interests. A more significant name for the new Tory organ would have been The Dominion, that is if the policy of the paper were not to subordinate Canadian interests to imperial considerations. There is not much in a name as a general thing, but in this case, it is to be feared, that the title of the new Tory organ is a decided case of Canada second, so far as it is concerned.

Popular History of the Dominion of Canada.

BY THE REV. W. H. WITHROW, D. D., F. R. S. C.

This handsomely bound and copiously illustrated volume contains a complete history of the land in which we live from the discovery of America down to the present time, including a full and accurate account of the late Rebellion in the North-West and of its prompt suppression by the valour of our troops. It contains a narrative of the voyages and discoveries of the early explorers of the New World, especially of the several provinces of the Dominion; an account of the manners and customs of the Indian tribes, of the thrilling adventures of the early settlers, and their conflict with the savages; of the long and heroic strife between the English and the French for the possession of the continent, and of its conquest by the English; a narrative of the American Revolutionary War, especially as affecting Canada; an account of the U. E. Loyalists, and the settlement and early progress of Upper Canada; a detailed history of the War of 1812-15, with its heroic achievements and hard-fought battles; an account of the social development and political constitution of the several provinces; of the strife of parties and growth of the principles of civil liberty; a full account of the Rebellion of 1837-38 in Upper and Lower Canada; of the Confederation of the Provinces and Political Constitution of the Dominion; a narrative of the Fenian invasion of 1866 and of the Red River Rebellion of 1869-70; a full account of public events under the administration of Lord Dufferin, the Marquis of Lorne and Lord Lansdowne; the General Election of 1882, the construction of the Pacific Railway and development of the North-West down to the suppression of the late revolt in 1885. In fact this work is a thorough and reliable history of the Dominion from its earliest discovery to its present aspect of opulence, culture and refinement. The author is a native of Canada, and is by education and experience in literary work every way qualified to write a book acceptable to every loyal citizen of his country. This History of Canada has been prescribed for honor reading at Victoria University. The book forms an elegant large octavo volume of 670 pages, illustrated with eight steel engraved portraits, one hundred and sixteen woodcuts, and eight beautifully colored maps. It is handsomely bound in three styles of binding, cloth, library and half-morocco. The impartiality of the work is shown by the fact that both Globe and Mail unite in giving it a very high tribute of praise. The Mail says: "The Rev. Dr. Withrow, of this city, has performed a really patriotic work in the preparation of his admirable 'History of Canada,' has a real genius for historical research. . Dr. Withrow has performed his work well, and done an important service to his country. . It deserves to be widely circulated and generally read, especially by the young people of the Dominion. Dr. Withrow's 'History of Canada' is cordially recommended to the public." The Globe says: "Were this 'History of Canada' placed, as we think it deserves to be placed, on the curriculum at least of every institution of higher education in the country, and made to hold a position of equal honor with works on British and European history, then disgraceful ignorance of the earlier or later history of the Dominion would soon become as much the exception as there are good reasons for fearing is at present too much the prevailing rule. The mechanical workmanship of this book is worthy of its excellent reading matter. It ought to find a place in every Canadian library." We advise our readers to buy this admirable "History" at first opportunity. They can, in our opinion, much better afford to dispense with a dozen other books than not possess this. Once begun it will not willingly be laid aside till the last page is finished.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

FURS
SUPERIOR QUALITY

The results as anticipated, which the cold season of September and October would have on Fur bearing animals, has been realized to the fullest extent. Their pelts have not only become earlier prime but have also been provided with a richer color of fur than many a season before. Therefore the collection of Furs bought this season from the trappers direct by us, are of a far Superior kind [illegible] now ready for filling Orders. There is an unusual run on PLUCKED BEAVER in Cities, and Peterborough will not fall behind in fashion. An early call has many advantages in selections as in making up at short notice. All our goods offered to the public are manufactured on the premises, the only place in Peterborough manufacturing Furs, and therefore we can recommend our make to the public. AN ASSEMBLY AT HAMILTON.

The "Bachelors'" Ball Sought Invade a Dwelling House—Minor Items.

HAMILTON, Dec. 30.—A fashionable and select assembly was held at the Alexandra Hall last evening. It was gotten up by a number of the "Bachelors" and proved thoroughly enjoyable. About 150 couples were present. Music was furnished by the 13th Battalion Band.

Five young men invaded the house of Mr. Patrick Gallagher last Monday night, put one of their number to bed and handled Mr. Gallagher so roughly that he had to leave the house. While he was absent they cut a piece out of a table, broke open a trunk and carried away a number of articles.

A number of respectable ladies appeared in the Police Court this morning on summonses for cussing on Concession-street. The Police Magistrate took a sensible view of the matter and would not hear the cases.

The Bay was frozen over this morning, and another night of hard frost will make it safe, when there will be a splendid sheet of ice for skating.

There is very little betting on the mayoralty election in this city.

THE VANDERBILT ROADS.

Meetings of the Directors Yesterday—Increased Earnings and Supplies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The meetings of the directors of the three Vanderbilt roads which were held to-day were awaited with greater interest than any of the directors' meetings for the past two years. It was expected by many that all the roads on the Vanderbilt system would make an increase in the amounts paid to stockholders out of the quarter's earnings, but the directors though it best to retain as much cash as possible in the treasury and no increase was made. The reports for the year ending Dec. 31 were:

Lake Shore—Gross earnings $18,675,464 against $15,856,455 the preceding year; net earnings $7,664,197 against $6,127,633; surplus earnings $4,024,197; surplus, after the payment of dividends and various charges, $1,146,667.

Michigan Central—Gross earnings $14,146,-000 against $12,250,000; net earnings $4,386,-against $3,801,000; surplus $1,752,000 against $1,314,000; proportion due Canada Southern $540,000 against $467,000; surplus, after payment of dividend, etc., $367,472.

The Canada Southern received $540,000, out of which was paid for dividends $375,000, leaving a surplus of $165,000, which was reduced to $140,000 by the payment of $25,000 for land.

The directors of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad decided that they would not declare a dividend. The surplus for the year is $333,000.

BUSINESS FAILURES FOR 1887.

The Return Shows a Decrease in Number But an Increase in Amount.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The year's return of failures, reported by Dun, Wiman & Co., shows a decrease of 200 in number for the year but an increase of $53,000,000 in liabilities, as follows:

Year.	No.	Liabilities.	Average
1887.....	9634	$167,560,944	$17,392
1886.....	9834	114,644,119	11,651

The returns for the Dominion of Canada show 1362 failures, with $16,311,745 liabilities; average $11,806. The failures in the Dominion were one in every fifty-four firms in business. In the United States they average one in every 111 firms.

A Novel Ground for Divorce.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Charles H. Talmadge filed a bill for divorce to-day and advanced a hitherto unheard-of ground for his application. For some time after his marriage peace reigned in the household. At stated periods the husband gave the wife money for the household expenses but instead of using it for this purpose she threw it away in speculation on the Open Board of Trade. Soon the Talmadge home was desolated and the husband avers that when he told his wife she must stop speculating she left the house and has not returned.

Mrs. Astor's Will.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The will of Mrs. John Jacob Astor has been filed for probate. Mrs. Astor bequeaths $25,000 to the Women's Hospital in New York State, $25,000 to St. Luke's Hospital, $25,000 to the Young Women's Christian Association, $20,000 to the Children's Aid Society and $10,000 for its corporate purposes, $25,000 to the corporation established at Hampton, Va., for the education of Southern freedmen, and $25,000 to the Committee for Domestic Missions of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church. A number of bequests in smaller amounts are made to other charitable institutions.

Profits of a Sugar Refinery.

HALIFAX, Dec. 30.—It is reported that the Nova Scotia Sugar Refining Company have made between $200,000 and $400,000 on the past year's operations. Their sales amounted to about $2,000,000, and their early and judicious purchases of raw sugar before the advance enabled them to show a magnificent result for the year. A half yearly dividend of 10 per cent. is about to be declared, making 12 per cent. for the year.

A Fatal Fall.

OSHAWA, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Purves, mother of W. M. Purves, clerk of East Whitby Township, who had been visiting at the latter's place, fell down cellar last night, from the effects of which she died two hours afterward.

THE LAYCRALTY

FOR 1888.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers who have promised me their support, I am before you as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1888. I beg to ask you to give me your support, therefor, on the following platform:

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

If length of public service is deserving of recognition, I may modestly claim your consideration. During the eighteen or twenty years which I have sat at your Council board, I have endeavored to faithfully advance the best interests of the Town; I have spared neither time nor work to consistently carry out my pledge to my supporters, and have worked to the best of my ability for the general good—if I have erred, I have done so unknowingly.

I offer myself as, in particular, the Workingman's Candidate. I hope to receive a solid Workingman's support. I consider I am fairly entitled to it. I am a workingman myself, and, if elected, will endeavor to repay their confidence by advancing their interests in every honest way.

I may say that, in taking the field, I am not actuated by any feeling of rivalry with the present occupant of the Mayor's chair, but I feel that, with the many demands on his time and services, the position is not sought for. Should I prove correct in my inference, you cannot fairly overlook the claim that years of service have on your consideration.

I recognize thoroughly what the necessities of the town demand. Thorough economy in all departments of municipal expenditure must be the rule, a liberal policy to encourage the establishment and growth of new and existing industries. In this regard I am opposed to any money bonus being granted but in favor of exemption from taxes and, possibly, free sites, under proper restrictions.

I shall—if elected—give particular attention to matters as outlined above.

Possibly one of the most prominent questions that will come before the ratepayers next year will be in connection with the enforcement of the Scott Act. I will maintain in this regard the position relative to temperance which I have held for the last twenty-five years. So long as the Scott Act remains in force, I will, to the extent of my ability and office, see that the law is strictly enforced, and that, too, through the proper officers of the town.

Such, gentlemen, are the grounds on which I ask your support. I may not have the opportunity of personally soliciting your favor, but venture to hope that the above statement of my views will meet with your approval.

Trusting that I may have your hearty support on the basis of

ECONOMY,
TEMPERANCE,
MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours faithfully,

A. RUTHERFORD.

Peterborough, December 9th, 1887. dw

A CARD.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Contrary to my own wishes and interests, and at the solicitation of a number of ratepayers, I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1888, and respectfully solicit your support.

I have been associated with the interests and progress of the Town for the past thirty years and during that period I have endeavored to the best of my ability to promote its welfare. If I have in these endeavours met with any degree of success worthy of recognition by the ratepayers of the town, or if I have, in my capacity as Mayor for half a dozen terms, looked after the interests of the Town to the satisfaction of the Public, I can with confidence claim a renewal of your support at the coming Election.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your Obedient Servant,

J. STEVENSON.

To the Electors of WARD No. TWO:

At the urgent request of a large number of the citizens of the town and of a very large number of the Electors of No. 2 ward, I have consented to be a candidate for the representation of this ward in the Town Council. Being identified with no party, and having no personal interests to serve—no axes to grind my sole aim, if elected shall be to promote the best interests of the town, and on these grounds, I claim and respectfully request your support both in the canvass and at the polls.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,

d150 ADAM HALL.

Peterborough, Dec. 24th, 1887.

To the Electors of No. ONE WARD

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, I have consented to be a candidate for Councillor for No. One Ward. Believing that I can promote your interest and being willing to give my best abilities and attention thereto, I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours Respectfully,

dw HARRY WINCH.

Your Vote and Influence Respectfully Solicited for

The office as repaired will be more convenient and comfortable than before. Mr. T. Rutherford is doing the work.

Mr. Baptie is energetically canvassing for himself, and a lively contest may be looked forward to. Mr. Baptie has considerable property in the ward and should be as much interested in seeing that the affairs of the town are economically managed as any other ratepayer.

Pastorates Recognized.

On Monday evening, Dec. 26th, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh, of Norwood, were made the recipients, from the congregation of the Presbyterian church, of an elegant tea set and a complimentary address, in recognition of the faithful services they have rendered in all departments of church work, and in choir and Sunday school. The address was read by Mr. I. Davidson, Principal of the High School, and signed by John Finley, A. R. Anderson and J. Davidson. Mr. Roxburgh made a suitable reply on behalf of Mrs. Roxburgh and himself. This testimonial was richly deserved. For the past quarter of a century Mr. Roxburgh has been a leading spirit in not only the Presbyterian church, but in every local enterprise calculated to promote the prosperity of the thriving village of Norwood.

The Elections.

The elections are coming on rapidly. Next Monday the ladies and gentlemen electors will select the stewards to look after their interests, and it is important that they should give the matter their best consideration. There are twenty-one candidates in the field—two for mayor and nineteen for councillors. From such a large array of administrative talent it will be difficult for some to make a selection, while others have already made up their minds. There is, however, no difficulty in selecting the best place in Ontario to buy ready made clothing, gents' furnishings and overcoats or dry goods—for the place is gough's, the wonderful cheap man, where an immense stock, reduced far below the prices of other dealers, has 20 per cent. lopped off these low [illegible] the wonderful [illegible] within the place—

Grand Lodge of Ontario West Convened Lodge at Norwood.

Information Instruction Convention.—Conducted by Dr. R. W. Bell, Grand Warden, and Peterborough Candidates.

On Friday, Dec. 30th, 1887, a new lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was instituted at Norwood, to be hailed and known as Norwood lodge No. 202. At noon Dr. Bell, Grand Warden, left town accompanied by Bros. John Matthisons, N. G.-elect of Otonabee Lodge; R. M. Roy, E. E. Henderson, J. L. Hughes, W. Bonner, R. F. Perry, A. Cox, C. H. Clementi, H.P.Lindsay, R. Sherlock, G. J. Karly, W. F. Green, H. Long, W. F. Minore, Thos. Marshall. On arrival at Norwood the party was met by a deputation of Norwood citizens interested in the new lodge, and driven to the Brennan House, where dinner was partaken of. At two o'clock the Grand Warden, accompanied by the brethren, repaired to the new lodge room, which is a very neat and commodious hall, comfortably and efficiently fitted up, large enough to accommodate a membership of about 60. The Grand Warden took the chair, called the brethren to order. The following brethren occupied the positions assigned them for the occasion: Bro. John Matthisons, V.G., as G.W.; W. Bonner, Grand Rec. Sec.; Bro. J. G. Karly, Grand P. Sec.; J. L. Hughes, Grand Treas.; with the following "appointed" officers:—C. H. Clementi, R.S.N.G.; H. F. Lindsay, L.S.N.G.; R. Sherlock, R.S.V.G.; T. Marshall, L.S.V.G.; W. J. Minore, W.; R. M. Roy, Cond.; W. F. Green, R.S.S. and organist; F. W. Perry, L.S.S.; H. Long, I. G.

The interim Grand Lodge being thus duly opened, Grand Warden Bell delivered an address, referring to the occasion of their assembling. He expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present and his gratification at the list of petitioners for the new lodge about to be instituted, the names, those of the first citizens of Norwood, being a guarantee that the new lodge contained the elements of unusual success. He then read the dispensation authorizing the formation of Norwood Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 202. After the petitioners had duly answered the prescribed questions took place, resulting as below :—

Bro. Dr. G. A. Pettigrew	N G
" John Davidson	V G
" Henry Bevell	Rec Sec.
" Carman Waters	P Sec.
" W. E. Maxbourn	Treas.
" Rev. Jas. Carmichael	R S N G
" John Finley	L S N G
" W. Cummings	Warden
" R. J. Stewart	Con.
" A. Scott	I G

These officers were then duly and formally installed in office, Bro. E. K. Henderson, in the unavoidable absence of the deputy Grand Master and Grand Marshall of the Grand Lodge acting in these capacities. After the election of officers the brethren adjourned for supper and assembled again, on the arrival of a further large contingent from Peterborough lodges by the evening train. Seven new candidates were admitted and had the several degrees conferred on them in splendid shape. The "work" was performed by the team of Otonabee Lodge in a very satisfactory manner, the team on this occasion excelling themselves. Visitors were present from other places and gave the team high praise for their excellent "work."

On the conclusion of the ceremonies, on the invitation of the new Noble Grand, the brethren adjourned to the Brennan House, where they sat down to a banquet which was served in a most excellent manner.

The chair was occupied by Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, and the vice chair by Rev. James Carmichael. After the toast of "the Queen", that of the "Grand Lodge" was proposed, responded to by Dr. Bell, Grand Warden, who returned thanks for the very cordial manner in which he, as an officer of the Grand Lodge, had been received. It had given him great pleasure to note the marked success with which the proceedings of the day had passed off. He augured a very successful future to Norwood Lodge, judging from the character of its members and the auspicious beginning of its lodge life.

"Otonabee Lodge" was responded to by Mr. M. Mowry, N.G., in a very felicitous manner, re-echoing the sentiments of the Grand Warden.

Bro. G. J. Karly was toasted in a most enthusiastic manner, and he responded in a very humorous and happy vein. Bro. Karly was the head and front of the merriment and amusement incidental to the proceedings. He was always in demand and at the command of the brethren.

The toast of "Peterborough Lodge No. 111" was responded to by Bros. F. Foote, W. Galley, H. Long and others.

"The Ladies" received full justice at the hands of Mr. W. F. Green and Mr. W. Bunton.

The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

A feature of this supper, as of all Oddfellow suppers, was the entire absence of intoxicating liquors.

One of the pleasing features of the occasion was the presence of the official goat of Otonabee Lodge, which was decorated with his official regalia. "Jim" was regarded by everybody as the "proper caper" for the occasion.

To the visiting brethren of Peterborough the occasion was a double delight. Their reception and treatment were of the most cordial character, and as Oddfellows it gave the greatest pleasure to see the new lodge start upon a promising career of prosperity with everything in its favor, pointing to a prosperous and vigorous future.

A Grand Choral Festival.

On Monday evening, Jan. 9th, 1888, the anniversary of the George street Methodist church Sunday School will be held. The anniversary celebration takes the form of a grand choral festival, in which four hundred children will take part in the choruses, assisted by the fire brigade band and the grand organ. There will besides be solos and quartettes by other local talent, and kindergarten songs by members of the infant class. Mr. J. E. Jacques, organist, and Mr. F. Millar, bandmaster, are training the children, so everyone will understand that it is being well done. The low prices of admission, 25c. and 15c., should draw a large attendance to this, the greatest musical event of the season.

The Bell Telephone Company.

With regard to a paragraph appearing in a recent issue of the Globe stating that acting-Judge James Haverson, had decided in court that "any person paying a rental for a telephone had a perfect right to let whom they chose use it, in spite of any rule of the company to the contrary. Mr. Haversonw rites to-day that the Globe was mistaken, that no such decision was given, and that in the particular case referred to the defence was "that the telephone had not been used by outsiders, not that the defendant could allow any one to use it."—Globe

At the Opera House.

Robt. H. Baird's Dramatic Co. put on Friday night for the first time in Peterborough the comedy drama "Lightning Rod Agent" with Mr. Baird in the title role in which capacity he appeared at his best. The character of the "agent" seemed to fit him exactly. Miss Josie Robinson was at home as Lillian, and Miss Cosme as the old maid made a hit in her part. Mr. Heywood and Mr. Neilson as the villians appeared to good advantage, as also did Mr. Harvey as Harry Tree, Messrs. Bradshaw and Rowland made the most out of their parts. The last two gentlemen also produced a farce that suited everybody and all went home happy. As this is the last night of this fine Company the house should be packed to the doors tonight "Lost in London" and 25th cent's chance on the out of Chinese which will be given away to-night.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes Philip H. Ernst, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results." 3w51d

PATRIOTIC GEO. W. ROSS.

THE MINISTER OF EDUCATION ON THE GREATNESS OF CANADA.

A Speech That Gave Mr. Chamberlain Plenty of Food for Reflection—Canada Has all the Prestige Possessed by the United States.

TORONTO, Jan. 2.

At the Board of Trade banquet Friday night Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, was one of the responders to the toast of "The Dominion and Provincial Legislatures." The honorable gentleman, next to the British Plenipotentiary, made the speech of the evening. He outstripped The Globe in "borrowing the ear" of the distinguished visitor. Mr. Chamberlain faced Mr. Ross while he spoke and did not miss one syllable of the honorable gentleman's remarks. Mr. Ross said:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN—I should have been much happier if the chairman of this meeting had been content to limit the responses to the toast of "The Legislature" to the remarks of the distinguished Senator, Sir David Macpherson, and the Premier of the Province of Ontario. It seems, however, that such is your opinion of the Legislatures of this great Dominion that you require that their interests or their dignity should be pretty fully responded to by members of those Legislatures. I am delighted to know that in the Legislature of the Province of Ontario there is much sympathy towards the great interests of this province as enables you always, I think, to rely upon their legislation being on behalf of those interests. Every department of that Legislature seems to be designed either to protect or to extend or to develop some interest or another. For instance, the Attorney-General has to deal with the administration of justice and the framing of such laws as will enable every citizen to exercise his rights of citizenship undisturbed. Everybody knows how important this is to the development and growth of the country. Law and order must be established and maintained. Otherwise our Board of Trade could do very little, either to accumulate wealth in their individual capacity as members or to develop the resources of the country. And so with other departments of the Legislature of our province. I sometimes believe that even my own department of the Legislature is one that is intimately connected with the development of the country. Boards of Trade would, I think, have very little to do if the people were to lose those thrifty and industrious habits which are the sure outcome of education.

I am glad to know that there are gentlemen here this evening who in some form or another owe to the educational system of our province that development of their abilities which enables them to take their place as members of the Board of Trade and as citizens of our fair Dominion. [Applause.] I am delighted to be present to see so large a gathering of gentlemen interested in the prosperity of the country, but particularly to meet here our distinguished guest from across the sea. I am glad to see that sometimes—not so often as I could wish—distinguished men from the other side of the ocean take time to come to this country to visit this Greater Britain. I am glad that a gentleman occupying the position of the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain is here to see the great extent of this Dominion. Nothing impresses a Canadian more than a visit to the Old World and a sight of the vast concourse of wealth gathered upon a small area, and I fancy our distinguished guest must have been impressed by the great accumulation of wealth upon a very large area. He is, no doubt, aware that this small Province of Ontario—small as compared with the great territory of the Dominion—is one and a half times the size of Great Britain and Ireland together, and that we have under the control of the Government of Canada a territory thirty times the size of those countries, a territory that is within a few thousand miles of being as large as the whole continent of Europe, which, when peopled as England is, will occupy no secondary position, but will be worthy of the lions from which the race occupying it has sprung, and will, I trust, leave a name in history second only to the great name of the nation with which we were all so happily connected.

Our guest has been no doubt impressed by the self-reliance which I am happy to believe characterizes the young men of Canada, a self-reliance which will compare favorably with the self-reliance of the people of Great Britain to which we belong. The speaker pointed out several instances where he urged Canadians had shown great self-reliance. First, in 1854, after abrogation of the treaty with the United States, when by their pluck and perseverance they had secured a prosperity which caused them in two or three years almost to forget that ever they had had such a treaty. Then there was the uncertainty that prevailed in the country in the years 1863, 1865 and 1866, when neither party was strong enough to hold power, and out of which came the blessings of Confederation. We might refer to the Fenian invasion of 1866 and to the later troubles in the Northwest Territories, in which our Canadian volunteers rendered such valuable service. Did we then feel that we were able to grapple with the question of self-government? But from hundreds of happy homes they went forth, not to wage war upon their fellow-citizens, not from a desire to dye the grass of the prairies with the blood of their Indian fellow-subjects, but to maintain the integrity of Canadian Government. Every financial struggle, every Governmental struggle, and even every literary struggle has proved that the Canadians were equal to the occasion, and we are able to show to Great Britain that we are loyal to British institutions, preserved intact by her sons, and giving promise of a grand destiny to those who have the confidence and courage to look that destiny fairly in the face.

I hope our distinguished visitor, the Right Hon. Mr. Chamberlain, will see this confidence and self-reliance. Why? Because he will expect—because he has a right to expect—that. He could not expect otherwise than that the descendants of England—the descendants of that great nation—should have some of their characteristic self-reliance. I am glad he will be able to go back to the Old Land and say in his eloquent way that he has seen on the other side of the Atlantic, stalwart, sturdy men, strong in their own purpose and power, able to hold their own against all competition, a race of men proud of their being part of the great Anglo-Saxon race. I hope also, Mr. Chairman, that he will carry away some idea of the enterprise of Canada. It is Canadian enterprise that has made this country. It is a great deal to have done that. Had he seen it fifty or forty or, perhaps, thirty-five years ago, or thirty years ago, when our forests were unbroken, when our industries were undeveloped, and when we had scarcely a mile of railway, he would have said that not even the most enthusiastic and sanguine expectations could have hoped for a condition of national prosperity such as we have in Canada to-day. [Applause.]

To-day we have a mile of railway for every 471 inhabitants within the Dominion of Canada, or nearly four times as many miles of railway per head as they have in the Kingdom of Great Britain. [Loud applause.] And we have a much greater number of miles of telegraph line and a much greater number of telegraph messages passing over them. [Applause.] We have within the area of our Dominion the longest railroad in the world. [Loud applause.] We have mines and vast mineral resources which we are developing every day. There is abroad a spirit of enterprise which only waits the natural growth and development of ordinary opportunities and time to produce results which we can scarcely dare even to imagine in case we would be charged with exaggeration or perhaps something worse. [Loud laughter and applause.] This spirit of enterprise is something that must have impressed itself upon the notice of our distinguished visitor. We have not only magnificent cities, magnificent highways, magnificent railways, but we have a magnificent system of inland water communication reaching, we might say, almost without interruption, from the Straits of Belle Isle to the northwestern portion of the great lake, Lake Superior, a distance of 2384 miles—[loud applause]—and the canals, the perfecting of which cost over fifty millions of money, but through which now pass a greater amount of shipping than that which passes through the Suez Canal, the gate of the East itself. [Loud applause.] This seemed a very large enterprise for us to take up, and a great thing for our hands to build, and we ought as Canadians to be proud of it.

I am glad that our friend will have some chance of seeing our prosperity. He was kind enough to say that this audience looked like an audience of Englishmen. We are glad to know that there is everywhere in Canada the evidence of prosperity. There are $174,-000,000 in our savings banks, and of paid-up capital of our railways there are $220,000,000. We possess all the advantages of civilization and are surrounded by all those influences which tend to make us a peaceful, happy and a contented people. I am glad he has seen these things, for it has sometimes struck intelligent Canadians, when they have been visiting the Old Country, that among Englishmen—though not, of course, among those of Birmingham—[laughter]—there exist very erroneous ideas with regard to the civilization and comforts and happiness of the Canadian people. [Laughter and applause.] The impression seems to be that we are an ice-bound, frozen-out people, and that our principal amusements are skating and tobogganing and sleigh-riding, and that if we have occasionally one or two meals a day, we have occasion to be thankful and glad that the supply has not been limited by any untoward circumstance. Our prosperity must have impressed him, and I hope that he will speak of it when he returns to our friends in the Mother Country. [Loud applause.] He must also have been impressed with the contentment which prevails in regard to our relations to the Empire. There is a mistake in some people's mind when they speak about our relations with the United States, about Commercial Union or unrestricted reciprocity; they think that the very mention of these terms means disloyalty.

We are, Mr. Chamberlain, accustomed in this country to speak our minds, and to speak our minds freely. If we believe that Commercial Union would be an advantage to Canada, we are inclined to say so. It is a characteristic of Englishmen that they say just about what they think. I am not so childish as to believe that a man is going to surrender his allegiance or subvert his patriotic attachment if he speaks freely upon any commercial matter. I think that is not a manly way of looking at it. Let us debate the question, and if we come to a conclusion let us have the courage of our convictions, whatever may be said as to the views of either political party on the question. I think our honorable friend will be satisfied with this: that Canadians are thoroughly in sympathy with British institutions, thoroughly attached to that great Empire under whose protection we have lived and from whom many of our institutions have been derived. [Applause.] We have all the attachments in this land which strengthen our attachments to the Old Land. Our language is the same; our religion is the same; our liberties are as great as theirs. We have in many respects liberties that they do not enjoy. Feudalism has no place here. We have inherited from England the disposition to exchange our liberties and privileges and those liberties and privileges enlarged, Englishmen can learn much in Canada to do them good, and I have no doubt that Englishmen who visit this country go home with enlarged ideas as to popular rights and liberties.

We have nothing to hope for from political union with the United States. America has no prestige that we do not possess, no liberties that we do not enjoy. Her sky is no clearer than ours. There are no evidences of freedom or progress in the United States that we do not find written on the fair page of the history of this young Dominion. I cannot tell what our future may be. Time enough to tell that when the occasion arises, but in our present relations with Great Britain we have all that we could desire, and the sentiment everywhere in Canada is that having been prosperous, because of those relations, we had better endure those ills we have—and I do not know of any such ills—than fly to others that we know not of. [Laughter.] I know every person will say, as our Canadian poet says—and our visitor will be glad to learn that we have a Canadian poet:

Long may our land of maple green,
Our land of lake and river;
The brightest gem in Britain's crown,
Its British blue forever.

Long may our cross and pine rejoice,
Each heart leap at the story,
Of Britain's right, and Britain's might,
Of Britain's power and glory.

BEATEN BY ROUGHS.

Two Hamilton Policemen Severely Handled While Taking Prisoners to the Station.

HAMILTON, Jan. 2.—While Police Constables Barron and Mark were taking a drunk named Jeremiah O'Connor to the Police Station early yesterday morning, O'Connor's father met them and tried to rescue the young man. He was also taken into custody. They had not proceeded very far, however, when three other men set upon the constables and, getting one of the batons away, beat Barron and Mark severely. The O'Connors and one of the other men named Kelly were finally taken to the station. Mark was unable to go on duty yesterday, and Barron will not be on his beat for some days. The prisoners were all remanded at the Police Court this morning.

W. C. Stewart, who was arrested in Brockville for alleged fraud on Friday, has returned to this city with Mr. Murphy of the Hamilton Whip Company. He explains that the money he drew upon the company he intended to be taken out of his January salary. The affair will be settled amicably.

The young man Henry Burrows, who fell on the sidewalk on James-street, opposite the Opera House, last Friday evening, and was taken home in an unconscious condition, died at a late hour last night in the City Hospital. He had been living a dissipated life, and his death was the result of the combined effects of alcoholism and concussion of the brain.

Panic at a Celebration.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A horrible panic occurred last night among a crowd of little children attending the annual holiday celebration of the Haymarket Mission in Seaman's Hall. The little ones were passing up and down stairs when a shivering youngster attempting to poke the fire in the hall overturned the stove. Superintendent Lay thereupon lustily yelled "Fire, fire," and a wild rush by the children followed. They were met by others coming in, and all were wedged in the narrow stairway. Several may escaped without being crushed or trampled upon, but so far as known there is one fatality. Emil Weyer, aged 9, [illegible] live. Sisters Lizzie and Louise Lamb, aged 10 and 11, are very seriously hurt [illegible] the eldest may die. A boy named Wil[illegible]anders in the only one also heard [illegible] so been seriously injured. The superintendent was at once placed under arrest.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. [illegible] Stephen Conroy and Patrick O'Donnell [illegible] making together for some hours last [illegible] the home of the former, and after [illegible] night a quarrel took place, in which O'Donnell was badly beaten and thrown [illegible] house. Shortly after he was found unconscious in the street and taken home, when he charged Conroy with assaulting him. The police went to arrest Conroy and found that he had killed his aged mother with an axe. The room in which the murder was committed presented a horrible appearance, the walls and ceiling being literally covered with blood. O'Donnell will die.

LATEST EUROPEAN NEWS.

THE LONDON PRESS AND THE FISHERY COMMISSION.

Celebration of the Pope's Jubilee—The Crown Prince's New Year—A British Breakfast Sardine a Head—Mr. Gladstone Interviewed by a Parisian Reporter.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—In an interview with a reporter of The Echo, Mr. Gladstone said he would retire but for the Irish Liberties he was fighting for; perhaps he would not see the end of the struggle, but he would have the consolation to know that he had done his whole duty.

"What do you think about war?"

"War will not break out now. It is very cold, but spring is not very far off. Nobody can know what will happen. I hope diplomacy will avert a European war, which would be terrible above all for you."

"What would be in your mind the attitude of England?"

"We have no great interests at stake. The role of our Government will be certainly to regard passively this terrible struggle and to watch strictly over the interests of the country."

The representatives of the United States and the Spanish-American Republics have been invited by the Spanish Government to co-operate in the Christopher Columbus celebration, and they have heartily adopted the proposal. The Governments of Europe and America, and all the geographical and other learned societies of the world have also been invited to send representatives. The celebration will last for a week, and a monument to Columbus will be unveiled at Huelva.

On New Year's day the Queen conferred the following honors: Sir Charles Warren, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, is made a Civil Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath, and M. Browning, Private Secretary to Mr. Balfour, becomes a Civil Companion of the same order.

Discount at 2⅝ to 2¾ was in active demand in London during the past week. Business on the Stock Exchange was very limited. Owing to the political outlook, foreign was dull. American railway securities were neglected and closed flat, owing to disappointment respecting the dividends of the Vanderbilt companies.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—As usual on New Year's day the diplomatic corps in Paris was received by the President to-day.

The members of the Italian Senate and Chamber of Deputies were received by the King and Queen to-day in the Quirinal. King Humbert spoke hopefully of the present prospects of peace.

On the occasion of the Jubilee the Pope has received presents from all parts of the world. The Sultan sent an antique pastoral ring set with precious stones and valued at $80,000. The Queen Regent of Spain sent another ring of sapphires valued at $70,000. The aggregate value of the tributes will probably exceed $80,000,000. Thousands of people crowded St. Peter's-square early in the morning awaiting the opening of the cathedral. Sixty thousand admission tickets had been issued and the building was filled. The Pope entered at 8.30 and left the cathedral at 11 a.m., after blessing the vast assemblage.

Special masses were celebrated to-day in the Cathedrals of London and other parts of Great Britain. Fervent patriotism was manifested everywhere.

The Pope fasted for two hours yesterday after the Jubilee services. His Holiness did not feel any ill effects from his exertions at the mass in the morning, and to-day he is in his usual state of health. Yesterday he received 2500 congratulatory telegrams.

His Holiness has informed all the special foreign envoys that he will grant them an audience after their leave taking whenever they desire. He intends to send autograph letters to a few sovereigns who have written to him. It is stated in Vatican circles that the letter to Queen Victoria will be of special importance.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—It is hoped by the press of all shades of opinion that the Fishery Commission will be the means to pave the way to a settlement of the Anglo-American disputes. According to The Times, there is reason to hope that the commission will be able to suggest terms or accept a compromise. The selection of Mr. Chamberlain, it says, is a pledge that British policy will not be governed by mere diplomatic traditions, but will take a business-like view of the whole case.

Mr. Goldwin Smith has a column in The Times contending that continental free trade is essential to Canadian prosperity. Mr. Smith's utterances on this subject are so numerous that they are ceasing to attract much attention. The Times says nothing. The St. James Gazette voices the feeling of a large section of Englishmen in saying that Mr. Smith implores Englishmen and Canadians to give up a struggle against nature and quietly permit Canada to drift towards her greater neighbor; but, with all respect to Mr. Smith, struggle against nature is what every nation is engaged in, nor are they always or necessarily hopeless. Canadians may think that the advantage of becoming a nation altogether outweighs the questionable inducements held out by the Commercial Unionists.

IS THE GAME WORTH THE CANDLE?

The profits of sugar refiners justify them, no doubt, in advocating a continuance of a policy which enriches them at the expense of the public. There is a world of suggestiveness in the statement that the Nova Scotia Sugar Refining Company have made between $300,000 and $400,000 on the past year's operations. Their sales amounted to about $2,000,000. A half yearly dividend of 10 per cent. is about to be declared, making 13 per cent. for the year. All the enormous tax paid for the sake of enriching a few capitalists and giving them enormous profits on their investments. It is not only the rich, but the poor have also to contribute to the big dividends of the sugar lords. During the year '86 sugar to the value of $3,880,705 was imported into the Dominion, upon which duties to the amount of $2,293,836 were collected; that is, the people of Canada had to pay over two millions and a quarter of dollars in order that a few men—three or four hundred at the outside—should get employment (at very moderate wages); that one single refinery should pocket, at the people's expense the enormous profit of thirteen per cent. In other words, adding the value of the amount of sugar imported to the duty paid, we have the people of Canada paying $6,174,541 for $3,880,705 worth of sugar. And all this enormous sum paid to encourage home industries and give employment to some 400 men. The public are paying a pretty penny for very insignificant results—in order that 400 men may earn at the outside $300 a year each, or $120,000. Therefore the people of Canada pay nearly $20 in taxes for every dollar earned by a Canadian labourer, through a protective duty on sugar. Why, with this view of the case it would be money in the pockets of Canadian tax-payers to have the duty removed, the refineries closed and the labourers employed, compensated by keeping them in idleness, paying them from the public chest $300 a year each. The country would, even with this liberal arrangement, save a clear two million dollars a year in the taxes imposed and would have the benefit of cheap sugar, which, as is well known, is, in Canada, thanks to a high tariff, as a rule, twice as dear as it is in England, or or Scotland, or Ireland. The advocates of the national policy claim that that policy is directed solely to the development of home industries, and in this view they take great credit for removing the duty from teas and coffees which are not a product of this country. To be consistent the duty should be removed from sugar for that is not a product of this country either, and the only industry to which it gives assistance is that of refining which, as we have seen, costs the people $20 directly out of their pockets for every dollar's worth received by Canadian labour, not to count the princely dividends paid to capitalists out of the people's pockets, also. It is to be admitted that in some cases a protective duty gives material assistance to some industries, but in every case this is done at the expense of the people of Canada who pay higher prices for the articles produced by these thus heavily bounced industries. We find many of the most ardent protectionists opposed to the granting of money bonuses to municipalities. In this they are inconsistent. The whole protective system is only another form of the bonus system. The only difference is that in the one case the payment of bonus money is direct and in the other indirect. The difference consists merely in the application of the principle. If the people of Canada endorse the principle of protection, they cannogically mean the protection of only those industries whose fostering at the cost of the taxpayer's pocket will produce results, in some degree, commensurate with the price paid for them. The public scarcely realize that they pay over two and a quarter millions of dollars to make sugar refining a profit, but they do. They would, if their municipal tax bills, in addition to; so much for "Administration of Justice", so much for "Public Schools", so much for "Interest and Sinking Fund", and so on, should also contain so much for "Bonus to Sugar Refinery"—they would appreciate the point in a moment, and would begin to reflect that it was a rather one-sided game for them to get all the disadvantage of high prices, and allow the sugar lords to get all the enormous profit involved in a dividend of thirteen per cent. a year.

THE WAR CLOUD IN EUROPE GROWING DARKER EVERY DAY.

[illegible] From a Continental Standpoint—Peace on the Continent is not Considered Possible—Europe Ready to Spring at Each Other's Throats.

London, Jan. 2.—All the London dailies, except the Pall Mall Gazette, declare that the year ends in gloom, and The Spectator says there is now less reason than ever to believe that peace in Europe is possible.

Advices from Berlin say that the relations between Russia and the allied powers show no signs of improvement. The situation has become perplexing, and nothing short of some authoritative utterances from the Czar or Emperor William can clear it up.

No decisive diplomatic issue is expected before the middle of January, but after that time events will develop with electric rapidity.

The depth of snow and ice in Poland has stopped the concentration of troops on the frontier. At the present time if an order were given to mobilize the Austrian troops it would be impossible to execute it except within a small radius of Vienna, but when the snow-storm has abated and the surface of the country has settled into its winter's hardness, military operations could be easily effected. In the opinion of competent military authority winter is the best time for military operations in Poland, and war should either commence in February, or be deferred until June. The forces now massed along the Bender and Odessa lines are estimated at 85,000 men. The formidable extent of Russia's preparations lead to the belief that the Czar contemplates a sudden descent upon Bulgaria while acting on the defensive toward Galicia.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—At his New Year's reception yesterday the Kaiser avoided political questions, but in conversation with his military chiefs he referred to the improvement on the general political situation.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—It is generally advocated in the press that Lord Churchill's visit should result in an entente with England. The Novoe Vremya argues that British statesmen must admit that England has lost more during the last thirty years through hostility to Russia than she has gained by friendship to the other powers.

Vienna, Jan. 2.—It is denied in The Friedenblatt, on authentic information, that the movement of Russian troops and war material on the frontier still continues.

AFFAIRS IN MANITOBA.

Grave Charges Against Military Officers—The Miners' Fund—Fire at Donald.

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—Lt.-Col Dotor died suddenly in his room at Ninth Canada.

An investigation has been ordered into the alleged want of discipline among the officers of the 91st Battalion. Grave charges have been made against those in command.

A large number of people called at Government House to-day. The custom of New Year's calling is by no means extinct in Winnipeg from the number of vehicles flying in every direction.

Mr. Miller, manager of the Merchants' Bank, publishes a letter in reply to the charges made by The Free Press, that the Halfbreed minor fund has been misapprop[illegible]. He claims that Sylvain's check was refused payment on account of there being a slight misunderstanding with the Government.

A boarding-house and a house of ill-fame at Donald were destroyed by fire. Loss $2000; insured for $1600.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN TORONTO.

E. F. Clarke is Elected Mayor—The Three Bylaws Voted Down.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—The fight over the Mayoralty was very hot, ending finally in favor of Mr. E. F. Clarke, who received a majority of 901 over his two opponents, Ald. Rogers and Ald. Defoe. The three bylaws submitted to the people were also defeated, the trunk sewer bylaw by a majority of 842; the bylaw to reduce the number of tavern licenses by 101, and to reduce the number of shop licenses by 202.

Mrs. Langtry Ill.

Baltimore, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Langtry, who was billed to appear here to-night in her new play, to-day telegraphed that she was unable to leave New York because of an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

The Governor-General's Reception.

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Lord Lansdowne held an official reception to-day in his offices in the eastern departmental block, six or seven hundred gentlemen attending. Sir John and other members of the Cabinet were present.

High Water in the Schuylkill.

Reading, Pa., Jan. 2.—Owing to yesterday's heavy rain the Schuylkill was 9½ feet higher this afternoon than twenty-four hours before. Many small creeks overflowed their banks and did serious damage. The waters are now receding.

A Reduction in Wages.

Pittsburg, Jan. 2.—The Knights of Labor have so far been unsuccessful in getting the railroad coal miners at Scott Haven to come out for the Columbus scale. As a result of this a number of operators notified their miners that a reduction of five cents per ton would be made in their wages, to take effect at once. A strike may follow.

Oft obscure the road that leads to health,
Unmarked by board or sign;
Wisdom avails not, powerless is wealth
To soothe these aches of thine.
But do not despair, with life there's hope,
The cloud conceals the sun;
With Pierce's Favorite Prescription at hand
Your life's full race may run.
More truth than poetry in these lines, as thousands of ladies all over the land now blooming with health, testify to the great curative power of the "Favorite Prescription," discovered by much regretted Dr. Pierce, and sold by druggists, the happy relief of all those suffering from the delicate peculiar to females. All druggists. b

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33½ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

FRANK HAYNER ALIAS WILSON.

What the N. Y. Police, Wm. S. Harkins and Others Know of Him.

MONTREAL, Jan. 2.—One of the greatest mysteries in the mysterious case of Detectives Fahey and Naegele and Constable Bureau has been the identity of Frank Hayner alias Wilson. Investigations set on foot by The Herald have thrown some light upon his antecedents and history. Messages were sent to the chief of the New York Police, the Pinkerton Detective Agency, and [illegible] Lord & Taylor, New York. Lord & Taylor replied:

A man named Frank Hayner was engaged in our employ some years ago as shop-walker. He was dismissed for cause.

The Pinkertons and the Chief of Police stated that they knew of no such detective as Frank Hayner or Wilson.

But Mr. William S. Harkins, a member of "The Golden Giant" Company playing at the Academy of Music last week, did know Hayner, and although a little reticent when first approached by the reporter, he finally said: I can tell you of a certain Frank Hayner with whom I had some business three years ago, and he was one of the biggest "crooks in the City of New York." I was a part proprietor in the Harkins-Lynwood Theatrical Company. Our first stand was to be at Meriden, Conn. I was engaging my company in New York, when one day I was met at one of the agencies by a man who gave his name as Frank Hayner. He was a dilapidated looking individual and was, to use his own expression, "dead broke." He said he had formerly been an actor, but was in bad luck. Professionals were hard to obtain at the time, and I engaged him as a [illegible] at $12 per week, as a general utility and property man. We opened in Meriden and Hayner was placed on the door as ticket taker. We played for two weeks when I noticed that the size of the houses was far in excess of the receipts handed me by Hayner, I made enquiries and found that the individual, besides paying his board, was spending [illegible] per day, and this on $12 a week. I charged Hayner with appropriating a portion of the receipts. He of course denied, but the proof of his guilt was so strong that I immediately discharged him, retaining his week's salary. A week later I went to New York to engage a few people to open in Waterbury, when I found that Hayner had taken out a writ of attachment against my properties. Unless I paid the amount, $20, I could not open as advertised in Waterbury. So I paid the bill, but Wilson had skipped, and although I engaged detectives to have him arrested no trace of him could be found. From the information gained during the search, I have no indisputable authority that the Hayner who, whom I refer was a well-known crook and professional blackleg. I have never laid eyes on the man since I dismissed him in Meriden, and that is about all I know concerning him.

Do you think he will appear to give evidence in the case?

I cannot, and should he come to Montreal and be arrested, and if he is the man to whom I have referred, I will not personally appear come here and give evidence against him.

Yesterday most indefatigable efforts were made to locate Hayner, alias Wilson. He could not be found, and judging from statements concerning his whereabouts made by police and Grand Trunk Railway officials, it is rather doubtful if any one at present knows just where he is.

A $100,000 Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—One of the most destructive fires in New York for some time broke out to-night at 51 White-street, in a basement occupied by Simon & Strelitzer, importers. In less than thirty minutes the whole building was a mass of flames. The floors above were occupied by Power Bros. and Maples & Meyer, commission merchants, and the Caxton Bookbinding Company.

The flames spread across White-street and enveloped the opposite building, occupied by Wm. Tapham & Co., gentlemen, then shifted to the adjoining building of A. S. Higgins & Co., carpet manufacturers. The fire department, by hard work, secured control of the flames in an hour and a half, after a damage to all of $100,000 had been done. One fireman was injured.

President Cleveland's New Year Reception.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The day in this city was bright and beautiful. The White House was the main point of interest, and long before the beginning of the President's annual reception the gates were opened to the grounds were surrounded by people who gazed with curiosity at the brilliantly costumed throng of diplomats and officers as it filed through into the Executive Mansion. The reception terminated at 3 o'clock, having passed off successfully.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also kill your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities resting from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And when they do, they cannot do it well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Take it everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now certify with pleasure that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy.—an invaluable Balm. —Joseph Stewart, 664 Grand Ave., Brooklyn. eodw1

Almost a Fire.

Those seated about the breakfast table Monday morning at Mrs. Carlisle's residence in the south half of a double brick tenement on Aylmer street, were surprised at observing smoke pouring into the room from their neighbor's apartments. Hastily they forced an entrance through the locked doors of the other side of the house, and after the intense smoke had somewhat cleared away, they discovered that a large pile of stove wood behind the kitchen stove was burning rapidly. The flames were extinguished, and then the cause of the blaze became apparent. Miss Richardson, who occupies the north half of the house, had gone away for a short time, and that morning her boarders, on closing up the house, had left a big fire in the kitchen stove, by which means the pile of wood behind it had become ignited. It was a narrow escape from a destructive fire, and should teach the parties concerned a lesson in carefulness.

Like Cures Like.

A story comes from the south ward that is highly illustrative of the certainty of success as the result of patience and perseverance under the most discouraging circumstances. A resident of the ward had been greatly annoyed by the persistent tooting of a brass horn in the hands of an enthusiastic Salvation Army soldier, who "made the welkin ring" at the most unseemly hours of the night and morning with the most melancholy discord in his efforts to master a number of Army tunes. A certain near neighbor's rest was greatly disturbed, and he determined to put a stop to the nuisance. He requested the soldier to confine his musical outbursts to reasonable hours, but the racket continued as before. So he procured a similar instrument of torture, and every morning for a week, beginning at four o'clock, rain or shine, serenaded his Salvation Army friend from the recesses of a large empty hogshead, which stood conveniently near the latter's window. As the Salvationist himself practised till the wee sma' hours, this rude disturber of his slumbers at 4 a.m. was not the most conducive to a refreshed state of the body. Morning after morning the serenade was kept up until at last the Salvationist, exhausted by his vengeful neighbor's persistence, came to terms and begged him to desist; and now the vicinity is haunted by a supernatural quiet that seems a blessed relief from the former condition of chaotic discord.

The Municipal Elections.

Simon Stevenson Re-elected Mayor.—Ward Changes in the Council in Numbers One, Two, and Four.

The municipal elections passed off yesterday with the best of order, and the results, which were disappointing to many, were not in general unexpected. The general prediction was that Mayor Stevenson would be elected by a good majority, but it was hardly expected it would rise to such large proportions as 775. It is evident that the electors declined to divide on the Scott Act question and voted independently, with the result as known. An issue may be advanced as the main issue, but unless the people accept it as such the result, cannot be regarded as a decisive expression of public opinion. In the wards there were some few changes. In Number Four Mr. Meanies has been relieved of a trust which he has fulfilled with the utmost regard to economical guardianship of the financial interests of the town. During the time Mr. Meanies has been in the council he has always stood out staunchly in favor of economical administration of our public affairs. His successor, Mr. Langford, has considerable interests in the ward, and will, no doubt, make a careful representative. In Number Three Ward there was no change in the representation, though Mr. J. D. Baptie made an excellent run. Entering the field at the last moment, he came within of tieing one of the strongest, most conscientious and most influential citizens in the ward. In Number Two Ward there was a change caused by the retirement of Mr. Stenson to give place to Mr. Hall This substitution of one for the other seems to be a mere matter of personal choice, for Mr. Stenson was a good representative, and Mr. Hall will also be a good and capable guardian of the interests of the ward. In number one ward a decided change has taken place. That the electors have seen fit to replace Mr. McNaughton by, even, Mr. Winch, a well qualified representative, is not to be regarded as a very grateful return for the years of labor Mr. McNaughton had devoted to serving the interests of number one ward. It appears that a "dead set" was made to defeat Mr. McNaughton, and it was successful. There is hardly any doubt that if these unusual means had not been adopted to influence the people the latter, if left to the dictates of their opinion of Mr. McNaughton's services, would have elected him. Mr. Sawyer, of the Peterborough Business College, for a new man made a good run and polled a large vote. The fact of a large number of the electors not knowing Mr. Sawyer personally, handicapped him too heavily to make success possible.

Altogether the council of 1888, though somewhat changed in personnel, can not be said to be either any better or any worse than that of the previous year. Below is the record of the voting in the different wards, as delivered officially, at noon to-day, by Returning Officer C. D. Macdonald:—

Outraging Public Decency.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—I have to make the complaint that on Sunday morning, as I was on my way to church, two drunken, drivelling men talking ribaldry and swearing disgustingly, were staggering about. So loud and clamourous was their profanity that ladies on their way to church were compelled to cross the street and pass up the other side. I went at once to the police station to inform the police, but could find nobody within nor a solitary policeman in sight. Something or somebody so gravely at fault when drunken riot on the chief street of the town almost drowns the voice of the church-going bell on Sunday.

Great Luck.

Good Fortune that Came by Chance and Business Sagacity.

One element help being struck with the important part the element of chance plays in the history of most men who acquire great fortunes.

It is peculiarly illustrated in the career of Thomas H. Williams, a California six millionaire. He went from Kentucky to the Pacific slope in 1849, and settled in Virginia city. As attorney for a mining company, he acquired a claim against it for $1,500 for services, and when the company failed he bid in its mine for the amount of his claim.

He moved to San Francisco, years rolled on and the transaction had passed from his mind, when he was one day approached by a representative of Flood, Mackay & O'Brien, who offered him $100,000 for his long forgotten mine.

He was not a greenhorn and he at once refused the offer, as he did successive offers of $250,000 and $500,000. But when a member of the great firm came to see him with proffers of negotiation, they were not rejected and resulted in the reception of the firm's check for $8,000,000.

It was a great piece of luck, but the luck was supplemented by keen business sagacity.

In April, 1887, Charles W. Sprague, an orange grower at Chesaville, Fla., was lying in bed, suffering the "torments of the cursed," with disease of the kidneys, with which he had been troubled for two years. He had been under the treatment of an eminent physician but kept growing worse. One day when, as he says, "even hope itself had become inanimate," a casual acquaintance happened in and advised the trial of Warner's safe cure.

He hesitated, because it was a proprietary medicine, but the testimonials of its efficacy were so convincing that, as a business man, he could not doubt the wisdom of trying it. The result was that May 20th 1887, he wrote: "From the first dose I commenced to improve, and have now recovered my health."

Mr Williams owes his large fortune and Mr. Sprague owes his life to chance, supplemented by good business judgment. It is no doubt true that fortune knocks at least once at the door of every man, but it is not every man, it seems who has the good judgment to grasp opportunity by the forelock.

The New Year's Festival.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral Hold a Festival and Bazaar in the Opera House.

The interior of the opera house, Monday evening, presented a decidedly altered appearance to what it had on every evening of the week previous. Instead of the long rows of seats and benches filled with eager and silent people, the mimic representation of a life-drama on the stage, the intermittent outbursts of applause and other manifestations of appreciation, which had prevailed during the previous week, the hall on Monday evening was filled by the constant hum of conversation and laughter, the sweet strains of orchestral music, crowds of moving gaily-dressed people, tables filled with fancy articles in silver and ladies-work, and refreshments; and a large Christmas tree loaded with bric-a-brac. Handsome young ladies flitted about, drew the dimes from susceptible young men, (and others too, for that matter), by their irresistible appeals for dimes or quarters on draws for the articles displayed on the tables. The prizes will be drawn for on Wednesday evening, when the bazaar will be continued. The Christmas tree was presided over by Miss McCarthy, Miss Croft, Miss Timbers and Miss Morrow. For the small sum of ten cents the visitors had the opportunity of drawing a small ticket from among a basful. On this ticket was a number, and the holder received the article from the tree bearing the corresponding number to that in his hand. The fates seemed to order that all young men (particularly those profuse of blushes) should draw little dolls, baby shoes, tiny aprons or other absurd things. Two large chance tables, covered with silverware and ladies' fancy work, were presided over also by a number of ladies. The first, on which were some fine oil paintings, presented by the Mother Superior of the Convent, a beautiful "bride" by Miss Casey, and other fancy articles, was presided over by Miss Hagarty, Miss O'Brien, Miss Ryan and Miss Myrtle. The next table, bearing a small log-cabin scene made and presented by Mr. Begley, and other fancy work, had for its guardians the Misses Vinnette and Miss Crummie. A refreshment table under the gallery, where lunch could be procured for 15c. and oysters for a quarter, was carefully waited upon by Miss Hagarty and Miss C. Vinnette. Prof. Doucet's orchestra and the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral supplied first-class music at intervals. The young ladies' sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral have every reason to be proud of themselves and the entertainment they provided, though the attendance was not as large as might have been desired. The hall will be cleared and the seats replaced in position for the concert this evening by the pupils of the Convent. On Wednesday evening the bazaar will be continued and concluded. Drawing for the prizes takes place that evening.

Death the Result of Disobedience.

A young man about 20 years of age, named George Cameron, an employee of the cigar factory, had been suffering since Friday with an attack of inflammation. He boarded at Halpin's hotel, Hunter street. His physician had given strict orders for him not to leave the sick-bed, but early Sunday morning, while those who attended him were below ordering his breakfast, he essayed to rise, but immediately fell back against the wall. He was placed in bed again, but in a few minutes he was dead. The physician on being summoned stated his death was caused by heart disease. He knew of the weakness, hence his positive orders for him to remain quiet. The young man's disobedience cost him his life. Cameron came here from Barrie about three years ago. The remains were forwarded to his parents there on the Monday morning train.

To-night is the Night.

The grand concert by the pupils of the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame takes place in the Opera House to-night. Every lover of first-class music, rendered in the highest style, should be sure to be present. A splendid programme will be presented. Tickets only 25 and 35 cents

The Young Men's Reception.

At the Y. M. C. A. rooms all day Monday a public reception to young men was held. As the visitor entered the door his name was subscribed on the register, which in the evening showed a total of over 150 callers. The reception room was nicely arranged with seats, tables, divans, etc., while pictures covered the walls. A piano, presided over by Miss Smart and Mr. Schneider, stood in one corner of the room, about which at intervals the Y.M.C.A. glee club congregated and rendered their best songs. The reception committee are indebted to Mr. A. Clegg for curtains, pictures and furniture; Messrs. Craig & Mooney for furniture; Mr. G. M. Roger for pictures; Mr. W. A. Dixon for an electric battery; A. L. Davis & Co. for two large easels and a number of books; Mr. Geo. Schofield for a large show case containing an interesting exhibit of curiosities loaned and arranged by Charles Collins and Trevor Kincaid. The young men on the reception committee were assisted by the following ladies:—Miss Roger, Miss Moore, Miss Brown, the Misses Taylor, the Misses Sanderson, Miss Glover, Miss Smart, Miss Rutherford and Miss Fairbairn. Visitors were shown about and entertained by the committee. In the game room all sorts of innocent amusements were provided, while in the lunch room coffee and cake were served in abundance. The reception was a decidedly successful innovation, and one which will bring the Y. M. C. A. of Peterborough into prominence and popularity among the young men of the town.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

ROUMANIA GETTING READY FOR COMING EVENTS.

The Crown Prince's Case—A Congratulatory Letter from Paris—Calling Out Reserves—Peter's Pence—Mr. Sheehy Creates Excitement.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—According to a private letter from San Remo the physicians are wavering in their opinions regarding the Crown Prince's case.

Prof. Thiersch of Leipsic University says according to the recent accounts from San Remo the Crown Prince's malady cannot be cancer.

La Liberte, Paris, publishes an unusually courteous and kindly letter congratulating the Crown Prince upon his improving symptoms. It also expresses the hope that this will prove an auspicious harbinger of the new year.

The calling out of the Austrian reserves in Moravia by the government, has no connection with the political situation, it being the intention to call out the reserves of all the army corps in rotation for a seven days' drill in the use of repeating rifles.

The number of recruits in Roumania for the coming year, has been fixed by decree at 44,500; this is a large increase, and is looked upon as a proof that Roumania is preparing for coming events. The arsenal and state railway factories are working night and day, and the number of their employees has been doubled. Roumania, Premier Bratiano says, can place 200,000 men in the field.

A new law is soon to be adopted by the Russian Government to prevent private railway companies from nullifying the effect of prohibitive duties against Germany and Austria by largely reducing freight rates.

A despatch from Odessa says that Russian Government contractors have purchased 948,000 barrels of flour, 132,000 bushels of barley and 108,000 bushels of oats, at the cost of a million roubles, for the southern army in the districts near the Austrian frontier.

The Times correspondent at St. Petersburg says the new Finance Minister's budget estimates a surplus of several million pounds. This is partly due to the decrease in the military estimates. The Minister reports to the Czar to emphasize the necessity of peace as a means of developing the country's resources. The budget was compiled with the intention of making a good impression abroad.

The Nineteenth Century contains a burlesque article of Swinburne to prove that Darwin wrote Tennyson's poems.

A sum of $90,000 was collected at the Jubilee Mass.

The Shah of Persia sent a congratulatory telegram to the Pope.

The Pope has received a friendly letter from the Czar, in which he expresses a hope for better relations between the Greek and Catholic Church in Russia.

His Holiness the Pope addressed the pilgrims to-day in the presence of the whole Court. He said:

"You have not given faith to those who with the voice of calumny try to persuade you that the Pope is the enemy of Italy. The Popes have always been the greatest friends and benefactors of Italy. You, like ourselves, are convinced that the Church, by her holy mission, ought to be independent of whatsoever terrestrial authority—[cries of 'Yes,' yes!—that the church is a divine institution, and that to try to reduce its interests to a question of the laws of Italy can only be the result of most deplorable blindness."

At Portumna yesterday 3000 persons greeted Mr. Wilfrid Blunt and Lady Blunt, and Messrs. Evelyn and Macdermott, members of Parliament. The arrival of Mr. Sheehy in his prison garb was the cause of great excitement. The police were considerably hustled by the friends shaking hands with the prisoner.

Col. Zaleff, a military attache to the Russian Embassy in Vienna, who has just returned to his duties, says he found the Czar absolutely opposed to war.

The King of Abyssinia, accompanied by the Queen of Vollogalas and a number of troops, has arrived at Aksume. The son of King John, who is in command of two columns, is nearing Asmara.

The report that a Court circular has proposed to establish a regency to meet the contingency of the Emperor William's sudden death and the inability of the Crown Prince to assume power, is denied by The North German Gazette, which also says that the Crown Prince consulted a Baden statesman on the proposal of his abdication; although The Gazette's language is emphatic regarding the former statement, it is nevertheless true that the question of the Prince's abdication had been the subject of negotiations. It is understood the denial has been issued under pressure from San Remo.

The Czar and his family will reside in St. Petersburg during ten weeks. Special measures have been taken to ensure his safety.

The Pope has sent an encyclical letter to the Bavarian bishops in which he urges a better enforcement of the Concordat. It says: "The Church has observed her pledges while the State has neglected its pledges. It is necessary to guard the education of youth. Secular schools are a danger to the State itself.

The encyclical precedes demands of the Papal Nuncio for extension of rights of priests to regulate schools.

IN THE COAL REGIONS.

A Paralyzing State of Affairs—Several Collieries Give In to the Men.

POTTSVILLE, Pa. Jan. 3.—A meeting embracing 1500 representatives of the miners of this region was held at Mount Carmel yesterday. It was resolved unanimously to strike unless the demand for the continuance of the 8 per cent. advance is conceded, and even in this event to mine no coal to be handled by "scab railroad employes."

Colliers on Strike.

ASHLAND, Pa., Jan. 3.—The Knights of Labor miners at a meeting here last night decided to go on strike, and as a consequence there is but one Reading colliery in this district working to-day, and that one is short-handed. Riley & Co. have made a satisfactory agreement with their employes, and their collieries are in operation.

Miners Resist a Reduction.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—Five thousand miners in the Schuylkill region struck this morning against the 8 per cent. reduction in wages. The situation of the Reading Railroad men's strike is not materially changed.

Tramps to Take the Strikers' Places.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 3.—The President of the Board of Poor Directors to-day asked the tramps confined in the County Workhouse who were willing to go to Reading to take the strikers' places to sign a paper. Twenty-five complied and they will be sent to Port Richmond.

Alarm in the Schuylkill Valley.

READING, Jan. 3.—There is great alarm throughout the industrial regions of the Schuylkill Valley over the coal strike inaugurated to-day. The proprietors of large furnaces and iron works in this section predict that if the mines are shut down for two weeks the majority of the large establishments will be obliged to close owing to the lack of a supply of coal. Many of them have been running for weeks short of coal and most of them have less than a week's supply on hand. If the strike continues any length of time many smaller establishments in this city and vicinity will be compelled to close down. All the industrial cities and towns in this section, such as Reading, Birdsboro, Norristown, Pattstown, Hamburg and smaller places, receive their coal over the Reading Railway and with the stoppage of work at the mines trade will be entirely paralyzed. It is estimated that in this city alone from 3000 to 5000 men are employed in the iron works which are in urgent need of coal. Not one has over a week's supply.

The time between sundown and daylight is usually the busy time for the shipment of coal of the Reading road. The average run of coal cars through this city during the day is 4000 cars. Last night but 1000 were run down and to-day only a few short trains went down the road.

Reports received to-day show that of the sixty-eight collieries in the Schuylkill region (forty of the largest of which are controlled by the Reading Company) but six are at work. The members of the Knights of Labor in this city, while refusing to strike, have promised the Schuylkill miners financial support, the same as they are giving the men in the Lehigh region.

There is a movement on foot among the business men of this end of the Schuylkill valley to hold a meeting in this city and bring such a pressure to bear upon President Corbin as to cause him to consent to arbitration of the miners' strike at least. It is argued that the immense industries of this section of the state cannot afford such a fearful paralysis of business and trade. The strike will not only throw 30,000 miners out of employment, but 30,000 iron workers as well.

The Situation at Shamokin.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 3.—The miners' strike went into effect this morning at all the Philadelphia and Reading Company's collieries in this section with the exception of the North Franklyn, Nos. 1 and 2. In addition to those at the Reading Company's collieries the miners went out at the Pennsylvania, owned by the Union Coal Company; the Enterprise, owned by the Enterprise Coal Company, and the Garfield, owned by the Garfield Coal Company.

An arrangement was entered into at the Neilson shaft, the Excelsior, the Hickory Ridge, the Hickory Swamp and the Lancaster collieries, whereby the proprietors agreed to pay the old rate of wages until the strike is settled. The collieries now idle in Shamokin gave ample employment to 5500 men.

The Enterprise Coal Company has agreed to pay its miners the 8 per cent demanded.

The proprietors of Bellvere, Morris Ridge, Mount Carmel, Centralia and Excelsior Collieries, employing 2000 hands, have agreed to pay the 8 per cent. advance on the two-fifths basis, pending a settlement by the Reading Company, and work will be resumed to-morrow.

Negotiating for a Settlement.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Jan. 3.—The Reading collieries are all idle here, as is also the Thomas Coal Company's mine. The proprietors of the latter are negotiating for a settlement. The Wm. Penn Company's mines will be idle to-morrow.

The Number of Miners Out.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 3.—The number of miners out on strike in this region is estimated at 25,000 to 30,000.

CANADIAN AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

Canadian Joint Stock Companies—Appeal on Behalf of Station Work.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Financial Review's article on the past year shows a small amount of fresh joint stock companies in connection with Canada. Only two new Canadian companies were formed during the year, the Canadian Phosphate Company and the Commercial Colonization Company of Manitoba. The total authorized capital is a little over half a million, of which $300,000 is offered to the public.

Canon Gregory appeals in The Times for funds in aid of mission work in the Diocese of Qu'Appelle.

The World to-day contains an article in its "Celebrity at Home" series of Sir John Macdonald at Earnscliffe. It is in the usual eulogistic strain.

Political Agitation in Central America.

PANAMA, Dec. 25.—Information has been received here that there is much political agitation observable in the Central American Republics. On Dec. 15 orders were received by the Commander of the Port of Acajutla to keep his men under arms, as it was suspected that the revolutionary party was preparing to strike a fresh blow.

Buffalo's Baseball Directors.

BUFFALO, Jan. 3.—The annual meeting of the Buffalo Baseball Club were held this evening. Two tickets for directors was in the field. That headed by Sheriff, president of the International League last year, was defeated. The ticket headed by C. C. Candee, first president of the International club in Buffalo, was carried. The Collector of Customs, a truly good man, and an enthusiastic lover of the national sport, weighs 400 pounds. He will have for associates: C. W. Cushman, E. S. Dann, Jas. Franklin, A. D. Bissell, J. L. Williams, Thos. Hodgson, Hon. Jacob Horn and Milton Brown.

Bogardus Beats Winston.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 3.—The Bogardus-Winston match of 100 live birds each for a purse of $500 was a brilliant affair. Bogardus won by a score of 82 to 80. Bogardus challenges any man in America to shoot at 100 live birds for $1000 to $2000 a side, Hurlingham rules, the match to be shot after April.

The Fisheries Commission.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The meeting of the representatives of the United States and British Governments appointed to consider the fisheries question, which was to have been held to-morrow, has been postponed until Jan. 7 on account of the inability of one of the members to be present before that date.

A Big Surplus.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The debt statement to-day shows decrease of debt during the month, $14,584,650; decrease of debt since June 30, 1887, $63,830,336; total cash in treasury available for reduction of debt, $295,919,424; total cash in treasury, $327,626,557.

A Riot at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Jan. 3.—A riot between forty or more drunken men took place at Alden this morning. Most of them were Poles and all sorts of weapons were used. One man was found dying on the roadway and eight were seriously injured. Two of them will likely die. The fracas resulted directly from a christening which lasted two days.

Sir Thomas Esmonde Ill.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—Sir Thomas Esmonde was confined to his room in St. Lawrence Hall all day yesterday. He is unwell and was unable to fill his engagement to lecture in Ottawa. Sir Thomas will not leave his room or receive visitors until Wednesday. He will undoubtedly speak in Queen's Hall to-morrow evening and be present at the banquet on Thursday. About 200 tickets have been sold for the complimentary banquet. The reserved seats have all been secured for the meeting to-morrow.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION

A SETTLEMENT SATISFACTORY TO CANADIAN INTERESTS EXPECTED.

The Commissioners Back at Washington—A Series of Strong Resolutions Adopted—An Increased Duty Urged on Canadian Fish.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and party returned to the city this morning from their trip to Canada. They came in Lord Lansdowne's private car. The commission does not meet again until the 7th of this month. It is the general belief in diplomatic circles that the result of the visit of the commissioners to Canada will be an agreement of some character between the American and Canadian representatives, but there is no reason to change the prediction heretofore made in these despatches, that the only outcome that can be expected at this time will be an arrangement by which the question of the three-mile limit and the right of American fishermen in the waters between the headlands will be left to be settled by arbitration. There is absolutely no prospect from the present state of things here that any treaty which will aim at Reciprocity between the United States and Canada will be formulated. On the other hand, Major Butterworth, who has fought so gallantly on behalf of the idea of Commercial Union, has sufficiently recovered from his late illness to be about again, and he proposes to do all in his power to secure the sanction of Congress to the plans advocated by Mr. Wiman and himself. Mr. Butterworth's belief is strong that before the expiration of the fiftieth Congress something definite will have to come from all the talk upon the subject of Commercial Union, and he is as sanguine as ever that the bill will pass.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—A public meeting was held here this evening, under the auspices of the National Fishery Association, for the purpose of expressing the sentiment of American citizens on the fisheries question. Governor Beaver of this state presided and made an enthusiastic speech. Hon. W. M. Cornwell of Massachusetts, Charles Emery Smith of this city, and Rev. J. G. Bolton, also of this city, followed with addresses, after which the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The rights of American fishermen have been denied and the lawful prosecution of their industry hindered for years past by the authorities of the Dominion of Canada, and

Whereas, The proposals stated to have been made by the British and Canadian Governments for the settlement of the fisheries question imperil the very existence of our fisheries, therefore,

Resolved, That the hardy fishermen of our eastern states, who have served the country in a laborious industry in peace and defended it in war, are entitled to the protection our laws extend to them and also to the sympathy of every patriotic American in their present struggle for their rights.

Resolved, That as long as Canada and Newfoundland deny to our fishermen in their ports any of the ordinary privileges belonging by international law or usage to the vessels of friendly nations, the United States should refuse all such privileges in American ports to the vessels of those two colonies.

Resolved, That we call upon the National Executive to apply to the settlement of the fisheries question the peaceful exercise of the powers vested in it by the forty-ninth Congress for this purpose.

Resolved, That we protest against any re-establishment of one-sided reciprocity with Canada, such as existed in the years 1854-1867, and against any proposal to admit Canadian fish or other products free of duty to the markets of this country, and

Whereas, Canada now imposes upon salt fish caught by our fishermen an import duty of 2 cents per pound and upon fresh fish three-fourths of a cent per pound, while our import duty on salt fish caught by Canadian fishermen is at the inadequate rate of 1 cent per pound and their fresh fish enters our ports free of duty;

Resolved, That the duty upon Canadian salt fish should be raised as promptly as possible to at least 2 cents per pound and a duty of at least ½ cent per pound should be levied upon their fresh fish.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to His Excellency the President of the United States, to the Honorable Secretary of State, to the presiding officers of the two Houses of Congress, to the Governors of each of the United States and the Senators and Representatives from Pennsylvania.

LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Out of 147 Applicants Only 20 Passed—History Proves a Stumbling Stone.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Inspector Boyle's report, read at the meeting of the School Board to-night, shows that out of 147 applicants for admission to the Collegiate Institute only 20 passed, 13 girls and 7 boys. In history alone 103 were plucked.

By a clerical error Charles Taylor was announced as having been elected alderman for Ward 1 yesterday. It seems he was six votes behind Heaman, who consequently gets the seat.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

The attention of our readers, especially those directly interested in agriculture, is directed, with much pleasure, to the advertisement in another column announcing the first public meeting to be held under the auspices of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute. Next to the formation of this Institute, the energy with which it is entering upon the fulfilment of its mission is the most gratifying. The present seems to be a time when the wants and needs of the farmers are receiving the greatest public attention. The interests of the farmers, as a class, will be served and promoted just in proportion to the activity they themselves manifest in the improvement of their calling. The really successful farmer must make his vocation a progressive one. The methods of the past generation are quite as much out of place on the farm as in the stage coach as a means of conveyance among the travelling facilities of the present day, and that farmer will best succeed, who most skilfully adapts the methods called for, to the changed and changing conditions of modern farming. The soil of Ontario, in its virgin state, gave the largest harvest for the least culture, but continuous, and, oftentimes, injudicious cropping, has made other forms of tillage necessary. In meeting new conditions, every farmer, worthy of being called a farmer, discovers means of culture and modes of securing the best results at the minimum of expenditure of labor and money. Under ordinary conditions, he, as a rule, keeps this knowledge to himself, but at the meetings of a Farmers' Institute, a score or a hundred farmers, as the case may be, meet and exchange ideas and discoveries, and the best farmer can learn something which will be to his advantage, and thus valuable knowledge previously confined to a single individual is made common property. The establishment of an Agricultural College at Guelph shows that the government recognizes the wants of the farmer, and his right to having a liberal share of the public funds devoted to the promotion of his interests, and Prof. Mills, of the Agricultural College, will, in his address, give farmers a practical idea of the manner in which agricultural interests are promoted in this college. From the list of papers published it will also be seen that subjects of practical, every day importance are to be discussed, and another important point is that any farmer in the county who may be present (and all are cordially "invited and urged" to attend) can ask any questions his experience may suggest as pertinent to the occasion. In every way the forthcoming public meeting of the Institute will be of interest and may be made of advantage to those who attend. It is to be plainly understood that every farmer in the county (not merely members) is welcome to the enjoyment of all the advantages (and they are manifold) the meeting will afford. Let there be a large turn out of the "bone and sinew" of the county, and let them demonstrate by their interest in the proceedings of the meeting that they are not only able but determined to study their own interests and to enforce that consideration and respect for their rights and privileges which, it is to be regretted, have not, in the past, been generally enough accorded.

Board of Education.

A Remarkably Short Session.—The Annual Statement Presented.—A Slight Defalt.

Chairman Stevenson and Messrs. Dumble, Errett, Deane, Weir, English, Wrighton, McWilliams, Kendry and Stratton attended the School Board meeting Tuesday evening.

The minutes being read and approved of, communications were read.

One from Secretary of Department Marling, stating that the Board's annual grant to the Meteorological Department would, after January, not be continued.—Received.

Another one from the same source, enclosing a copy of a recent teachers' examination, was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

Mr. T. A. Rowan, late Master of Classics in the Collegiate Institute, sent in a lengthy communication explaining a claim that the Board owed him some $100, which amount he asked to be forwarded to him. On motion of Mr. Errett it was decided to take no action.

The attendance at the Collegiate Institute for the past month was reported to be 123; at the west ward school, number on roll 181, average attendance 154; fees for the month, Collegiate Institute $99.50, public schools $8.50.—received.

Accounts from the Gas Company, $1.75; and E. B. Edwards, solicitor, $8; were ordered to be paid

Mr. KENDRY presented the report of the Finance Committee, giving a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Board during the past year, showing a deficit of $122, which was due mainly to improvements on school property and over-draws of teachers salaries on account of sickness. The statement was referred to the auditors, after which the Board adjourned.

THE WRECK AT GREENWOOD.

Fear That the Most Terrible Part of the Story Remains To Be Told.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 3.—J. H. Avey, one of the victims of the railroad accident on the Southern Railroad, died at Covington to-day, and his wife is reported to be dying. The other wounded are doing well.

A special from Greenwood, Ky., says the fear grows hourly that the most terrible part of the story of Saturday's wreck remains to be told. As time wears on and the wreck is being cleared away the presence of more bodies in the debris becomes apparent. Last night the bones of two unfortunates were found reduced almost to ashes, having been burned with the cars. There is nothing by which they can be identified.

Thrown Beyond Embankment.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—A passenger coach on the Sauk Centre and Northern Railroad was thrown down an embankment yesterday. Miss Amanda Thorsquist was badly burned, and several others sustained lesser injuries.

THE FLINT GLASSBLOWERS.

About 12,000 Men Now Out—The Output will be Decreased Four-fifths.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The strike among the flint glassworkers has extended from the western manufactures to the eastern factories, and the men who left work in the fifteen factories in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, New Bedford, Boston and Corning, N.Y., failed to return to work yesterday or to-day with two exceptions. In the East and West about 12,000 men are now out.

A prominent manufacturer said to-day that the strike bids fair to be a long and bitter one. He doubted the possibility of a concession in 1888. The output of the country would be decreased four-fifths by the strike, and if it lasted twelve months it would entail a loss of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

The Sweetest Girl in School.

"She's the sweetest girl in school,"! enthusiastically exclaimed one miss to another, as they passed down the street together. "Edith is so kind, and gentle, and unselfish, everyone likes her. And she has lovely golden hair and pretty eyes. Isn't it a pity her complexion is so bad; it spoils her looks. And then she has such dreadful headaches"! The girls skipped along, but it happened Edith's mother had heard what they said. It set her thinking. What could be done for those headaches and the rough, muddy complexion, that was such a trial to her gentle daughter. She recalled what she had read of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and on the spot of the moment she slipped into a drug store and bought a supply. Edith took it faithfully, with the result that it cleared her disordered blood, relieved the headaches, made her skin soft, fair and rosy, and now she is not only the "sweetest girl in school," but the most beautiful. c

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells s cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

A Remarkable Case.

THE LIZZIE BRAY INQUEST

A VERDICT OF MURDER AGAINST THE GIRL'S SEDUCER.

John Gamble a Fugitive From Justice—The Coroner's Jury Severely Censure a Doctor for Neglecting to Report the Case to the Police.

TORONTO, Jan. 4.

Coroner Powell and his jury settled last night, as far as they were concerned, how Lizzie Bray, 69 Walton-street, came to her death.

Mrs. Ellen Smith testified how John Gamble came to her house on Church-street, representing himself as a Northern Railway man, and hired rooms for his alleged sister. The couple passed under the names of Mr. and Miss Black. When witness learned that Miss Black was about to be confined they were turned out.

Mary Ann McNamara, a servant at Mrs. Smith's boarding house while Mr. and Miss Black were there, testified that shortly after the couple left Mrs. Smith's, she quit also and went to live at 67 Walton-street, next door to Lizzie Bray's aunt's house. Witness identified deceased as being the alleged Miss Black.

Dr. John Ferguson, 321 Spadina-avenue, who attended the girl through her sufferings, deposed that he had given a certificate of burial to the friends of deceased showing that Lizzie Bray died of peritonitis. From the symptoms witness concluded that the inflammation of certain organs was brought about by interference with the course of nature. At first witness did not suspect it was by abortion, but simply a miscarriage. He said nothing to the police about the matter, not from any motive to conceal, but thought it was best, considering the circumstances, to say nothing.

Dr. Geo. H. Corbeth, College-street, also deposed that in view of the circumstances it was not his place to say anything about the matter. He knew there had been interference with the course of nature, that something had been done before the miscarriage occurred to prevent deceased ever being in condition to recover.

Dr. Luke Teskey read the result of the post mortem which, after describing the appearances, concluded by saying the abortion might have been produced mechanically or combined with the use of drugs, but there were no distinctive signs of what had been used.

The anonymous letter that gave the detectives information of the crime was read to the jury. In summing up Coroner Powell said there was ample evidence to connect Gamble with the abortion and death of Lizzie Bray and such a crime was murder. "We medical men are all liable to make mistakes," he said, "and we are all guilty of errors in judgment, but a very grave error has been made in this case. The doctor who signed that certificate of burial made a grave mistake. Had that death certificate been refused properly, then the man guilty of this awful crime would have been secured. However, yielding to the very natural wishes of the friends of deceased, the certificate was given and the doctor was derelict in his duty. I have to tell you that Dr. Ferguson swore that the girl was murdered, and that he knew of this attempt being made, and knowing all this, gave a certificate to cover it up; and it nearly caused a murdered girl to be buried without the knowledge of any authority. Through carelessness and misplaced kindness a culprit has escaped and is now a fugitive from justice."

The jury returned the following verdict: "That on Dec. 19, 1887, at 69 Walton-street, Elizabeth Bray died of peritonitis brought on by abortion, the said abortion being caused by drugs administered, or instruments used, by John Gamble. And we find that the said John Gamble did murder the said Elizabeth Bray. Farther, we are of opinion that Dr. Ferguson, the physician, should be highly censured for granting a burial certificate knowing and suspecting what he did."

The U.S. Iron Trade for 1887.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—In a review of the American iron trade for the year 1887, General Manager James M. Swank of the American Iron and Steel Association says: The year was one of great activity and fair prosperity. Production in all leading branches of the manufacture of iron and steel was the largest in our history. We estimate our production of pig iron at 6,250,000 gross tons, or about 600,000 more than in 1886; of Bessemer steel rails 1,950,000 gross tons, or about 375,000 tons more than in 1886. The total importations of iron and steel in all forms in 1887 aggregated nearly 1,800,000 tons. Our production of iron ore in 1887 was about 11,000,000 gross tons, and our imports in the same year amounted to about 1,250,000 tons.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

To Avoid Baldness or Gray Hair.

Use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from Dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature grayness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists.

Greatly Excited.

People are apt to get greatly excited in case of sudden accident and injury. It is well to be prepared for such emergencies. Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the handiest remedy known for burns, scalds, bruises, lameness, pain and all wounds of the flesh. It is used internally and externally. 2wld

A Fatal Attack.

A fatal attack of croup is a frequent occurrence among children. Every household should be guarded by keeping Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam at hand. It breaks up colds, coughs, croup, asthma and bronchitis in a remarkable manner. 2wld

I HAVE been a sufferer from catarrh for the past eight years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now certify with pleasure that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy.—an invaluable Balm. —Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Ave., Brooklyn. eodw1

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tories mean business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to shake a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—DOLLAR. Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 33 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realising a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $8.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.60, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Four Hundred Children.

The disposition of the four hundred children who are to form the chorus at the musical festival in the George street Methodist church next Monday evening, Jan. 9th, has been satisfactorily arranged for. This will furnish ample accommodation. Everyone should go and hear the children sing. Besides there will be good local amateur talent. On Tuesday evening the services in connection with the world's week of prayer were held in St. Andrew's Church. There was a fair attendance. The meeting was in charge of Rev. J. C. Wilson, of Ashburnham, and addresses were delivered by Rev. P. Clifton Parker, Baptist, and Rev. Mr. Thompson (George street Methodist church). There were the usual devotional exercises during the meeting. The services to-night will be held in Charlotte street church, Rev. E. F. Torrance delivering an address.

A Happy Event.

The Brantford Expositor says :—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phair, of this city, was the scene of a happy event on Thursday afternoon of this week, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter Maggie, to F. C. Colbeck, Esq., B. A., Classical Master of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. Miss Whilimine Phair, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by R. A. Paterson, B. A., Mathamatical Master of Gananoque High School. The ceremony took place in the presence of a large number of guests the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Mr. Woodsworth this city. The presents were numerous and handsome. After ample justice had been done to the bountiful repast which had been provided, the happy couple bade adieu to their many friends, and took the evening train for Toronto, followed by the best wishes of their friends for their future happiness and prosperity.

Memorial Tablet to Dr. Tassie.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that the second annual commencement exercises of the Galt Collegiate Institute were marked by the unveiling of a memorial tablet "contributed by the citizens of Galt as a mark of their appreciation of the indefatigable efforts put forth by the late Dr. Tassie, in the cause of higher education." The tablet was unveiled by Hon. James Young, who paid an eloquent tribute to his worth as a Christian gentleman and as one of the foremost educationists of his day. The speaker traced the progress of the Institute under the principalship of Dr. Tassie, whom he characterised as the Arnold of Canada. A man of marked individuality, courtly manners and great force of character, he left his impress upon the students under his charge many of whom now occupy prominent positions in the professions and in public and commercial life. The fame of "Tassie's School" and its reverend principal was not confined to the various provinces of the Dominion, but extended to many states of the Union. At the conclusion of Mr Young's remarks, a nephew of Dr. Tassie, who happened to be present, acknowledged the tribute paid to the memory of his dead relative on behalf of his aunt and other members of the family.

Successful Complimentary Concert.

The Convent Pupils Musically Honour Bishop Dowling—An Entertainment Worthy of its Object—A Most Complete Success in Every Respect.

Tuesday evening Bradburn's Opera House was crowded to the doors on the occasion of the "grand concert given by the pupils of the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame, as an offering of respectful homage to His Lordship Thomas J. Dowling, D.D.," bishop of Peterborough, and to say that the entertainment was worthy of the occasion is only giving it its due mead of praise. The programme was given entirely by the pupils of the Convent, and the smoothness of the music throughout reflects the highest credit upon the directress, Mother St. Aubert. The programme may be divided into two parts, the instrumental and the vocal portions. The former consisted of classical selections rendered on three pianos and an organ, supported by Prof. Doucet's orchestra. In these selections the parts were taken by 32 pupils, including the gold and silver medalists of the convent in music, and the grace, finish, excellent harmony, delicate shading, admirable time, and general exquisite ensemble, speak volumes in respect of the high character of the musical instruction imparted at the convent. The vocal programme opened with a chorus of welcome well rendered, principally by the infant pupils, followed by the salutatory address delivered by Emma Timbers. To this succeeded the charming chorus, the "Little Ones' Song"—"We Really Can't Keep Still" —which was given with very pleasing effect by a chorus of diminutive pupils dressed in white, and in which the solos were taken with great aplomb by Daisy Dolan, Josie Morrow and Addie Doris. The piece de resistance of the evening, so to speak, was the delightful operetta, "Little Red Riding Hood," which was capitally put on and rendered throughout without a hitch. The "cast" was most complete, including full choruses and what represented a corps de ballet. The cast of characters was as follows :—

LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD	GERTIE SULLIVAN
Mother	Jennie McCabe
Grandmother	Annie Dunn
Wolf	Maggie McGarity
Woodman	Agnes Stewart
Fairies Buttercup	May Donoghue
	Kate Griffin
Robin	Maggie Doherty
Forty Bluebell	Beery of Lit le Girls
Rose	Minnie Bexley
Cuckoo	Pupils of the Convent

The operetta began with an opening chorus, the solo part taken by Miss Maggie Doherty. The action progresses in the manner, familiar to all readers of juvenile literature, giving an episode in the career of "Little Red Riding Hood" at a critical period of her life. Sufficient liberty was taken with the libretto to insure the inculcation of a sound moral lesson, on the dangers of deviating from the "narrow path." The music, bright and sparkling, was well rendered, as a rule, by both chorus and soloists, some of the latter being unusually excellent. In the title role little Gertie Sullivan was really superb. Her singing, her dramatic action, her self-possession and her exact appreciation of the demands made upon the character impersonated were indeed remarkable in so young a child. She was the centre of the operetta, and well did she sustain her character. Throughout the whole of her rather arduous role she did not make a single false step, and she richly earned the hearty applause freely bestowed upon her. Miss Jennie McCabe took the part of "Mother" with great success and the same may be said of Miss Maggie McGarity, "The Wolf," and Miss Agnes Stewart, "Woodman". Too high praise cannot be given to Miss Annie Dunn as "Grandmother." Her spinning-wheel songs, including Scotch and Irish airs, were rendered with the taste and precision of a prima donna. Miss Dunn is a soprano of more than usual ability—both as to voice, culture and expression—and she won fresh laurels on this occasion. The fairies played their parts with excellent effect, and the entire operetta was done with the most praiseworthy excellence, and gave the audience more real enjoyment than many a grand opera presented by professional performers. The "Bird Cantata" was another charming musical allegory, in which the several parts were well taken by Misses Clara Scollard, "Owl"; Jennie McCabe, "Quail"; Agnes Stewart, "Whip-poor-will" and Maggie Fobert, "Crow". The comic dialogue, "A Precious Pickle", taught the moral lesson of obedience and was given in excellent manner by Misses Maud Morrow, Maggie Doherty, Agnes Stewart, Essie Crummie, Annie Simons, Jennie McCabe and Ella Crowley. Miss Essie Crummie as "Juno" the negress servant, was the life of the piece and did capitally well, her oddities of speech and action provoking roars of laughter. The vocal duet "Happy New Year" was most charmingly rendered by Miss Annie Dunn, soprano, and Miss Mary Tierney, contralto. It was a decided musical treat, and was well worthy of the warm applause with which it was greeted. Too much praise cannot be given to the general musical excellence of the entertainment throughout, while the object of the concert was not for once lost sight of. Frequent references expressive of veneration and respect for the bishop, were made, incidental to the various pieces, and care was taken in every selection "to point a moral" as well as "adorn a tale." His Lordship, Bishop Dowling, and a large number of priests from town and vicinity, honored the entertainment with their presence and expressed their delight with its character and success. The good sisters of the convent are well rewarded for the pains they have taken, by the unusual success of their efforts to please their bishop and clergy, the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral and the general public.

Eastern Ontario Dairymen.

The Annual Convention held in Peterborough—Large and Representative Attendance — The Dairy Question—How to Improve.

The eleventh annual convention of the Dairymen's Association for Eastern Ontario convened in the old music hall, Peterborough, at 10.30 this morning. The President, Mr. D. M. MacPherson, of Lancaster, occupied the chair and called the meeting to order. There were about one hundred representative men, from all parts of Eastern Ontario, present.

The President, in his opening address, expressed his pleasure at seeing so large and representative an attendance, and said he felt that no mistake had been made in selecting Peterborough as the place of meeting. They were assembled, he said, for the purpose of educating themselves in order to improve their dairy products, and to so apply that education that the best results may be obtained. The great question that had to be faced, he said, was how to produce a better quality of cheese for less money. He phophesied that in the near future—next year—cheese would have to be sold for 11c. So far the Canadian Dairymen had had almost a monopoly of the business, but other countries were waking up to the question, and the result would be keener competition, for which Canadians would have to prepare by still greater improvement and a still stronger co-operation and union To this end the grade of cattle would have to be improved and the improvement kept up. How to produce a greater quantity of better quality of cheese so as to secure the preference in foreign markets was, he said, the great question; and it was answered by the advice — keep a fertile soil and healthy animal. He particularly impressed the necessity of keeping cows in perfect health in order to secure the best results. He urged the dairymen to keep their barns in good repair and well ventilated. He said he believed the barn was the germ of a farmer's success. He also urged the use of manure as a fertilizer. He advocated strongly the appointment of inspectors for each section.

Mr. D. DERBYSHIRE congratulated the president on his excellent address He thought that something should be done to elevate the standard of cheese factories. Even in Brockville section he said there were factories standing in which one could look down and see the earth and then look up and see the heavens. In such factories the best cheese could not be made. Such factories were a detriment to the section in which they were. He urged dairymen to keep the cows healthy and have first-class makers (even if they had to pay a good price) as the means to attain the best results. He said that patrons should take a pride in the factories in their respective sections, and stick to their own factories and endeavor to build them up, instead of running all over wherever they were offered 1/16 of a cent more. He denounced the custom of contracting for cheese, and thought the market would be better if regular rates were made at the ruling prices, instancing as an example that the butter trade of Canada had deteriorated because of it. He thought the idea of having an inspector (or instructor) was a good one, and advocated the formation of a fund to pay their salaries to be contributed to by makers, patrons and buyers.

Mr. J. T. WARRINGTON was the next speaker. He strongly impressed the necessity of comfortable and commodious factories. He also denounced the acts of some presidents in hiring as cheese-makers on small salaries, young people who had only served a few months or a year and considered themselves competent. As regarded contracting for cheese, he didn't think it could be altogether abolished just yet. In conclusion he paid a compliment to the dairymen of Peterborough and the quality of goods made here.

A general discussion then followed, several gentlemen asking questions of the President and the other speakers, which were answered. Messrs. Haggarty, Hoard (Wisconsin), Warrington, McCrea, Foster, Prof. Whitton, Bissell, McKargar and Prof. Robertson taking part.

Mr. HOARD made a vigorous onslaught upon the class of dairymen who took no interest in the improvement of the milk. He wanted to see no more watering, better care of the cows and better factories.

Prof. ROBERTSON suggested that in their interests dairy schools might be established throughout the province, to meet in the winter and discuss important subjects. He proposed that the Convention appoint a committee to interview the Ontario Government on the subject.

After a Committee on "Order of Business" had been appointed, the convention adjourned till 2 p.m.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

PRESIDENT CARNOT SAYS FRANCE WILL PRESERVE PEACE.

Annual Conference of Musicians—A Vessel Wrecked in Waterford Harbor—Germany's Strength—The Pope and the Pilgrims—Francis Joseph Does Not Want War.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A bark of 1800 tons, supposed to be an American vessel, has been wrecked at the entrance to Waterford harbor. Her crew of twenty-five were drowned.

The vessel is supposed to be the ship Eureka, Capt. Southard, which sailed from San Francisco Aug. 10 for Queenstown with a cargo of wheat, and which ran by Queenstown in a gale.

At the annual conference of Professional Musicians, held in London to-day, Prof. Calkin Lavallee, of Boston, Mass., read a paper on "The Advance of Music in America." The American Music Teachers' Association; he said, was gradually spreading, and has now a firm hold in every State and in Canada. Prof. Lavallee was tendered a vote of thanks.

M. Herbette, the French ambassador at Berlin, has received instructions from the President to assure Emperor William that so long as he remains at the head of the Republic, no French Government will be allowed to adopt a warlike policy.

A special from Paris to The New York Herald says: In an interview with Councillor Von Ladenberg, German Consul at Paris, who called to express the fears of German business people for the immediate future, Bismarck said: "Will people never stop bothering me about the attitude of France and the French preparations? Germany is stronger than France. We have nothing to fear—except an unforeseen and unjust attack—from any quarter. Even then Germany is strong enough to resist a simultaneous attack on two, or for that matter, three sides, but," added the Chancellor, smiling, "the best guarantee of peace is the bad powder used for the Lebel rifles."

In replying to the Italian pilgrims yesterday the Pope said that the Roman question could not be looked upon as merely an Italian one. It interested the whole Catholic world. The revival of the question made him confident a settlement in accordance with justice would be made.

A London despatch to The New York Times says one of the most notable things to be seen at Rome during the past week was the way in which France exerted herself, through President Carnot and M. Flourens, to make friends with the Pope, with the obvious object of widening the breach between the Vatican and the Quirinal.

M. Delianoff, the Russian Minister of Public Instruction, has been informed by the Czar that the University statutes must be modified. The reforms will be effected gradually, as that it may not appear that the Government is influenced by the recent disorders.

The Cologne Gazette publishes a despatch from Vienna which says that in the message sent by Emperor Francis Joseph to the Kaiser on the occasion of New Year this passage occurred. "God Grant that the unsettled political situation may speedily be cleared, so that our people may be rewarded and the blessings of peace preserved."

A rumor is current in political circles that Lord Randolph Churchill will be offered the Governor-Generalship of Canada. It is extremely improbable that this offer will be accepted, if made.

The Canadian Gazette, in connection with the question of a new and improved Atlantic mail service, urges that the Canadian Government should interpret the public mind of Canada by deciding to secure a service at least equal to the existing New York service. An increased subsidy, of course, will be necessary, but the requisite cost cannot exceed what quite a generation ago was considered not too much to pay.

The Tribune's cable says: The Nineteenth Century for January has a rather remarkable article by Professor Goldwin Smith on "American Statesmen." He reviews the series of biographies under the title edited by Mr. Morse, which he thinks a valuable series, some of the volumes being full of experience and useful teaching. Our English critic notes a change in the American treatment of American history, both in style and substance. Grandiloquence is replaced by austerity and Fourth of July fiction is giving place to historical facts. Mr. Smith himself is not over-lenient. He is certainly unjust to Samuel Adams, but his tribute to Alexander Hamilton is one of the best that have yet anywhere appeared. He fully acknowledges the greatness of Washington, and even has an original remark to offer. "The writer in this series," says Mr. Smith, "seems to think that after all has been said there is something in the character of Washington which eludes analysis. Is this mysterious element anything more than the decided strain of a British officer which Washington had contracted from his military associations? A simpler character, we should say, does not offer itself to the inspection of history."

Halton Election Voided.

MILTON, Jan. 3.—To-day was fixed as the date for the trial of the petition for the unseating of Mr. John Waldie, M.P. for Halton. The judge appointed to preside at the trial was Mr. Justice Rose, and everything was ready for the investigation when Mr. Waldie, having discovered that one or two of his agents had, contrary to his instructions, contravened the Election Law by paying small sums of money as traveling expenses to voters living as a distance, of his own accord gave up the seat, which has been declared vacant, and a new election will be held. Mr. Henderson, the Tory candidate at the general election, did did not lay claim to the seat, as his agents are alleged to have done exactly as those of Mr. Waldie, and the Conservative managers consented to the proposition to have a new trial of strength.

The Color Line in Texas.

WACO, Tex., Jan. 4.—Eleven armed men on Monday night rode up to the house of West Erath (colored), near West Station, and left orders for him to leave that portion of the country within ten days or suffer the consequences. The same night in the same neighborhood the wire fence surrounding 100 acres belonging to Jake Oaks and Bell Erath (both colored) was cut entirely down. The negroes had just finished paying for the land and were fencing it for cultivation this year.

THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST.

Farmers Satisfied and Prosperous—Trade Possibilities Unlimited.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—Mr Thomas Tait, Assistant Superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Moose Jaw, N.W.T., was in the city yesterday. In reply to questions, he said:

"The outlook in Manitoba and the Northwest is bright and the farmers are satisfied and prosperous, and with good cause. That the farmers are prosperous is evidenced on every side by the comfortable houses they are building for themselves, by the erection of commodious stables and barns, the large amount of fencing being done, but most important of all, by the large increase in their stock and the superior breeds being introduced. There are many authentic cases of yields of 47 and 48 bushels of wheat to the acre. When I say this I mean 'average yields,' over a whole field of grain. Even as high as 58 and 60 bushels have been claimed."

"Is the local traffic on the western division increasing?"

"Yes, indeed, in the most marvellous way. Not only is the local passenger travel increasing daily but the amount and the variety of the through travel is astonishing. The freight business, too, is increasing largely. New avenues of commerce seem to be opening up in every direction. We are shipping our flour to China and Japan, also dairy produce. In fact the trade possibilities seem unlimited. All we want now is people, and everything points to a large immigration from all quarters during the coming year."

THE PALL MALL GAZETTE COMMISSIONER'S LETTER.

Three Out of Five Intelligent Men in Canada Are in Favor of the New Movement—Goldwin Smith's Reply to Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—There is a proposition in the city to boom silver by a powerful syndicate, following the Paris example in copper. The appreciation in silver will be of vital importance to the Manchester trade.

The Pall Mall Gazette's traveling commissioner, writing from Toronto, says Commercial Union is the coming question for Canada. It is talked about everywhere and is a question which will split Canadian parties and will determine the whole relationship between Canada and the United States for years to come, and affect to a great, if not vital, degree the future of the Anglo-Saxon race upon the globe. Both The Toronto Globe and Mail, the first being the Liberal organ and the second recently converted from Conservatism to Independence, vie with each other in the strength of their support. "My own experience," says the commissioner, "is that outside of Ottawa, which is the centre of Ministerialism, three out of five of the most intelligent men I have met are enthusiastic Commercial Unionists."

Prof. Goldwin Smith replies in the St. James Gazette to Mr. Gladstone's attack on Dunbar Ingram's history of the Union. He adduces evidence to show that Mr. Gladstone totally fails to substantiate his charge in relation to the Irish Rebellion of 1798 against the humanity of the British Army.

THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

The Senators Discuss the President's Message—A Bill to Create a Zollverein.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The President's message was under discussion in the Senate to-day. Mr. Sherman (Ohio) speaking on the tariff question, said he was willing to correct the irregularities and reduce the surplus by such methods as would relieve the taxpayer without injuring the great productive industries of the country. He was willing, as enjoined by the President, to take a broad and national contemplation of the subject regarding the examination of the details of tariff laws with a view to reduction of taxes, but he could not strike at the industrial interests fostered by the tariff laws. He could not intensify the struggle now going on between employers and employed by inviting increasing competition and reducing wages.

He preferred the development, increase and growth of the productions of this country without regard to the policy, or theories, or interests of other nations. Whatever might be said of other nations, protection to home industries, as embodied in the tariff laws, was the best for this country, and he for one proposed to maintain it even against the advice of the President.

Mr. Voorhees (Ind.) said the subject of taxation was as old as the Government itself, and yet it was as fresh as if full of interest today to the laboring masses of mankind as ever at any former period of the world's history. The contraction of the volume of currency had always been a policy marked by disaster and suffering and accursed by every friend of the general welfare of the country. But when that abominable policy was still further aided and executed by snatching, as it were, the money of the people from their very hands at the rate of $10,000,000 a month, without necessity, excuse or palliation, every honest man had to revolt against such wanton robbery. It was a crime against every home, every fireside and every living man and woman in the United States. It was a crime national in its proportions, gigantic in its strength, omnipresent in its visitation and brutal in its rapacity.

Discussing the details of the tariff, Mr. Voorhees continued that as a choice between reducing internal revenue and customs tariff taxes, he would labor to cheapen such as woolens, linens, cotton fabrics, salt, lumber, coal, iron, steel and all other staple commodities, rather than such articles as were indulged in from acquired habits or luxurious modes of living.

At the close of Mr. Voorhees' speech Mr. Sherman moved that the message be referred to the Finance Committee, but action on that motion was withheld to give Mr. Teller an opportunity to make some remarks.

Mr. Teller (Col.) denied that the people were suffering under burdens of taxation or were crying for relief. Whenever the voice of the people had been heard it had declared it to be a fundamental American principle that the public debts shall be paid. There was $260,000,000 to become payable four years hence, and how, he asked, was this debt to be provided for if the revenues were to be reduced to the level of current expenses?

Mr. Townsend (Ill.) introduced a bill in the House to-day to establish free commercial intercourse among the nations of America and the Dominion of Canada by the creation of an American Customs Union, or Zollverein.

This bill seeks to secure free commerce on this continent, and the increase of the American merchant marine, a common system of weights and measures, a common system of silver coins in all the American countries, and a plan of arbitration of all questions, disputes and differences among those countries that now exists or may arise.

Mr. Dingley (Me.) introduced a bill making liable to seizure any foreign vessel taking fish within three miles of the coast of the United States, unless under rights conferred by treaty or reciprocal agreement. Also a resolution calling upon the President for information in reference to an alleged discrimination in tolls by the Canadian Government against vessels passing through the Welland Canal destined for United States lake ports.

The London World's Latest Celebrity—The Canadian Ocean Mail Service Should Not Fall Behind the New York—Imperial Subsidy to the Pacific Mail Service.

From The Empire.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Sir George Stephen and Lady Stephen return to Canada on Saturday via New York. Political quidnuncs in Canada are doubtless making surmises as to the outcome of Sir George's visit. As a matter of fact there is no outcome. The details of the Imperial subsidy to the Canada Pacific Mail Service are still under discussion, and the steamer contracts will not be issued until the details have been finally arranged. Sir George's visit is reality partook of a social nature.

Sir John Macdonald at Earnscliffe is the subject of The World's article this week on celebrities. The writer speaks most appreciatively of the Premier's personal qualities, and of his great work, the creation of a national spirit in the Dominion. He regards Sir John Macdonald as an effective exponent of enlightened Conservatism, and really an Imperial statesman.

It is expected here that the new Atlantic mail contract will need an increased subsidy. A strong feeling is expressed that the Canadian ought not to fall behind the New York service.

Mr. Thomas Skinner, a recognised authority in city circles, read a paper before the Institute of Bankers to-night on "British Investments in American Railways." He strongly urged the companies to face the question of rendering the present so-called bonded debt a permanent part of the capital. He instanced the cases of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railroads to show the advantage of permanent stock to a company, and the popularity of the same among British investors.

Toronto municipal bonds are rising. This is expected to assist the issue of the new bonds.

Judgment in the Halton Case to be Given on Saturday.

MILTON, Jan. 4.—The hearing of the petition to unseat Mr. John Waldie, M. P. for Halton, came on for hearing before Mr. Justice Rose to-day.

Mr. McGibbon appeared for the petitioner, and Mr. Lash, Q. C., for the respondent.

Mr. McGibbon, in opening, stated that an agreement had been arrived at on Monday evening last whereby the respondent agreed to admit bribery by agents and consenting that the election be set aside with costs.

On His Lordship holding that under the statute a charge of bribery by an agent must be proved in court, in order that the proper report under the statute might be returned by the trial judge to the clerk. Mr. McGibbon further stated that he had been engaged all day yesterday in Toronto, that counsel for both parties did not think proof of a charge necessary under the circumstances, and that it being reported that the case had been settled none of the witnesses subpœnaed had attended, and therefore he was unable to proceed to-day.

After discussion, counsel for both parties agreed that the hearing be adjourned to Osgoode hall, Toronto, on Saturday next, when one of the admitted charges could be proven.

His Lordship made the necessary minute of enlargement and the proceedings terminated for the day.

The Annual Convention held in Peterborough—Large and Representative Attendance — The Dairy Question—How to Improve.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

MILK PRODUCTION.

Prof. ROBERTS, of Cornell University, said what struck him most on reaching this side of the lake was the thirst for knowledge evinced by Canadians, which he would endeavor to satisfy in one direction. The first step in "milk production" was a soil abounding in rich elements of vegetable products. Without a fertile farm, the first element in milk production was wanting. He pointed out that it was more profitable in the ratio of 3 to 1 to exchange wheat for bran to feed cows than to feed the wheat itself. It was a bad economy to feed good fodder to a poor cow, the want was a "business" cow. In developing special qualities there was often a sacrifice of an indispensable quality—vital power. The beginning of success in breeding dairy cattle—blood first, feed second. All thorough-bred animals were not necessarily good animals. Breed cows with good form and milking qualities, and, what is essential, good vital powers. The mistake was in developing special qualities in stock to a dangerous degree. Continual change in the constitution of a herd resulted in eliminating poor milking animals and making beef of them and supplying their place with good milkers. Another essential to good milk products was making cows comfortable in every respect. Every form of discomfort operated against the flow of milk—comfortable quarters and good food rendered dairying possible 52 weeks in the year. At Cornell college in the worst part of the year, November, the cost of 100 lbs of milk was 74 cents, and the average products of a herd of 21 cows was $58 85 per day at a cost of 15 3/10 cents per day per cow. These results were obtained under the best conditions of food and treatment. If any dairyman had a dog let him kill it at once. He had made experiments with a cow, to prove that "dogging" her, once only, decreased the flow of milk 30 per cent. and the butter yield 20 per cent.

Mr. HOARD, of Wisconsin, gave instances of the bad effects of fright and nervous disturbance upon the butter yield of the milk.

PROF. ROBERTS urged dairymen to find out what they wanted in the way of a cow and to get it—a cheese cow for cheese and a butter cow for butter.

PROF. ROBERTSON of the Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont., said the gist of Prof. Roberts' speech was to have the farmer produce a good deal out of what costs little—a good breed, good lodging, good feed, comforts and kindness—all these cost little and gave great returns—entirely out of proportion of cost.

In response to a question to Prof. Roberts as to what was the best breed for producing milk for a cheese district, he said the matter depended upon the nature of the soil of the farm, and one the farmer believed was the best; and if it wasn't the best, to make it so.

PROF. HOARD said it depended on circumstances. When milk was pooled as in cooperative cheese-making, each patron should use a cow that gave the milk about as rich as the average. If his milk was richer he should use cows that gave more and not so rich milk. He would consider milk delivered at a factory containing less than 1½ per cent of butter fat, had been tampered with by the introduction of water or by the starvation process.

The next subject taken up was the Relative Profits of introduced by Prof. Barnard, of Quebec, who gave interesting details of an experience of 32 years in making experiments as to the relative profit of dairying and beef raising. He showed that fatting and dairy stock require different treatment and and feed with a vast preponderance in favor of dairying, illustrated by showing that the same amount of feed would serve for two cows of 750 lbs. as for a fattening steer of 1350 lbs., with the results in profits vastly in favor of the dairy cows.

This paper provoked considerable discussion and considerable difference of opinion.

Prof. Hoard digressed so to show how the ammonia of stalls and stables was being wasted, and how it could be saved by the simple use of land plaster which fixes the ammonia and prevents its escape. He insisted that one-half to the value of stable manure.

EVENING SESSION.

The Mayor having placed the council chamber at the disposal of the Convention, the evening session was held there. The room was packed.

MAYOR STEVENSON being present was called upon to say a few words. He welcomed, on behalf of the corporation, the Association to Peterborough, and he hoped none of them would have cause to regret the choice. There were many sights of interest in Peterborough, and to enable visitors from a distance to inspect our town, he offered to place a couple of large pleasure sleighs at their disposal at any time that they wished.

The President and Mr. Derbyshire acknowledged the Mayor's kindness, accepting the offer for to-morrow morning between 9 and 10 o'clock.

ENSILAGE.

Professor HOARD then delivered an able address on "Ensilage". He went on to show how ensilage was best made and the manner of building a silo in which to store it. The ensilage, silo and methods of to-day, he said, were quite revolutionized within the last two years. The old ensilage and silo were very expensive; those of to-day were brought down to a cheap matter. He gave his personal experience in the matter. The value of ensilage as a fodder he proved by stating that while a cow fed on good hay would cost 17c. a day, with ensilage, bran and indian meal could be fed for 9c. a day with just the same milking results. Three tons of ensilage they found was equal to a ton of the best meadow hay as forage. From this he went on to show how much profit there was in feeding a large herd. He always used plank in making his silo as it was not so liable to freeze around the edges as stone. A silo for convenience sake should be about the shape of a parallelogram. It should be constructed with a foundation wall about two feet high, on this foundation wall a timber for silo lying flush with the inside of the silo; the bottom of the silo filled a foot or so with clay to bring it up a little above the water on the ground outside. On this sill set 2x10, or better 2x12, studding right around a foot apart. Cut an inch notch in it and set the stud on the sill, and the part extending down to the clay. You have to guard against lateral pressure, he said, for silos have been known to burst on account of their being too weakly constructed. On the inside of the stud set up purlins. The silo should be roofed so as to shed rain. The Professor urged using tar paper in roofing. On the outsides of the silo clapboard, or loose board and batton. Now the silo is constructed. The manner of packing was next touched upon. He always allowed his corn (and he used a southern corn because of its saccharine qualities) to dry a bit before putting it in. His plan was to first fill in about two feet of apartment No. 1, 12 feet square, put in a dividing plank, then fill No. 2, put in another plank, and finally No. 3 the same way. He used coarse swale grass in packing. The silage should become heated to from 120 to 140 degrees to destroy all germs of mold, etc. Then go back to No. 1, put on another layer, which would cool the bottom layer, and repeat. This process would make a gradual filling, gradual heating, with no after-expansion. He went into details on each point. Anyone can get his exact description by writing for a copy of the report of the meeting when it is published.

A number of minor questions were asked the Professor, to which he replied.

FINE POINTS IN CHEESE-MAKING.

PROFESSOR ROBERTS next gave an able address on the above subject, stating a number of common errors into which makers fell, whereby the quality of cheese was injured. He said that in nine-tenths of the cheese made in Canada there was an imperfect flavor. If makers would study these weak points, he said, and endeavor to remedy them, the result would be a great improvement in the cheese. Another thing he had found out was a great want of uniformity in the make of the cheese. As to the defects in flavor he assigned several causes. One was that curd was cut in too large pieces for cooking and pressing, with the result that the whey was not entirely expelled from the centre of the curd, and the cheese lost its perfect flavor. He would say curd should be cut about ⅜ of an inch. Another point was the exact stage of temperature or boiling at which curd should be taken from the vat for pressing. There was some difficulty in knowing what was sweet dipping and what acid dipping; much depended here on the maker's skill and intelligence. Then in salting curd the temperature was often cooled too suddenly and the process of forming perfect cheese arrested. About 75 or 80 degrees was, he considered, about the proper temperature. After a number of questions had been put and answered, the convention adjourned till morning.

THURSDAY.

At 10:30 the president called the members to order. The attendance was larger than that of the first day. Mr. Henry Wade, secretary of the Agriculture and Arts Association and R. Vance, member of the Council were present, as well as T. Blezzard, M. P. P., and John Lang, M. P.

MR. P. R. DALY, treasurer presented his financial statement showing that the total receipts were $1900,06 and the disbursement $1430,89, leaving a balance on hand of $469,-17. The report was adopted.

Mr. D. DERBYSHIRE made a verbal report of the deputation which interviewed the Commissioner of Agriculture with respect to increasing the Government grant to the Association, stating that the western associations had allowed political consideration to influence them and there had not been the co-operation necessary to secure an increase of the grant, and it was proposed, in order to increase the funds of the Association, so as to admit of the employment of additional cheese instructors, to assess each factory, say $10,00.

Mr. PLATT HINMAN, Grafton, presented the report of the Nominating Committee.

It was decided to vote for the officers nominated individually, with the following result:—

PRESIDENT—J. K. McCarger, Belleville.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT—D. Vanderwaters, Chatterton.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT—Jas. Bissel, Algonquin.

DIRECTORS—Division 1—W. Eager, South Mountain; Division 2 — Edward Kidd, North Gower; Division 3—F. H. McCrea, Brockville; Division 4—Jas. Haggarty, W. Huntingdon; Division 5—Platt Hinman, Grafton; Division 6—Henry Wade, Toronto.

AUDITORS—Thomas Miller, Spencerville, and J. J. Foster, Hastings.

For president, Mr. W. S. Cook, of Belleville, proposed Mr. T. Blezzard, M.P.P., East Peterborough, but that gentleman positively declined to be a candidate.

Mr. MCPHERSON, in retiring from the chair, said he did so with considerable satisfaction as the financial affairs of the Association, the past year, had been well attended to.

An unanimous and enthusiastic vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. McPherson, the retiring President, for his services.

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells s cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56.; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

A Fatal Attack.

A fatal attack of croup is a frequent occurrence among children. Every household should be guarded by keeping Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam at hand. It breaks up colds, coughs, croup, asthma and bronchitis in a remarkable manner. 2wld

A Remarkable Case.

Frederick Wiese, of Minden, Ont., suffered with running sores on both legs, which the best of physicians failed to cure. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him completely. Scrofula, always due to bad colds, is curable when timely treated with B.B.B. 2wld

Unlimited.

The old or the young may at all times and all seasons of the year take Burdock Blood Bitters with benefit when requiring a blood purifying tonic, or a regulator of the stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys. 2wld

THE TWO BIG PLATES.

Entries for the Queen's and Woodstock Events—A Good String.

The entries for the Queen's and Woodstock Plates, which closed Jan. 2, were obtained from Secretary Ogden, of the Ontario Jockey Club yesterday. For the former event there are nineteen, and for the latter ten entries, just one less in each than last year. As the final closing of the Queen's Plate, as will be seen below, is not till May 1 there may probably be added several to the list. The Woodstock Plate finally closed Jan 2. Among the entries for Her Majesty's guineas are several of last year's candidates, and also many strangers which have never performed. As, no doubt, is well known the gold coins are for maidens. There are several among the lot that have showed up well in private, but on public performances the post of favorite should go to Fred Henry, who for the past three years has finished second in this event. It is not yet known into whose hands he will fall to be prepared, but if he is in anything like shape his chances are second to none.

Harry Cooper is another of last year's candidates, and has probably the best claim of being installed second favorite. He did not show up very well in the Queen's Plate last year, but on the second day of the meeting he ran a good race for the Woodstock, and came very near making a dead heat with the imported filly Lady Darrell. Many of the spectators declared it in favor of the son of Long Taw, although it was decided against him. He ran several creditable races at Niagara Falls, but was out-classed. He will this year, it is believed, be trained by "Dick" O'Leary, who is a thorough horseman and a good trainer, and no doubt by being in his care he will be looked upon as first favorite before they go to the post.

Mr. William Hendrie, the Hamilton turfman, has three representatives but it is believed that the one that will represent the stable is Long Shot, another son of Long Taw, though Wild Bruce and Lucky Star are also named. Wild Bruce started last season and was well thought of, but failed to come up to expectations. In the above account of Mr. Hendrie's horses in training for this year, Wild Bruce not mentioned among the number. He is kept at the Crystal Palace grounds, inside the city, and is not in training, though he may loom at the May meeting. Long Shot is the stable's fancy and good reports come of him. It is more than likely that he will carry the stable's colors.

Edmonton, the London representative has also sported silk for the Queen's Plate, having finished third to Willie W. in 1885. Bessie, a representative from the east, also faced the starter for the Guineas last year, when she finished in the rear. Of the others Inspire and Evangeline both performed between the flags in a steeplechase at the Hunt Club races last fall, in which the former won.

Of the rear-starters Baffle and Vickino have both showed fast trials, and to make their chances stronger they will be trained by W. E. Owen, who will also have Longspin under his care. The latter has started once, at Montreal last year, in the Derby, in which he finished second. "Billy" has proven himself an expert with horses, and moreover he has been exceptionally successful with platers, having trained several winners, the victory of Bonnie Duke last year being due to form and the riding.

Of the balance, Glen Foe, Cast Off, D. W. C., Bonnie Boy, Black Bird and Princess B, very little is known. Glen Foe was purchased by G. L. Hayden of Fergus recently from Mr. Hodgins of London. As Walker, in whose name the colt appears, is Mr. Hayden's trainer, he may likely belong to Mr. Hayden. Bonnie Boy is a London representative, Black Bird the Orkney Farm, and Princess B., who is sired by Princeton, no doubt is owned near Woodstock.

Adjournment of the Case of the Arrested Apprentice Until Saturday.

QUEBEC, Jan. 4.—This morning at the Recorder's Court, on behalf of the Typographical Unions, Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Miller appeared for the apprentice Lafontaine, who was arrested last evening on a warrant issued by Messrs. Demers & Co., alleging that he had failed in carrying out the contracts of indentures and was therefore liable to imprisonment. Mr. Lemieux appeared for Mr. Demers. Mr. Miller asked that the case be adjourned till Saturday next and the court granted that delay.

Ice Speeders at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—The ice races here are dated from Feb. 11 to Feb. 18, and the entries close on Jan. 11. The premiums amount to $1500. The opening event is a stallion race and the closing one the free-for-all trotters and pacers, the purse being $300, divided.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

Benefort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The youth of S.S. No. 4 are now receiving public school instruction from the first lady teacher ever employed here.

Mr. J. Roberts, of Alnwick, was one of the losers in the Norwood burglary. He had just mailed twenty dollars per registered letter in proper time to lose.

There is now an unbroken sheet of glare solid ice from Harwood to the locks on the Otonabee, the greater part of which is fit for travelling on. Benefort is now connected, for the first time, by a bee line with George street. The first through track was made on Monday, Jan. 2. This, however, does not bar the new council from getting us the necessary permanent structure of wood or iron.

Messrs. Wm. Shearwin and Thos. Kelly, of Alnwick, have opened out in partnership in shingle cutting at Campbellstown, in the interest of the vicinity. They are using a new 25 horsepower engine, and expect to average about fifteen thousand shingles per day.

Mr. J. Manley's team alarmed him some what by making a furious run with about fifty hundred weight of threshing machine and waggon behind them, a few days ago. He had reversed into the driving-house after a trip of about twelve miles from Otonabee, and was assisting his men in unloading the other team, when his took fright and were unmanageable, till they had make a good run, without serious damage, however.

Our hamlet has survived, as usual, the excitement following 'Xmas vacation and festivities and preceding our local elections, the latter, we presume, being, this year, by no means unimportant, since much of the "learned dust" has had a general sifting. Our humming little township is apparently ready again to wait another short year to straighten her little political difficulties, or may we not hope that our present efficient council will not require remodelling. Then our little public would, at least, not have to mourn resignations following important nominations.

Use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from Dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature grayness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists.

I HAVE been a sufferer from catarrh for the past eight years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. It is a most agreeable remedy.—an invaluable Balm. —Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Ave., Brooklyn. eodwl

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL CURES RHEUMATISM

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS.

Are pleasant to take. Contain their own Purgative. Is a safe, sure, and effectual Remedy for all worms in Children or Adults.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, humble-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying these to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $8.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $6.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

A very pleasant and successful concert was given in St. John's School Room on Wednesday evening in aid of the South Ward Mission School. In spite of counter attractions and snowy weather, there was a good house; the programme, full of variety and excellence. In instrumental music, there was a well rendered violin solo by Miss Louise Yokome, a well played pianoforte solo by Miss Fairweather, and a spirited pianoforte duet by Misses F. Stevenson and M. Beck. Mr. Charles Brown gave a humorous reading, "Biddy's Troubles." In vocal music Miss Cottingham sang well, "Ora Pro Nobis," and Miss Cottingham and Mr. C. Shaw a duet, "Maying." Mr. Jas. Morris gave "Out of the Deep," and Miss Errett appeared in Tosti's song, "Bid Me Good Bye and Go." The Harmony Club gave "In a Lighthouse by the Sea" in so capital a manner that they were recalled, and with the addition of Mr. M. Dunn gave a charming rendering of "The Buccaneer's Bride." Mr. M. Dunn sang excellently "I am Waiting," and Mr. Tierney's well sung "Ave Maria" completes the list of vocal selections. The performance on the ocarina, a new instrument, by Mr. Annesley was heard with much pleasure. Mr. R. M. Roy's clever feats of legerdemain contributed very largely to the fun and entertainment of the occasion. The concert was a very pleasant success, and Mr. Young, the energetic superintendent of the school, who had the affair in charge, is to be congratulated on his success as an impresario.

What the Ladies are Doing?

Regular Meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the George street Methodist Church, held on Tuesday, January 3rd, the following officers were elected for 1888:—President, Mrs. Dr. Fife; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. D. W. Dumble; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. H. Owens; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Jas. Kendry; Executive Committee, Mesdames W. Bradburn, Braden, Nugent, F. Mason, J. Glass, W. Fitzgerald, in conjunction with officers of Society.

The Treasurer's report for 1887 showed the finances of the Society to be in a fairly prosperous condition considering that no extra efforts had been made during the year in the shape of socials or entertainments. Money collected during the year from membership fees, Christmas tree entertainment and one organ recital, amounted to over one hundred and seventy-five dollars. The Secretary read the following report:—

DEAR PRESIDENT AND LADIES,—Our Association has passed through another year, and on looking back over the year we seem to have accomplished very little worthy of record. We have had a very quiet year, and to-day we would raise our hearts in praise to our Heavenly Father for his sparing mercies. Whilst bereavement has come very near to us, and some of our members are to-day mourning the loss of their dearest, yet as a society our lives have been precious in His sight and we have not lost one member by death. But as we make our new list for eighteen hundred and eighty-eight we are sad because of the removal to other homes of so many. Mrs. J. W. Flavelle, Miss Ellsworth, Miss E. Keele and Mrs. Wallace are names that will be much missed. We follow them with our prayers, and we will not forget them in their new homes. And very lovingly to-day do our thoughts wander away to Southern California to Mrs. Bradburn, who is there seeking health. May our dear Heavenly Father bless her richly with renewed strength, spiritual as well as physical; taking into His own keeping the separated family until they all meet again. And now as we enter on another year let us take for our watchword "Onward and Upward." Let us endeavour more than ever to obey the divine injunction "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might"; and also, "Whether ye eat or drink or whatever ye do, do all for the glory of God", remembering that "Even Christ pleased not Himself."

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, I remain, yours sincerely,

E. KENDRY,
Secretary.

Side-Tracking Home Rule.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—Is it not too bad that so faithful an exponent of public opinion, so enlightened an organ of advanced liberty and human rights as the Peterborough Times, at a moment, too, when its columns and the columns of the lesser lights of the country are proclaiming, by their announcements of the municipal elections throughout our province, the fullest development of Home Rule, should make the occasion of the detention, the other evening, at Pontypool, of our local Home Rulers, by the Chamberlain train, a subject for its inimitable wit and humor?

Who but the Times man could, from so little material, create so rich, so racy, so immortalising a witticism? Here it is :—

"The Peterborough Home Rulers side-tracked to let Mr. Chamberlain pass. Mr. Chamberlain is accustomed to side-tracking Home Rulers."

Brave, manly, honorable words, Mr. Times—brimful of wit.

They do credit alike to your head and heart.

But take care Mr. Times that you are not just a little bit too previous.

There are Home Rulers outside Peterborough.

There are Home Rulers in Washington, in the country of "our cousins" over there.

They may have a little to do with "side tracking", of another kind one of these days that may not prove quite so agreeable to Mr. Chamberlain and the Times man, as the "go by" at Pontypool. We shall see.

HOME RULER.

A Brutal Sport.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—Last night Simcoe street was the scene of a brutal act to gratify the evil passions of a few "sports" from Toronto. A cocking main was held, which was kept up till this morning. Are such outrages to be allowed in our moral town? I understand that these disgraceful fights are of frequent occurrence. The authorities should take some steps in the matter, and at once, to crush out this most demoralizing form of vice which is comparatively new in Peterborough.

Yours,

F.

Personal.

Miss Crowe left town this morning for New Mexico, where her brother lies dangerously ill.

Mr. Wm. Rudkins, secretary of the Peterborough Branch of the Iron Moulders' Union, is in Hamilton attending the annual session of the District Union.

Mr. S. D. Carver left this morning for a two months' visit in California with his brothers, Ed. and Herbert. His destination is Frisco city; he will return in spring time. It is to be hoped that he will have a safe journey and pleasant visit.

An Accident.

This morning a mishap occurred to the sleigh of Hon. R. Hamilton. The sleigh which contained Mrs. and Miss Hamilton and the Misses Budden, was being driven along Hunter street when the horses became frightened at a passing team and turned about suddenly, upsetting the conveyance. Fortunately no person was injured. There was trifling damage to the sleigh.

The Heating Apparatus Ready.

The heating apparatus of the new post office is ready for use, and so far as that is concerned the building may be occupied any day. Messrs. McAndrew & Noble are sub-contractors for the heating. There are other details not yet attended to.

Go and see the views of the Midland Battalion and Peterborough Company during the North-west Rebellion at St. Peter's this evening.

"THE great and only original" kid was a goat, so kidd, the boot man, can't advertise that way. He depends upon the good quality of his goods and his moderate prices.

Ladies! Remember Turnbull's is the right place to look for beautiful Passementerie and Clouds in all the new tints.

The Cattle Trade.

The cattle trade is fairly active and the supply is equal to the demand. Hogs are selling on a basis of 5c a pound; they are in good demand and all descriptions are wanted. Both sheep and lambs are wanted, the supply being scarce. Lambs sold this week at the Western cattle yards at an average of $61. Export cattle are selling from 3¾c to 4¼c per pound live weight. Butchers' cattle for local use is quoted from 3c to 3½c per pound live weight. Bulls sold from 2½c to 3½c per pound live weight. Matrimonial.

On Wednesday evening, the residence of Mr. James Sutherland, Book-keeper in the EXAMINER counting-room, was the scene of an ever interesting social event—the marriage of his eldest daughter to Mr. S. S. DeLong. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. Tovell in the presence of a large number of invited guests, and the popularity of the bride was attested by the large number of presents she received—ranging from a house and lot, the former completely furnished, to the smallest article of domestic use. After the ceremony the company remained till a late hour enjoying themselves with music and social intercourse. This is the first event of this kind that has taken place in Mr. Sutherland's family, and he is naturally pleased that everything passed off with such great pleasantness and success. He would wish particularly to express his gratitude for the very kind courtesies received at the hands of his friends on the occasion.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

AUSTRIA AND RUSSIA CONTINUE TO EXCHANGE THEIR VIEWS.

The French Elections—Gossip from European Court Circles—Herbert Gladstone in England—The Remains of Louis Napoleon—Dissatisfied With the Reduction.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—In a letter to The New York World, Henry Labouchere gives a resume of European Court circles gossip. He says that if the higher surgery had had its way with the Crown Prince's throat the disease would have ceased ere this for the want of a patient. The course of nature had done more to restore the Prince to health than all his physicians. Sir Morell Mackenzie's visit to San Remo had not only quieted the alarm raised by his sudden departure, but had enabled him to recognize that the Prince was actually better than had been hoped. The general appearance of the throat was completely satisfactory, the voice was stronger and clearer, and the feeling of discomfort which had prevailed during so many months had totally ceased. The Prince's face had lost the yellowish waxen look which was observed by everyone when His Imperial Highness was in England.

Ex-Empress Eugenie will pay a visit to Queen Victoria at Osborne, and will go to Riviera at the end of this month to stay until May. She will reside at Cannes, if the French Government gives permission.

King Leopold of Belgium has taken out policies of insurance to the amount of $2,000,000 on his private property in the royal palaces at Brussels and Laeker. This property consists of furniture, pictures, plate, objects of art and china.

The marriage of Prince Henry of Prussia and Princess Irene of Hesse will likely take place at San Remo during the second week in April. The Queen intends to be present at the celebration, and if the ceremony took place in Berlin, as intended, Her Majesty would not be able to attend. It is the intention of the Queen to present Princess Irene with her trousseau.

The sale of Clydesdale horses for foreign parts has been unusually large during the last year. An increase of about 300 head as compared with 1886 is reported in the export to North and South America.

Malta has been clear of cholera for some time, but lately there have been numerous cases of Egyptian fever. Much trouble has also been caused by the outbreak of cattle disease all over the island.

A member of the Duke of Norfolk's mission having taken his wife to Rome, was obliged to relegate her to another hotel, as, according to the Vatican etiquette, no woman shall be included in or connected with any mission to the Pope. The last mission despatched from the Court of St. James to the Vatican was in the reign of James II. The selection of the Duke on this occasion was a happy one, as he is thought much of at the Vatican, and the mission appears to have been successful in all respects.

In the Winchester election to-day Mr. Tom, Conservative, was elected by 1364 votes against Mr. Handerbye, Gladstonian, who received 949 votes. In the last election the Conservative candidate received 1119 and the Gladstonian 783 votes.

The Daily News admits that the Winchester election is disappointing. The Standard says the result absolutely confounds the confident hopes of the Separatists.

The triennial elections for members of the Senate are taking place in France to-day. The returns so far as received give 42 Republicans and 19 Conservatives, a gain of four to the latter. Twenty-one second ballots will be necessary.

The returns so far received show the election of fifty-seven Republicans and twenty-one Conservatives. Six second ballots will probably result in the return of Republicans, making the final result a Conservative gain of two seats.

Full returns show that the Conservatives have gained three seats.

Admiral Krantz has been appointed French Minister of Marine and Admiral Gervais Chief of the Naval staff.

The removal of the remains of Napoleon III and the Prince Imperial from Chiselhurst to Farnboro will take place next Monday. At the request of the ex-Empress, the royal family will not be represented, but the Queen will send wreaths to be placed on the coffins. After mass the coffins will be taken to Farnboro by special train. Only the ex-Empress and her usual suite will be present.

The reductions of judicial rents have been declared insufficient at National League meetings throughout Ireland. The Mitchelltown Board of Guardians, Mr. Mandeville presiding, has adopted a resolution declaring want of confidence in the Land Commission. The vote reflects the opinion of other boards.

Thirty cardinals, 196 archbishops and bishops, and a congregation numbering 20,000 persons were present at the mass said by the Pope at St. Peter's to-day for the benefit of the pilgrims remaining in the city. The Duchess of Tuscany occupied the place of honor. At the conclusion of the mass His Holiness appeared much fatigued. After removing his vestments and ascending the sedia gestatoria, he was carried around the church amid the cries of "Long Live the Pope-King!" The Pope was greatly moved by the enthusiasm.

In his congratulatory telegram to the Pope, the Czar said his desire was to assure the interests of his Catholic subjects, and concluded as follows: "I doubt not that the high wisdom of which Your Holiness gives so many proofs will enable me to harmonize the views of the Roman church in Russia with the fundamental principles of my Empire."

The Russian Minister to Brussels, Prince Ouroussoff, denies the charge published by The Cologne Gazette that he is the author of the forged documents sent to the Czar. The Prince's friends affirm that he still retains the confidence of the Czar and that he will not be removed from his post.

The exchange of views between the Austrian and Russian Governments continues. The aim is to arrange a concurrent declaration of the pacific policy of both Governments. Official circles are more hopeful for the maintenance of peace.

A cable to The New York Tribune says that the meeting at which Herbert Gladstone was to speak, at Dromore, County Tyrone, next Friday has been proclaimed.

It appears that the forged documents sent to the Czar were the work of a clique of financiers desirous of facilitating a Bulgarian loan and that the Orleanists had nothing to do with it.

COAL BECOMING SCARCE.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE READING LABOR TROUBLES.

The Strike More Complete Than Ever—Defections in the Ranks of the Non-Union Railroaders—Officials Refuse to Give Information.

READING, Pa., Jan. 5.—More coal trains than at any time for the past forty-eight hours are coming down the main line of the Reading Railroad to-night, but this is not due to activity in the Schuylkill coal regions. The latest from there to-night is that less individual collieries were working to-day than at any time heretofore and but two mines of the company were operated. The many coal cars now being rushed into this region contain coke from Western Pennsylvania. When the furnaces men found that there was to be a scarcity of coal they immediately ordered coke, and this is now being used by some furnaces. Any coal scarcity that may arise in the future will not interfere with these furnaces. As an instance, to show the scarcity of coal in this city, it may be stated that a force of twenty men will be put at work in this city to-morrow morning to load the buckwheat coal that the company has stored near the round houses. There is about 40,000 tons of it and heretofore the company have made use of it all themselves, but they sold 1000 tons of it to a dealer in this city and they have a ready market for the rest.

The Strike More Complete Than Ever.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. —A special from Pottsville says: The miners' strike is more complete than ever. Hitherto the number of idle and working collieries has been willingly stated at the office of the Coal and Iron Company. To-day the officials there said that they had been instructed not to give out the figures. The miners say that the reason is that there are no Reading collieries working at all. The best information, however, is that the Suffolk colliery men near Mahanoy City and the Brookside at Lower City are still working, but with crippled forces. The Henry Clay, a Reading colliery near Shamokin, was compelled to shut down to-day because the shaft running the machinery of the breaker was broken. Two Reading collieries, the Richardson at Glenorrbon and the North Franklyn near Trevorton, were working yesterday but are closed to-day on account of the strike. One of the individual collieries, the William Penn near Shenandoah, which has been working under an agreement to continue to pay on the advanced basis pending settlement, shut down to-day. The reason is that the miners refuse to cut coal to be loaded on cars handled by non-union men. This is the first instance of the kind and it goes to show clearly that the strike of the miners is not alone on account of the wage question but is also intended to help their striking brethren of the railroad.

Alone in the Fight.

SHENANDOAH, Jan. 5.—Among the individual collieries that to-day conceded the advance was the Thomas Coal Co.'s Kehley Run colliery here. This leaves the Reading Co alone in the fight in this section, and with only four individual collieries in the whole lower anthracite coal field. The only hitch now feared in the case of the individual mines is the possible refusal of the miners to mine coal to be handled by non-union railroaders. The Reading Company has an abundance of empty cars sidetracked all through this section so that there will be no trouble for the individual operators to get cars if the railroad can move them after they are loaded. A $20,000 COURT PLASTER

IS WHAT A HUSBAND WANTS TO HEAL HIS WOUNDED AFFECTIONS.

Proceedings in a Court of Justice Against the Alleged Respecter of a Wife—A Prologue to a Suit for Divorce—The Parties to the Case.

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—Men, young and old, filled the centre room in the Court House all day yesterday, ladies being also present, to hear a couple of "spicy" cases expected to be called. Mr. Justice Falconbridge was the presiding judge.

The case which attracted the crowd was Irving v. Smith, an action indirectly arising out of A. M. Irving's application for divorce from his wife, Maria Louise (nee Wall), on the ground of infidelity. The only divorce court in the Dominion being a committee of the Senate, arguments will be heard when Parliament meets next month. The defendant in the present suit is Harold G. Smith, the former owner of the Kentucky stables and the somewhat famous tally-ho coach, which was wont to go on various junketting tours with several of the young swells of both sexes of the town.

Smith is about 30 years of age and is married. Early in October last Mr. Irving instructed his solicitor, Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C., to proceed against Smith, and accordingly a writ was issued against him for $20,000, for "wrongfully intending to injure the plaintiff and for depriving him of his wife's affections and assistance." The writ was issued from the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice. Smith, it is said, is comfortably off as regards this world's goods, and after the writ was served on him he quietly disposed of the Kentucky Stables and took up his residence in Buffalo, where he went into a similar business as he had carried on in Toronto. A few weeks ago he went to England, and it is said that he sailed from Liverpool for New York on Dec. 21 last on his return home.

After his departure from Toronto he placed his affairs and the custody of the Irving writ in the hands of Barrister James Lane, who has been acting for him ever since. Mrs. Irving is now living in New York city, and her last known abode was at No. 207 West Fourteenth-street.

Plaintiff Irving says in his statement of claim:

"On Aug. 31, 1885, plaintiff was duly and legally married to Maria Louise Irving, at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, by Rev. Mr. Greene, and since said date she has been and was at the time of the committal of the wrongful acts hereafter referred to, and still is, the lawful wife of the said plaintiff.

"The only issue of the marriage is one child, born on Oct. 29, 1886, which child is still living.

"On or about July 1 last, the plaintiff, with the object of benefitting the health of his wife and child, rented and furnished a cottage in the town of Niagara for occupancy during the summer months, and thence forward until the first week in October last the plaintiff's wife and child resided there, and were visited by the plaintiff weekly, or as often as his employment in the city permitted.

"While the said Maria Louise Irving resided in the said cottage the defendant, Harold G. Smith, wrongfully intending to injure the plaintiff and deprive the plaintiff of her affections and assistance, did, at the town of Niagara, and on divers days and times in the months of July, August, September and October, in the year 1887, and before the commencement of this action, wrongfully assault and debauch her, he, the said defendant, being well aware that she was the lawful wife of the plaintiff.

"The plaintiff did not become aware of the wrongful acts of the defendant until immediately before the commencement of this action.

"By reason of the said wrongful acts of the defendant the plaintiff has lost the society and service of his wife, and has otherwise suffered anguish of mind, disgrace and loss, and been put to expense, and is prosecuting an application to the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada for a bill of divorce from his wife, notice of which has been given.

"The plaintiff claims $20,000 damages, the cost of the action and such other relief as the court may be pleased to grant."

The defendant admits the allegations contained in the first paragraph of the plaintiff's statement of claim, but denies that he intended, or did, injure the plaintiff, and deprive him of the affections and assistance of the said Maria Louise Irving. He also denies that he did wrongfully assault and debauch her as alleged, and says he is not guilty of the allegations made against him.

It is said that one of the difficulties in proceeding with the case at present will be in securing the attendance of witnesses, as two or three of them who are wanted are known to be out of the Dominion. One prominent young gentleman especially who has been mixed up in this scandal has made himself conspicuously scarce ever since the matter found its way into court. It is not known as yet whether Defendant Smith will put in an appearance.

Covered Twice.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Brunton, Bourke & Co. announce to-day that the amount of the applications for the new issue of Toronto four per cent. debentures is, in round figures, $1,234,000, about double the amount offered.

A BETRAYED GIRL'S SAD DEATH.

Leaving Her Port Hope Home in Disgrace to Pass Away in a Toronto Brothel.

TORONTO, Jan. 6.

About six months ago a pretty girl, under 20 years of age, named Jemima Gillespie, left her mother's home at Port Hope to conceal the disgrace that would follow her betrayal by a young man who was alleged to be her lover, but who was unknown to her family. The young people kept company secretly, and the mother did not realize the danger her daughter was running until she disappeared from home and all trace of her was lost.

Since then it was learned that she came to Toronto and worked for some time in a factory. About two weeks ago her trouble was approaching a climax and concealment was no longer possible. The unfortunate girl, at this stage of her troubles, met her sister Mary, who is described as lacking in morality. Mary said she would take care of Jemima, and took her to a house of alleged bad repute kept by a Mrs. Taylor at No. 12 Chestnut-street.

Here the poor betrayed girl fell dangerously ill, and went from bad to worse rapidly. On Sunday last Dr. Pollard of Simcoe-street was summoned by telephone from the drug store at Queen and Elizabeth-streets. Dr. Pollard found the girl unconscious and suffering from convulsions. On Monday Dr. Pollard called in Dr. Powell, who also found her unconscious, having passed through eight convulsions. She was within two weeks of confinement. Since then the girl did not utter a sensible word. The doctors, after consultation, decided on a course of expulsion, and on Tuesday night last there was a still birth. A series of fits followed and it was seen that all the medical skill in the world could not save the girl's life. She lingered until last night, when she died shortly before 12 o'clock.

When it was seen that recovery was impossible her relatives were sent for, and her mother, two brothers, and her sister, a Mrs. Perry, came to Toronto but not in time to hear the dying girl utter an intelligible sound. One of her brothers resides at No. 30 McGill-street.

When Dr. Pollard was called to see the case the girl was represented by her sister as a Mrs. Hubert, but shortly afterwards she informed the doctors that that was not her name and that she was a girl who had been betrayed.

The immediate cause of death was puerperal convulsions, accelerated by an acute attack of Bright's disease. The doctors signed the certificate of burial of the still born infant on Wednesday, and say that there is no reason why they should not sign the certificate of burial of Jemima Gillespie, as there are no indications of malpractice. The girl died without telling the name of the man who betrayer her. Jemima's sickness and death at the Chestnut-street house, under the circumstances, was as sad as it could well be.

KALAKAUA'S KINGDOM.

The Situation of Affairs Not Reassuring—Premier Green's Resignation Expected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The brig Consuelo arrived from Honolulu yesterday, and brought the information that Godfrey Brown, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has handed in his resignation. It has been accepted, but his successor is yet to be named. It is stated that Premier Green's resignation is expected to follow. The situation of affairs when the Consuelo left on Dec. 24 was not assuring. The Supreme Court was expected to decide as to the legality of the King's vote, and on the day following Christmas it was believed that a decision, whether for or against the King, would lead to serious trouble. On authority of The Bulletin it is stated that rumors have been floating about that the King intends to take matters in his own hands in case of a favorable decision, and to promulgate a new constitution. It is admitted by all that only the presence of foreign men-of-war in the harbor at Honolulu preserves peace. The commercial situation of the country is not flattering. The Legislature met last Tuesday, and the King was expected to prorogue it at once.

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1888.

Eastern Ontario Dairymen.

The Annual Convention held in Peterborough—Large and Representative Attendance — The Dairy Question—How to Improve.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Mr. WM. FIELD, instructor of the district between Kingston and the province of Quebec, read his report, giving a list of the factories visited during the season. The report also stated that a number of factories were making poor cheese, the fault of which, in some cases, lay with the cheese maker, but the primary cause was inefficient and uncomfortable quarters. He thought the trouble lay in having factories through which the winter winds could blow and the sun beams glint, standing in which could be observed at any time the ground beneath, the sky above and landscape all round.

PROF. WHITTON, cheese instructor for 1887, presented his annual report, showing a steady and growing improvement in the quality of cheese. Mr. Whitton thought the managers of factories would have to give more money to buildings if they wished to succeed. We must insist, he said, on our factorymen giving cheese makers better facilities for curing and making cheese. He especially advocated a warm curing room. The report contained a number of valuable hints to makers upon the best way to make a fine quality of cheese. One thing in particular he decried was the furnishing of green cheese boxes to factories—boxes made of unseasoned timber. To salesmen and patrons, also, some advice was given, Mr. Whitton urging the latter to on no account send impure milk to the factory.

EXTENDING INSTRUCTION.

The following report was read.

Report of Committee on means for the extension of Dairy Instruction:—

Your committee beg to recommend (1) That special cheesemakers' conventions be held at four or more places within the bounds of this Association. Lancaster, Morrisburg, Brockville and Campbellford are suggested as central places, and the month of March as the most convenient time.

(2) That an effort be made to enlarge the work done for the instruction of cheesemakers by the employment of at least four instructors during the whole of the working season of the factories.

(3) That every cheese factory be requested to subscribe $10 to a fund to meet the increased expenses.

(4) That the Association continue to devote as much of its funds as may be available to the payment of such instructors.

(5) That such subscription by a cheese factory entitle it to at least three visits from one instructor for inspection and instruction.

(6) That the joint fund formed by the grant of this Association and the contributions of the cheese factories be administered by the Executive Committee of the Association, in conjunction with the Superintendent of Dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College.

(7) That meetings of the patrons of the factories be held especially during November and December for the discussion of the economical production of milk and its preparation for delivery to the cheese factories.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. DERBYSHIRE.
W. EAGER.
JAS. W. ROBERTSON.

Mr. ROBERTSON followed by a short address elucidating and advocating the recommendations contained in the report, which, with the others, was adopted.

MILK.

The report of Mr. Howard Bissell, cheese instructor of the eastern division, was next presented. Dairying to be made successful must be understood, and a great amount of information was attainable through the papers, farmers' institutes and dairymen's conventions. It was impossible, he said, to make a fine cheese from poor milk. How was the latter to be obtained? Great care should be taken in selecting stock for dairy purposes and then take good care of them. Pure water, above all things, should be given to milking cows. He urged particular care of cows in the spring. In the matter of milking a great many dairymen were negligent, he said. The dirty practice of wetting the cow's teats by the milk in the pail should be discountenanced. Another point of care was to place the milk can near no pig stye or any place producing a bad odor, as the milk absorbed it. Skimming and adulterating was also touched upon, practices which the reader condemned in strong terms.

TESTING MILK.

Mr. J. A. RUDDICK, of Lancaster, followed with a lengthy paper upon "Testing Milk at Factories," dealing with the different methods of enabling makers to judge correctly of the milk sent in to them. The apparatus required to conduct the tests he recommended consisted of a lactometer, a thermometer, a creamometer or per-cent. glass, and as many test tubes as there are samples to test. To these might be added a box for holding the test tubes, water tight, fitted with a movable rack consisting of a piece of thin board or tin nailed in position near the top of the box. The tubes pass through holes in the side of the box and rest on the bottom. To test, fill the box with ice, then pour on water, cover it up again, and taking a sample from every can, fill the per-cent glass, drop it into the lactometer, and after it has become stationary note the point of the scale at the surface. Then use the thermometer and mark the temperature. The temperature has a great effect on the lactometer. Turn the milk out of the glass into these tubes in the box, and wait for the cream to rise. When time is up measure the cream on each sample with a rule, and compare notes. The more cream, of course, the better the milk. Regarding the other and lactoscope process, he said he used it with some degree of success in cases where skimming was suspected, by taking the cream off and trying the milk that is left. In skimmed milk the percentage of fat is low. In conclusion the reader condemned the man who watered or adulterated his milk as a criminal.

DAIRY CATTLE.

Mr. HOARD then gave a lengthy address upon "Dairy Cattle." He had large prints of Jersey, Holstein and Guernsey cows for illustration. Good breeding in cattle, he said, might properly be termed the foundation of dairy success. He urged dairymen to produce the best blooded animals, and in stock-raising try to make the heifer an improvement on the mother. Using the prints by way of illustration he proceeded to point out the outward signs of good breeding discernible. The hips, ribs, shoulders spine, head and abdomen all had an important bearing in summing up the good qualities of an animal.

PROFESSOR ROBERTS then gave an admirable address upon the benefits of fertilising. He urged farmers to cultivate and fertilise as much as possible, in order to make the land produce as much as possible. About the best fertiliser he knew of was that of nature's provision coming from the animals in their stables and stalls.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Mayor for his kindness in placing the council chamber at the disposal of the convention and for the sleigh ride about town the delegates had enjoyed that morning; to the cheese instructors who, during the past year had performed their duties so well, and to the speakers at the convention.

The convention adjourned till the evening.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. J. F. Warrington occupied the chair.

Mr. Ruddick's paper on milk testing was again taken up and provoked considerable discussion. Mr. Ruddick had to leave the meeting early to catch a train, but before going a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him.

Mr. Bissell's paper on "Milk" was also taken up and pretty thoroughly discussed.

Mr. C. C. MCDONALD then gave an interesting address upon cheese-making. He denounced the practice of allowing inexperienced young cheese-makers to run factories. He described accurately his process of curing for the milk as soon as it came into his hands until converted into cheese. He hoped the day was not far distant when the cheese made in Ontario would be so uniform in quality that the shrewdest buyer could not detect any difference.

Prof. Whitton's paper was also brought up again for discussion, and much information of general interest to dairymen elicited.

A large number of those present took part in the discussion, including the speakers previously mentioned and Messrs. Derbyshire, Barnard, Cooke, McCribbin, Thompson, Pilkie, and others.

After a vote of thanks to the chairman and cheers for the Queen, the Convention adjourned.

A Lively Time on the N. Y. Metal Exchange.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A revival of interest marked the transactions at the Metal Exchange to-day. One of the largest banking firms in Wall-street bought several large lots of Lake Superior copper. The extent of their order is said to be 1,000,000 pounds. Other large buying orders for export carried off from 500,000 to 600,000 pounds. Spot and January delivery went on first call for $16.25 to $16.50, February for $16.60, and March $16.70 to $16.75. On the second call the market moved upward and $16.40 was paid, and afterward vainly bid for spot; $16.50 for January, which held firm at $16.65; $16.70 to $16.75 for February, and $16.80 to $16.85 for March. The total transactions in and out of the Exchange are estimated at 2,500,000 pounds, of which at least two-thirds was for immediate shipment.

Murdered His Father and Mother.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Jan. 5.—Tom Buttsfield, a young farmer living near Palmyra, was arrested to-day charged with murdering his father and mother. On Dec. 24 he brought home some whisky which, it is claimed, was poisoned by him and given to his parents. Last Sunday the father died suddenly and last night the mother also died under the same mysterious circumstances. The motive for the crime is unknown, unless for the purpose of securing their property. Buttsfield was married only a few days ago.

New York Coffee Exchange.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The annual meeting of the Coffee Exchange was held to-day. The total sales for the last 12 months were 26,871,250 bags against 8,278,250 in 1886 and 5,646,500 in 1885. The amount delivered on contract was 537,000 bags against 645,750 bags in 1886. Margins were deposited through the exchange to the amount of $23,661,208 against $6,071,331 in 1886, and $3,056,310 in 1885. These figures, the president says, emphasize the desirability of establishing a clearing house similar to those in Havre and Hamburg.

Killed at His Post.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Jan. 5.—A freight train on the New River Division of the Norfolk and Western Railroad ran into a rockslide 27 miles from Central last night. The engine jumped the track and ran into the New River and disappeared. The engineer was drowned at his post. The fireman was also killed. Twenty-five loaded cars were demolished.

The Western Freight War.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The only happening in the western freight war to-day was the action of the Chicago and Alton in making a combination to reach Toledo and other eastern points in competition with the Wabash and at rates 10 per cent. under the latter road.

Greatly Excited.

People are apt to get greatly excited in case of sudden accident and injury. It is well to be prepared for such emergencies. Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the handiest remedy known for burns, scalds, bruises, lameness, pain and all wounds of the flesh. It is used internally and externally. 2wld

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells s cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

A Brooklyn Man Assaults a Woman and Her Husband With an Iron Bar.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Jan. 5.—C. Stiger entered the house of L. Cobert on Harmon-street early this morning and attempted to murder Cobert and his wife. Cobert got up at 6 o'clock and went down stairs to make a fire. Stiger, who had entered by the back door and secreted himself in the hallway stairs, then attacked Mrs. Cobert, who was in bed, with an iron bar. She screamed and called for her husband but Stiger struck her several times and inflicted injuries which will probably cause her death. As Cobert entered the room Stiger struck him on the head with the iron bar, saying he would kill him so he could not tell the story. Stiger rained blow after blow upon Cobert's head until he fell senseless to the floor. Subsequently he revived and gave information to the police, who arrested Stiger while he was removing his bloody clothes in his own house.

Mrs. Cobert had on several occasions helped Stiger's family. Stiger says the Coberts were living on the money his wife earned for them, and he was sorry he had not killed them outright.

RAILROAD NEWS FROM THE SOO.

The First Through Train from Montreal Arrived Yesterday—Flour Shipments.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Jan. 5.—The first through train arrived here from Montreal at 1 p.m. to-day with Sir Donald Smith, W. C. VanHorne and T. G. Shaughnessy aboard. They were met here by a special train from Minneapolis with the following Soo line officials: Hon. D. Washburn, J. J. Hill and Capt. W. W. Rich.

Both parties will have a conference here, when the question of establishing regular through trains will finally be decided. One hundred cars of flour bound for Boston via the Soo leave Minneapolis to-day. The C.P.R. and Soo lines are in good condition for through traffic.

Doctors May Advertise.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Judge Waterman rendered an opinion of more than ordinary interest yesterday, affecting, as it does, the powers and authority of the State Board of Health and the rights of practising physicians in this state.

The suit was brought against the State Board of Health by a licensed medical practitioner named J. C. McCoy. The organization being dissatisfied with the fact that McCoy published advertisements in the daily newspapers, as well as with the character of the advertisements, revoked his certificate. The defendant insisted that that portion of the Medical Practice Act which allowed the State Board of Health to revoke medical certificates for dishonorable and unprofessional conduct was unconstitutional, and even if held to be constitutional the act of the board was unwarranted and in violation of his rights as a freeman.

The court rendered a very voluminous decision, in the course of which it was held that the defendant had a perfectly constitutional right to advertise in the newspapers, and he can't be deprived of it by any rule or regulation of the State Board of Health.

A Viaduct Accident.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 5.—A span in the new central viaduct now being constructed, which connects the south side with the city proper, fell this afternoon. It was 90 feet long and 85 feet above the ground. A large car on which there was supplies was pushed off the end of the span by accident and in falling it knocked the braces and beams out of place and the span went also. There were eight workmen on the span when it fell. Harry Burton and an unknown man were killed and the others, with one exception, were badly injured.

Of Interest to Hay Exporters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Assistant-Secretary Maynard has informed a resident of Three Rivers, P.Q., that there is no foundation for the report that Congress has voted $2,000,000, or any part thereof, for the settlement of claims of hay exporters of Canada for alleged excess of duty on hay shipped to the United States. Mr. Maynard says it has been found that the claims relate to refunds in cases in which the importers of the hay have forfeited their right to refund by failure to comply with the law.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

FREEMAN'S WORM POWDERS.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his normal sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents. DOLLAR. Don't be hood winked, don't be misled, with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off. Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realising a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $3.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6 50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Our Fire System.

At the invitation of Mr. A. McNeil, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, a number of visitors from a distance, who were in attendance at the dairymen's convention, visited the fire station last night and were much pleased with the order and neatness everywhere discernible. A test of the efficiency of our fire system was made. Mr. McNeil rang the alarm and in just two minutes and a half a line of hose was attached to a hydrant in front of the Giant T. The Silsby steamer was also got out with very creditable promptitude. Good time was made all through, and the efficiency of our fire brigade was satisfactorily shown.

Alleged Abduction.

Yesterday afternoon Samuel Clancy, a young man well known about town, was arrested here on a warrant issued in Lindsay, charging him with the abduction of a little boy by the name of Graves from a village in Emily township. Constable Bell, of Lindsay, took the prisoner to that town last evening. Clancy denies the charge, and says all he knows about it is that he was hired in Peterborough to drive a stranger up through Emily township and around to the C.P.R. line. On the way the child was picked up, and Clancy left the man and child as a C.P.R. station west of Peterborough. Acting-Chief Adams received word of the abduction some time ago, but the warrant for Clancy's arrest arrived only a few days ago. When Clancy heard of it he gave himself up to the authorities.

"The New Way Round the World."

Prof. Buell's Excellent Entertainment in St. Peter's Cathedral.

Prof. Buell's magnificent entertainment given in St. Peter's Cathedral on Thursday evening, was replete with instruction and entertainment, and though it lasted nearly three hours, not one in the large company of spectators and auditors present, including the bishop and clergy, had the least idea that the flight of time had been so rapid, so interesting was the entertainment given. The splendid photographic transparencies, projected on a huge square canvas, were remarkably beautiful and artistic. In introducing "the new way round the world," the lecturer, Mr. Armstrong, referred to the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway as the vital link in the chain of travel that now girded the world in sixty nine days, and arrangements were being completed by which the time would be reduced to sixty-five days. Pictorially the spectator was embarked at Liverpool, taken across the Atlantic to Halifax, thence by International railway to Quebec, up the St. Lawrence to Montreal, from thence to Ottawa, and thence by C.P.R. across the continent to the Pacific coast; thence to Japan and by the Suez Canal route to the place of starting. This route was illustrated by magnificent views of the chief cities, public buildings and places of interest along (chiefly) the Canadian route, the rich historical associations of the Maritime Provinces and Quebec being particularly well delineated. Across the continent, there was a splendid series of views, illustrative of the scenery and industries of the great Northwest, and weeks of reading would fail to give as graphic and realistic ideas as were given by Prof. Buell's camera and canvas in one short half hour. Up to the base of the Rockies the views were simply exact reproductions of prairie scenery, but as the railway track across the mountains, climbed the slopes, perched on the crags, tunnelled the spurs of the granite hills, twisted and turned in a thousand devious ways, the views were magnificent beyond description. Persons present who had seen these mountains, asserted that they were exact reproductions, and they should be, for Prof. Buell took them himself on the spot. Every one was a work of art, and admiration was divided between the colossal grandeur of nature's mountainous handiwork and the skill of man in putting down a railway track where at first glance it would be pronounced an impossibility. There are no mountain ranges in the world, accessible by rail, where a tithe of the grandeur is visible, as shown by the views presented last night. It would require the space of two or three columns to give even a fair idea of the beauty and value of this entertainment. Prof. Buell has spent twenty years in perfecting photographic processes to produce the excellent plates from which his views are given. This entertainment is a magnificent advertisement of the resources of Canada, and deserves the largest patronage. The views of the Northwest Rebellion were particularly fine, that of the Midland Regiment especially. The entertainment was relieved, at intervals, by music supplied by Prof. Doucet's orchestra and the organist, and several religious, allegorical and Scotch and Irish scenes were musically illustrated by appropriate vocal selections given by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, Miss Begley and the choir.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Cartwright Excited Over the Sudden and Suspicious Demise of Caroline Heron.

LINDSAY, Jan. 5.—Much excitement exists in Cartwright Township over the mysterious death of a young woman, Caroline Heron. She was suddenly taken ill, and despite all medical aid died, exhibiting strong symptoms of strychnine poison, a fact made certain by the death of a dog which licked her vomit, and also by a rigid post-mortem examination by Drs. Allan, Janetville; and Campbell and Fish of Blackstock. The girl's chastity, as proven by the post mortem, and also other suspicious circumstances point to wilful murder against some one. The inquest will be resumed next Tuesday at Blackstock Village, of which Burketon is the station, when County Crown Attorney Kerr of Durham and Northumberland is expected to be present.

Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of Lindsay Methodist Church, and superintendent of this district, was the recipient of a massive gold watch and chain, with an address elegantly printed on blue silk and encased in crimson plush, as a token of esteem and regard from his congregation here. During his pastorate here the Methodist Church has been greatly enlarged, both in size and in membership.

ALMOST A COAL FAMINE.

NO CHANGE IN THE PENNSYLVANIA LABOR TROUBLES.

Miners Refuse to Work Because the Coal is Shipped Over the Reading Railway—A General Meeting of Miners To-Day—Furnacemen Strike.

ASHLAND, Pa., Jan. 6.—The Ballmore colliery, operated by Bickell & Co., was compelled to suspend operations this morning owing to scarcity of breaker employes. It is believed they were influenced by strikers to quit work.

No Change in the Situation.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—The only utterance that could be gotten directly from General Manager McLeod this morning was: "There is no change in the situation."

A General Meeting To-day.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 6.—The miners of the Excelsior colliery have refused to continue work because the coal is shipped over the Reading road. A general meeting of miners will be held to-morrow. The opinion prevails that the miners working at individual collieries shipping over the Reading Railway will all quit work. Almost a coal famine prevails here. Everything is quiet.

A Reduction Causes a Strike.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Jan. 6.—Three hundred men at Powell's furnace at Saxton have struck because of a 10 per cent. reduction in wages.

A Colliery Shuts Down.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Jan. 6.—The Suffolk colliery at Mahanoy City, which was working with a small force of non-union men, shut down to-day. This concluded the Reading Company's attempt to run its collieries without the Knights. The defection among the non-union railroaders continues.

To Resume Work.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 6.—A general resumption of work in the Riveral coal mines will probably take place next week at the advance in wages demanded by the miners. The resumption will give employment to nearly 5000 men. The mines have been closed for some time on account of the drouth which prevented the shipment of coal south.

Ready Furnaces.

READING, Jan. 6.—There are some forty furnaces located along the line of the Reading Railroad, and to-day, after much correspondence, the Reading Coal and Iron Company, supplied some of the most ready furnaces with coal, but at an advance of 50 cents per ton, delivered at Schuylkill Haven. The increased price of fuel may result in closing down the furnaces.

A FRIEND OF HIS RACE.

Owen Connolly Leaves Liberal Bequests for the Education of Irish Boys.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Jan. 6.—The people of Prince Edward Island are excited over the provisions of the late Owen Connolly's will. He left his widow $5000 and a homestead, some minor bequests to other relatives, cut off his nephews, who were regarded as his heirs, without a dollar, attached such conditions to a bequest of $40,000 to Bishop McIntyre for the erection of a Catholic cathedral that the bishop refused to accept it, and left the balance of the estate, estimated at $200,000, to the poor of Charlottetown and toward the education of Catholic boys, children of poor Catholic parents of Irish birth or descent. They are to receive a preliminary education at St. Dunstan's College, Charlottetown, and then go to Ireland to graduate at Trinity College.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in New York State.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Pleuro-Pneumonia among cattle is still prevalent in the upper part of Westchester County. The Bureau of Animal Industry condemned over 200 head this week in the towns of Lewisboro and Somers.

DISASTROUS FLOODS IN CHINA.

About 2,000,000 People Homeless—Innumerable Villages Under Water.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Details of the Chinese floods make them appear to be the most terrible ever known. There are about 10,000 square miles under water, and at least 2,000,000 people are destitute of the bare necessities of life. It is thought that about 750,000 people have lost their lives. What was once a prosperous country, known as the "Garden of China," is an immense lake, and there is nothing left to remind the traveler that the vast expanse of water has taken the place of once prosperous cities of many thousand inhabitants. The inundation commenced near Kaifung Fu, one of the most populous cities of the province, and in a moment four miles of solid embankment of stone, brick, sand and clay were swept away with innumerable moles and famines.

In the districts of Chine Chow and Chen Chow no less than 3000 large villages are stated to have been engulfed in a very few moments, and scarcely any of their ill-fated people had time to save themselves, as the breach occurred in the night. An extent of country much larger than the whole principality of Wales, and much more thickly populated, is now a raging sea and all the inhabitants are either drowned or have fled. The people so terribly visited cannot number far short of the whole population of Ireland, as the province includes about 25,000,000 inhabitants within an area of 65,000 square miles, and the waters of the river now cover between 8000 and 10,000 square miles.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Central Bank Claims—Notes from the Canada Gazette—The Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—The statement of the debt of the Dominion on Dec. 31 shows

Gross debt	$274,716,769
Assets	47,286,680
Net debt	$227,429,619

being a decrease of $336,616 during the six months.

To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain notice of the cancellation of the order-in-council of Dec. 23 relating to the classification of grain under section 44 of the General Inspection Act.

Thomas Hodgins, Master in Chancery, gives judicial notice to the creditors of the Central Bank of Canada under the winding-up act to send in their claims to the liquidators on or before Monday, Feb. 20. Thursday, Feb. 23, is appointed for hearing and acting upon the report of the liquidators on the claims sent in under this notice. The liquidators are empowered to return forthwith on presentation at their office, 51 Yonge-street, Toronto, all outstanding bank notes of the said Central Bank.

The bank of Nova Scotia gives notice of dividend for the half year at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, and the Merchants' Bank of Halifax of half-yearly dividend of 3 per cent.

Notices of annual meetings are given by the Kingston and Pembroke Railway Company at Kingston, by the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company at Montreal, and by the Merchants' Bank of Halifax at Halifax, all on Feb. 8.

Eleanora Elizabeth Tudor of Montreal gives notice of application to Parliament for a bill of divorce from her husband, Frederick Lexey Hart, of Montreal, on the ground of cruelty and adultery.

It is understood that Messrs. James O'Hara, F. H. Mickleborough, W. F. Bowes and James Ferguson, who were employed as ocean mail clerks up to the time of the abolition of that service, have been placed on the superannuation list, and the other ocean mail clerks have been found other employment in the department. The change has proved highly satisfactory. There is no loss of time or delay in delivery occasioned by the mails not being sorted on shipboard, the distribution being easily made on the train on its way from Halifax, so that the sorting is done before the car is much more than half-way to Quebec.

The Postmaster-General expects to save about $15,000 a year by this change in the service. The annual report of the Postmaster-General will be printed in a few days. It is understood that the net revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30 last will reach $2,603,255 against $2,469,000, or an increase of $134,000; expenditure for the year ending June 30 $2,478,100 and for the previous year $2,389,600, or an increase of $78,000. This shows an excess of receipts of $56,000 as compared with the previous year.

The next session of the Supreme Court will probably open on Feb. 21. The case of Moss v. The Queen will come up for hearing before the Exchequer Court on Monday next.

Advices to the Railway Department state that operations on the eastern section of the Cape Breton Railway lately taken over from the contractors, Messrs. Slater & Sims, are progressing favorably. Mr. Wm. Stewart is managing the contract on behalf of the sureties.

Scrap Words to Blows.

UTICA, N.Y., Jan. 6.—About 3 o'clock this morning while Morris Kenyon, Frank VanHorn and Night Telegraph Operator Connor of the Ontario and Western Station in Oneida were in the depot together, a quarrel arose between Connor and VanHorn. The men came to blows, and Kenyon stepped between them to stop the fight. VanHorn thereupon drew a long pocket-knife and stabbed Kenyon four times in the back. The wounds will probably prove fatal. VanHorn has been arrested. He admits the stabbing, but claims that Kenyon attacked him first.

The K. of L. Rebellion.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—The latest move in the rebellion among the Knights of Labor is the organization of a provisional committee of rebels in Washington. A circular has been issued by them and received by the secretary of the National Provisional Committee in this city. The circular contains an enumeration of the demands of the rebels at Washington, which are in substance the same as those of the Chicago, New York and Philadelphia rebels, heretofore published.

Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number for the United States 226 and for Canada 23, or a total of 279, as compared with a total of 228 last week, 230 the week previous to the last, and 265 the corresponding week of last year. The figures for the first seven days of 1887 were: United States 271, Canada 22; total 293.

THE POPE'S JUBILEE GIFTS PLACED ON EXHIBITION YESTERDAY.

President Carnot's First Presidential Dinner and Reception—Millaise Hanged—Emperor William's Wish—A Mexican Loan.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The first diplomatic dinner given by the President of the Republic took place at the Elysee last night. All the foreign ambassadors and ministers were present. The President, who made an excellent impression as a host, and Madame Carnot held their first presidential reception after dinner. The President intends giving a reception every Thursday.

On the French Chamber of Deputies resuming its sittings M. Sarrien, Minister of the Interior, will state the policy of the Government towards the Paris Municipal Council, which is to the effect that it will not extend the powers of the Council.

The trial of the case against Gen. Thibaudin, M. Hebert and M. Dubreuil, implicated in the Legion of Honor scandal, was resumed to-day. The prosecution claims to have additional evidence which will implicate M. Wilson. The case was again adjourned.

On Jan. 10 the Pope will receive the presidents of the English and American colleges in Rome and the British pilgrims. The necessary arrangements for the reception will be made by Mgr. Afford.

The Pope's jubilee presents were placed on exhibition at the Vatican to-day for the first time. The foreign diplomats, a number of Roman aristocrats and a host of other guests were present. The Pope entered the hall where the presents had been arranged at noon. He was followed by forty-eight cardinals and the whole Pontifical Court. His arrival was greeted with great enthusiasm. He took his seat on the throne and Cardinal Schiaffino proceeded to read an address.

To this the Pope, replying, said his soul was deeply moved by the manifestations of love and veneration which were reaching him from all parts of the world. He regarded them as evidences of the power of the papacy, which the enemies of the church had vainly attempted to deny. The share taken by the sovereigns of the world in the jubilee proved that they justly appreciated the importance of the papacy. He concluded by praising the organizers of the exhibition. The Pope afterwards made a prolonged inspection of the presents in company with the cardinals.

In the course of his New Year's letter to the Berlin magistrate, Emperor William says: "I trust that under the protection of lasting peace which may God vouchsafe, and by legislative measures dealing with economic and social matters the welfare of the nation in the future, as it has been in the past, may be materially developed."

The eight Nihilists, including the Cossack Tscherasoff, who were condemned to death for making an attempt upon the life of the Czar during his visit to the Don Cossack country, were hanged yesterday.

Advices from Berlin received in the City of Mexico say that a loan of $62,000,000 will be negotiated before the close of this month on terms favorable to the country. The German Government is also disposed to place German capital in Mexico, where its citizens have built up a large and extensive trade.

Sir George Stephen left London for Liverpool to-day and sails in the Umbria for Canada.

The emigration returns for the past year, issued by the Board of Trade, show that the total number of emigrants was 396,702, against 332,901 in 1886. The United States received 294,351, being an increase of 54,495 over 1886. British North America received 44,284, being an increase of 14,203. The Australasian emigrants fell off by over eight thousand.

Sir Charles Dilke reiterated his assertions of his innocence at a Hammersmith Labor Club dinner on Wednesday night, and declared that he would not return to public life until he was cleared in the eyes of the public.

The Winchester election is much discussed to-day. The Liberals frankly admit their disappointment. While hardly hoping for absolute success, they fully expected to reduce the Tory majority. The result is largely due to local influences, Mr. Moss having been long connected with the city.

Rumors are current as to the differences in the Cabinet respecting the new Local Government Bill. Apparently a struggle is going on between the old and the new Toryism over the constitution proposed for the County Boards. The old Toryism will have to yield, but it will probably insist on provisos against which the Radicals will protest when the bill is before the House.

The End Not Yet in Sight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Sir Charles Tupper was unable to reach Washington, and the meeting of the Fisheries negotiators will likely be further postponed. Mr. Chamberlain has said that he expects to be in Washington for another month, which is taken to mean that the conclusion of the negotiations is yet a long way off.

HANLAN'S LAST DEFEAT.

THE GREAT RACE ON THE NEPEAN RIVER ON NOV. 27.

Seven Thousand People Face a Great Rain Storm to Witness the Canadian ex-Champion and Beach Try Conclusions—An Exciting Scene.

The Australian papers, giving full reports of the Hanlan-Beach race, are at hand.

In everything but weather the circumstances attending the event were propitious. The rain, which began to pour down in the forenoon, but somewhat abated about half an hour before the contest, fell pitilessly while the race was being rowed. The river banks in the vicinity of the winning post were lined with spectators some time before the race began, and it is estimated that the race was witnessed by upwards of 7000 persons.

Both Beach and Hanlan were in the best possible condition, and looked fit to row for a kingdom. Beach was cool and confident and expressed his conviction that he would win. Beach rowed in the shell Tom Muir, the dimensions of which are as follows: Length, 31 feet, 6 in.; beam, 16½ in.; depth, amidships, 9½ in., aft 2 in., forward 2¾ in.; spread of outriggers, 4 ft. 8¾ in.; weight, 23½ pounds. The height of Beach's outrigger was 15 in. from the skin. Hanlan rowed in the R. A. Watson, which was built expressly for the Nepean River. Her length is 31 ft.; beam, 16½ in.; height, forward, 2¾ in., and she is of New Guinea cedar. Both boats were carefully guarded during the night by men who slept in the boatshed fully armed.

Beach was a strong favorite, and his colors were freely donned by the crowd. The betting up to the start was 2 to 1 on the champion, and not a few were confident enough to offer 3 to 1. There were very few heavy bets won the race.

In the bustle, confusion and excitement which occurred after the race Beach then observed that the race was the hardest one he ever rowed in his life. He, however, has since qualified this by stating that it was the best one he had ever rowed against Hanlan and the hardest fought race of his whole career, with the exception of the contest with Gaudaur on the Thames. He admits that he was taxed to his utmost to hold Hanlan at bay; and though the Gaudaur race was perhaps more desperate at the finish, it was not a more determined or better race.

Central Bank Liquidation.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—The first court order for the payment of the creditors holding the bank notes of the Central Bank was made yesterday by Mr. Hodgins, Q.C., the Master-in-Ordinary, who is one of the judicial officers designated by the Dominion Winding-up Act. Under this order it is expected that about $130,000 of the outstanding notes of the bank will be redeemed. The further proceedings for the liquidation of the affairs of the bank will be conducted before the Master under the statute and winding-up order, and will be conducted as rapidly as the practice in such cases will allow. No general rules have yet been promulgated, but as the Master-in-Ordinary has already had several winding-up company cases before him, a practice has been established, under which he will, as he usually does in other cases, enforce expedition in the liquidation proceedings now pending before him.

Prohibition.

A Question of Method.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Would you kindly give space for the following article in the EXAMINER.

Yours, etc.,
A CONSTANT READER.

Dr. Atchison writes at great length on the Oregonian's position on the subject of prohibition, but his attempt to analyse this paper's position is rather a play on words and phrases than an effort of breadth and candor. There is no endeavor on the part of the writer to meet the Oregonian's position fully and fairly; his effort is rather to force conclusions from particular statements to meet his own views. Thus, it is not a just representation of the Oregonian's position to say that the paper "admits that the Iowa prohibitory laws are enforced." What it did say was that the law in Iowa, as is the case with prohibitory laws everywhere, is frequently used by spies, sneaks and informers as an instrument for malicious persecution of their neighbors and for their own private gain by officials for extortion of money, and by politicians for personal and partisan ends. In the very nature of things these must be among its results. It is constantly complained in states that have had prohibition longest, even by prohibitionists themselves, that the law is prostituted to these purposes. This is the state of things the Oregonian was setting forth, and it is very different from the broad statement by Dr. Atchinson that the Oregonian admits that the law is efficient-enforced in Iowa.

The question of private rights receives a great deal of attention. The prohibitionist stoutly maintains that it is no invasion of private rights to search and ransack the premises of the citizen, including even his private dwelling, on suspicion that he may have a bottle of wine or spirits within. To this or similar obliquity of vision and judgment in regard to private rights, the man is always carried who surrenders himself to the course of any current fanaticism. Formerly it was held to be no invasion of private rights to stretch heretics upon the rack, or to burn them at the stake; because the heretic was regarded as one who could have no rights. So the prohibitionist regards the man who does not utterly banish every form of alcoholic liquors from his presence. In prohibition philosophy such man has no rights. They propose to take charge of his personal and private conduct, though he is as decent and orderly a citizen as the best of them. Of course they would have the same right to interfere with his tobacco habit, which often is even more injurious, and to a large part of the public at least, an equal nuisance.

To this subject of "private rights" it is just as well to speak plainly. There is a principle in it that cannot be dodged or blinked. And it is largely because this principle always exists and is always present—though men, some bloodily, others hypocritically, agree to trample it down—that prohibitory laws never will be obeyed. It is useless to ignore the fact that there is a multitude of people accustomed to decent and moderate use of beer, wine and spirits, who will continue to use them whether you enact a prohibitory law or not. They hold themselves entirely competent to regulate their own conduct; being orderly and well-behaved people, they hold it to be strictly their own business what they have in their houses and how they use it. They have no doubt whatever that they are quite as good judges of what is good for them, or agreeable to them, as their meddlesome neighbor, and they don't require officers with search warrants to enter their houses to keep them from getting drunk and disturbing the neighborhood. Nor do they believe that they are bound to abstain from moderate and reasonable use of a thing because certain weak, silly or vicious people abuse it. Hence you will enforce prohibition never!

This is the basis of the "personal rights" phase of the subject. But it is complained that it may lead to great public abuses, and therefore personal rights must give way. In all this world there is not a thing that may not lead to great abuses. It is the tendency of degraded human nature to pervert even best things, as a great writer puts it, to worst abuse or to their meanest use. What then is the true and proper function of law? Not to try to abolish or prohibit the use of everything liable to abuse, but to restrain and punish actual abuses, as far as it may. The drunken man on the street may be arrested and punished, because public order must be maintained. For the same reason any house, public or private, in which conduct that disturbs public order prevails, whether such conduct grows out of excessive drinking or any other abuse, may be visited by officers of the law and its inmates punished. The whole question is simply a question of public order, and they who create the disturbance by their personal conduct are the actual offenders, with whom the law must deal. The man who fires the gun commits the murder, not the man who made the gun or the man who sold him the gunpowder. It is every man's duty to keep sober. But if he doesn't keep sober the responsibility is his own. Society has no right to lay the blame on the man who made the alcohol. To do so is to repeat Adam's excuse, "The woman gave me and I did eat;" or Eve's excuse, "The serpent beguiled me and I did eat." Such excuses are no better now than when our first parents played with them, and the philosophy that offers them is as lame now as when it was first invented. As our Master didn't prohibit women and serpents, we may conclude he expected men to be exposed to temptation, and we know that he held him to responsibility in spite of his plea of temptation as his excuse.

There are abuses of liquor selling and abuses that attend liquor selling against which society should be on its guard, and which law should restrain. On this basis the Oregonian has had many conflicts with the liquor traffickers, and doubtless will have many more. But the true basis of temperance work is moral reform. Temperance work on this basis has made great progress during the last fifty years, and is making greater progress now than ever before. Upon comparison of the present with the past, there is seen no reason whatever for the nation so constantly liberated by advocates of prohibition by law, that the cause of temperance was never in so desperate straits as now, and hence the need of an extraordinary remedy. If this were true and the remedy were a sound one there would remain nothing to be said. But it is not true, and the proposed remedy is merely a remedy of quackery. It proposes to rid the world of the evil of intemperance, which has its roots in moral weakness, by keeping liquors out of the sight of men, instead of building up men in the moral strength that is their only defense against any and every evil. It is precisely as if a father, seeing a neighbor's melons, should beg the neighbor to destroy them, lest his own son should be tempted to steal them. Who would expect by such a method to prevent his son from becoming a thief? The right remedy, the only remedy, against vicious appetites and vicious desires, is personal character, created through development of the sense of individual responsibility. You can't make a man honest by trying to put out of his sight everything he could steal; you can't make him temperate by an effort to keep liquors away from him; but you may make him both honest and temperate by building him up in the solid purposes of moral character. It is much to be regretted that a man like Dr. Atkinson abandoning his true ground of reform, though pledged to it by his calling, now bases his hope and his method on the idea that society can be regenerated more effectively by its own statutes than by efforts to build up moral character in its individual members;—in other words, by substitution of human statutes for the divine law.

On St. Lawrence Market to-day both supply and demand were meagre. Prices remained steady. On the grain market 200 bushels of wheat and 300 of barley sold at yesterday's prices. Oats, of which one load was sold, rose in price 2c, to 44c. Twenty loads of hay sold at yesterday's prices.

THE PROVISION MARKET.

The local market remains quiet and prices generally firm.

BUTTER—The stocks of medium and inferior qualities are large and trade rather depressed. Choice qualities in good demand and jobbing at 20c to 21c: large rolls at 17c to 19c. Pastry sells at 15c to 17c, and low grades at 11c to 12c.

EGGS—There is no change in this market. Fresh are quoted at 32c a dozen in case lots, and pickled at 16½c to 17c.

The Sweetest Girl in School.

"She's the sweetest girl in school," enthusiastically exclaimed one miss to another, as they passed down the street together. "Edith is so kind, and gentle, and unselfish, everyone likes her. And she has lovely golden hair and pretty eyes. Isn't it a pity her complexion is so bad; it spoils her looks. And then she has such dreadful headaches"! The girls skipped along, but it happened Edith's mother had heard what they said. It set her thinking. What could be done for those headaches and the rough, muddy complexion, that was such a trial to her gentle daughter. She recalled what she had read of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and on the spur of the moment she slipped into a drug store and bought a supply. Edith took it faithfully, with the result that it cleared her disordered blood, relieved the headaches, made her skin soft, fair and rosy, and now she is not only the "sweetest girl in school," but the most beautiful. c

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says; "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

FALSE PRETENCES.

The Western Hotel Case on Trial at Hamilton—Death of a Centenarian.

HAMILTON, Jan. 6.—This morning at the Police Court the alleged false pretences charge, brought by Isaiah Jenkins against Daniel Poole, was entered into very elaborately. Up to a short time ago Jenkins had been a farmer in the township of Seneca, near the village of York. He thought he could keep an hotel, and he was told of a chance where he could make a good strike, near the village of Ancaster. Poole, who was keeping the Western Hotel, about half a mile west of that village, told him to come on and see if they could strike a bargain. The evening Jenkins arrived at the village the counter was fairly bristling with choice beverages for thirsty customers, and Jenkins concluded it had a great trade. Next morning negotiations were entered into, by which Jenkins was to buy a half interest in the property, with full possession, for $3000. Another $1000 was to pay for the furniture to be left when Poole moved out. Jenkins was to give his own notes for $1500, and the other $1500 was to be filled in with chattel sale notes. Accordingly Jenkins took possession; but after a few days' experience behind the bar he found it was a longer time between drinks than he had supposed. Jenkins says he could not find Poole in order to complete the transfer or get his notes back, and Poole says he carried off his furniture and that half of the notes are no good. Poole was bound over to the assizes.

The oldest resident in Hamilton was Mary Mahony, who died at her son's residence, 21 Wood-street west, on Thursday. Mrs. Mahony's exact age is not known, but she has lived over a century, and her son thinks that she was about 107.

The Ontario district of the Iron Molders' Union of North America closed its session this morning. All the business transacted was of a routine character. James Ripley of Hamilton was appointed chairman of the Executive Board, and Fred Walters will be the organiser for the district. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Brantford.

The winter assizes open before Justice McMahon next Monday. There is not a criminal case on the calendar.

The work of demolishing the old City Hall was begun this morning.

Bartender Brown Getting Better.

PORT PERRY, Jan. 6.—George Brown, the bartender who was shot twice during the fracas at Myrtle Station on the night of Dec. 14 last, is improving wonderfully. He is now at home with his family here. No trace, however, of the two bullets which entered his chest has been obtained, and it is believed they have become incised in the tissues, where they may remain for the balance of his life.

Immigrants for Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—The Dominion Immigration Agent for Belgium writes Mr. McTavish, Canadian Pacific Railway Land Commissioner, that he starts from there about March 15 with 500 Belgian farmers for Manitoba. He wishes enough homesteads selected for the whole party and a contract entered into by parties for the erection of small farm houses and stables, to be ready on their arrival.

Killed by Burglars.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Stack, who was assaulted and beaten by burglars at Cumberland Mills last night, died to-day at noon. She was 55 years old. The burglars secured a wallet which was lying on a table in her room. From blood marks on the doorstep it is believed Mrs. Stack's shots took effect.

The Missing Tonawanda.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The captain of a brig which arrived at Brooklyn last night reports that on Tuesday evening he signalled the missing steamer Tonawanda, about sixty-two miles southwest by south of the northeast light and just abreast of Five Fathoms Bank, eighty miles off the coast. The Tonawanda was anchored and was slightly dragging off shore. The wind was stiff from the west and a moderate sea was running. A boat was lowered from the brig in response to the signals of distress from the Tonawanda and the captain boarded the steamer. The officers of the Tonawanda then made known the fact that their provisions were running low and asked for an additional supply. The tug Haviland will be sent out again in search of the Tonawanda.

A Burglar's Crime.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 6.—Last night burglars broke into Thomas Stark's house and assaulted Mrs. Stark, who was asleep on a sofa, so severely that her condition is dangerous. Stark fired two shots at the burglars, but they escaped.

THE HONOLULU CRISIS.

The Demands of the Hawaiian Cabinet Acceded to by King Kalakaua.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—A letter from Honolulu, dated Dec. 24, says: "The Cabinet has made a demand that Judge Jonathan Austin of Honolulu, an American, shall be offered the place of Godfrey Brown, who recently resigned from the Cabinet. The Cabinet has also demanded the appointment of Sanford Dole, a prominent lawyer, born here of American parents, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Forrander of the Supreme Court. At last advices the king had decided to accede to the Cabinet's demands, knowing that the Reform League would otherwise place Mrs. Dominis, the king's sister, on the throne. Kalakaua has been advised by the English and American ministers to comply with the demands of his Cabinet, with assurances that they would not interfere in his behalf with the designs of the Reform League."

Bribery Convictions in Prince Edward.

PICTON, Jan. 6.—At the conclusion of the election trial held here on Dec. 13 and 14 last at which Dr. Platt, the sitting member, was unseated and the election voided, a number of too zealous supporters of the Doctor were held for trial on the charges of bribery and such charges were deferred until to-day for further hearing before Judge Patterson. Thomas Coltier was fined $5 with costs and two days in jail. Rodman Ostrander was fined $50 and costs and two days' imprisonment. David Welbanks, who has gained unenviable local notoriety from having prosecuted The Gazette for libel was also fined $50 with costs and sentenced to three weeks' imprisonment.

Collections for S. S.

King Agrippa and Co-worker.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR.—A short time ago I read two very sensible letters in your valuable journal addressed to Mr. Rutherford, one of the contestants for the civic chair for the year 1888, advising him not to seek election as Mayor, as, in the opinion of the writer, Mr. Rutherford was not a fit and proper person for the office. It is obvious that both letters are written by one pen—thus "A Fellow-workman" and "Elector" are one and the same person. The co-workman need not be ashamed; the greater part of his two epistles are good, but in each there is a positive falsehood, and insinuates as much as that Mr. Rutherford does not read the Bible very carefully, and advises him to do so better in the future. I do not know how one could find out Mr. Rutherford's short-comings in this respect, but here a "co-worker" in professing to quote Scripture falsifies the record. His attachment to King Agrippa is strong, and in order to bring out all his power, he begs to be used the present Scripture narrative, but wants a new version of the Bible, but why say things about him which were never uttered? King Agrippa, your favorite oracle never said a word about Pauls' speech causing lunacy or anything like it. It was a mystery how "Co Worker," how anyone reading the new Testament at all, could fail so signally as he has done. As I said before his quotations are unpardonable. It is no use to say it was only a name—serous and often mistakes arise therefrom. Suppose our friend would say "that Nebuchadnezzar said to Paul, etc." No such name occurs in the New Testament, and if you will search you will find there is no record of "King Agrippa" speaking to Paul of "much learning", madness or anything of the sort. True, Agrippa, when listening to the burst of impassioned eloquence recorded in the 26th chapter of the Acts, cried out, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a christian." If "Co-Worker" will seek he will find it was a Governor, not a King, that used his favorite expression "much learning doth make thee mad."

Yours truly,
CIVIS.

Not Quite a Half.

They'll not charge you 50 cents, nor 40, nor 25, as the street faker's say, but only 15 cents for admission to the Grand Choral Festival in the George street Methodist church, Monday evening. A chorus of 400 voices, good local talent, the Fire Brigade Band, and Rev. T. Manning, an old pastor, to deliver an address. Double tickets, 25c.; tickets for children of other schools, 10c.; to be secured at the door.

The First on the List.

The first fire on this year's record occurred at noon to-day. The baggage room of the C.P.R. station was damaged to the extent of about $25. The wainscotting of the room and a couple of shelves bearing miscellaneous articles were burned or damaged. It is not known how the fire originated. It is presumed, though, that a match was thrown accidentally amongst some waste paper in a box where the blaze was first observed. The fire laddies were soon on hand and promptly subdued the flames.

A Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon a lad who was coasting on Brock Street, narrowly escaped a horrible death. As his sled was descending the hill and gathering speed every instant, a train dashed around the bend of the Missing Link track at a rapid rate. The boy perceived his danger and barely had time to throw himself from his sleigh, to roll over and over on the snow till within a few feet of the track, while his sleigh passed on and was smashed to atoms. It is a dreadfully dangerous practice, and one that is pretty general all over town, on Smithtown hill in particular. Mayor Stevenson will cause notices prohibiting coasting on these streets to be posted, and has given the police orders to be on the look-out for offenders.

Balsam Lake Hotel.

A despatch states that a large summer hotel is about to be erected at Balsam Lake. Peterborough people will be interested in view of the fact that next season, owing to the completion of the Burleigh works the route of the canal will be opened from Lakefield and Bridgenorth to Balsam Lake. There are several steamers on our back lakes which could, and doubtless will, extend their routes to Balsam Lake, and, as intimated in the EXAMINER some time ago, still another steamer project is on foot for this service. Thus there is a great probability of an extensive summer travel resulting from the opening up of the canal, and the building of these steamers and hotel. The despatch states that a project for some time talked of was successfully started last week. A company, with Mr. Wm. McKenzie at its head, has been formed to erect a large summer hotel on the north shore of Balsam Lake, a short distance east of the property owned by Mr. Geo. Laidlaw. About forty acres of land has been secured, and the hotel is to be erected upon what is known as Champlain's Ground and contiguous to the bay whereat the Indians have always been reputed to start their journeys down the Trent. It is believed the hotel will be largely patronized by families in consequence of the excellent bathing ground for children afforded by the great extent of sand bottom. Among others interested in the project are Mr. Nelson Hesslip, ex-Warden of the county of Victoria, Dr. Wood, Squire Cameron, Mr. A. J. Sinclair, barrister, of Cannington, and other leading spirits of the north riding of the county. The site selected is equalled by few hotel sites in the Province. A correspondent of the Globe writes: Perhaps no expanse of water along the entire system of the Trent possesses more historical associations than Balsam Lake, the water height or reservoir of the much-talked-of, long-promised, long-delayed Trent Valley Canal).

With Neck-Yokes and Pokers.

Some Emissaries Man Defy a Bailiff to do His Duty.—Women Assist.

A few days ago Constable and Bailiff Mellmoyle, of Lakefield, on a foreclosed mortgage held by his nephew, Mr. Wm. Mellmoyle, of Emiemore, seized two horses, a cow and a heifer, the property of Frederick Bennett, of the same township. The animals were left at Wm. Mellmoyle's place, just across the way from Bennett's. Thursday night the cow got loose and strayed back into Bennett's premises. Bennett would not give her up, so Mr. Mellmoyle drove to Lakefield for the bailiff. While he was gone the other animals seized were loosed and taken back to Bennett's stables and locked up. When the two Mellmoyle's returned the Bennett boys refused to give up the cattle. One of the two brothers flourished menacingly a heavy neck-yoke, while one of the women threatenningly shook a stove-poker in the face of the officer of the law. For a few minutes there was a lively war of words, but happily, after the constable had summoned up re-inforcements and over-awed his opponents, the Bennetts gave way and submitted quietly to arrest. They were brought to town last night and confined in the police station. This morning before the case came up for trial it was settled by the defendants paying all costs. The names of the defendants are Frederick and David Bennett, and Wm. Coon.

Manitoba Farming.

The Satisfactory Experience of Mr. Robert Ford, Formerly of Emily.

Mr. Robert Ford, formerly of the township of Emily, is home for a visit and favored the EXAMINER with a call, and gave some details of his experience which may be of interest to the public. Nine years ago he went to the North-west and homestended 160 acres, within four miles of Carberry, north of the C.P.R., main line. He had but little capital—a little over $200, but getting his farm practically for nothing, he has succeeded very fairly, and though he has, at times, had to deny himself considerably, he is now reaping his reward, having a good farm, a comfortable house, and surrounded with all the comforts a reasonable man could expect in a new country. His farm is level prairie land, without wood, though there is wood in the neighborhood on government lands, which may be had for ten cents per cord, by getting a government permit to cut it. The wood is a variety of poplar, with a habit of growth very like the Ontario maple. This wood is used for both building purposes and fuel, is much firmer than Ontario poplar, very much like white soft maple (acer dasycarpum) and makes good fuel. Mr. Ford has tried growing Ontario maple, but it does not seem to be hardy enough for the climate. Manitoba maple thrives well in plantation as well as the native spruce. Mr. Ford is well pleased with the country for farming, as the soil is ready for the plough from the start, the land is more easily tilled, and the yield per acre larger. The late frosts are some drawback, but these are not nearly so dangerous to grains (except barley) as to vegetables; with the latter, the danger can largely be avoided by experience. By planting at the right time—not too early—the danger of damage by frost can be largely escaped.

Mr. Ford gives the average yield of his farm per acre for the past eight years as follows:—Wheat, 25 bushels per acre (though the yield this year on his farm was from 40 to 45 bushels per acre); oats, from 50 to 80 bushels per acre (this year 60 bushels); barley, about 35 bushels. The wheat generally grown is Red Fife. Some have tried Russian wheat, but do not regard it as any improvement on the Red Fife. The price obtained for wheat this fall paid well—from 50 to 55 cents per bushel—a price that, with the crop of this year, yields about $20 per acre. Before the opening of the railway the new settlers made active demands for wheat for seed and good prices were obtained. There is no little grumbling at the high freight rates of the C.P.R. for hauling wheat. The farmer regards every cent added to freight charges as so much per bushel taken from the price he gets for his grain.

In the vicinity of Carberry the farmers do not raise much stock—just enough for their own use—they having to depend on wells for water for stock. Plenty of good water can be got by digging 15 to 30 feet. There is no stone to speak of in the vicinity. Mr. Ford says that during his nine years' residence on his farm he has found only one stone—about the size of a goose egg—and this is kept in the house as a curiosity.

Regular municipal government is established and school sections are also established, though some persons have to go two miles to school. At Carberry there are English Church, Presbyterian and Methodist services. The farmers now almost entirely use horses for farming purposes and the price is about fifty per cent. higher than in Ontario.

In the neighborhood of Carberry the settlers are principally Canadians, there being quite a colony of Emily people, including Mr. Ford and his father, Wm. Bailey, William, John and George Hartness, John Lee and Thomas and William Goggins.

Mr. Ford is well pleased with his experience in North-west farming, but would not advise any farmer comfortably settled to make a change. There is, however, a splendid opportunity for any young man wishing to follow farming to get a good start on easy conditions, with a prospect of becoming in a few years, with thrift and industry, a prosperous farmer.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents. DOLLAR. Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $8.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 69c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at 1/3 regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

NO PROBABILITY OF WAR BEFORE NEXT SUMMER.

The Sentence of Mr. Wilfred Blunt Confirmed—The Imperial Parliament—The Crown Prince—British Imports and Exports—The Victoria Jubilee Fund.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The sentence of two months' imprisonment in the case of Sir Wilfred Blunt, who had been arrested and convicted on a charge of violating the Crimes Act by addressing a meeting at Woodford, Ireland, was confirmed in appeal to-day. Judge Hann, before whom the appeal was heard, declared that although Mr. Blunt had not acted wisely, he had shown no cowardice.

Immediately after the decision in Mr. Blunt's case he was conveyed to the jail. He was followed by a large crowd, whom the police attempted to avoid by a ruse. This proved futile and a conflict occurred between the crowd and the police, during which swords and batons were used. Several persons were injured.

Mr. William John Lane, member of Parliament for the East Division of Cork, has been arrested in Cork on the charge of making a seditious speech at Watergrass Hill on Dec. 4. He was admitted to bail.

Professor Virchow of Berlin states in his new work that cancer can be cured.

The steamer Swansea from Baltimore for London, sunk a trawler off Start Point in a collision. Four of the trawler's crew were drowned.

Kaltenbach, the Paris copper operator, who failed yesterday, will pay 20 per cent. cash and 20 per cent. in three months.

The calm prevailing at the present moment is known by official and diplomatic circles to be deceptive, and nobody attaches the slightest importance to the assurances of peace exchanged between the Austrian and Russian Governments. The active resumption of negotiations between Count Kalnoky, the Austrian Foreign Minister, and Prince Lobanoff, the Russian Ambassador at Vienna, for the settlement of the balance of power for the Balkan peninsula, is the only actual change tending toward peace. This removes the danger of war for the present, but does not modify any of the essential differences between the two governments.

The attitude of England in the event of hostilities will be one of friendly neutrality. This fact is known to the Berlin Foreign Office. No overtures have ever been made to the German Government for England's co-operation in the triple alliance. The Colorne Gazette's article urging the advantage to England of joining the alliance was without official inspiration. What official inspiration reaches Berlin on the position of England is derived from London and St. Petersburg. The Czar has obtained the assurance that England has not joined the alliance. The Moscow Gazette to-day emphasizes the wisdom of England abstaining from any coalition with the central European powers. It says that she should rather conciliate Russia, in order to remain in peaceful possession of India. A Pan-Slavist organ seeks to show that Lord Salisbury's friendly neutrality is associated with sympathy for Bismarck's policy; and says that the evolution of events may soon convert this sympathy into active co-operation with the alliance.

Rumors that the Kaiser was seriously ill were current yesterday, but they were emphatically denied by officials doing business at the palace. Count Herbert Bismarck had a long interview with the Emperor to-day, and Col. Brix presented him the first imprint of the army list for 1888. During the interview the Emperor chatted cheerfully.

The imports to England for the past month increased £3,163,625 as compared with the corresponding month in 1886. The exports of the same month increased £3,230,000 over those of December, 1886.

The post-mortem examination made of the body of McNeill, the reporter who went to France to report the Kilrain-Smith fight and who was found dead on the beach at Boulogne, revealed the fact that he met his death by foul play. It was ascertained that he had been thrown into the water while he was yet alive, though in an unconscious condition.

An institution is to be founded in England for training and maintaining nurses for the sick poor in their own homes. The centre of the institution is to be in London, with branches at Edinburgh and Dublin.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Judge O'Hagan differed from his brother Land Commissioners, Litton and Wrench, in respect to the famous rent reduction cases, not because he thought it went too far in giving discretionary powers to the Land Commission to make abatements, but not far enough. He thought the act gave greater powers for this respect than his colleagues would use. I believe what the Parnellites complain of is that the reductions are made dependent on the prices of produce. Now prices vary according to scarcity; thus the farmer may get less for the entire produce of the farm when prices are high than when low. The Times to-day gives prominence to a letter from a correspondent, who alleges that he knows a man who will not pay his rent who has £700 in gold under the floor of his cabin. "His cabin," says The Times, "is literally paved with gold."

The Italian troops in Egypt have advanced their fortified posts to a point near Dogali. The Commander-in-Chief is moving his headquarters to Monkueto.

The rumors afloat concerning dissensions in the Imperial Parliament are utterly unfounded, says The New York Herald's London correspondent.

No mention of Stanley was made in despatches received at Brussels from the Congo country up to Dec. 10.

Doyle, the only Invincible released by the authorities, who was given a ticket-of-leave in April last, has sailed for America.

Discount was easy in London during the past week at 2 and 1¼. The more peaceful aspect of the political situation made foreign securities strong. American railroad securities generally were not changed.

A despatch from Bucharest says that the Russian reserves in Odessa have been dismissed.

A concession of territory has been made Spain by Italy, for fifteen years, of territo on the Bay of Assab, suitable for a coali station. The latter, however, has reserv the right to use it herself to the exclusion o others in time of war.

Two thousand Spanish pilgrims were received by the Pope to-day. He afterwar gave an audience to Emperor William's E voy, to whom he expressed the great pleasu with which he regarded the latest proof of th affection of the Emperor and the excellent lations between Germany and the Vatican.

MANITOBA AFFAIRS.

The Elections Vigorously Fought—The Government's Little Schemes—Mr. Royal Not Wanted.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 8.—The contests in Assiniboia and St. Francois Xavier are being fought with bitterness on both sides, but the Opposition is handicapped by the large amount of whisky and liquids with which the Government are flooding the constituencies. Many Frenchmen are inclined to vote with the Opposition, and Dr. Harrison is taking every means to bring them into line. A stormy meeting held last night at Headingby was largely in favor of Francis, the Liberal candidate. The Government have given instructions to the deputy-returning officers not to allow non-residents to vote, although their names are on the list. Trouble as the polls is expected.

The appointment of Royal as Lieut.-Governor is condemned by nearly all the newspapers in the Territories, of both shades of politics.

Rev. J. B. Silcox, the Congregational pastor, delivered a sermon this evening on "The graves of '87." He took occasion to refer to the political grave of Mr. Norquay, late Premier, and Mr. Larivière, ex-Provincial Treasurer, and said: "What the Province of Manitoba surely needs just now is men of ability, men of truth, men of honor, to lift the province out of the miry slough into which it has been dragged by pot-house politicians and lift it to a respectable position before the world. We are in a sorry and shameful plight to-day. Men who were leaders have left the ship floundering on the shoal and are asking Parliament to pass special laws to make them lawyers. Thus they will make the noble profession of the law a pit for smirched politicians. As a citizen who has loved this province and does love it—and I know I speak for many others—I feel humiliated when I consider the present condition of the Province. The province has been trampled on and spit on by a huge bulldozing corporation and our leaders have not had manliness enough to resent the insult. Like whipped dogs, they have licked the hand that smote them. They have proved themselves either incapable or criminal, or both, and not worthy to represent a people who possess the spirit and independence that have characterized Anglo-Saxons the world over. It would be an unspeakable blessing to the land if some strong man would arise and go to the Legislature as Oliver Cromwell once did and drive the whole lot out—order them to make room for capable, honest men. If it is true that a million is known by the character of the men it elects to office, what will the world think of us?"

Mrs. McAuley Again Arrested.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Ida McAuley, who killed her husband Christmas eve on discovering that he was engaged in an intrigue with her sister-in-law, was rearrested yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McAuley's discharge was recommended by the coroner's jury, and she was set free about a week ago. Yesterday she took out letters of administration for her husband's estate, worth about $5000. To-day the dead man's mother swore out a warrant charging the wife with murder.

Five Indian Murderers Sentenced.

LOS ANGELES Cal., Jan. 8.—At the San Carlos Indian agency, Arizona, June 7 last, Sqiund Lieut. Seward Mott, of the Tenth United States Cavalry, was murdered by members of his own command of Apache Indian scouts, who then escaped to the Gila River Mountains. The mutineers were apprehended, and after trial by court-martial five of them were convicted. Brig.-Gen. Miles has just pronounced the sentences. It is that two of the murderers be imprisoned at hard labor for twenty years each, one for fifteen years, one for ten years and one for two years. They are now at the Leavenworth military prison.

FISHERIES COMMISSION.

SATISFACTION IN ENGLAND OVER THE LATE REPORTS.

No Details Known as to the Concessions Reported to Have Been Made by Mr. Chamberlain—Sir George Stephen's Departure—The Stock Market.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The more cheerful reports received in the last day or two regarding the Fishery negotiations have given satisfaction here, though they are viewed with some chagrin. An amicable settlement is earnestly desired, but Canada would be upheld by a large body of the public and the opinion of the press in insisting on her reasonable demands. No details are published yet regarding the concessions which Mr. Chamberlain is reported to have induced the Ottawa Government to make.

Sir George Stephen sailed to-day in the Umbria.

There was slightly more activity in the stock markets this week. The change in Canadian securities were few, except in railways, for which an active demand prevailed. Trunks are distinctly higher. The 4 per cents. have risen 2½, first and third preferences 1½ and second 1¼. Canadian Pacific bonds one higher. Hudson Bay shares are a trifle firmer.

A special cable to The Mail says: The feeling is rapidly growing here that, as Commercial Union would greatly promote the prosperity of the Dominion, it is desirable in the interest of the British investors. This view has been put forward in two or three Liberal newspapers, and is favored by several prominent members of the Peace Society who have just returned from a visit to the United States and Canada. The latter say Canadian prospects are not very bright just now; that our exports to Canada must decline owing to the tendency of the Dominion tariff to increase; and that free trade between Canada and the States would do more to develop the natural resources of the former than any other measure. They are therefore favorable to Commercial Union, although they admit it would injure British trade to some extent, thought not, they say, for long; inasmuch as the United States tariff, which would probably be the one agreed upon under the scheme, will soon be lower than that of Canada. From what they heard and saw at Washington and elsewhere they are convinced tariff reform holds the field in the States.

DOMINION NEWS.

Sarah McPherson, an old maid of Parkhill, who was somewhat eccentric, was found dying from cold and starvation. When she was discovered medical assistance was at once obtained, but in vain. It is reported that none of her neighbors had seen her for at least a week previous to last Monday.

There were seven fire alarms in Montreal on Saturday.

When Detective Fahey was brought before Chief Justice Dorion on Saturday morning he was informed that the motion for a writ of habeas corpus applied for in his behalf had been dismissed, and that he would have to remain in jail pending the decision of the full bench on Jan. 16. If the lawyers for the defence do not succeed before the full bench they will carry the case before the Supreme Court at Ottawa.

Frank Fraser, C.E., of Bracondale, will likely be appointed Canadian Commissioner to the Argentine Republic.

The Ontario Rugby Union.

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—The sixth annual meeting of the Ontario Rugby Football Union was held at the Russell House here this evening, with a large attendance of delegates from the province. The annual report showed the union to be in a flourishing condition financially and otherwise. Numerous changes in regulations concerning the championship matches were made, the most important being that during the coming year the competition will be by challenge instead of by ties, as formerly. The election of officers resulted:

Presidents—G. A. Griffin, Ottawa College.
Vice-Presidents—T. D. B. Evans, Ottawa; T. H. Stinson, Hamilton.
Secretary-Treasurer—G. C. Biggar, Toronto University.
Executive Committee—W. H. Rankin, Queen's University; W. H. Rose, Royal Military College; A. D. Cartwright, Toronto; W. S. Chisholm, London; J. H. Scanlan, Toronto University; J. S. Broughall, Trinity College; Wm. Hendrie, jr., Hamilton.

BUFFALO, [illegible] stonecutters went on a strike yesterday morning. The employers had notified them that during the winter months they must work ten hours per day and the strike is the result.

A Victory for Steel Workers.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 8.—It is reported to-night that the Linden Steel Company has signed the Amalgamated Association scale. It is thought that the other firms will fall into line.

TIGHTENING THEIR GRIP.

INDICATIONS THAT THE STRIKING MINERS HAVE A GOOD HOLD.

Coal Shipments Over the Reading Road Steadily Decreasing—Committees of Business Men Will Ask President Corbin to Arbitrate—Other Labor Troubles.

READING, Pa., Jan. 7.—The coal shipments over the Reading Railroad since the opening of the week have decreased steadily day by day and this morning the company's tally sheet at the office in this city showed that hardly 600 cars had come down the road from sundown last evening until to-day. This is regarded by all conservative parties as an indication that the strikers are tightening their hold. Of these 600, about 125 cars contained soft coal from the bituminous regions. Nearly all the anthracite now shipped comes from the individual collieries, the company reserving the small supply mined at their own collieries for its own use. The railroad hands who took the places of the strikers are being boycotted everywhere. Hotel-keepers refuse to keep them except at exorbitant rates, and many of them and the Pinkerton detectives are being quartered in old passenger cars, especially fitted up in the shops in this city with bunks, stoves, etc.

The scarcity of coal and the increased cost of that commodity has not yet resulted in the shutting down of any of the furnaces or manufactories in the vicinity, and the proprietors generally express a hope that a speedy settlement of the strike will avert such a course on their part.

Business Men Taking Action.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Jan. 7.—A largely attended meeting of leading business men was held here to-day. A committee was appointed to wait on President Corbin of the Reading Road, to point out to him the peril to business from a long continued strike, and to urge upon him the advisability of submitting the differences between the company and its employes to arbitration.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 7.—The Board of Trade have appointed a committee to call on President Corbin and ask that an adjustment of the present difficulty be made. Business is almost entirely suspended.

Will Attempt to Start a Mine.

HAZELTON, Pa., Jan. 8.—No attempt has been made to operate any of the mines in this striking district during the past week. The strikers are apparently resigned to continue in the present struggle, and a break in the men's ranks is not probable. Another effort will be made on Monday to resume at one of the collieries of the district, that of G. Pardee & Co., at Hollywood. It is thought by the firm that enough Italians and Hungarians can be had to operate one mine.

Support Asked for Lehigh Strikers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 7.—The Local Executive Board of the Knights of Labor issued an appeal yesterday afternoon to the workingmen and citizens in Wyoming and Lackawanna Valleys. They claim that if the strike can be prolonged four weeks the Reading Co. many must yield.

Ordered Out.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—A conference was held last night in Jersey City between representatives of the various bodies involved in the Reading strike, and it was decided that the men should be ordered out of the Wyoming mines. This action, it was said, would practically stop work in the anthracite coal region. A prominent member of District Assembly 49 said the Knights had fully made up their minds to fight this strike to the end.

A Quiet Sunday.

READING, Jan. 8.—Sunday is usually a very quiet day in the coal regions, and this was exceptionally so. The run of coal down the road since midnight was but 300 cars, while three weeks ago to-day there was shipped through this city 2800 cars drawn by sixty-one engines. At the car shops in this city the books show that the number of coal cars in active service on the road is about 40,000. Nearly all of these are now lying on the siding in the coal regions.

Navigation closed on the Schuylkill Canal on Dec. 16, and about two dozen boats engaged in the coal carrying trade, each containing several hundred tons of coal, became icebound north and south of this city. It was not expected that the coal could be moved before spring, but now every pound has been bought up.

The information received at the company's office in this city to-night is that to-day's meetings of the strikers showed that there is no break in the miners' strike.

Shamokin appears to be the hotbed of the present strike. It is there most general, both on the railways and in the mines, and it is there where the most feeling is shown against non-union men.

Coal Goes Up.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—The Ledger to-morrow will say: The anthracite coal trade are taking advantage of the strike in the Schuylkill district to further advance the price for coal, and last week the shippers advanced their prices at the breakers from 30 to 75 cents per ton. The local retail coal dealers have in turn increased their prices.

Rewarded According to His Deeds.

Rev. T. Manning, B.A., of Oshawa, Preaches the Anniversary Sermons of the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School.

Sunday the anniversary services of the George Street Methodist Sunday School was conducted by Rev. Mr. Manning, of Oshawa, a former pastor of the Charlotte street church, who preached morning and evening.

In the morning the church was crowded. The middle seats and portions of the side seats were occupied by the school children, who were very attentive and quiet throughout the whole service. The songs were appropriate to the occasion. Mr. F. W. Miller was in the choir and helped with his control.

Rev. Mr. Manning took for his text Matthew, xvi, 27:

"For the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father and His Angels, and then shall He reward every man according to his works."

Rev. Mr. Manning said he knew the children would forgive him for not "preaching" to them, but hoped that what he might say would not be uninteresting. The Bible says we are saved by grace, and that it is not possible to do more than our duty. Yet the text says that when He cometh men shall be rewarded according to their works. By being saved by grace it is understood that if a man repent and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and die the very next moment, he shall enter heaven. Then another man who has lived a good life, when he dies and passes into heaven, will be rewarded for every good deed. So there are two ways of getting into heaven. The text says that every man shall be rewarded according to his works. How important then that we begin to live a good life as soon as possible and gain the reward for it. If an old man gives his heart to God it will be a benefit to all eternity; but not nearly so much so as would the conversion of a little boy who had his whole life to live for God. It is true that a man's relative position after entering heaven is the same as on entering heaven, then it is very important that we get into heaven upon as good terms as possible. Some say if they manage to get into heaven at all it will satisfy them. But they will not be satisfied with that. Here is a man who glorifies God and expresses his thankfulness for forgiveness, and he says in the fulness of his heart, "I am the happiest man on earth!" But his life before he was brought to Jesus' feet was not above reproach, and will he not after he gets into heaven be sorry for those long years of evil deeds. Will he not wish that he had entered heaven with an unbroken record of righteousness, and receive the reward for it. Others say sentence and reward will be reserved till the Judgment Day, until the awful day when time will give no more, and the reason assigned is that the work of man will not be over till then, and God will then judge not by the name or fame we bore on earth, not by the results of our lives, but by our deeds and motives. In that great day God will exalt those who were humble. A house is afire, and there are three little boys in danger of being burned. But they manfully go to work, one standing on a table, another handing him up water to throw on the flames; while the other boy, too little to be of any use, bends down with his hands upon his knees and shouts "Amen!" Who did the most in extinguishing that fire, the two boys who threw on the water or the one that called down God's blessing? There is a wonderful power in an Amen! Then again some poor miners who have toiled for months seeking for gold, running a shaft down into the earth and laboring hard, but all in vain. They give up in despair. Then a while later a rich company of men buy the old mine, set a gang of men to work and before two days are past they discover a rich nugget of gold, worth thousands of dollars. Who really did most to unearth the gold? The men who had only worked two days or those who had toiled weeks and months before giving up? Surely the latter. So it is in life. We have labored and others are entered into our labors. The lesson taught is that we must have patience, we must toil on and not be discouraged, and the brightest results will follow. Now it is said that when we enter heaven we shall enter it and be rewarded only according to our deeds. A man who had lived a righteous life when on his bed of death prayed for his wife and children to meet him in heaven, and he died in the triumph of faith. Another man, also a father, who had been wounded in a drunken street brawl, died in a hospital, with no thought for anyone but himself. He prayed for forgiveness and at the eleventh hour it came; and before he died he expressed his faith and love for the Lord Jesus. When these two fathers come into heaven, who will receive the greater reward? It is a great mercy and blessing to us that God rewards us according to our deeds. The mother who enters heaven will be glad she brought up her children in the faith of God—glad that she had lived not for the world but for her God. So shall we who live a life of righteousness be rewarded according to our deeds.

IN THE EVENING

another large congregation was present. Rev. Mr. Manning took his text from the book of Ecclesiastes:—

"Say not thou, what is the cause that the former days were better than these, for thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this."

It was interesting, said the reverend speaker, to know whether the world was getting better or worse. Things were different anyway, and whether the change was for the better or worse is a question. We notice nowadays many evils that our forefathers saw not, and some argue from this that the world is getting worse. But the evils we are more trying to overthrow always exhibit, but because they were not discovered their activity was not realized. Under a greater light we are recognizing the greater darkness. Some say there are more schools than there need to be; but so there are more churches and more schools than formerly. All this is because there are more people in the world to-day than before. These evils have always been, and God is hastening the day when they will be no more. All the churches believe that God is leading them on to a glorious victory. Many of the things that present themselves to us to-day, said the preacher, were viewed as evils—as someone has said, evils, evils only and evils continually. But, he said, he felt safe in saying that these things that seem to us evil are the results of good. They attest the civilization of the world. They come like a storm which shall be cleared away and shall be followed by a brighter sunshine. These things have arisen because the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ has reached all people, and worked differently among different men. It has been the means of raising the agitators which are troubling our world to-day. Part of the Gospel has permeated America and Europe, and is reaching into Asia and Africa. It has let bound men know that they were bound, and these will never rest until their bonds are broken. It has let the afflicted man know that every man should be his brother, and if selfish Jacobs have taken away his birthright, he will struggle to regain it. Thus, these very evils are the outcome of Gospel teaching. When we look over the sea of troubles engulfing the world, our faith says, the spring time cometh. How shall human life regain its equilibrium, how shall the world attain its ideal state? A man looks about this earth and sees the results of omnipotent power in the mighty convulsions of nature, which have made mountains, islands and caverns. Nature was seeking her equilibrium. This same power is the one thing that will bring quiet to the troubled world to-day. This liberty of agitation and disturbance is the safety valve of society. The work of reformation went on slowly in the world, he said, but it has been going on since the days when Jesus began his labors. The reverend gentleman said he did not think there was an evil afflicting man to-day that had grown worse than it was originally, while a great many of them were greatly ameliorated. There has been no age, he said, since the days of the Messiah, that the condition of man has not improved. The condition of woman in the days of our Savior was that of a bond-servant to her husband. Gradually that condition has been improved until to-day she stands exalted. But even in this nineteenth century men were largely barbarous in this matter. Some were selfish enough to exclude her from her rights; but the time was coming, he said, when she would be on a perfect level with mankind. God has been improving the world right along. There was a time when slavery was thought right, but this age proclaimed the slaves' emancipation. There was a time when drinking was not thought wrong, but the drinker of to-day lies under a heavy ban. The horrors of war have been reduced, famine no longer rages in the land, the ignorant are better attended to. All the agitations and troubles affecting men [illegible] he said, the direct result of [illegible] ling, which touches [illegible] hearts and rouses them to a realization of the evils which have so long still dormant or unnoticed. The preacher concluded with an expression of confidence in the future prospects of the church of God and christianity.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

A BIG LOAN.

Li Hung Chang Gets 6,000,000 Taels to Relieve the Flood Sufferers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—The steamer Rio de Janeiro arrived from China and Japan Saturday. Hong Kong advices say that Li Hung Chang is in receipt of advices that Count Minkowicz and Wharton Barker of Philadelphia are on their way to China to consult with the officials respecting the recent concessions granted to the Philadelphia syndicate.

The steamship Vespusian, which left Saigon for Manila Nov. 19, is supposed to be lost.

The Tien Tsin correspondent of the The Shanghai Mercury says: Li Hung Chang has been successful in negotiating a loan for 6,000,000 tails from the Hong Kong and Shanghai banking corporation, and one other firm at 5½ per cent., payable in twenty years. The loan was negotiated to carry on the work of relief and repairing made necessary by the overflow of the Yellow River.

BROUGHT TO TIME.

The Captain of a Tramp Steamer Forced to Obey the Law.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The British tramp steamer Mosser arrived in this port on Dec. 11 from Asiatic ports with a miscellaneous cargo. When the cargo was unloaded it was found that about 150,000 pounds of tea had become worthless by contamination with other freight. Libels were filed against the vessel for the value of the tea by Gillespie & Co. and others, and Deputy United States Marshal Holmes seized the vessel. He discovered that the captain of the Mosser had coaled and was about to sail.

The Marshal hurried to the Federal building and was furnished with fourteen deputies to prevent the departure of the Mosser. At first the captain was obdurate and said he would sail despite the jurisdiction of the court, but finally came to his senses, filed sufficient bonds and paid all the costs.

THE G.T.R. AND ALLAN LINE.

A Settlement of the Dispute Between Them Said To Be Probable.

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—The statement is made that the Grand Trunk Railway authorities and the Allan Steamship Company have re-opened negotiations with a view to settle the difficulty between them. It will be remembered that the Allan Steamship Company fell out with the Grand Trunk Railway on the question of freights, and on Dec. 29 it was decided that the steamers should give the go-by to Portland as a winter port and call at Baltimore instead. For the past few days, the rumor says, Mr. Andrew Allan, Mr. R. A. Smith and Mr. Sergeant, general freight agent of the Grand Trunk, have been in conference, and an amicable settlement is likely to be arrived at. The new time table of the Allan Line, with Portland reinstated instead of Baltimore, may be looked for shortly.

ENTHUSIASM AT THE SOO.

Arrival of the First Through Freight with Flour From Minneapolis.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Jan. 8.—The first through freight train, containing flour, arrived here from Minneapolis at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The train consisted of two engines and nineteen cars. They left Minneapolis Friday afternoon, but met with heavy snow-drifts. On reaching here the train met with an enthusiastic reception, hundreds greeting it at the station with loud cheers. The train was transferred at this point to the Canadian Pacific Railway, who will rush it through to Boston. This opens up the fastest freight and passenger route from the Mississippi to New England. Eighty-three cars of flour will follow this consignment in four trains.

Among the inscriptions on the freight cars were: "Minnesota Sends Greeting to All England;" "First Through Train from the Mississippi to the Atlantic North of Lake Michigan."

An Actress Held for Larceny.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—As Miss Bessie Morrison, actress, was taking the train for Detroit, where she was booked, she was arrested, charged with the larceny of $697 from George W. Blanchard, a showman who performs with cannon balls. The case came up in the Police Court yesterday. Lamon Dyhenad testified that at the request of the officers she searched the young woman and found $644 in one of her shoes. The accused was held to await the action of the grand jury.

Mr. Mercier's Health Improving.

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—Hon. Mr. Mercier's friends will be pleased to learn that his health is much improved, and that he was strong enough to enjoy a sleigh drive yesterday. He leaves for Florida upon the advice of his physician early this week. Before leaving it is understood the Premier will make several appointments. It is in this connection, it is stated, that Hon. Geo. Duhamel has come to Montreal, and that Hon. Jas. McShane has not yet returned to Quebec.

To Avoid Baldness or Grey Hair.

Use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from Dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature grayness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists.

A $250,000 Fire at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The navy agency [illegible] Nos. 200 and 202 Fourth avenue, owned by John C. Dale of Chicago and S. F. Hunt of Hillsboro, O., burned last evening, causing a loss of $250,000. Hibbard Spencer, Bartholomay and printing firms were the principal occupants, and their inflammable stock feed so easily that nothing could be done except to try and save the adjoining structures. The building was worth $115,000, and is nearly a total loss. It was insured for $40,000. The Enamel Proprietary Company was the heaviest sufferer aside from the owners of the building. The Enamel's loss is estimated at $60,000 and is said to be well insured. Sixteen firms bear the brunt of the remaining damage about equally between them, with little or no insurance.

I HAVE been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking. Indeed for years I was not able to speak thirty minutes, and often talk with great difficulty. I also to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all droppings of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing have greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill. eodw2

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Westmoreland business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies so long as he puts his actual sales, those can either they be at value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and competition happily, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be misled with company in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you almost 33 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $5.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the cash.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $2.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no humbug, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

The Rose of Estrick Vale.

Next Wednesday evening, at the opera house this sterling drama will be presented by the amateur dramatic company, under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. The members of the company are rehearsing industriously and endeavoring to bring themselves up to the highest standard in performing their parts. It is to be hoped they will be encouraged by having a bumper house. The object of the entertainment is a most laudable one, and the public should show its appreciation of the past efforts of the P.A.A.A. by a liberal attendance on Wednesday evening.

School Board Meeting.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held on Saturday evening. There were present Messrs. A. Rutherford (who acted as chairman), English, Wrighton, Dumble, Deane, T. Rutherford, McWilliams and Stratton. On motion of Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. English, Miss Annie E. Peters was appointed to the room from which Miss Sim was promoted, and on motion of Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. McWilliams, Miss Aldridge was permitted to attend the Model School, and Mrs Fowler was appointed to fill the vacancy during her six months absence. A report was also adopted confirming the appointment of Mr. Walkey, the promotions that were recently made by the Committee of Appointments, which have already appeared in the EXAMINER, and the increase of $50 to Mr. Smith's salary.

A Railway Proposal.

An Ottawa despatch says a proposal is made that the Midland section of the Grand Trunk railway, which is already graded as far as Perth, should be extended to Ottawa, and thence be continued through the Counties of Russell and Prescott to connect with the Vaudreuil and Prescott road. The construction of such a line would give Ottawa additional railway connections east and west, and the line from this city eastward would pass through a thickly settled and prosperous country. The recent regulations of the C.P.R., by which trains only stop at a few of the stations on the way from Montreal to Ottawa, have been very unpopular here, as it is claimed that the regulations have been framed in the interests of Montreal, which is represented in Parliament by Sir Donald Smith. Competition, therefore, would be welcomed, and a proposition to bonus a new road would be popular.

A Cooking Test.

The superior advantages of a ventilated oven for cooking purposes has again been demonstrated, and beyond dispute this time. A test of the cooking qualities of a stove with an air tight oven and one with the patent ventilated oven manufactured by the Peterborough Stove and Furnace Company was made the other day. A roast weighing when raw 9 lbs. 15 oz., after being cooked in the ventilated oven weighed just 8 lbs. 4 oz., showing a loss of substance of 1 lb., 11 oz. Another roast, exactly the same weight, when cooked in an air tight oven turned the scales at 6 lbs. 6 oz.—a loss of 3 lbs. 9 oz. This gives a difference of nearly two pounds in favor of the ventilated oven. The science of cooking, particularly as regards meat, is to retain as much juice as possible—the real substance of the meat. Without it the meat would be useless. A test proves conclusively that the best results in this line are to be obtained from the ventilated oven. The Peterborough Stove and Furnace Company have secured a patent on their ventilated oven, and it promises to bring in the patentees a small fortune. Were its merits better known the old-fashioned air tight oven would find its usefulness confined to the arena of a scrap-iron shed.

Port Hope's Insolvency.

The Times says:—"Port Hope must soon take the stand that the town of Portage la Prairie has assumed relative to its indebtedness. Portage la Prairie says it has reached a sufficiently high rate of taxation and that it can only in future meet forty per cent. of its liabilities; and henceforth it will pay but forty per cent. Port Hope's claims are just, and cannot be too often reiterated. She built a railway, declared afterwards to be a provincial benefit in opening up the back townships. Therefore Port Hope, for that reason alone, should not be called on to pay the money she borrowed from the Province. She, moreover, after having lent money, the repayment of which was dependent, as was well known, upon the receipts from the road constructed, the province practically built another road that took from Port Hope the ability to repay the loan. Port Hope, like Portage la Prairie, has reached a limit of her unjust taxation and a re-arrangement must come. The Manitoba Government appointed commissioners to enquire into the condition of the defaulting municipalities in Manitoba. Port Hope is not a defaulting municipality, but one with a grievance that deserves as much consideration as the defaulters of Manitoba have received. Let Port Hope's claims be examined impartially, and there can be no doubt about the result."

Personal.

Rev. T. Manning, of Oshawa, while in town was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Morrow.

Mr. Wm. Hamilton, jr., although still confined to his bed, is improving as rapidly as can be expected after his severe illness.

Among the recently elected members of the Executive Board of the Ontario District Moulders' Union appears the name of Mr. Wm. Radkins, Peterborough.

The many friends of Mr. Albert Loch, secretary of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co'y, are pleased to see that he is able to be about again. He gave us a friendly call on Saturday and we hope he will soon be able to resume his responsible duties.

The many friends of Rev. Thos. Manning were delighted to meet him yesterday and hear him twice preach the same clear, practical, fearless, direct kind of sermons, with which he made the public familiar during his pastorate here.

Mr. James Mann, a respected resident of Smith, was to-day admitted to the Nicholl's Hospital for the purpose of undergoing the operation of lithotomy. It is to be hoped that an operation of so serious a nature will be successful, and that Mr. Mann will be soon restored to health.

Mr. Henry Morris, formerly of the Midland Railway, Peterborough, has been appointed Travelling Auditor of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway, with Headquarters at St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Morris well deserves the promotion and will, doubtless, fill the position with credit to himself and profit to his employers.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—"Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., announces that he will address his constituents in Harvey and Galway, on Friday and Saturday next. Mr. Stratton is an active and energetic member, and has adopted the very proper course of meeting the electors at intervals, and whilst explaining his actions and instructing his hearers on the work of the past session, obtains the wishes and views of those whom he represents, in connection with the legislation of the future."

Modern Life Insurance.

[DEDICATED BY THE AUTHOR TO PETERBOROUGH'S AGENT OF INSURANCE AGENTS].

Life insurance men remind us
We can make our wives relations,
And departing leave behind us
Widows worthy of our sires.

We will give them such a send off
On the new insurance plan,
That when we departing end off
They can't coop some other man!

Brandon, of this village, who when smitten with partial paralysis about five weeks ago, was taken to Peterborough and placed under the care of Dr. King, is slowly but steadily recovering, and his many friends will be glad to learn that hopes of his ultimate restoration to perfect health are beginning to be entertained."

A LETTER FROM THE CARDINAL.

Relating to the Striking Printers in the City of Quebec.

QUEBEC, Jan. 8.—The following letter from Cardinal Taschereau in relation to the labor troubles in the city, was read in all the Catholic churches to-day:

In my circular of April 5, 1887, informed you that the Holy See had suspended until further orders the effect of the condemnation of the society of the Knights of Labor. Among other conditions the Holy See exacts: 1. That the Knights of Labor be ready to abandon this society so soon as it shall ordain it. 2. That they sincerely and explicitly promise absolutely to avoid all that may either favor Masonic and other condemned societies, or violate the laws either of justice, charity or of the state. 3. That they abstain from every promise and from every oath by which they would bind themselves either to obey blindly all the orders of the directors of the society or keep absolute secrecy even towards lawful authorities. Catholics who fail in one of these conditions are unworthy of the sacraments of the church.

To those who will consult you (the rectors) you will tell them for me (the Cardinal) that I strongly advise all the Catholics of the archdiocese not to enroll themselves in this society which is, to say the least, dangerous, and if they already belong, to withdraw therefrom as soon as possible.

Will Make no Overtures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The regular weekly meeting of the striking flint glass blowers took place yesterday at their headquarters in Brooklyn. It was learned that the workmen had decided to make no overtures to the employers. If the latter desire a conference the men will meet them at any time. It is said that very important developments are expected on Monday. It was learned from another source that an eastern manufacturer outside of Brooklyn had decided to withdraw from the association. This will break the combination, and the men can return to work under their own rules.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

NO FURTHER PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT EXPECTED.

The Canada Temperance Act in Nominal and Halton—The Terminus of the Georgian Bay Railway—Report of Prosperity in the Northwest.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—The two evening papers here are amusing themselves, the one by stating that Parliament is likely to be called for the dispatch of business about Feb. 20, on account of the clearing prospects of an early settlement of the fisheries question, and the other that Parliament will be still further prorogued on account of the gloomy outlook on the fisheries question. Both are probably wrong. An order-in-council has been passed postponing the meeting of Parliament to Feb. 23. By an oversight the proclamation was omitted from last week's Canada Gazette but will appear next Saturday. The meeting of the Commission had been or nothing to do with the changing of the date, except incidentally, the fact being that on account of the absence of Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Thompson in Washington, and their labors in preparing the case before they went there, they had had no time to prepare any business of their respective departments for submission to Parliament. It is understood that both gentlemen are devoting a portion of their time in Washington to supervising the business to be submitted to Parliament, and there is very little probability of any further postponement of the meeting of the House.

It is understood that the delay in issuing proclamations fixing dates for voting on the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in the counties of Stanstead and Halton is caused in the first case by reason of the temperance party, through Hon. Mr. Scott, having expressed a wish to state their objections to the petition and a date for such hearing not having been determined on, and in the second case because Rev. Mr. Morrow, a well known temperance worker in Halifax, claims that the public notice required by the act was not properly given by the petitioners.

A deputation from the Quebec Board of Trade will have an interview with the members of the Privy Council at 3 o'clock on Wednesday with reference to the terminus of the ocean mail service.

Although the appointment has not been actually made it is semi-officially understood that Junior Judge Loomis will be promoted to the County Court Judgeship of Waterloo, made vacant by the resignation of Judge Miller.

The steamer Northern Light is still running between Prince Edward Island and the mainland, but owing to the increasing difficulty of navigating the Strait of Northumberland, it is understood that the usual ice-boat service will be commenced in a few days.

The Marine Department has received the report of the commissioner appointed to enquire into the Oriental disaster, and the matter is now being considered.

Mr. Alexander McGibbon, formerly of Montreal, but now Inspector of Indian Agencies in the Northwest, arrived from Regina to-day on business connected with the Department of Indian Affairs with reference to next year's supplies. Mr. McGibbon says that prosperity prevails in the Northwest. He thinks the Indians are fast losing their love of a nomadic life. They remain on their reserves, and during the past two seasons have made wonderful progress in their agricultural pursuits. The Indians take a special delight in the cattle given to them by the Government. As illustrating the improvement in the condition of the red men, Mr. McGibbon mentioned that the Crooked Lake Indians recently purchased a steam threshing machine, and now have between 7000 and 8000 bushels of grain for sale. Horse stealing is a thing of the past, and the Indians are being greatly benefitted by the industrial schools established by the Government.

Mr. Justice Burbidge heard several appeals in the Exchequer Court this morning from the decision of the official arbitrators in the case of Shields v. The Crown on account of lands taken for the purpose of enlarging the Cornwall Canal and in which Shields was not satisfied with the award of the arbitrators. The case was taken on default as were the cases of Ryan and Mann, arising out of expropriation by the Government of lands for the Cornwall Canal. The case of Mr. Denis O'Brien of Montreal for the examining warehouse, Quebec, was enlarged until Monday in order to ascertain whether the claim is really pending before the arbitrators.

GLOOM AT ST. CATHARINES.

Death of Collector James Seymour—Rev. Henry Holland Passes Away at Toronto.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 9.—Mr. James Seymour, Collector of Inland Revenue at this port, died at 8 o'clock this morning. He was a native of Limerick, Ireland, where he was born about sixty-four years ago. He came to Canada with his father in 1826, and early in life entered the printing business, and was connected, among other papers, with The Toronto Globe and The Hamilton Spectator. Deceased was a prominent Freemason and was elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada at the annual communication in 1871. He leaves a widow, sister of Mr. J. W. Murton of Hamilton, one son and seven daughters.

A telegram at noon to-day from Toronto announcing the death of Rev. Henry Holland at his residence, 208 Spadina-avenue, this morning, together with Mr. Seymour's death has caused a gloom to hang over the city. Mr Holland was for many years rector of St. George's Church here but was compelled to relinquish his pulpit on account of illness. He had resided in Toronto for the past twelve months.

Couch is, if his own account be true, a member of the highest circles of the British aristocracy. His name is Wm. J. Ritchie and he represents himself as the son of the well-known member of Parliament of that name.

Under this is found several are buried. Mats Mortimer, puddler, was found buried under the debris. The brick and burned to crisp. Among the wounded are Wm. K. Williams, puddler, badly scalded; John Kaufman, struck by flying missiles; John Lewis, puddler, scalded; Elias Daves, scalded and crushed; John E. Tyhin, puddler, struck by missiles and badly burned; Pete Dolan, puddler, badly scalded.

Methodist Ministers Protest.

Carman read a paper entitled "A protest against the action of President Cleveland in sending a copy of the Constitution of the United States to Pope Leo XIII. on the occasion of the recent jubilee of the latter." The protest excited considerable discussion.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 9.—A westbound freight train broke in two on a hill east of West Lebanon and went crashing into a passenger train standing at the station. The freight and passenger cars were thrown from the track, a number of passengers seriously injured and a mail agent named Helin fatally hurt.

INTERESTING ITEMS BY WIRE.

STILL IN DARK SUSPENSE.

CONFLICTING RUMORS REGARDING THE PEACE OF EUROPE.

The Improved Feeling Only Conditional—Russia Quietly Preparing Herself—Austria Strengthening Her Position in Galicia.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The National Zeitung says: "The belief that peace will be maintained is growing, but it is clear that the intimate concord a solution is to proceed from Russia only. Vienna advices are opposed to the peace predictions. Col. Zaleff, the Russian military attache at Vienna, stated that he was permitted to inform the Austrian military authorities that his Government had decided, in furtherance of the measures recently announced in The Invalide Russe, to move two more divisions of troops to the frontier. The announcement is regarded as clear evidence of the seriousness of the position.

The commission of officers appointed by Count Bylandt—Rheydt, Austrian Minister of War, to examine into and report the condition of the railways and fortifications in Galicia, returned to Vienna Saturday. They state that the new works at Cracow and Przemysl, the chief fortified centres, are in a satisfactory condition. Troops have been echeloned on the strategic lines leading to Galicia, and ample forces can be sent to the frontier at twenty-four hour's notice.

The National party will join the Conservatives in passing the three years' prolongation measure and will vote also for the banishment clause of the Socialist Bill as modified by the Bundesrath.

THE DRY GOODS QUEEN.

Some of the Characteristics of the Merchant Princess of Paris.

In a Christmas packet from Paris Mrs. Correspondent Crawford sent the following to London Truth:

Madame Boucicaut was the greatest woman, possibly, of her century. She might have been about '70 when I last saw her, and was full-bosomed, broad-shouldered, fresh, hale active and, though nearly as rich as any Californian Silver King, unable to enjoy the rest she so well earned. She was of short stature, could never have been graceful, but must have had a charming face when young. In old age it was pleasant to the eye, and still gave the idea of abounding life. The eye at first seemed sharply, and then beamed out good nature. Madame Boucicaut at the time I speak of was a widow, and wore widow's mourning, but of a mitigated sort. She was of homely speech and address, but not vulgar. All the administration of the great Universal Provider was known to her, and she kept a close eye to all its departments. When she lost her husband she felt as if she had got into a world out of joint and void, but would not yield to her temptation to despair. The son, who was wanting in the great qualities of father and mother, set up before he married as the "banker" of a Neapolitan princess of non-royal birth, who is now seeing life as a globe-trotter, and smoking, it may be, adventurers. Madame Boucicaut not long ago settled £20,000 apiece on each of this lady's children and paid her a lump sum to pipe them in a cabaret of the old lady's choosing.

The pet charity of this Dry Goods Queen was an old man's asylum near her own beautiful château, placed at Fontnay aux Roses. What I am going to repeat is not flattering to the sex whose rights are women's wrongs. Said Madame Boucicaut: "There's nothing to helpless and in the way as an old man, whereas an old woman can always eke out a livelihood somehow, and she can get selfish relatives not to grudge her a place on the hearth by her natural activity and her sympathy with her grandchildren. With them she is really never old, and her tongue wags busily all the time that she knits, or mends, or potters about the cooking stove, or nurses the baby. But the poor, stiff-limbed old man! God help him! I have my own father and grandfather still before my eyes, and my mother, too, who laundered and ironed until one day she sat down and went out, like a run-down candle, of old age."

This great woman had a charity budget larger than the civil list allowances of no matter what queen or empress consort. Her pen was always upon her check-book, and she thought nothing of making a gift of thousands of pounds. Nay, she could, without hanging back, sign one for £100,000 or £150,000. Her minor charities for some years were never under £76,000 a year, and few but those they helped or her accountants knew how this money went. She looked upon herself as a stewardess by providential appointment for the good of the poor of the vast fortune which she possessed. . . . . The priests of the Irish College here were the agents of the Dry Goods Queen in finding her counter assistants. Irish girls, according to her experience, had good morals, perception, taste and pliability, and they smartened up quickly, owing to their natural intelligence.

Madame Boucicaut held two-thirds of the entire shares of the Bon Marche after she turned it into a joint stock company, and £30,000 a year out of the general profits for rent. The other third was owned by her staff, which was enabled to buy it through gifts she and her husband made them, amounting in all to £300,000. Nobody, to the very humblest in that establishment, is unprovided for. The shareholders are debarred from selling shares to outsiders, or retaining them if they retire. This woman was a country laundress' daughter. Her early hits were due to her taste in making up lots of damaged silk and stuff into fancy articles. She bought a good deal of land near Cannes, and was planning a winter asylum for poor old people when she was carried away by sudden congestion of the lungs.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD

AN EARLY SETTLEMENT AT WASHINGTON EXPECTED.

The French Cable Company Subject to Damages—Mr. Harrington's Sentence Confirmed—Return of Mr. Spurgeon to London.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The French Tribunal of Commerce has delivered a judgment ordering the French Cable Company to fill the conditions of its agreement with the Anglo-American Company, pay all losses and ascertain the amount of damage per day for each day's delay in carrying out the agreement. It is supposed that 2000 francs per day from the time of its attempted withdrawal, Jan. 1, 1887, until the date of its return, will have to be paid by the French Company. The latter will appeal.

The editor of The Kerry Sentinel, Mr. Timothy Harrington, was placed on trial to-day on the charge of having published in his paper reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the National League. Mr. Harrington was convicted of the offence and sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment. Notice of appeal was given. Mr. Corcoran, publisher of The Cork Examiner, was also tried to-day for the same offence and sentenced to two months' imprisonment without hard labor. He will also appeal.

There was a long conference held to-day between Lord Hartington and Lord Salisbury on the Local Government Bill. To meet the objections of his party to the bill the Unionist leader insisted upon the Government adopting numerous amendments.

Trouble has arisen among the Crofters of the Aigash District in Invernessshire, Scotland. About 1000 landless Crofters drove the sheep off the farms and resisted to the police and troops who were sent to the scene. Numbers were wounded on both sides.

The Spanish Chamber of Deputies has rejected the proposal of Senor Canovah Del Castello to increase the transit duties on imported cereals and flour. The proposal was rejected by a vote of 168 to 60. Senor Canovah also advised the early repeal of existing treaties of commerce and other protective steps. Senor Pulgcerver in a speech in behalf of the Government declared emphatically against a revival of protective measures.

Six thousand persons crowded the Tabernacle in London to-day to welcome Mr. Spurgeon home and join him in celebrating the publication of his two thousandth sermon. In the course of his remarks Mr. Spurgeon said that his sermons had an enormous circulation in America, but that he had received no payment for them beyond an occasional newspaper containing a portion of the stolen property.

A Russian professor has been arrested in Buda-Pesth on the charge of being a spy.

Auguste Mounet, the French novelist and dramatist, is dead.

Gen. San Marzano, the commander of the Italian expedition, has asked that more mountain batteries be sent to Massowah immediately.

Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia will preach a jubilee sermon in Rome on Wednesday.

A reliable autocrity on colonial and foreign affairs says to-day it is expected in official circles here that the fishery negotiations will be finished in two or three days.

The result of Mr. Blunt's appeal will go far to secure his election in Sedsford. It is said that Mr. Evelyn, the retiring member, has arranged not to resign till Mr. Blunt is released. It is confidently hoped that the strong sympathy aroused for Mr. Blunt will, during the interval, lead to the retirement of the Socialist candidate and so avoid the split now threatened.

(Signed) ROBERT POPE.
Street Inspector.

Peterborough, Jan. 9th, 1888.

The Mayor said this attention had been called by press and otherwise to repeated breaches of the peace, and the police force did not seem to be equal to the occasion. He would recommend that these matters be placed in the hands of a police board, to have entire control of the matter. He didn't feel satisfied with the way things were going.

Mr. MOORE—I have a motion dealing with that matter.

Mr. DAVIDSON, chairman, presented the REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Councillors:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

With reference to the account of Mr. E. B. Edwards your committee would report that the G. T. R. Company have performed the work agreed to, and, as they agreed, to pay all costs, the solicitor will have to look to the G.T.R. for the same. All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. S. DAVIDSON.

Peterborough, Jan. 9th, 1888.

Mr. MOORE moved, seconded by Mr. Douglass, that the assessment and taxes on personal property of E. B. Wilson and J. Whyte on their establishments destroyed by fire, be treated in the same way as their real estate and that the same remission of taxes be made on the said personal property as made on their real estate—Referred to Court of Revision.

ALLEGED POLICE NEGLIGENCE.

Moved by Mr. MOORE, seconded by Mr. Yelland, that it be referred to the Committee on Police Supervision to inquire and report to this council whether there has occurred any neglect of or unauthorized absence from duty of the police force or a want of vigilance in the force in the prosecution of offenders against the law or non-observance of the rules of this council governing the force, and that the committee submit to this council any suggestions it may think fit and desirable for improving the efficiency of the force.

Mr. MOORE said he had no feeling against the police force but he was anxious that the good name of the town for law and order should be maintained. Either the force was too small, or there was something wrong with the police administration. During the holiday season there had been an unusual amount of drunkenness and he was not aware that any convictions had been made. There had been great neglect in collecting the dog tax, and a general laxity of police vigilance was unfortunately observable.

Mr. DOUGLAS and Mr. MCNAUGHTON defended the police force, and thought they did as well as their limited numbers would admit of.

MR. YELLAND stated that he had information that members of the police force had been known to indulge in gambling in hotels, and drinking in a brewery.

MR. CAHILL thought the information acted on was misleading or exaggerated. The town had a good reputation for good order.

The motion was carried.

HAMILTON'S CREEK.

MR. MOORE moved, seconded by Mr. Douglas that the town Engineer report to this council on the condition of Hunter street bridge and what repairs have been made on the same during the last year, and the cost of the same; also report on the Simcoe street bridge, and as to any and what obstructions have before or during the past year, been placed in the creek in the vicinity of the bridge or elsewhere on the creek, and if such exist, whether danger to the bridge or private property may be apprehended therefrom, during high water and the flow of ice; and that the town solicitor be required to advise and report to this Council as to the right of private parties to build over or obstruct the said creek.

The Council adjourned.

WRECK OF THE VORTIGERN.

The Steamer Sinks in a Typhoon in the China Sea—Twenty Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The steamship Rio Janeiro brings the particulars of the wreck of the British steamer Vortigern with the loss of twenty lives in a typhoon in the China Sea. The chief officer gave the following account of the disaster:

The Vortigern left Touray Bay for Hong Kong on Nov. 5, with a cargo of sugar, the crew and passengers numbering fifty-one. We encountered a heavy gale on Nov. 14, and the sea broke continually over the vessel, washing one of the boats away. When day broke on Nov. 16 the gale had become terrible, another boat was smashed, many seas were shipped, and the doors of the stokehole were stove in. On Nov. 17, the water rose so high in the stokehole that the fire was put out. On the morning of Nov. 18 it was apparent that there was no chance to save the ship, and orders were given to get ready the two boats which remained. Some of the crew and passengers were washed overboard, and although some of them were saved about twenty perished. The remainder of the passengers and crew got into the boats and the vessel sank at 5 p.m. about fifty miles southwest of North Danger Reefs. All we had in the boats was some tins of biscuits and some dirty water. The nearest place where we could get any help was the Cochin China coast, 250 miles away. After two days' voyage we sighted Cape Varella and landed at that port.

Jenks' Dream.

Jenks had a queer dream the other night. He thought he saw a prize-fighters' ring, and in the middle of it stood a doughty little champion who met and deliberately knocked over, one by one, a score or more of big, burly-looking fellows, as they advanced to the attack. Giants as the were in size, the valiant pigmy proved more than match for them. It was all so funny that Jenks woke up laughing. He accounts for the dream by the fact that he had come to the conclusion, after trying nearly every big, dandelion pill on the market, that Pierle's tiny Purgative Pellets easily "knock out" and beat all the rest hollow! b

Greatly Excited.

People are apt to get greatly excited in case of sudden accident and injury. It is well to be prepared for such emergencies. Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the handiest remedy known for burns, scalds, bruises, lameness, pain and all wounds of the flesh. It is used internally and externally. 2wld

Unintelligible.

The old or the young may at all times and all seasons of the year take Burdock Blood Bitters with benefit when requiring a blood purifying tonic, or a regulator of the stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys. 2wld

Worms often cause serious illness. The cure is Dr. Low's Worm Syrup. It destroys and expels Worms effectually. dw

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 27 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Smith and Kilrain sparred three rounds in the Westminster Aquarium to-night. Each announced his willingness to meet Sullivan, provided the latter should defeat Mitchell. The attendance was not equal to that at Sullivan's exhibition.

Memorial to Honor of John Milton.

From The London Times.

A magnificent stained glass window in memory of Milton will shortly be placed in St. Margaret's Church. It is the gift of Mr. G. W. Childs of Philadelphia, who presented the drinking fountain to Stratford-on-Avon and the beautiful window in honor of Herbert and Cowper to Westminster Abbey. At the request of the Rector of St. Margaret's an inscription has been written for the Milton window by the American poet, Mr. J. Greenleaf Whittier, who has sent the following lines:

"The New World honors him whose lofty plea
For England's freedom made her own more sure,
Whose song, immortal as its theme, shall be
Their common freehold while both worlds endure."

The Raleigh window, presented to St. Margaret's by American citizens, is enriched by an inscription from the pen of Mr. J. R. Lowell, and the Caxton window, presented by the printers of London, has an inscription written for it by Lord Tennyson. Caxton and Raleigh lie buried in the church, and the wife and infant child of Milton, whose name are recorded in the marriage register.

A Trifle Unreasonable.

Countryman (to waiter): What kind o' fish have you got, mister?

Waiter: Dere's whitebait, sah.

Countryman: White bait! I don't want no bait of any color. D'ye 'xpect a feller to hatch his own fish?

Confidence in the Future.

"Do you believe in a future state, Bub?" inquired the long-haired passenger, solemnly, as the gentleman returned the bottle to the valise.

"Yesh (hic), sir," was the reply; "I live in Dakota."

TORONTO TOPICS.

Candidates will be numerous for the seat at Ottawa, made vacant by the decision of the election court in the Halton case. Mr. Gaskin, the Reform member, just unseated, will be in the field again. A Difference in Parents.

From The Boston Courier.

A Prospect lawyer was reading aloud from the paper at breakfast the other morning about the musical prodigy, Joseph Hofmann. When he had finished he remarked to his little daughter who was demurely eating her hash and Johnny-cake: "There, Ethel, that boy is a bright boy. Now why are not you as brilliant as he?" "Why, I ought not to be," said Ethel. "Ought not to be! Pray why not," asked her father. "Well, in the first place," said the little girl with an air of much seriousness, "that boy probably had intelligent parents." The father did not pursue the subject further.

I HAVE been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking. Indeed for years I was not able to speak thirty minutes, and often this with great difficulty. I also to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all droppings of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing have greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill. eodw2

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the Trustee cause he about sees are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Commissioner was taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public will take it all in and believe only word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is supposing altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his own personal purchases, or should his usual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the Store giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and complete in quantity. Just such goods as you in general Common Sense at this season of the year, will be buying; these to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hood-winked, don't be misled with promises in the way of premiums. All these are but given away only represents 16 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 33 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realising a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Champions. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest ever living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular prices, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the cash.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, my tuneky, choddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

An Outside Opinion.

The Globe says :— "The opponents of the Scott Act in Peterborough seem to feel that they scored a victory in the municipal election. Mr. Rutherford was regarded as the Scott Act candidate for the Mayoralty, but he received only 307 out of 1,363 votes. There were six Scott Act candidates for the Council, and of these only two were elected, and one had but three of a majority. This is not encouraging in a place where the illicit liquor trade has been as closely pressed as in Peterborough."

A Runaway.

During noon hour to-day a team of horses standing on Charlotte street took fright while their driver was talking to a friend, and ran away. They turned up Aylmer street, and soon threw off the driver who had prudently caught them by the head and held on as long as he could. At the corner of Simcoe street they turned east, leaving the sleigh box and about twenty bags of grain on the corner. They ran along Simcoe street to Water, and up Water a considerable distance. The sleigh was about rendered useless. The team and load were the property of Mr. J. Scott, farmer.

That Hole-and-Corner Meeting.

A contemporary states that the Peterborough Board of Education held a "hole-and-corner" meeting Saturday night. The facts are these. Notices were issued by the Secretary calling a meeting of the Committee on Appointments (which comprises the whole Board) for Friday evening in Mr. Cox's board rooms, but he afterwards issued fresh notices making the meeting a Board meeting. Friday night nothing was done, as all the documents they required were not before them, and an adjournment was made till Saturday evening, when those present met as a Committee on Appointments, and dealt with the business as reported in Monday's EXAMINER. To localize and confirm their actions, however, the Committee resolved itself into a Board meeting and adopted the report.

J. G. Turnbull

Is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who uses their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good value with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. dw

On the Brink of Matrimony.

Mr. Geo. R. Stephens, train despatcher at the Midland station here, left this morning for Toronto, where he will be wedded on the morrow to Miss Foster, a young lady well known in Peterborough. Mr. Stephens is very popular among his acquaintances, who honored him on Friday and Saturday nights. Friday night, at Lindsay, Mr. Stephens was presented with a complimentary address, a handsome clock and a "fat" purse, by his late fellow-employees at the station there. On Saturday evening his Peterborough friends held a supper in his honor at Chamberlain's, Mr. A. McNeil presiding at the feast. An address was read by Mr. J. Ellis, signed by a number of Mr. Stephens' most intimate friends, and accompanied by a beautiful epergne as a tangible token of their esteem. Mr. Stephens' many friends will unite in wishing him a happy future. He will be absent from town about a week.

The First Carnival.

Friday evening, Jan. 20th, the first carnival of the season will be held at the skating rink under the auspices of Canton Peterborough No. 16, I.O.O.F. A list of elegant prizes will be offered for competition on the occasion. A feature of the carnival will be a parade and drill exhibition on skates by the Canton in full uniform. The members are practising industriously and promise to make this a most worthy feature. As the Canton's efforts in the way of public entertainment and amusement have been so successful in the past, their latest announcement will no doubt bring up pleasant anticipations in the minds of the appreciative public. The Canton will conduct a series of carnivals this winter, and under their auspices it is safe to say they will be grand events. Let everyone prepare for and keep in mind the date, Jan. 20th.

Trent Valley Canal.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—The Review of the 28th and EXAMINER of the 30th December, 1887, contain letters, headed Trent Valley Canal, from Mr. John Burnham, in which he charges the contractors or engineers with having committed blunders in the winter of 1885. I have asked Mr. Burnham to give the names of the contractors referred to, which as yet he has declined to do. Mr. J. Burnham is aware that I was the contractor for the Young's Point and Lakefield works, and I now again ask him to give the names of the parties referred to in his letters. If Mr. Burnham is writing for the information of the public he should tell them who those blundering contractors and engineers are; and if he is properly informed he might go farther and tell of blunders committed by parties who are not contractors or engineers.

Yours respectfully,
CHAS. WYNN.

Peterborough, Jan. 10th, 1888.

Personal.

Mr. J. J. McBain has been confined to his room for the past few days with a severe cold. It is expected he will be about again to-day.

Mr. Peter Hamilton was taken ill Thursday and has since been confined to his bed. He is much better to-day and will be at his usual post in a day or two.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle, who has been ill at his home in Toronto for some time, is recovering, but was unable to attend the choral festival in the George street church last night. Mr. Flavelle was for a long time superintendent of the school, and he sent a letter regretting his inability to attend the anniversary.

Mr. W. G. Birdsall, of Peterborough, was successful in passing his second year's examination in all subjects at the Guelph Agricultural College at the close of the last year's term. He also took first-class honors in agriculture horticulture and veterinary pathology.

"THE great and only original" kid was a goat, so kidd, the boot man, can't advertise that way. He depends upon the good quality of his goods and his moderate prices.

Six Hundred Voices Sing His Praise.

The Grand Festival in the George Street Church—A Magnificent Chorus—The Largest Musical Event of the Season —The Sunday School's Freshness.

Never, probably, since the edifice was dedicated, has the George street Methodist church contained such an audience as it did Monday evening. Fully 2,000 people, it is estimated, were packed into the church, of which number between five and six hundred were children connected with the choruses. Every seat was occupied, and a number of late-comers had to stand throughout the whole entertainment; but the patience, with which they did so attested the magnitude of the choral festival.

Nearly six hundred chatting, restless children, who always responded to the warning peal of the superintendent's bell and at once became quiet and orderly, were crowded on the spacious platform at the end of the church, built by Mr. Arthur Rutherford, which covered the whole altar area, while from either side rising seats ascended to the transept galleries. Even this was insufficient, as a hundred or more children had to be placed in the gallery ends in order to find seating accommodation. The choir seats were filled by members of the choir and some of the older pupils of the school. Mr. Jaques presided with his usual ability at the organ, and opened the programme with a grand offertoire by Wely. On the lower seats in front of the platform half a dozen members of the fire brigade band with their instruments helped to swell the choruses. Mr. F. W. Millar, bandmaster, led in the choruses, and the way in which the children responded to the directions of his baton showed that under the supervision of Messrs. Jaques and Millar the children's training had been efficiently performed.

What rushes of music, what gentle intonations and whispering cadences there were in these choruses. As the soul-stirring themes of sound leapt from six hundred young and vigorous throats, all tuned in perfect harmony, almost drowning the strains of the big [illegible] and the band, a thrill almost [illegible] every sympathetic heart in the audience; and to those who had little ones on the platform, assisting in the grand choruses of praise, it was one of the proudest moments of their lives. Nine choruses were rendered, songs of praise which rang out to the heavens and became a fitting accompaniment to the angels' loud hosannas. Probably the one which gave the most general delight was "Who is He?", in which a solo part was taken by Mrs. Daly, the chorus joining in after each two lines. The directors and conductors of the chorus are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts, and the children should be heartily commended for their diligence and interest in the preparation.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

After the first chorus the Superintendent stepped forward and gave the following brief statement of the Sunday School's operations :—

THE PRIMARY CLASS.

Without doubt the most attractive feature of the programme was the Kindergarten songs by the infant class, in charge of Miss Grundy and Miss Butcher, to whom credit must be given for bringing the children up to the efficient standard to which they attained. The members of the class wore gilt stars on their breasts, which were given a significance by their last song "The building of a star." The class rendered "A Wonderful Home Have I," and "God is Love," each one's tiny hands and arms assisting. Then came "The Building of a Star," a very pretty and novel feature of the entertainment. A revolving gilt circular plane hung perpendicularly from the top of a slender rest, was set up before the audience, and the six or eight spears were built out from the central body by halves, the children each repeating a verse of Scripture before fastening on their sections of the radiating points. In this manner the star was built, after which "Jesus Our Star" in red letters, was hung across its face by other children. When the operation was completed the audience applauded loudly. A noticeable feature of the performance was the clear distinctness with which each child repeated the verse it had prepared.

Other vocal talent added to the occasion. A quartette by Messrs. W. H. Stevens, R. H. Henderson, H. Stephens and W. Dundas was rendered by a hearty encore, which showed that the audience fully appreciated the number. Mrs. Daly sang "Nearer my God to Thee", in which she fairly excelled herself. Miss Ada Miller, a pupil of the school, contributed a vocal solo, "Carol, sweetest Carol". Her voice is full, rich and true, and capable of great things with cultivation. A few years of proper training would place Miss Millar among the leading singers of the district.

MR. MANNING'S ADDRESS.

Rev. T. Manning, towards the close of the entertainment, made a short address, mainly to urge upon all the necessity of kindness to their fellow-beings. He congratulated the superintendent and the school upon the grand success which had attended their efforts. He took occasion to speak in complimentary terms of Prof. Dingle, who was leaving his church in Oshawa to become the organist of the George street church, and whom he knew to be a gentlemen and a thorough musician.

Before closing Superintendent Griffin thanked the audience for their attendance and regretted the unavoidable absence of Mr. J. W. Flavelle, the ex superintendent of the school.

The proceedings were brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

The superintendent and officers of the school, collectively, are to be congratulated upon the success of the entertainment, much of which is due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. J. T. Summerson, the able secretary. However, everyone connected with the school worked together with a common purpose and a grand result. The choral festival was, without doubt, the biggest musical event of the season.

Shake!

The Science of Palmistry—What Shaking Hands Reveals.

"George Francis Train is as loony as a wild cat on many subjects, no doubt," remarked a physician the other day, "but there is a good deal of method in his madness about one thing."

"What's that?"

"Shaking hands. I don't blame him for disliking promiscuous hand shaking: it has many unpleasant features."

"What can you tell by the shake of a man's hand?"

"A good deal. Why, I can pick out the people in a crowd with whom I shake hands, who have kidney disease, and they don't know it!"

"I don't understand you. Do you pretend to say there is anything peculiar in their 'shake'?"

"No, not in the 'shake' but in the 'feel' of the hand."

"Please explain what you mean."

"A hot dry hand shows inactivity of the skin. The skin is the third kidney. We sweat out as much water through the skin as we pass off through the kidneys."

"How much is that?"

"In health, several pints a day. In the summer we sweat more than the winter but in health there is a constant, though invisible escape of moisture through the skin. In the palm of the hand, there are from two to three million little sweat pores. The sweat-glands are a great help to the kidneys, and when working healthfully in the summer, the kidneys can and do take a much-needed recreation. You can prove this, if you notice that you pass less fluids in summer than in winter, if skin and kidneys are healthy.

You will be surprised, if you shake hands with a company of people, to see how many hands feel hot and dry. Hadn't you noticed it?

"I don't think I have. But what can be done in such cases?"

Only one thing can be done, and that is to get the kidneys at work again by a very thorough course of treatment with Warner's safe cure, and giving yourself a sponge or wet cloth rubbing (with warm or cold water, whichever is the most agreeable) night and morning. Use only the best soaps on the body in such cases. Indeed, soap half's necessary oftener than once a week. Vigorous rubbing with a well rung towel, followed by like rubbing with a dry warm towel is recommended.

Palmistry is a modern science that is quite a fad with fashionable people now-a-days, but there is a good deal more in it than the professional palm readers have yet found out.

ECHOES FROM THE STRIKE.

Annual Meeting of the Company—No Coal Coming Down the Road.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Gen. W. Childs, who has been suggested by both the strikers and the Reading officials as the proper person to arbitrate the present difficulties, said last evening that so far as he knew the proposition to have him arbitrate the present trouble had not taken any definite shape. He did not hesitate to say that miners should be given the 8 per cent. increase, but he thought they should return to work.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The first annual meeting of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company under the new reorganization plan was held this afternoon. Mr. Corbon was re-elected president. No action was taken concerning the strike.

READING, Pa., Jan. 9.—Since midnight not a ton of coal has come down the Reading Railroad from the anthracite regions. Yesterday's shipments completely "cleaned out" the stock on hand, and no more can be shipped until it is mined either at individual or Reading collieries. The latter seem to be entirely tied up.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 9.—The Cambria Iron Company, employing 5000 men, has decided to make a reduction in wages of 10 per cent., on Feb. 1, unless business improves within a few weeks.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Jan. 9.—Congressman Scott's 800 miners rejected this evening a proposition to resume work at 4 instead of 8 per cent. advance, pending a settlement by the Reading Company with its miners. Work was resumed at Bellmore colliery to-day, the differences having been amicably adjusted.

SHENANDOAH, Jan. 9.—Ever since the strike started the Reading Company has had from twelve to twenty men employed at each colliery repairing breakers and doing other "dead work." The Joint Committee of the Knights of Labor and the Miners' and Laborers' Amalgamated Association issued orders to-day to these men to quit work, and there was a general compliance with the order. The men of Kehley Run Colliery here held a meeting this evening and are said to have decided not to mine coal for non-union railroaders to handle.

READING, Pa., Jan. 9.—Inquiry at the office of the Reading Railroad Company this evening developed the information that not a single coal train had left the coal regions since early last night, and not a single car load of coal passed through this city to-day. This probably never occurred before in the entire history of the company. The fact that no coal came down is taken as evidence that Chairman Lee was correct in his predictions that all the individual collieries would close down to-day. The opinion is general that the miners are masters of the situation.

At the meeting of the Reading City Council to-night a committee of five was appointed to wait on President Corbin and urge him to effect a settlement of the troubles by arbitration at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade to-morrow evening. A committee will be appointed to confer with the Philadelphia and Reading officials in Philadelphia relative to a settlement of the differences between the company and the men.

The Accident at Mink Trestle.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—Further particulars from the scene of the accident at Mink Trestle, from a passenger who arrived to-night from Winnipeg, are as follows: Conductor Cochrane, in charge of the down special freight train, got orders at Jack Fish from the despatcher at Schrieber to cross Meagher's up special at Stewart. Meagher, who had charge of the up special, having the same orders. Meagher after that seemed to lose time and the despatcher called up Middleton Station and sent the following order: "Cochrane's down special will cross Meagher's up special at Peninsula instead of Stewart," but he did not allow the telegraph operator to repeat it. In the meantime, Meagher making better time, the despatcher decided to allow them to make their original crossing at Stewart. Cochrane coming into Middleton in the meantime took possession of the order, which had been sent previously but which the operator had been instructed to destroy, and without the order being repeated back to the despatcher the operator allowed Cochrane to go and gave him a clearance.

Proof that Shakespeare Wrote "Antony and Cleopatra."

Mr. W. J. Hawker, Bournemouth, says: "To me, a Warwickshire man, the most conclusive proof that Shakespeare wrote 'Antony and Cleopatra' is the line in which Antony salutes the 'Serpent of the Nile' as 'my chuck.' This term of endearment is still heard among the peasantry of the Midland counties; and to suppose that a classical scholar, such as Bacon, should have introduced such a homely provincialism, so English, and so utterly destructive of the unities, in an Egyptian tragedy is so improbable that I pin my faith to the Stratford butcher's inspired son as the author of that robust imagery rather than to the mantle of the great but pedantic Verulam."

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS SOON TO BE COMPLETED.

An Experimental Farm for the Northwest—Parliament Called for Feb. 23—The Ottawa County Local Election Case.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—The preparation of the annual departmental reports is actively pushed forward, that of the Public Works being completed and ready for distribution. The trade and navigation returns are also approaching completion, and public accounts, postoffice, railways and canals, inland revenue and militia are well advanced.

An extra of The Canada Gazette was issued to-day, calling Parliament for despatch of business on Feb. 23 instead of Jan. 31.

In the Ottawa County local election case at Aylmer this morning judgment was given dismissing with costs all the preliminary objections raised by Mr. Rochon, the respondent. Judgment was also given in an application for inspection of election papers, whereby the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery for the Province of Quebec was ordered to deposit all the papers in his possession relating to the election with the clerk of the court on Jan. 20.

The Marine Department is making preparations for a test of line-throwing apparatus, to be used in the life-saving service of the Dominion. The test will likely be made in Ottawa and will include experiments with English rocket apparatus, the Tyle gun used in the American service and the Line Company patented gun.

The Department of Agriculture has received an offer from Mr. Henry Fisher, who has a farm in a good state of preservation near Regina, to give it up for use as an experimental farm and take other land in exchange.

Hon. Mr. Foster left for Washington this afternoon. It is understood that he took with him all the evidence and statements of claims in the Behring Sea seizure cases.

Mr. Chisholm, M.P. for New Westminster, has arrived for the session. He is the second member who has come to stay, Mr. Welsh having arrived from Prince Edward Island nearly a month ago.

ENGLISH IN FRENCH SCHOOLS.

The Matter Comes Up in the Ottawa Separate School Board.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—At the meeting of the Separate School Board to-night a letter from Inspector White of the Educational Department of Ontario, stating that the board was not complying with the regulations of the department requiring the teaching of English in all French classes, as only in a few higher classes was it taught, and calling the attention of the board to the fact, was read, with the intimation that unless the rule was properly complied with the Government allowance of $1 per head would be stopped. Mr. Campeau said that should the departmental rule require the engaging of special English teachers in all schools it would entail a large expense upon the board, but he thought the matter ought to be referred over for further consideration to the School Management Committee, when the subject could be definitely dealt with. Mr. Dauray, the French inspector, stated to the board that he had spoken to Mr. White on the subject and that he had promised the inspector to do soon as possible comply with his wishes and had already made arrangements for the teaching of English in the four senior classes in each French school, and that arrangements to teach the junior classes were being made. The matter was referred to the Management Committee.

The attendance at the Separate Schools for December was 2018.

Among other plans of retrenchment proposed by the Manitoba Government, is a reduction of the Ministers' own salaries. It is, however, believed that a dissolution is certain in the near future.

RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.

TERRIBLE OVERTHROW ON THE BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD.

The Portland Express Wrecked—The Trucks of the Smoker Give Way—Seven Persons Known to Have Been Killed and Fifteen Wounded.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 10.—The Portland express, which left Boston for Portland at 1 o'clock this afternoon, met with a frightful accident near the Haverhill bridge over the Merrimac River. The train consisted of a locomotive and eight cars and was in charge of Conductor Weymouth.

This train does not stop at Bradford and was going at a great speed. As the express sounded the curve two cars left the rails and went crashing into the watertank house demolishing it. In this house a number of section men were eating dinner. Mr. J. O'Brien, a retired merchant of Bradford, was talking with the section hands and was killed, together with Mr. Taylor, one of the laborers. The car thus crashed into the tank house knocked the foundation out, letting the heavy tank down upon it, crushing through the roof and doing fearful work within. The next car behind telescoped the one ahead of it, adding to the havoc. The killed and wounded were mostly in these two coaches. The cars behind these two ran down along the Georgetown train which was standing on a track near by, barely escaping a collision with the engine of that train. The people in the smoker had a fearful experience, one of the wheels on the forward truck broke and the cars bumped against the end of the bridge, causing it to careen. It ran upon the bridge for some distance over the sleepers, then careened the other way and leaned against the ironwork of the side of the structure. The passengers, thirty in number, managed to crawl out, none of them being very seriously injured. As soon as they reached the ground, such as were able rushed back to help those who were imprisoned in the wrecked cars.

The fire alarm was sounded immediately and the department responded, but their services were not needed as the cars did not take fire. Physicians were summoned and the wounded and dying were rapidly cared for. The work of clearing the wreck was rapidly pushed forward and at 2.30 no less than seven bodies had been taken from the ruins. Several of them were disfigured beyond recognition. Following is the list of killed:

JOHN O'BRIEN, Bradford.
WILLIAM TAYLOR, section hand, Bradford.
C. P. GOODWIN, wife and child, of Kennebec, Me.
A. S. WALKER, Harrison, Me.
CLARENCE HAZLEWOOD, residence unknown.
CHARLES THURLOW, Newton, N.H.
JOSEPH SHAW, Boston.

Fifty-two passengers were wounded, some badly, and some of them have been taken to the city hospital. Zenas Thompson of Portland, Me., was in the car which was damaged most and was injured about the head and had an arm broken. Hugo A. Slottengren of Brockton was in the smoking car and escaped with a broken leg. A little boy, Bertie Allen, was en route for Exeter and received a terrible wound. Mr. L. A. Rave of Lowell was slightly injured, and Geo. Gardner was badly bruised. In the station the scene was a terrible one. In the ladies' room were five or six injured ladies who were suffering terribly. Many of the injured were taken away by friends, and it is impossible at this time to learn the names of all the injured, but so far as known they are:

Fred. McKeown, Somerville, newsboy, head cut and internal injuries; Rebecca McKay, New Brunswick, leg broken and head cut; Bertie Allen, Exeter, head cut; W. F. Kimball, leg broken; Frank Williams, Boston, head cut; G. C. Wentworth, head cut; Dennis Shannon, both legs broken; George H. Odell, Boston, face cut; Calvin McKenna, Auburn, Me., head cut and injured about body; Miles Bolen, Brockton, head and arm injured; John Madden, Bradford, compound fracture of right leg; Mr. Hart, Portland, Me., bad scalp wound; Dennis Shannon, Bradford, feet and leg badly crushed, and scalp wound, probably fatally injured; an unknown woman, apparently about 35 years old, with dark hair and wearing a breast pin marked "J," injured on the head and internally, probably fatally; Mrs. John P. Felt, Wareham, Mass., injuries not serious; Miss Hota Green, right hip and hand badly bruised; John Kellogg, Boston, slight scalp wounds.

One of the saddest sights was that of Mrs C. P. Goodwin, husband and child. They were riding on the second passenger car and were killed outright.

The accident occurred between Bradford Station and the bridge and was caused by the rails spreading near a frog on a curve where a turn is made to run to the bridge. The smoking car ran on the bridge and turned over. One coach smashed into the water tank house and the other ran through the sleeper. The crash was fearful and the cries of the people terrible.

TORONTO TOPICS.

On Saturday the Halton election trial was concluded. It was proved that James Bell, an agent of Mr. Waldie, had given $6 to a man named Bullivant to come to Toronto on the day of the election and not to vote. Mr. Justice Rose declared that the election must be voided on the ground of bribery and Mr. John Waldie unseated. The judge further directed that Bullivant and Bell appear before him at Milton on Feb. 3 to answer to the charge of having been guilty of corrupt practices.

Twenty-two aldermen of the new council are reported to be pledged to support Prohibition.

Another street car outrage took place at 12 o'clock on Friday night, when the driver and conductor of a Queen-street and High Park car were frightfully beaten by five young men who seemed to be under the influence of liquor. Five arrests were made yesterday morning.

Arrested for Negligence.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—A report reached here this morning that Operator Lawson and five Canadian Pacific Railway officials have been arrested and placed in jail at Port Arthur for negligence which resulted in the recent Horseshoe Curve horror near Jack Fish, Lake Superior district.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

DISCOVERY OF A PLOT TO ASSASSINATE THE CZAR.

Sir Wilfrid Blunt's Captivity—The Pope's Presents—Opening of the Chamber of Deputies—Hanged for Wife Murder—Suicide of a Minister.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Of the 60,000 pilgrims who have come to Rome on the occasion of the Pope's jubilee, 25,000 are Italians, 5000 French, 4000 Germans and 2000 Spaniards. Fifty-two cardinals and 300 bishops are now here. There are 1200 cases opened in the Vatican, 500 not yet opened, 200 at the railway stations and 200 have not yet reached Rome. A room is being built for the 20,000 bottles of wine presented to His Holiness. The amount in value of the gifts offered is 60,000,000 francs, and the money gifts will reach 14,000,000 francs.

The British pilgrims were presented to the Pope to-day by the Duke of Norfolk. The Pope said he was grateful to Queen Victoria for the interest she took in her Catholic subjects, and prayed for her prosperity and that of her nation, whom he loved and admired.

Emperor William remained in bed yesterday. He feels less pain to-day after a good night's rest.

A special cable from London to The New York Herald says: Mr. Wilfrid Blunt is actually in jail, where Mr. Lane, another M.P., will soon join him. A good deal of sympathy is felt for Mr. Blunt, and when the House meets, his case and that of other prisoners will cause disturbance. Mr. Blunt, although in poor health, writes in a cheerful strain to his London friends. He says: "It has all turned out as I wished. A few more cases like mine will bring down Salisbury and Balfour." His story will be the subject of a big discussion in Parliament, and when he leaves jail he will be brought to London in a triumphal procession. Preparations to receive him are to be made on a great scale. Westminster is to resound with "God save Ireland," and there will be blazes for the Coercionists on their way to the House.

Reports from Jeddah, received at the French Embassy in Constantinople, say that a rising against the Christians has occurred, and that the French consul has been killed.

On receiving a summons to answer a charge of indecent assault upon a servant girl, Rev. John Lowther, a rector at Bolton, near Wigtown, Eng., committed suicide. The deceased was a cousin of Lord Lowdale and a relative of Right Hon. James Lowther.

On the occasion of the centenary of The London Times, John Walter at last secured the peerage which has been so long expected.

While some Germans were excavating in the vicinity of Thebes, they discovered the remains of the celebrated Temple of Rabeirol.

An agent of the French copper ring is in London trying to induce the Spanish companies and the Rio Pinto, Tharsis and Mason and Barry companies not to increase the output of copper for four years. The syndicate will undertake to purchase the product of all the companies, and guarantee that the price shall not fall lower than a certain fixed premium, say £80 per ton. It is not probable that the proposal will be accepted.

The Vienna Allgemeine Zeitung says it has received information from a trustworthy source in St. Petersburg, that a plot to assassinate the Czar has been discovered, in which several army officers are included. These have been arrested. In connection with the discovery of the plot, it is officially announced that the New Year's court ball will not take place. The customary New Year's reception will be held in St. Petersburg on Friday, after which the Emperor and Empress will immediately return to Gatschina. This change is due to the discovery of the plot which was to be carried out while the Emperor was in the Capital.

Private despatches received in Berlin from Warsaw say that the centre of the conspiracy against the Czar was in St. Petersburg, and that it was of unusual magnitude, both as to the number and social conditions of the persons implicated.

The French Chamber of Deputies met to-day. Mr. Pierre Blanceau, senior member acted as president at the opening of the session, and in an address he expressed the hope that the session would be fruitful of legislative benefits to the country. A union of the Republican groups should be formed in order to effect reforms, and show a united France to foreigners.

M. Floquet was re-elected President of the chamber by 298 to 22.

In the Senate Mr. Carnot, father of President Carnot, is senior member and accordingly took the President's chair. He said that the Congress of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies had manifested by its recent choice of a President a desire for peace at home and abroad and respect for the laws. The change of the highest official of the State had been effected so easily that it should inspire confidence in the future of the nation.

Gen. Willoughby, a former Malagasy ambassador at London, who is charged with misappropriating a large sum of money, has been exiled by the Hova Government to a northern outpost, pending his acquittal or expulsion.

Dr. Phillip Cosgrave, formerly a surgeon in the 32nd Regiment, was hanged at Cork to-day for murdering his wife.

The Berlin National Zeitung says that steps are soon to be taken by the Powers to remove Prince Ferdinand from the Bulgarian throne.

At a plenary meeting of the Council of the Empire, at St. Petersburg, to-day, the Minister of Finances read the budget, and was congratulated on the fact that there is no deficit.

The French authorities have been requested by the British Government to make a thorough investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Archibald McNeill, the reporter of The London Sportsman.

It is reported that the Earl of Meath, who has always taken a leading part in the movement favoring state-aided emigration, is about to propound to the Government a fresh scheme for emigration on a large scale. This action is taken because of the Government's recognition of the principle of state help in the transference of the Scottish Crofters to British Columbia.

Ottawa Fire Statistics.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—There were 141 fires in Ottawa last year; being an increase of sixteen over the previous year. The loss was over $60,000, or more than twice as much as in 1886.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.

The Live Stock Market.

Business at the Western Cattle Yards today was fairly good and the demand was equal to the supply. Eighteen loads were sold, consisting almost entirely of cattle, which sold from $33 to $37 per head. There were no export cattle or hogs offered and apparently none required. The supply of butchers' cattle was generally of a good quality and sold from 3c to 3½c a pound. Some inferior cattle brought 2c to 2½c a pound and bulls sold from 2c to 2½c per pound. The supply of sheep and lambs was not large. One lot of extra good quality of nineteen lambs and four sheep sold for $6 each.

The receipts of live stock at the Western Cattle Market here for the week ending last Saturday, Jan. 7, were as follows: Cattle, 1023; sheep and lambs, 396; hogs, 111.

The Horse Market.

Considering the season of the year the horse market holds its own, although, of course, it is slack compared with really good times. The local demand is better, though there are no outside buyers this week. None of the dealers expect much improvement for a few weeks yet.

Messrs. W. D. Grand & Co. sold yesterday about fifteen head, mostly general purpose horses, weighing from 1050 to 1200 lbs., at prices ranging from $75 to $125. They say that work horses are selling better than other classes, yet still there is a good sale for handy driving horses, while scarcely anything is being done in the better class.

Court of Appeal Judgments.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.

The full Court of Appeal gave judgment in several cases yesterday. In Carter v. Grassett, a long standing litigation, a new trial was ordered, without costs. In Wells against The Belleville Intelligencer a new trial was also ordered. Todd v. Dun, Wiman & Co. is an important case affecting merchants and the mercantile agencies. It was brought by the plaintiff against the Dun, Wiman Mercantile Agency and a Mr. Chapman, their agent, for damages for a libel in their report and was tried by the late Chief Justice Cameron at Whitby two years ago. The libel complained of consisted of the words, "If interested call at office," and was supplied by the defendants with other information to their customers. The defence set up was that of privilege, and a non-suit was applied for at the trial, but was refused, and a verdict given by the jury against Dun, Wiman & Co. for $100, and against the agent for $25, and the Common Pleas Division refused to interfere with the verdict. The Court of Appeal, however, gave judgment allowing the appeal on the ground that information of this kind supplied by the defendant is privileged, without prejudice, however, to bring another action on different grounds. This decision is contrary to the finding of the Court of Appal of Quebec in the familiar case of Carsley v. Braithwaite.

North Dakota Demands Admission.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 10.—The Constitutional Convention of Dakota, in session at Huron yesterday, adopted a memorial to Congress emphasizing the request of the people of South Dakota for a division of the territory and the admission of South Dakota as a state. It is claimed South Dakota now has a population of 300,000, an area of 77,000 square miles, and every requisite for a strong and safe state.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

The readers of the EXAMINER are pretty well convinced that the cheese industry is one of the most important of the country, and those who attended the Convention of Dairymen in town last week, will agree that in addition to the intikeme capital invested in it, a large quantity of brains of good quality is also invested. The typical dairymen assembled in the council chamber were all practical men, and their discussions and addresses shewed a business and debating ability that would do credit to many a legislative body of more ambitious pretension. The public in general do not realize that the cheese is so important a factor in the total output of the country. The past year—from May '86 till May '87—the cheese exported from Canada reached the enormous total of one million, two hundred and fifty thousand boxes, or about 3,750,000 pounds, of the value of eight or nine millions of dollars. Just think of the immense sum of nine millions being realized by the aggregate operations of the cheese factories of Canada, scattered over the country as we see them in this county. And yet cheese-making on the co-operative plan is not a very old industry —dating from about the year 1864. The first thirteen or fourteen years the development was so rapid that in about 1877 the amount of cheese exported was half a million boxes Within the past ten years the production has more than doubled, and there is no doubt, say good authorities, that the total product can be increased to over three million boxes per year. It is probable that we shall continue to see a rapid increase of the cheese-making industry of Canada, and that Canada will continue to find a good market in the old country. There is little fear of American competition in that market. True, the production of cheese has increased in the United States, but the home demand has increased more largely, so that home demand will absorb the whole output of the American cheese-factories, leaving Canada to enjoy, unmolested, a monopoly of the British market. But Canadians would hold their own in the face of American competition. If we have increased our product we have also improved the quality till Canadian cheese can hold its own in any of the markets of the world. And the certainty is that the next few years will witness greater improvements in quality and process. The industry is undergoing rapid development and every year for the next ten or a dozen years we may expect large increase of the cheese product. It is not improbable that the increase will be at a rate proportionate with the increase of the past, as shown by the following table. The exports for 1887 include the time, only, between May 1st and Nov. 30th, and as the actual figures are 1,104,000 boxes, the amount available for export between now and May next warrants placing the export figures for 1887 as below, and as compared with other years:

	Boxes		Boxes
1887	1,104,735	1869	577,619
1886	891,995	1870	516,249
1885	1,076,091	1876	497,676
1884	1,105,448	1877	395,120
1883	899,623	1878	465,620
1882	677,211	1875	397,423
1881	561,347	1874	380,252

As before intimated the value of the product of 1887 is nearly nine millions. To show the relative value of cheese and other products exported the following table may be given (from May 1st to Nov. 30th):—

Cattle	$1,579,337	Flour	$1,145,510
Lambs	1,022,953	Oats	1,326,251
Wheat	1,573,328	Phosphate	434,940

Speaking in regard to the present condition of the cheese market Mr. Ayer, of the firm of Ayer & Co., Montreal, for which firm Mr. W.H. Weighton is the local agent says:

"The movement of cheese at present is very healthy and is likely to continue so, because of the shortage in England, which has been very much over estimated. The total stocks in hand in Canada amount probably to about 150,000 boxes, and by the 1st of March will not probably amount to over 25,000 to 50,000 boxes. Prices are firm, 12 cents being the top price in Montreal, although 12¾ cents was paid in New York Monday for a round lot of white finest. There is no doubt that there will be a good demand for all the cheese there is in hand and that the stocks will be fully worked off."

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The farmers are again reminded of the meeting of the Farmers' Institute in Peterborough, on Thursday and Friday, January 19th and 20th. The benefit of conferences on specific subjects cannot be denied. Those who were fortunate enough to attend the annual convention of the Dairymen in town last week can bear strong testimony to the value of the varied information given and received. In similar manner the coming Farmers' Institute meeting will be most productive in sound, practical knowledge of the most helpful character to farmers. Every farmer, whether a member of the Peterborough Institute, or not will be made welcome. We hope to see the farming community turn out numerously, to take advantage of the opportunity presented, for acquiring information of the most valuable kind. Last week it was the Dairyman's innings; next week let the tillers of the soil take their turn.

Dr. MONTAGUE, in his contest in Haldimand, administered rather "heroic treatment" to his opponent, Mr. C. W. Colter. His return has been appealed against and the petitioner does not allege mere vulgar bribery, but a new development of outrage on the election laws. The charges against the deputy returning officers are of rather a startling nature. The petitioner claims that Mr. Colter received the majority of legal votes, and is, therefore, entitled to the seat. It is alleged, and will be shown in evidence, that certain deputy returning officers, in counting the ballots, counted as votes for Dr. Montague, ballot papers which had not been supplied by the official in charge of the poll, and ballot papers by which votes had been given for more than one candidate; and also ballot papers by which the voter could be identified or that were not marked by a cross. It is also charged that returning-officers at other polls refused to count ballot papers legally marked for Mr. Colter. Judge Upper made a recount, and though the total alleged majority for Montague was reduced by one-third, the reduction still left Colter in the minority, illegally so, the petitioner now claims. It is also charged that certain deputy returning-officers improperly marked the votes of certain electors, known to be favorable to the Liberal candidate and in such a manner as to make them "spoiled" ballots to be rejected in counting. At one polling division thirty-six reliable Liberals voted for Mr. Colter, the Liberal candidate, and will swear that they marked their ballots in a perfectly legal manner, yet when the ballots came to be counted, there were only twenty-eight ballots legally marked for Mr. Colter. Ballot papers were also refused to electors duly qualified, who were known to be favorable to the Liberal candidate.

THE SUGAR COMBINE.

Montreal Refiners and Wholesalers Put Up the Price on Non-Combiners.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—It has been learned that at a recent meeting of sugar refiners and the wholesale guild more drastic measures were adopted against non-combiners. In future such non-combiners must pay ¼ cent per pound more on yellow sugars, and 5-16 cent on white sugars, to the refiner, and for every barrel of granulated they buy they must purchase two of yellow.

Messrs. Lightbound & Ralston, who with James Matheweson held out so long, gave in yesterday and signed the agreement. One of the partners stated to-day that they had not in any sense altered their views. They entered the combine to protect the interests of their customers, who had a right to expect from them a capacity to fill orders for sugar. The firm had either to yield or go out of business, and as it lived in hopes of seeing the combine destroyed, it did not care to give up just now. They yielded to superior force. Mr. Matheweson still refuses to yield.

Assize Cases at London.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—At the assizes to-day, Judge Galt presiding, W. Rowland, a Michigan Central Railway brakeman, secured a verdict against the company for $1500 for the loss of his hand while in the discharge of duty. He claimed $1200. Plaintiff was coupling cars at Rodney when the engineer suddenly backed the train, crushing Rowland's hand so that it had to be amputated. The defence of contributory negligence, the judge held, was not sustained. This is the first case tried in this county under the Employer's Liability Act.

In the case of John Carroll, held for the murder of his brother's wife, Mrs. Jane Carroll of Caradoc, the Grand Jury found a true bill. The case was postponed till next assizes, bail being refused.

The Great Western Advertising Company secured a verdict of $945 against Bell & Co. of Guelph, the full amount claimed for advertising.

A Swedish Criminal.

APPLETON, Wis., Jan. 10.—A Swede named K. A. Kroza, who has been arrested at Lawrenceburg, Ind., was a visitor here about seven years ago, and a story he is alleged to have told appears to connect him with a crime committed in Stockholm, Sweden, ten years ago, when the janitor of a bank was killed and the institution robbed of nearly 1,000,000 marks.

Jonks' Dream.

Jonks had a queer dream the other night. He thought he saw a prize-fighters' ring, and in the middle of it stood a doughty little champion who met and deliberately knocked over, one by one, a score or more of big, burly-looking fellows, as they advanced to the attack. Giants as they were in size, the valiant pigmy proved more than match for them. It was all so funny that Jonks woke up laughing. He accounts for the dream by the fact that he had come to the conclusion, after trying nearly every big, drastic pill on the market, that Pierce's tiny Purgative Pellets easily "knock out" and beat all the rest hollow! b

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

SIR WILFRID'S "MARTYRDOM."

When His Time is Up There Will Be a Triumphal Procession.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Herald's London despatch says: Sir Wilfrid Blunt is actually in prison, and Mr. Lane, another member, is likely to be soon after him. There is a good deal of sympathy for Mr. Blunt. Great will be the disturbance concerning him and other prisoners when the House meets. Mr. Blunt is in bad health, but he writes in a cheerful strain to his London friends. He says: "It has all turned out just as I wished. A few more cases like mine will bring down Salisbury and Balfour." His story will be much discussed in Parliament, and when his time is up he will be brought to London in a triumphal procession. Preparations are to be organized on a great scale. Westminster is to resound with "God Save Ireland," and Coercionists on their way to the House are to be hissed.

THE TARIFF ON WOOL.

United States Manufacturers and Growers Protest Against a Reduction.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 10.—The Evening Journal publishes replies from about a score of wool manufacturers doing business within a radius of 100 miles of Albany, as to the President's recommendation to put raw wool on the free list. With one exception the replies are against the change. Almost unanimously, the manufacturers maintain that abolition of the tariff on wool would soon be followed by a movement to abolish the tariff on manufactured woollen goods. The general opinion among them is that they could not successfully continue business at the present scale of wages if the tariff on raw and manufactured wools were removed or materially reduced.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 10.—The Utah wool growers, representing owners of over 1,000,000 sheep, met in convention yesterday. A strong resolution was passed protesting against a reduction of the tariff on wool.

Increase of Pain.

TECUMSEH, Mich., Jan. 10.—Allan Wood, an old resident of Bentington, had been suffering intense pain from chronic disease for many days. On Saturday, to rid himself of this pain, he loaded an old shotgun, walked deliberately out to the woodshed, placed the muzzle against his chest and shot with his foot touched the gun off and blew his heart to shreds. Mr. Wood was nearly 80 years old, of good family, and possessed of some property.

The Clam Fishery.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Jan. 10.—The clam fishery this year has been good. In one haul lately the Maud brought in 10,000 fish. The nets are laid from three to six miles from shore, far below the surface, and visited every few days. The work is one of great peril and hardship upon storm and cold at this time of the year. The industry is of recent growth.

A Jealous Cattle Man's Crime.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 10.—A special from Anthony, Kan., says that Charles Clarke, who was shot last Saturday by his late partner, W. F. Treadwell, the cattle king, died yesterday from his injuries. The cause of the difficulty was jealousy on the part of Treadwell who fancied that Clarke was too intimate with his (Treadwell's) wife.

Sued by an Actress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Albert A. Poole, son of the proprietor of Poole's Theatre, was arrested yesterday upon an order of Judge Lawrence in a suit for damages for breach of promise and seduction by an actress named Sierra Nevada Hutchinson. Bail was fixed at $6000.

THE CLOUDS LIFTING.

Some Coal Cars Come Through on the Reading—Miners Get an Advance.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—Since late last night about 125 loaded coal cars came through from the coal regions to this city. This is the first that which has left Schuylkill County since Sunday. It all came from individual collieries. If the latter all continue in opposition with their present force they cannot turn out over 300 cars daily. More than one hundred engines engaged in the coal carrying trade were housed to-day at different points.

Miners Get an Advance.

SHAMOKIN, Jan. 10.—The Enterprise Coal Company and its miners have reached an agreement; the miners will receive the 5 per cent. advance over the $2.50 basis, and the company also agrees to use Pennsylvania Railroad engines in hauling the coal so that non-union men will not handle the product of the mines.

The Irving Smith case will be heard on Jan. 23 before Mr. Justice Falconbridge, and is promises to be lively.

W. A. Foster, Q.C., on behalf of the Central Bank liquidators, had Thomas McConnell, coal dealer, before Mr. Thomas Hodgins, Master-in-Ordinary, at Osgoode Hall yesterday to investigate McConnell's account with the defunct bank. Mr. Laidlaw and Mr. Kappele appeared on behalf of the coal merchants. McConnell is indebted to the bank in several sums to the extent of $27,000. Of this amount some $14,000 was covered by notes, in part endorsed by warehouse receipts. The goods (coal) for which these receipts had been given, McConnell claimed to have sold. The proceeds, he said, he handed over to the bank. It was the liquidators' object to discover the truth of these statements. The examination is to be continued to-day. The accounts of other customers of the bank the liquidators intend to have investigated before Mr. Hodgins which may lead up to startling disclosures.

I HAVE been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all droppings of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing have greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill. eodw2

J. C. Turnbull

Is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who sees their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good values with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. dw

"THE great and only original" kid was a goat, so kidd, the boot man, can't advertise that way. He depends upon the good quality of his goods and his moderate prices.

Cleaned Out the Stable.

Mr. J. J. Howden, butcher, to-day mourns the loss of a complete equestrian outfit. Last night his stable in the south end of the town was entered and his horse, cutter and robes were stolen. Mr. Howden left the stable a little before nine o'clock after leaving the animal comfortable for the night, but this morning everything was gone. The thief or thieves must have done their work almost as soon as Mr. Howden's back was turned, as the hay was scarcely touched. Acting-chief Adams was informed of the robbery, and he at once sent notices to the constables of the surrounding towns and villages to be on the look-out for the missing equipage. Following is the description :—Light bay mare, 7 years old, about 15 hands high. No white on her. Harness pretty old with Dutch collar. Cutter is black with iron fenders. Robes —one bearskin with two patches in lining, the other a goatskin.

This society is one of the most flourishing benefiicent institutions on the continent. Its membership in the United States and Canada amounts to 200,000 and in Canada to 15,000. Members at death leave their wives or families an insurance policy of $2,000. This has always been promptly paid, as several cases in this town can bear witness. The annual average cost of insurance is about $7 per thousand. There is also a relief society in connection with the orders. Any member desiring can become a member, and thereby secure $1,000 additional insurance and a sick relief claim of $10 per week. Wives of members are also eligible for membership of the Relief Society, with both the insurance and sick benefits. The members propose making the local meetings more entertaining, and at the next meeting the installation of officers will take place, and Bro. Barton Earl will give a critical reading of "Shakspere's Merchant of Venice."

A Burglary Stopped in Mid-Act

An Attempt to Force the Safe in the Dixon Estate Office on London Street —A Lively Chase after the Burglars.

Tuesday night between seven and eight o'clock Messrs. Dixon and White, bookkeeper in the office of the Dixon Estate on London street, east, near the race, returned to close up their work for the day. The office is situated on the south side of the street. As they entered at the front door, Dixon going ahead, they heard a noise in Mr. Haslin's private office in the rear, but thought at first it was caused by the presence of Mr. James Fox, yard manager, who every evening makes up his books at the office. Dixon shouted a remark something like "Hello, Fox, you can't scare us." Immediately a man appeared at the door of the private office, but as the darkness was intense his form only could be discerned. Some one behind him growled "give it to the b—g—r." Dixon at once perceived that something was wrong and picking up an old spade handle from behind the door prepared himself for an attack. The unknown dodged back again, when White ran over and tried to open the other door leading into Mr. Haslin's apartments, but a gruff voice chuckled, "Oh, no, you can't get in there." Again the dark form appeared in the doorway as if about to attack, then it suddenly wheeled about and dashed through the window on the west side of the building. White and Dixon followed and saw three men cutting across the field and up the hill behind the office. As they ran they at their pursuers, one of which crashed through the window out of which White had just leapt. On they ran up the hill to Dickson street, along the street to the end, over the fence below Mrs. Haultain's residence and across the lots to Hunter street, where they vanished, leaving their pursuers out of breath and completely non-plussed. While returning to the office they met Acting-Chief Adams near the gaol, who went with them to the scene of the attempted burglary. There they found that the would-be burglars had left their entire kit of tools, comprising a dark lantern, four chisels (two light mortising chisels and two heavier ordinary ones), two bits (a small and a large one) and a brace. These are now in possession of the police. It was then ascertained what damage had been done. A hole had been bored through the first plate of the safe door right alongside the combination, with the small bit, and the "knights of the jimmy" had begun to enlarge the hole with the other bit when interrupted. Had they been successful, however, they would have secured nought for their labors, as the safe was empty. There is not the slightest clue to the burglars, as the night was so dark their features could not be discerned.

Report of the Fire Fighters.

Annual Supper of the Peterborough Fire Brigade.

On Tuesday evening the members of the Fire Brigade held their annual supper at the Hub Restaurant. Chief Rutherford occupied the chair, Assistant-Chief Craig the vice-chair, while Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., Mayor, and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., were accorded positions of honor. Besides the members of the Brigade, several guests were present, including members of the council and other representative citizens.

After the excellent spread, consisting of oysters well served in various styles, and reinforced with other edibles in abundance, the toast list was entered upon.

The Chief proposed the toast of "The Queen," which was received with all the usual honors.

The Assistant Chief gave the toast of the "House of Commons and the Dominion of Canada", to which Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., responded in a brief and happy manner.

Chief Rutherford proposed the "Local Legislature", to which Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., replied in a few appropriate remarks.

The toast of the "Mayor and Corporation" proposed by Assistant Chief Craig, was most heartily received—suitable acknowledgements of the toast were made by Mayor Stevenson and Councillors Cahill, Davidson and McNeil. The speakers were unanimous in complimenting the town on the splendid efficiency of the fire brigade and the excellence of our fire system generally. The promptness and alacrity of the boys of the Brigade and their ever-readiness to respond to the call of duty, were also dwelt upon.

MR. J. R. STRATTON proposed "Our Band", and the toast was heartily honored and was acknowledged by Mr. Bandmaster Miller.

MAYOR STEVENSON proposed the "Chief, Assistant Chief and members of the Fire Brigade," a toast that brought eloquent responses from Chief Rutherford and Assistant-Chief Craig.

"The Defeated Candidates at the Recent Elections" was proposed with due solemnity by Councillor McNeil, and responded to by Mr. J. D. Baptie, who returned thanks to those of number three ward who had given him so strong a support, which came within three of securing his election over an opponent whose strength could be estimated by the fact that he had never suffered defeat in the ward.

Mr. MCNEIL proposed "The Press", acknowledged by Mr. J. R. Stratton, and Mr. Stratton gave "The Ladies", which was responded to by Messrs. "Kit" Rutherford and "Billy" Green.

During the evening the proceedings were enlivened by songs contributed by Messrs. Kit Rutherford, Harry Evans and A. McNeil. At twelve o'clock a happy and hilarious evening was ended.

A New Invention.

The inventive genius of Mr. T. Jones, the enterprising travelling agent of the Peterborough Stove and Furnace Company, has evolved another improvement in the manufacture of stoves, the patent for which he has applied for. The improvement consists of a new style of door hinge whereby without the least difficulty any householder can himself fit on a new door to his stove in case one gets broken and he has to send to the manufactory for another. A technical description of the new hinge would make up a long article, that the average reader would shrink from wading through. Suffice it to say that the improvement in question will be a great convenience to householders, especially to those of isolated settlements or agricultural districts, remote from large towns. The owner of a stove with the ordinary hinge in use to-day, if by accident he break a door (which is the easiest thing in the world to do) has to write to an agency or perhaps the manufactory. They will send the stove door and a man to fit it. Nine times out of ten the man has to take the door back to the shop and alter it so as to fit the stove, and by the time this is done the unfortunate stove-owner has a nice little bill to settle. Future patrons of the Peterborough Stove Company will receive the benefit of the improved door hinge, and if by any means a door should become broken all that has to be done is to write to the works to ship a new one, and anyone can fit it himself in a few minutes, without any delay and expense. Purchasers of stoves will at once perceive the merit of this improvement and give the Peterborough Company the benefit of their appreciation of a superior article.

Legal Intelligence

At Osgoode hall, Toronto, Tuesday :—PETERBOROUGH V. MIDLAND.—Watson obtained for plaintiffs order in terms of consent minutes for payment of costs.

Judge Weller has given judgment in the case of the Hotel Committee of the Oddfellow Demonstration against Messrs. McIntyre and Daly, for the amount of their subscriptions. Judgment was given in favor of the defendants on the ground that the chairman of the committee who brought the suit was not the same person to whom the subscription was promised, and had no right to bring suit for the amount. The defendants are willing now as before to pay the amount of their subscriptions to a person whom they recognize as authorized to receive it.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, lamb-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hood winked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of presents. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 50 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $8.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $8.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

ASSINIBOIA ELECTION.

TROUBLESOME TIMES IN STORE FOR THE MANITOBA GOVERNMENT.

Consternation in the Ministerial Camp—The Harrison Government in a Pitiable Condition—An Independent Opinion on the Election.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11.—The result of the Assiniboia election yesterday has caused consternation in the Government camp, and should a vote come up on the ejecting of the Legislature to-morrow a great exhibition is promised. The Liberals are working hard for the success of their candidate, in St. Francois Xavier, and if victory perches on their banner up the close of the polls to-morrow, the Harrison Government will be in a pitiable position. Nearly all the French members have announced their intention of giving the Opposition their support. Mr. Norquay still remains in his office at the Government building, but resolutions will be made in the House which will show Dr. Harrison's bare-faced and mean intriguing to support the old Premier, and Norquay himself, before the session is over, may be forced voting against Harrison. The members are arriving for the opening, and are nearly all on hand. Mr. MacArthur's majority in Assiniboia is 65.

The Sun (Independent) says to-night: "Until the relations existing between the province and the Dominion are of a more amicable character than at present, any Provincial Government that protests even the least semblance of being hand-in-glove with the Federal authorities must rest under a cloud of suspicion. Just now the people of the province want no such doubts. Sir John Macdonald must be taught that the Conservative party cannot succeed either in Dominion or Provincial elections in this country until the railroad monopoly is removed. He must make his choice between the syndicate and the best of the Province of Manitoba, to his party. What he comes to face that pushed he will probably be more anxious to concede what our people demand than he is at the present time. If he can induce us to send Royals, and Rosses and Scarthe to Ottawa and to keep an administration friendly to him in office in Manitoba, the policy of Boulbug and delay will go on for ever. For these reasons we believe many Manitobans, who are not members of the Liberal party, are agreed that worse things might happen than a change in the Provincial Administration at the present time. The fact will probably be to bring constitutional questions to an issue and for a time at least to secure clean work.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11.—Mr. McArthur, Independent, was elected yesterday. The following is the vote:

	McArthur.	Nays.
Hedingly	49	9
St. James	47	15
St. Charles	43	62
St. Boniface	71	6
Totals	199	94
Majority for McArthur		65

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.

A Jury at Hamilton Awards $500 to a Wronged Girl's Father.

HAMILTON, Jan. 11.—At the fall assizes the seduction case of Campbell Slowen was tried and the jury disagreed. The suit was brought by Robt. Camp of Lynden against Russell G. Slowen, a young married man, for the seduction of his daughter Lucinda. Lucinda is a good looking girl, but the plaintiff's counsel strove to show that she was a little weak minded. The evidence given in the trial today was similar to that given at the previous sittings. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiff of $500 and costs.

The annual meeting of the District Orange Lodge was held here last night. John W. Hotrum was elected W. D. M.

The members of the Hamilton Medical Society held their fourth annual dinner at Lovegrig's Club House last night. The usual toasts were responded to.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE CONCENTRATION OF RUSSIAN TROOPS STILL CONTINUES.

Emperor William's Condition—Russo-Chinese Railways—Converts Massacred in China—A Letter from John Ruskin—Protection in Spain.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Vienna correspondent of The Standard writes that the concentration of Russian troops on the inner Polish frontier during the last two weeks, which is still in full operation, is far more active than during December. Detachments of both cavalry and grenadiers are being sent forward from St. Petersburg and Kiev so steadily that no civilian passengers are carried on night trains, and railways are blocked with the transit of troops. It is very probable that a movement on the part of Germany will soon be witnessed.

A letter emanating from Russian landowners is published in Pesth stating that orders have been given by the Russian government for the conscription of all horses, cattle, pigs and sheep to be delivered to the proper authorities within three days after the declaration of war. A similar order with regard to other articles of food is expected to be issued.

A board of officers has been appointed by the Minister of War with headquarters at Cracow, to superintend the building of temporary barracks and magazines in Galicia.

Negotiations are being begun for the construction of three great Russo-Chinese railway lines, one between Semipatalinsk and Shangai, another between Chita and Pekin, and the third between Kiakhta and Pekin.

An official despatch from Jeddah to the Porte contradicts the report of a rising against Christians.

A conspiracy has been discovered in a suburb of Sofia against the Bulgarian Government. It is said thousands of proclamations calling upon the people to take up arms against Prince Ferdinand in favor of Russia have been seized by the authorities.

Intense anxiety prevails with regard to Emperor William's condition, which, according to a trustworthy despatch from Berlin, is worse.

In a letter from Dr. Schweinfurth, the African explorer, written in Cairo under date Dec. 30, it is said that news was received at Cairo on Dec. 22 that Stanley had reached Emin Bay. More definite advices are expected shortly.

John Ruskin, in a letter to The London Telegraph, says: "During the last thirty years we have ceased to be English. Formerly swindling was not our method in trade, nor was advertising necessary. Once we imported from America neither meat nor manners, and from France neither art nor religion. Formerly our navy did not use torpedoes, nor did our army make use of rifles behind hedges."

Prime Minister Sagasta of Spain, in the fear of a split in the majority, made so weak a defence of the Free Trade policy that the majority of Liberals and Democrats are displeased. They are afraid that he will commit so much to the Protectionists, party that the Ministers will resign and thus pave the way to a Canova Cabinet with a protective policy.

The Emperor was well enough to receive verbal reports from General Albedyll and others to-day. The symptoms of catarrh of the stomach are decreasing. Although he is sleepless during the night, the doctors manage to obtain rest through the day.

A letter from Perth, published in The Virgin Politische Correspondent, says that the late movement of Russian troops implies the greatest caution to Austria.

The Berlin correspondent of The London Times says it was then agreed between the powers to superannuate Prince Ferdinand, through the Porte, to resign the throne.

Lord Salisbury addressed an immense meeting in Hanover's Circus, Liverpool, to-night. On beginning his speech he was slightly hoarse, but his voice became clearer as he went on.

Discussing the Irish question, he said the Conservatives had relied upon their election that England could rule and govern Ireland, and had directed their policy toward securing the fulfilment of that judgment of the majority. Mr. Gladstone had prophesied that Conservatives would eventually give Home Rule to Ireland, but never was the principle of national union more sincerely held than now. The Unionists were firmly convinced that Ireland had become thoroughly consolidated with Great Britain under the same legislature and the same laws and enjoying equal liberty. Vacillation had been the great crime of England against Ireland, and no Government would be of any avail unless it showed that it could govern absolutely.

Referring to the movement in favor of Fair Trade Lord Salisbury declared himself to be still a Fair Trader on principle, but experience, he said, had shown that the Free Trade theory had been carried too far or misapplied, in consequence of which some reaction was probable. The sugar bounties question, he said, was an instance of the hurtfulness of indiscriminate Free Trade. Agriculture was a more difficult question, but it must be admitted that the interests of the producer and consumer in the productions of the English soil were bound by a common interest and must stand or fall together.

In conclusion Lord Salisbury expressed his conviction that those present who thought the next general election would upset Unionism had utterly misread the sentiments of the English Democracy.

The bodies of fourteen women have come to the surface of the snow near Fusse, Austria. There are many still missing who are supposed to be buried under the snow.

The following gratuitous advice is given to the provincial premiers of Canada:

Commenting on the statement that a delegation consisting of the premiers of the provinces would soon visit London to urge the Commercial Union amendment to the Act of Confederation, The Canadian Gazette, the organ of the Dominion Government in London, says: "It would be difficult to see what such a delegation could hope to effect here. Unless it is a holiday outing the provincial premiers are seeking, they may safely be counselled to remain at home, so far at least as Commercial Union is concerned. If they really desire to influence Imperial opinion they must do so through the constitutional medium of Canadian public opinion brought to bear on the Federal Executive."

BECOMING RESTLESS.

Railroadmen Want an Answer to Their Demand For an Increase.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—The officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have not yet answered the petition of their employes for an advance of wages, and according to the statement of one of the leaders in the movement for higher wages the men are getting restless at the delay. "We are determined to have the increase," said he, "and unless an answer is given to us before next Wednesday a strike extending over the entire system will be inaugurated."

Coal-Coast Blocked.

READING, Jan. 11.—Less than 150 loaded coal cars had passed through here from the coal region since midnight and up to noon to-day.

Steel Down.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Jan. 11.—The rolling mill and nail works of the Oxford Iron Company, at Oxford, N. J., have shut down, and hundreds of hands are thrown out of employment.

One Colliery in Operation.

SHENANDOAH, Jan. 11.—Only one individual colliery in the entire Shenandoah district is now in operation and that is the Cambria. The William Penn Coal Company was forced to shut down this morning.

The Cigarmakers Go Back to Work.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The difficulty between Mr. Hersch of the Defiance cigar factory and his employes who went on strike, has been settled amicably, and the men returned to work to-day. The employes of Holtzmann & Co., who quit work on Monday, also went to work to-day, the firm having decided to continue the old prices.

Betrayed and Deserted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—At 11 o'clock last night Officer Doyle of the Bridge police found a neatly-dressed young woman huddled in a corner near the New York tower, almost frozen with the cold. She is handsome and her manners bear traces of refinement. She said her name was Lillie Wilbur, and that she was a resident of a place near Syracuse. Some time ago a young man, whose name she would not disclose, induced her to come to New York. He deserted her and she was thrown on her own resources, being without money or friends. On being further questioned she said she knew the young Englishman, Baldwin, who shot himself in a tub on the bridge a short time ago. He had been a visitor at her residence and had frequently threatened suicide. At one time he placed a pistol to his head in her presence and would have shot himself only she screamed aloud. Then he said he was only fooling.

Lynched Three Men to Hide a Murder.

PARKERSBURG, W.Va., Jan. 11.—Rev. P. Ryan, a noted Methodist minister of this state, living in Ross County, was brutally murdered in the presence of his family at his own home in October last. He had just returned from a conference with some $600, and the purpose of the murderer was evidently robbery. Within two or three days after that three young men, Robert and George Duff and Chester Coon were lynched for the murder. Detectives who have been investigating the case have discovered that the lynchers and the murderers wear the same pantaloons, and that they lynched innocent men to cover their own crime.

Conference of the Wool Interests.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Forty delegates, representing the National Association of wool growers, wool manufacturers and wool dealers, met here in conference to-day for the purpose of agreeing upon a mutually satisfactory revision of the tariff on wool, woolens and wool substitutes. A permanent organization was effected by the election of Gen. L. Converse of Ohio as president and E. H. Ammidown of Utica, N.Y., first vice-president. By a resolution adopted to-day the proceedings of the Conference will not be made public except by direction of the whole Conference.

Stolen G.T.R. Bonds Traced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The police have been successful in tracing a part of the $22,000 in coupon bonds of the Grand Trunk Railway which were stolen from the vault of the First National Bank at Albany recently. Certain of the bonds have been found to have passed through the hands of Wall-street brokers in the regular course of business. To-day five of the bonds were received at the Central National Bank in this city from the Boylston Bank of Boston. Albany detectives have been kept informed of developments in this city.

An Hotelkeeper in Luck.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Jan. 11.—Jos. Reibel, an hotel proprietor, was robbed last night of over $25,000 in bonds, notes, checks and other valuable papers. His house was entered from a rear window and the bonds, etc., taken from a drawer in the sideboard. A young negro, Grant Wallace, who was formerly an inmate of the House of Refuge, was arrested this morning and the entire lot of stolen securities recovered.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—The Quebec Government have negotiated a million dollar 4 per cent. loan at 96 with the Credit Lyonnais of France.

A GOOD CHANCE TO WIN

AN INTERESTING ELECTION FOR THE NEW O.C.P. COUNCIL.

The "Straight Ticket" Will Probably Carry the Day—Mr. J. M. Foster Heads the Poll—Result of the First Day's Count.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.

Five hundred and eighty-five licentiates of the Ontario College of Pharmacy throughout the province are anxiously awaiting the result of the election for a new council now going on at the college building in St. James'-square, this city. These gentlemen are not anxious, but they are very anxious. The interest is heartily joined in by the public, because of the exposures made some time ago of the fraudulent election of July 6, 1887, which Mr. Justice Robertson set aside as null and void because of the irregularities, i.e., "ballot-stuffing."

The counting of the ballot papers began at 12 o'clock yesterday at the college, and at 6.30 about 300 of the 585 papers sent out had been counted. There were 12 rejected ballots. Mr. Geo. A. Boomer is the returning officer, and I. C. Lewis and A. R. Fraser are the scrutineers. It will probably be 6 o'clock this evening before the count is finished, as it is a tedious job. Returning Officer Boomer has taken every precaution that there shall be no mistake in the count.

Enough is known by the first day's count to make it pretty certain that the "straight ticket," promulgated by Mr. J. M. Foster, is going to succeed, and that all or nearly all of the old councillors who offered for re-election are defeated. Mr. Pearce heads the poll with 182 votes. Every graduate has the privilege of voting for thirteen candidates. There are forty-three candidates in the field, and the "straight ticket" numbers twelve, leaving its friends the privilege of voting for one other of their choice.

The gentlemen comprising the "straight ticket" are: J. A. Clark, Hamilton; C. D. Daniel, J. M. Pearce and Harry Sherris, Toronto; W. O. Foster, St. Thomas; J. J. Hall, Woodstock; G. S. Hobbert, Kingston; W. B. Howse, Whitby; E. A. Julius, St. Catharines; C. E. McGregor, Brantford; John McKee, Peterboro; Henry Watters, Ottawa. Mr. McGregor of Brantford was a member of the unseated council, but he was not made a party to Mr. Pearce's suit because he admitted that the council was not fairly elected. Mr. R. Brierly, of Hamilton, also a member, took the same view as Mr. McGregor. The latter was put on the "straight ticket" and will probably be elected. Mr. Brierly did not offer himself for re-election. The others of the unseated councillors who did not offer were Edward Harvey, Guelph, President; Ed. Gregory, Lindsay, and N. C. Love, Toronto. The members of the unseated council who offered are J. E. D'Avignon, Windsor; R. W. Elliot (Vice-President), Toronto; J. E. Kennedy, Cobourg; Hugh Miller, Toronto; N. C. Poison, Kingston; W. B. Sanders, Stayner; Robt. Wightman, Owen Sound, and L. W. Yeomans Belleville. Mr. D'Avignon is running well up to date.

The first meeting of the new council will be held at the college on Feb. 14, when the most important business to be transacted will be the election of a registrar to succeed George Hodgetts, resigned.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

The Annual Report Issued—Condition of the Company's Lines.

MONTREAL, Jan. 11.—The annual report of the Montreal Telegraph Company was issued to-day. It refers especially to the agreement with the Great Northwestern and Western Union Telegraph Companies. The agreement was drawn up by Hon. Mr. Abbott, and the report states that he has given his assurance that the company's interests were carried out to the very letter, and that the agreement is beyond doubt as binding as could be desired. The properties, rights and privileges transferred to the Great Northwestern represent a total value of $3,151,638. Not only have the company's properties and lines been well maintained, but additions and improvements to the value of $160,920 have been effected. The report closes with a suggestion that instead of giving credit to the many irresponsible rumors circulated shareholders should satisfy themselves by asking information from the company's office.

An appended report of Mr. Cassils on the condition of the company's lines shows that the lessees have added to the system, up to the end of 1886, 1695 miles, and in 1887, 292 miles of new wires and 74 miles of new lines, making in all 2061 miles.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Government has requested the French authorities to thoroughly investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Archibald McNeill, the reporter of The London Sportsman, whose body was recently found on the beach at Boulogne. The police of Boulogne have arrested a man named Vermersh, who was seen with McNeill in a cafe. The procurer of Boulogne has received an anonymous letter naming a certain individual as the murderer of McNeill.

THE SUGAR SHARPS.

If a protective tariff has its beneficial results, it has also evil possibilities, and one of the most important of the latter is the power it gives for the combination of producers to control trade, keep up prices and bleed the public for their own benefit. Everybody will remember the combination of sugar refiners, and how Messrs. Lighthound & Matheson, having remnants of honesty and conscience, held out against the combination and were determined to give the public sugars at the cheapest possible price that the tariff would admit of. This, of course, did not suit the book of the ring of refiners and dealers, and these gentlemen have had the screws put on so severely that to escape with their business life they have had to succumb. At a recent meeting of the sugar refiner and the Wholesale Guild, held in Montreal, measures were adopted against non-combiners. In future such non-combiners must pay ¼ cent per pound more on yellow sugars and 5/16 cent on white sugars to the refiner, and for every barrel of granulated must purchase two of yellow. Lighthound & Ralston, who with James Matheweson held out so long, gave in Tuesday and signed an agreement. One of the partners said they had not in any sense altered their views. They entered the combine to protect their customers, who had a right to expect from them the capacity to fill orders for sugar. The firm had either to yield or go out of business, and as it lived in hope of seeing the combine destroyed, it did not care to give up just now. They yielded to superior force. Matheweson said they had not yielded and would only yield as to a highwayman. The new regulations were the most tyrannical he had ever heard of during 54 years of business life. He had heard of combines, but not of combines that dictated to outsiders in this manner. Since May the public had paid between $300,000 and $600,000 more into the refiners' pockets than their would have done but for the combine. One result of the stand against the combine was that the standard of white sugars had been raised to compete with the foreign importation of his firm. Matheweson thinks that the Government should crush this combine, but Mr. Matheweson need not have any fears that his wishes will have effect. The Government has made such combinations possible and it will pay them better politically to stand by the sugar sharps than protect the interests of the people.

A PROMISING RECORD.

For years Quebec was under the influence of government according to Tory principles. As a natural result the prosperity of the province was retarded. The funds of the province were wasted, extravagance and corruption ran riot and a frightful debt was being accumulated. The people became alarmed and trusted their affairs to a government influenced by Liberal principles, and the result of even a brief experience of Liberal rule is very gratifying. L'Electeur gives the following specific instances of the benefit of a return to honest government:

1. Reform in the expenditure of colonization monies, unearthing frauds, punishing the culprits and forcing restitution.

2. Applying the agricultural appropriations to their legitimate purpose, instead of using them to reward political partisans, as was the case under the previous administration.

3. Recognizing the public offices and appointing as such to the management of public money.

4. The codification of the statutes, which would not have been completed for years and would have cost thousand of dollars, by sum, was completed during vacation and at small cost.

5. A commission to examine into the system of maintaining insane asylums.

6. The agricultural commission.

7. The nomination of capable men to public offices and the abolition of sinecures, as, for instance, the improvements in the Montreal Court House, which have met with general approbation.

8. Reform in the Licence laws.

9. $200,000, an old debt of Ontario, collected.

10. Increase of the revenue from Crown lands, by a reform in the manner of collection.

11. The receipt of nearly a million of dollars from the tax on commercial corporations.

12. Collection of the municipal loan fund debt.

13. Saving of $96,000, due from the Farnham Beet Root Sugar Refinery, a scheme which his predecessors had abandoned all hope of benefiting.

Other reforms are also enumerated: but over and above all these stands the projected reform in our Civil Procedure. An account the law's delays have become a by-word, and reform in our procedure is urgently required. We are now working under the ordinances of 1667 and have outgrown the ancient system. The Attorney-General has an opportunity of conferring a lasting boon upon the public, by replacing the present cumbersome and effete code of procedure, with a short, inexpensive and business-like system, suited to the requirements of the 19th century.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it." Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is pertectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man—Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

WEATHER NOTES.—Another year has come to a close, during which its mingled joys and sorrows have been felt in every family throughout the earth, from the babe of an hour to those who have seen a century, come to an end and have closed their eyes for ever on time. The number is beyond our comprehension, and looking forward to the close of the infant year, how many there are now in the enjoyment of health with everything bright and blooming! But, alas! they will never see the sun of '89 rings the eastern horizon. December has indeed been a favored month. Our extremes have been few; only on three mornings has the thermometer been below zero. On the 1st, 2° below; on the 25th it stood 4°; on the 30th, the coldest, being 10°, and at sunset at 4° below. On the morning of the 4th it stood at 39° above, being the highest at sunrise; leaving the mean temperature of the month at 22°. Rain fell on 5 days to the depth of 2 inches and 6/100 of an inch, the severest storm being on the 3rd, falling 1 inch and 2/100 of an inch in 9 hours. Snow fell on 11 days, to the depth of 12½ inches, both being slightly below the average. Auroral lights were seen on 6 evenings and white fog during one day. One noteworthy thing in December has been the absence of sunshine. From the 7th to the 15th inclusive the sun was never seen, and from the 18th to the last of the month only once was it seen clear at its setting. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely:—north, 4 days; south-west, 5 days; south-east, 5 days; east, 9 days; north-west, 5 days; west, 1 day; north-east, 1 day, and south, 1 day.

THE COREAN AMBASSY.

A Legation of Nobles in Brilliant Dress Invade the United States Capital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—One of the most unique and picturesque embassies that ever came to this country arrived in this city this week. It was the Corean Legation. There were eleven in all, seven full-fledged Corean nobles, three Corean servants and one American, who acted as Foreign Secretary, Dr. H. N. Allen, a native of Ohio.

They registered as from Corea. The Legation attracted considerable attention as they unconcernedly perambulated through the halls of the hotel. They all wore black tall hats with broad, straight brims, with a sawed-off pipe not unlike the styles worn in the time of the good Gov. Peter Stuyvesant. These hats are worn so high on the head that to the unenlightened American mind the wonder is how they are kept on. The distinguished foreigners went in to supper in their gaudy costumes, and wore their old-fashioned pot-hats. The minister sat at the head of the table, with the secretaries on either hand, arranged in the order of precedence. Dr. Allen sat opposite to him. After supper they scattered about the hotel, and Yi Hong Yong smoked a cigar in pure American style. Every member of the Legation wears his hair tied in a knot at the top of his head to signify that he is married. Queues with them are unknown. Boys wear their hair in braids, as our school girls do. As soon as one marries he ties his hair on the crown of his head. A man is considered of no consequence in Corea if he is not married. Although every member of the Embassy has a wife no women came over with them. Nor will they bring them over. The Coreans are far more strict with their wives than the Turks.

Western Dairymen's Association.

LISTOWEL, Jan. 11.—The Western Dairymen's Association met in convention in Lillico's Opera House here to-day. Vice-President Caswell took the chair in the absence of President Ballantyne. The convention was addressed by W. D. Hoard, editor of Heard's Dairyman of Fort Atkinson, Wis., and who is one of the most prominent American dairymen. Mr. Derbyshire, ex-President of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, Prof. Robertson and others took part in the discussion on the points raised by the speaker.

At the evening session Mr. Francis Malcolm of Innerkip read a paper on Practical Dairying, dwelling particularly on the importance of abundance and variety of food.

THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

The Connecticut Survey—The Ottawa Site Further Endorsed.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—The deputation from the City of Quebec arrived here this morning and had an interview this afternoon with members of the Government with reference to the question of the Federal Capital. The deputation urged upon the Government the necessity of awarding the contract to a company which would employ the largest and fastest vessels in the service, so as to ensure a service at least equal to that of any other country. Sir John promised he would give the subject due consideration.

Mr. H. J. Beemer Hill, for many years employed on The Montreal Gazette, has been appointed to the position of chief Government stationery officer, vice the late Thomas Robertson. Mr. Hill is well known and highly esteemed in Ottawa, and from his great practical knowledge of the business will make a most capable and competent officer.

Although the malarial fever from which Ottawa has been suffering for the last three months is gradually dying out and few new cases are reported, there are still a large number of cases in the city. Mr. C. H. McIntosh of The Citizen has had no less than seven of his children down with it, and his eldest daughter is still very ill, although she is now considered out of danger.

The annual report of the Chief of Police shows the total number of arrests in this city last year to have been 927, of which 401 were for drunkenness, or at the rate of about 13 per 1000 of the population.

The annual report of the Inspector of Penitentiaries shows that the total number of criminals confined in the five Dominion penitentiaries on June 30 was 1159, of whom 1131 were males and 28 females. This is a reduction of 27 males and 14 females from the figures of last year. The Inspector of Penitentiaries says:

"In noting the fact that the number of our criminals in proportion to the whole population forms a comparatively small percentage, it may not be out of place to remark that the Government and people of Canada have special reason to be thankful to a merciful Providence that crime is not more prevalent in the Dominion. It is not in a boastful or invidious spirit but rather to excite that feeling of gratitude just mentioned that I refer to the alarming increase of the criminal class in the United States."

He then quotes from several authorities to show crime had greatly increased in the United States.

Wiggins' Blunders.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—A sharp shock of earthquake was felt throughout the city this morning shortly before 5 o'clock. The vibration was quite marked, and seemed to be traveling from the west. The shock lasted between five and ten seconds. Crockery was smashed in many places. No other damage is reported. Prof. Wiggins slept through it all. He says he has not been paying particular attention to earthquakes of late, consequently was unable to predict the event. He says it was simply an earth trembling, being the negative or reflex action of an earthquake south of Cape Horn.

A $30,000 Blaze at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 11.—A disastrous fire broke out between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning in Barron's large stone block on McGill-street, between St. James' and Notre Dame streets. The caretaker of the building, who lives on the third flat, saw smoke, and, on opening the door of his room, found the passage full of flames. He took his wife and child by the hand and dashed through the flames to the upper story, reached the roof and descended to a neighboring building. Electing a Council.

The counting of the ballots in the election of a new council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy began at Toronto yesterday noon. It will probably be concluded to-day. Among the candidates Mr. John McKee, town, stands well up in the list with 101 votes to his credit. Mr. Wm. Walsh secured 10 votes. The result of the ballot is anxiously awaited.

A Postponement.

As the date announced for the first grand carnival under the auspices of the Canton, Friday, the 20th, has been considered by some too soon to admit of ample preparation for the grand event on ice, and as the same evening has been selected for a concert by the Peterborough branch of the Irish National League, it has been decided to postpone the carnival till one week later, Jan. 27th. This will give plenty of time to those who intend dressing for the carnival.

She appears at the "Grand", Toronto, on Jan. 23rd, 24th and 25th, and as manager Sheppard engages good shows the best companies the play-goers of Peterborough may look forward to a great dramatic treat on the 17th.

A Misleading Paragraph.

In a long and windy report in the case of the Demonstration Committee of the Oddfellows' against Messrs. McLaren & Dale for the amount of their subscription granted at the Jubilee celebration who gives us to know that "the chairman of the committee who brought the suit was not the same person to whom the subscription was promised." This is misleading, as inferring that the proper chairman had not brought the action. The claim of the judge was that the beneficiaries of the note—all the members of the Demonstration Committee—were the proper parties, and as only one of that committee had sued, he granted leave to bring another action.

J. C. Turnbull

is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who uses their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good value with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. 4w

Caring for the Children's Comfort.

Having in view the comfort and health of school children, during the inclement weather of winter, the School Supervision Committee have addressed the following circular letter to the principals of all the schools:—

DEAR SIR,—Permit me to draw your attention to the rule of the Board, requiring all teachers to be in their places fifteen minutes before the time for the opening of the school.

Observance of this good rule allows the children to be disrobed and in their places at time fixed for opening, and in severe weather affords them a more comfortable place for waiting than the halls of the school, and will aid you in securing prompt attendance.

You will please draw the attention of all teachers under your supervision to this requirement. I am, Sir,

Your Obedient servant,
J. R. STRATTON,
Chairman School Supervision Committee.

An Old and Respected Citizen.

The Invermere, Ont., Weekly Review, in an obituary notice of the late Robert Hill, of that town, father of Mr. W. H. Hill, of Peterborough, says:—"We regret that it is our duty to chronicle the death of Mr. Robert Hill, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, who departed this life on Thursday morning last at the ripe age of 83 years, and was buried to-day in the Presbyterian cemetery. Mr. Hill was one of the first persons who came to Inverness when it was nothing more than a dense forest, but by steady, honest striving he not only succeeded in obtaining a comfortable living but amassed considerable property and has long been considered one of our solid citizens. In his old age he was often cheered by the happiness achieved by his numerous sons and daughters who are now scattered over the entire continent. A very large number of friends attended the funeral, and in bespeaking public sympathy for the bereaved widow and children, we express the desire of the entire neighborhood. Rev. Jas. Sutherland conducted the funeral services throughout."

Trent Valley Navigation Association.

The following circular has been issued to members of the committee by the secretary:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to inform you that at a representative meeting held here last month, a Trent Valley Navigation Association was formed for the purpose of (among other things) collecting evidence to be placed before the Commission, recently appointed by the Dominion Government to inquire into this matter and that an Executive Committee was appointed composed of the Wardens of the counties of, Simcoe, Ontario, Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland and Durham; of the Mayors of Peterborough, Trenton, Belleville, Lindsay, Orillia, and Barrie; and Messrs. M. M. Boyd, Bobcaygeon; John Carnegie, Peterborough; W. H. Cross, Barrie; D. Murphy, Trenton; R. C. Strickland, Lakefield; Rev. Mr. Logan, Fenelon Falls; J. Dinwoodie, Campbellford; H. Fowlds, Hastings; Col. Deacon, Lindsay; W. B. Northrup, Belleville, and a representative from Orillia and Midland, and that I am instructed to call a meeting of this Committee for Friday, 20th instant, at 2 p. m., in the Council Chamber, Peterborough. As any neglect on our part to do our full duty in support of this undertaking at the present time must prove injurious, if not disastrous, to the prompt prosecution of this important work, I am instructed to urge upon you the importance of a full attendance at this meeting, in order that ample and prompt steps may be taken to collect, and lay before the Commission referred to, all the evidence possible in support of the feasibility and benefits to be derived from the early completion of a work of so much importance to this portion of the Dominion as the Trent Valley Navigation.

A Neat Capture.

The Police Capture a Cigar Thief "Red-Handed."—His Trial Before the Magistrate.

For some time past Mr. F. J. Daly, proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, has been missing boxes of cigars from his store-room, and suspicion pointed strongly to the night-watchman, Frederick Hicks, a young man who had not been long employed about the hotel. Mr. Daly got wind of a certain transaction which confirmed his suspicions, and warrants to search and arrest Hicks were made out and placed in the hands of Acting-Chief Adams. Mr. Daly had been told that Hicks had left a valise at Hamilton's restaurant a day or two ago, telling the proprietor that another man was to arrive in town on the 11:41 C.P.R. express Wednesday evening and take it away. He said the valise contained glassware. The police interviewed Mr. Hamilton and got this information, and made plans to catch the thieves. Last night about eleven o'clock officers Adams, Pidgeon and McGinty, and Mr. Daly, sauntered into Hamilton's restaurant, Adams concealing himself while the others made

NO ATTEMPT TO HIDE.

A little before train time Hicks walked in, but instead of calling for the valise ate a dish of oysters and went out again, telling Mr. Hamilton he had to go up town again. Soon after he passed out Mr. Daly and Constables Pidgeon and McGinty followed, striking up George street a considerable distance in the belief that Hicks had really returned to the town. But he hadn't. No sooner were they well out of range when Hicks, thinking the coast was clear, walked boldly into the restaurant and asked for the valise. It was handed him, and he was about to walk off when Acting-Chief Adams stepped out from behind the curtain and arrested him. The valise when opened was found to contain six boxes of cigars, and a bottle of champagne. The goods and prisoner were at once taken to the police station, where Mr. Daly identified them. The police watched also for the man who was to arrive by train, but he did not put in an appearance.

Evidence has been secured which shows that a systematic robbery has been carried on by Hicks, who, as on this occasion, filled valises with the goods, which were taken away by a man passing through on the train en route to Perth.

Hicks is a young man of probably 26 or 28 years of age, small and thin, with light moustache. In the cells this morning he did not appear the least upset by his prison surroundings or the almost certain punishment which awaited him, but whistled away nonchalantly until the hour for opening court.

REMANDED TILL MONDAY.

Hicks was brought before the police magistrate this morning. Mr. R. E. Wood, C. C. A., appeared for the prosecution; Mr. C. W. Sawers defended the prisoner. Owing to the lack of witnesses the case was remanded till next Monday. The defendant went to gaol in default of procuring bail. He has telegraphed his father at Perth to come to his assistance. His story is that the valise was given him by a stranger to take down to Hamilton's restaurant and leave it there for him.

The Stolen Horse Recovered.

Mr. J. J. Howden's Horse and Cutter Found in Port Hope—No Trace of the Thieves.

Early last evening Acting-Chief Adams received a telephone message from Chief Douglass, of Port Hope, stating that he had in his possession a horse and cutter which had been driven into town and left there. He believed it to be the equipage stolen from Peterborough, and on a more minute description being furnished him he became positive as to its identity. He had found the rig without an owner, though, and could give no clue to the thieves. Mr. Howden went down last evening on the 6.50 express and claimed his property. The robes were, however, missing, and have not yet turned up.

There is a strong suspicion that the horse thieves are the same who attempted to force the Dickson estate office safe the same night the animal was stolen. The police have a slight clue to their identity. Monday night three strangers got off an eastbound C.P.R. freight train on which they had been riding at the station here, and two of them entered the building, the other remaining outside. The nightwatchman has given pretty accurate descriptions of the two he saw inside. They were seen loitering around the station again Tuesday night, and the nightwatchman warned them off. It is presumed that, fearing if they attempted to board a train they would be nabbed by the police, they decided to steal a horse and cutter from some convenient barn and make their escape from the town. Chief Douglass has been furnished with descriptions of the men, and as they may be still hanging around Port Hope (if this supposition is the correct one) they may yet be captured.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

The meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough opened Tuesday in the Mill street church, Port Hope. In the absence of the moderator, Rev. J. Cameron, of Millbrook, presided. There was a large attendance of ministers and elders. Principal Grant was nominated as the next Moderator of the General Assembly. A remit was adopted to change the article prohibiting marriage with a deceased wife's sister. A considerable amount of local business was transacted, including the appointment of Messrs. Roxburgh, Henderson, D. Chisholm, R. Dingwall and Sheriff Hall as a committee to visit augmented congregations, as required by the law of the church, and for the purpose of aiding those congregations with their counsel, in adopting, where advisable, improved financial methods.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Peterborough was also held Tuesday in the Presbyterian hall. There was a very large attendance. Mrs. McKean, of Lakefield, the president, presided, and delivered an address of welcome to all. Exhaustive reports from the various officers were read and much business transacted. The President, Mrs. Henderson, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, of Port Hope, took part in the devotional exercises. The official reports of the Society show 14 Auxiliaries and 3 Mission Bands, with an aggregate membership of 434. The aggregate contributions for 1887 were $1,301.48.

Officers for the ensuing year:—
PRESIDENT—Mrs. McKean, Lakefield.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. McCrae, Cobourg.
" —Mrs. Hay, Campbellford.
" —Mrs. Galbraith, Port Hope.
" —Miss Roger, Peterborough.
TREASURER—Mrs. Henderson, Cobourg.
SECRETARY—Mrs. Crack, Port Hope.

The members of the Presbytery and of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society were entertained at tea by the Mission Bands of the Presbyterian churches. A public meeting was held at night in the Mill street church, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Mackenzie, of Grafton, and McLeod, of Brighton.

"The Rose of Ettrick Vale."

Gratifying Success of the Performance by Amateur Artists.

There was a very large house, including representatives of the best society of the town, at the Opera House on Wednesday night to witness the presentation of the border drama, "The Rose of Ettrick Vale," under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association. The Association should feel gratified at the manner in which their friends stand by them. This is the second occasion this season on which they have been greeted with bumper houses. The audience was delighted with the manner in which the play was presented and mounted. The music supplied by the Peterborough Amateur Orchestra, under the training and leadership of Mr. J. Butcher, was a surprise to all. The performers, numbering about a dozen, acquitted themselves in the most satisfactory and pleasing manner. Upon the whole, all the performers in the play filled their parts successfully, while some were distinguished for unusually good action. Miss T. Hall in the title character, "The Rose of Ettrick Vale," did exceedingly well, acting, in the most trying circumstances, with a great deal of dramatic force. She was well supported by Miss Archer, as "Jessie," and Mrs. H. Stapleton, as "Amy," the bridesmaids of the Rose. Mr. G. A. Schofield acted the part of "Red Ronald, the Rover" with great force and fidelity to the demands of the character. Mr. C. Brown was a capital impersonation of the respected and exemplary parent, "Old Adam of Teviot," and Mr. Jas. Morris as the adopted son, "Albert," filled the requirements of his part with great success. Mr. T. G. Hallam, as "Glen Bras," acted his part very creditably. Mr. A. St. A. Smith, as "Wandering Steenie," a mindless rover, gave a most realistic representation of the unfortunate, with a life darkened by a great wrong, which clouded his reason, but which kept in play the desire for vengeance, which found abundant means of expression throughout the play and especially in the startling and dramatic culmination of the closing scene. The life of the play, however, was Mr. W. A. Dixon as "Gay o' the Gap." This part was exceedingly well taken and sustained the most "business" of any of the characters, which received the fullest attention. Mr. Dixon stoutly resisted the temptation to exaggeration, almost irresistible to amateurs and acted his part to the life, neither over-doing it nor weakening it with insistence. He was well deserving of the hearty applause which rewarded his capital action. Messrs. L. M. Hayes, C. S. Ardagh, C. S. Shaw and T. Hallam sustained the character of "Freebooters in the pay of Red Ronald" in a satisfactorily blood-curdling manner. The play was well mounted and the accessories were complete. Much credit is due Mr. R. M. Roy, whose excellent stage management contributed largely to the smoothness of the piece. The wedding dance at the close of the second act was a most entertaining scene, and was so capitally presented that the performers were compelled, by the earnest applause of the spectators, to repeat it. Altogether the play was a great success both dramatically and financially and the Association has reason to feel deeply gratified that through their own merits, they have made such warm friends of the public. One feature of the attendance, was the presence of a large detachment of the members of Peterborough Canton of Patriarchs Militant, whose brilliant uniforms, displayed along the gallery front, gave a most enlivening effect to the scene. After the play, the members of the company were hospitably entertained at supper at the residence of Hon. R. Hamilton, who has always shown himself a warm and practical friend to the Association, and an active promoter of its interests. It would be only fair to acknowledge the fact that a large share of the success of the undertaking is due to the energy and influence of the hard-working, clear-headed President of the Association, Dr. George Burnham.

The place now known as Jubilee, called a summer resort, runs itself as such, at least the present season, away into the winter. It is never exempt from being a resort on public holidays. It is at present, however, safe, in a sense, for the curious, as none can possibly, by any accident, fall into the pond.

The meetings of our debating society are becoming more lively, interesting and instructive as the favorable season of winter evenings opens. Although the talent is generally considered as centred on discussions of important and weighty questions, in the form of debates, part of the time at the meetings is occupied, with pleasure to a large number, in other exercises, as music, recitations, readings, etc. The purchase of a new organ is being contemplated, and when procured will add considerably to entertaining the audience. The advantage to those who seek thus to improve the time is incalculable, as wide reading is called for. The next evening of meeting is Thursday, 19th, and subject for discussion: "Commercial Union of Canada with United States."

James Nolan, stove and furniture dealer, 62 Jarvis-street, has assigned, with liabilities from $60,000 to $100,000; assets about $6000.

Superintendent William Whyte of the eastern division of the Canadian Pacific Railway arrived in Toronto yesterday from Winnipeg. He told The World that there were no complaints from points along the main line of the railway in Manitoba relative to the company not supplying sufficient cars for the transportation of the wheat crop. On the Pembina section, owing to the fact that there are no elevators west of Manitou, a difficulty of this kind had arisen. He believed the export crop would reach 12,000,000 bushels, basing his opinion upon the face that already 5,000,000 bushels had been shipped, and careful enquiry showed probably twice as much remained to be handled.

NOT AT ALL "CHEEKY"

The Toronto World is devoting considerable enterprise and space to writing up, in its usual able manner, the mining resources of Ontario, and is expending considerable eloquence in urging the Mowat administration to take the matter in hand and develop the mining industries of this province. This is certainly a new line for a journal which claims the champion belt for advocating the National Policy which was to develop all the resources of Canada. The people of Canada have submitted to heavy taxation for the past ten years with considerable patience, with the hope that the promises made by the advocates of the "N.P." would, to some extent, be fulfilled. In 1882 the cry was that if the "N.P." were only given another trial, untold millions of foreign capital would pour in the country to develop all our resources. The people pronounced in favor of high taxation, but the millions didn't come, and even the most ardent protectionists have given up hope. The organs grew eloquent upon the vast wealth of iron ore hidden under the soil of Ontario, and urge Hon. Mr. Mowat to begin digging at once. Where is the "N.P."? Is it sleeping or gone on a journey? At the last session of Parliament the iron duties were enormously increased. Between forty and fifty forms of iron and steel were protected with duties of from 12 to 30 per cent. and from $2 to $13 per ton. But all to no effect. The organs acknowledge the uselessness of the N. P. to develop iron mining, and the government has even been unable to hire anybody to manufacture iron from native ores. Now they have the effrontery to call upon the "Little Tyrant" to help the "N.P." out of the slough of despond. The "N.P." nostrum must have pretty thoroughly failed when desperate friends call Mr. Mowat as consulting physician to patch up the over-dosed patient. Ontarians would rejoice to see the mining industries of Canada developed, and if they wanted the job thoroughly done would trust Hon. Mr. Mowat with it, but it seems the sublimity of effrontery for friends of Sir John Macdonald, after he has failed to rob Ontario of her minerals, after his high taxation policy has failed, to call upon the man he has fought against, tooth and nail—with ill success, however—to make good the promises of the Dominion Premier's impotent National Policy, as regards the mining industries of Canada.

A BIRTHDAY CARD.

The Hamilton Times thus refers to the occasion of Sir John Macdonald reaching his 73rd birthday:—Sir John Macdonald is 73 years old to-day (Wednesday). He has done a great deal of mischief to Canada, particularly in his later years. "The evil that" men do lives after them; the good is oft "interred with their bones." After Sir John shall have been gathered to his fathers, Canadians will be working hard to pay off the debts which he needlessly incurred on the credit of the country. It will take generations to bring the people back to the same regard for the tenth commandment, which was felt by the masses before Sir John taught them that it is possible and desirous to get rich by plundering their fellow-countrymen. The wealth already lost by the policy of inducing the investment of capital and the employment of labor in industries not natural to the country will have to be made up by hard labor and close economy. Sir John's carelessness of the truth, his drunkenness and profanity, and the lesson his career has taught—that trickery and unscrupulousness always pay—have been most injurious to Canada. How, doubtless, it would have been for this country if the late Hugh Macdonald had emigrated from Scotland to Australia or the Cape with his infant son, instead of bringing that prodigy to Canada!

It is possible to establish a bad precedent with a good object. A Watford pugilist assaulted a neighbor and was offered the alternative of going to the Police Court or giving $5 to a charitable institution. He decided in favor of the institution. If this should become prevalent it would be necessary to defeat a portion of the funds to the maintenance of a hospital, for the treatment of the penitive contributors to the charity fund.

The "ROYAL" FLAVORING EXTRACTS are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality. w6tfw

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The New Mecca.

In this age of misrepresentation, when the irrepressible Quack walks abroad through the medium of the printing press, and with an entire disregard of the consequence to humanity, seeks to impose his unskilful services or worthless decoctions upon the public, we take especial pleasure in saying a word in commendation of a reliable and justly-famous Institution of Healing.

We refer to Dr. R. V. Pierce's "World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute," the pride of the good City of Buffalo and the "Mecca" of a multitude of invalids who owe recovery to the skilful treatment and attention there received. Dr. Pierce's establishment comprises two mammoth and artistic structures, connected by an open passage way, one an Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, presided over by a corps of Eighteen Celebrated Physicians and Surgeons, and provided throughout with the most luxurious appointments and conveniences that taste can suggest and money can supply.

Here are faultlessly furnished and decorated reception rooms, reading rooms, spacious sleeping apartments, Turkish Baths, and every possible convenience of a magnificently constructed and liberally-managed Hotel, with each and every department a marvel of artistic fitness and completeness.

The adjoining structure is known as the "World's Dispensary." Upon each of its six immense floors a scene is presented which, when once observed, can never be forgotten.

In the Laboratory on the fifth floor, a large number of careful chemists are constantly employed in the preparation of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription, and other world-famed preparations, which, at all hours of the busy day, goes singing and gurgling through a system of tubing, from its birthplace on the fifth floor to the bottling and labeling department in the vast basement of the building. The intermediate floors are alive with the buz-z and whir-r of, not alone, fourteen printing presses, throwing off a countless variety of pamphlets, circulars, books, and labels, but of folding, pressing, and pasting machinery, all operated by the deft fingers of cleanly-dressed and intelligent young ladies, all operating together and filling the place with the music of a well-disciplined activity second to none in our country. Dr. Pierce has done and is doing a great work for humanity, and can accept the honors and emoluments of his recognized position with a knowledge that no success was ever more worthily attained.

To go through a detailed account of the myriad mechanical and electrical appliances and contrivances here to be found in perfection of construction and application, or to lead your observation through suit upon suit of cheerful and elegant consulting and treatment-rooms, and to dwell upon the other thousand-and-one attractive and useful features of the establishment, would be a pleasing task, but, at the present moment, for us an impossible one. Enough for us to say that the people of the country should be proud of this great success, built up, solely, on the elements of true Americanism, viz., Pluck, Integrity and Ability.

Twenty-two years of the daily and hourly exercise of these characteristics has gained for Dr. Pierce the confidence of the entire public, and the heart-felt thanks of the patrons of his skill, "whose name is Legion."

OBJECTIONABLE IMMIGRATION.

The Dominion Government Has the Means to Prevent It.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A correspondent writing to The Canadian Gazette says it is all very well for the Canadian Government to send home instructions to their agents here to prevent this and that sort of thing, and for people in Canada to grumble at the class of emigrants who go out. The steamship agents cannot refuse to sell a man a ticket so long as he has the money to pay for it. If the Canadians want to prevent pauper emigration they must pass pauper laws and have strict regulations at Quebec or at the port of landing, and even then emigrants will get in by the American frontier.

Jenks' Dream.

Jenks had a queer dream the other night. He thought he saw a prize-fighters' ring, and in the middle of it stood a doughty little gamecock who met and deliberately knocked every one by one, a score or more of big, burly-looking fellows, as they advanced to the attack. Giants as they were in size, the valiant pigmy proved more than match for them. It was all so funny that Jenks woke up laughing. He accounts for the dream by the fact that he had come to the conclusion, after trying nearly every big, drastic pill on the market, that Pierce's tiny Purgative Pellets easily "knock out" and beat all the rest hollow! b

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

On the evening of his departure from North Dummer School, Mr. H. T. Lewis received from his pupils presents to the value of $12, consisting of a large and elegantly bound bible, a plush covered album and a silk handkerchief. An address was also read on behalf of the school, expressive of the high esteem in which he was held, and well wishes for future success. Mr. Lewis has been eminently successful as a teacher in the county, never failing to win the fullest confidence of his pupils. He leaves to attend Peterborough Institute to prepare for University Matriculation.

A SCHOOL GIRL'S DISGRACE.

Miss Minnie Brown of Newmarket Tells a Sad Story in Court.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.

The moral atmosphere of North York, according to all accounts, has not been of the purest during the past couple of years. No less than nine cases of young women being inveigled from the paths of virtue are reported from that part of the county, all of which were actionable, but the whole of them but one were settled out of court. That case was heard before Mr. Justice Falconbridge and a jury in the Assize Court yesterday afternoon. It was a particularly painful one, the victim or plaintiff being a mere child, in appearance, and at the time of her downfall she was attending school. She is Miss Minnie Brown, the foster daughter of Wm. Brown, a carpenter, living at Newmarket. The defendant is a young man of good family named Fred Denne, a practicing dentist in the same town. Minnie's adopted father brought the action against Denne for seduction, the amount of damages asked being $3000.

Only two witnesses were examined, the girl and her father. Neither defendant nor any of his witnesses put in an appearance, and it was said some of them had left the limits. The girl told her story in a somewhat straightforward manner, and her decidedly child-like appearance seemed to deeply impress the crowded court-room, filled for the most part with young men. She did not seem to be over 16, petite of figure and neatly dressed. Her young face was clouded with suffering and disgrace. She said that in December of 1886 her mother took her to Denne's dental office to have her teeth fixed. She made five subsequent visits to the office, and on the sixth of these Denne, partly by force, succeeded in despoiling her. This he repeated on another occasion. On Sept. 21 last she became a mother. The father of the girl testified that he had made every effort to settle the matter out of court.

Mr. R. Moore of Newmarket, who appeared for the defence, subjected the girl to a rigid cross-examination, suggesting that other young men in Newmarket, whom he named as Jack Montgomery, Henry Deane and Arthur Gostley, had been familiar with her. This she denied, and positively laid the parentage of her child at the door of Fred. Denne.

Mr. N. Gordon Bigelow, plaintiff's counsel, after making an impassioned appeal to the jury, in which he described defendant as a scoundrel who feared to face the court, asked leave to amend the claim by increasing the amount of damages. The jury was not out long, and returned a verdict for plaintiff for the full amount, $3000. A peculiar feature of the case was that Miss Brown did not know until Wednesday, the day before the trial, that she was not the real but the adopted daughter of the plaintiff, Wm. Brown. This information greatly astonished her.

ALL QUIET ALONG THE LINE.

Coal Traffic at an Almost Absolute Standstill, Still Along the Reading.

READING, Jan. 12.—"All quiet along the line" is truly the situation along the Reading Railroad to-day. Not a pound of coal has come from the anthracite regions since last evening, and coal traffic is at an absolute standstill.

Pay-Day.

SHAMOKIN, Jan. 12.—To-day was pay day for the Reading miners. The few non-union men at work in the mines were not permitted to come out for their money until after all the strikers had been paid off and departed. Everything was quiet.

Will the Miners Accept the Reductions?

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—The struggle between the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad and its employes continues, but it is believed that arrangements for an arbitration of the questions involved in the strike will soon be made. The most important question is whether the miners will, in case the advance they are battling for is granted, desert the railroad men and return to work. The Knights of Labor leaders maintain that the men will stand or fall together.

FEDERATION OF TRADES.

A Resolution That Political Power is the One Effective Weapon.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 12.—The Federation of Trades, which is in session here to-day, adopted resolutions declaring against boycotting and providing for the patenting of a union label to place in stores which do not handle non-union goods. A preamble was presented for a constitution declaring that corporations, pools and trusts are rapidly displacing individual employers, that the regulation of labor is passing from the individual agent, that the trade's resources are so great that strikes prove failures, that it is necessary to secure adequate means to meet the changed conditions, that the strike and boycott have failed to accomplish the end designed, that political power is the one effective weapon, and that by the exercise of citizenship the laws can be changed.

I HAVE been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking, indeed for years I was not able to speak thirty minutes, and often this with great difficulty. I also to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all droppings of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing have greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill. eodw2

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the Trades union business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it may turn out how grossly incorrect it is, the Public will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't make a button hole unless a man has ah not his actual purchase, or to speak the actual value, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents. DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of promises. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Clothier. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this it how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Cant. well made, and SHEPPARD'S price today is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.98. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the cash.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be go cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's Chinn Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Presbytery Notice.

The next meeting of Peterborough Presbytery was appointed to be held in St. Paul's church, Peterborough, on the 2nd Tuesday of March, at 10 o'clock a.m. At the meeting in Port Hope on Tuesday the Clerk reported that the effort to unite North Smith and Harvey had failed, owing to the unwillingness of Lakefield and North Smith to be separated from each other.

Matrimonial.

Mr. Charles McMahon, of Galway, has taken upon him the responsibilities of the conjugal relation. On Wednesday January 11th, he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Ritchie, third daughter of James Ritchie, Esq., of Galway. The EXAMINER gives Charley its best wishes and congratulations and hopes that he and his fair young bride may have not only a pleasant bridal trip but a pleasant and happy journey through a long married life

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The next Provincial Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Ontario and Quebec, will be held in Toronto, beginning on Thursday, Feb. 2nd, continuing four days. The sessions of the Convention will be held in the new buildings of the Toronto Association. It is expected that this will be one of the best conventions ever held in Canada, and it is certain that very large delegations will be present from all parts of the provinces. It is probable that an unusually large delegation will go from Peterborough.

Rough on Brighton.

The following singular notice appears in the last issue of the Cobourg World :—

"PUBLIC NOTICE.—Province of Ontario, United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, to wit: Public notice is hereby given that on and after the 1st day of January, in the year of our Lord 1888, no criminals from the village of Brighton will be confined in the common gaol of these United Counties,—it having been resolved to give other municipalities in these United Counties an opportunity to fill a few berths, and to no longer permit one single incorporated village to monopolize all the room in the common gaol aforesaid."

(Signed,) "A. CULVER, Governor."

J. C. Turnbull

Is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who uses their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good value with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. dw

Battledore and Shuttlecock.

A young man named Frank Surprise, worked a couple of weeks at Heap's factory, Oshawa, when he took sick with a spinal disease which completely deprived him of the use of his legs. The Mayor discovered that his relations lived in Lindsay, and that he was a resident of that town, he was, therefore, shipped to that place at Oshawa's expense. What was Oshawa's Mayor's surprise, last Thursday, to have the man delivered to him like an express parcel, the municipal authorities of Lindsay refused to care for him, and shipped him back to Oshawa. On Friday Chief Constable Haslan committed him to the Ontario county gaol as a vagrant.

Effective Advertising.

A correspondent of an exchange writes as follows respecting advertising:—"Some of the merchants of Canada (or of Toronto and Hamilton, I should say, for I desire to speak only from personal knowledge) have adopted a custom in vogue in no other country in the world that I have ever heard of. I refer to every other day or twice a week advertising. Why in the world a man should advertise every other day or twice a week in a daily newspaper I cannot understand. If daily newspaper advertising is worth anything at all it is worth permanency. Does a merchant imagine that on certain days of the week the paper in which he advertises is more widely read or by a different circle of readers? Surely no man in his senses would dream such a thing possible; and yet there can be no other reason for advertising in a paper one day and skipping it the next, except, of course, the question of cost; and, proportionately, it is far less expensive to advertise every day than in the hop, step and jump fashion which seems as funny as laughing gas when you give it serious thought for a moment. If there is anything in daily newspaper advertising at all it is the persistency with which an advertiser should cry his wares to the public, so that the constant reiteration will have the effect of fixing the advertisement on the reader's mind."

Horticultural Society.

Annual Meeting—The President and Treasurer Present—Satisfactory Reports.

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society in the council chamber Thursday afternoon there were present:—Mr. J.H. Roper, President; P. Henry, secretary; F. J. Lewis, treasurer; Mayor Stevenson, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, A. McNeil, J. Burnham, G. M. Roger and J. Giles.

The President read the following admirable report:—

PRESIDENTS' REPORT.

To the Members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society:—

GENTLEMEN,—One of the chief aims or objects of this Society is to hold yearly a Horticultural exhibition, and we can proudly say that this end has been attained for the year 1887 as the amount of money paid for prizes was much larger than it ever was during any previous year, and the number of individual exhibitors was considerably larger than ever before.

The number of articles exhibited was only one more than in 1886, but some of the leading gardeners failed to enter anything, no doubt owing to the dryness of the summer. This falling-off by the market gardeners was more than made up by new members, who made numerous entries chiefly in classes 1 and 4, flowers and fine arts. The exhibition was liberally patronized by the public; the door receipts being almost double that of the previous year, part of which was no doubt owing to the presence of the Fire Brigade Band, who kindly furnished music free on the occasion.

The benefits of the Horticultural Gardens were more noticeable during the past season than ever before. A great many strangers and visitors were among us during the summer, on account of Jubilee and Oddfellow Demonstrations and other festivities, and they were all struck with the beauty of the Park, the credit of which is certainly due to this Society. These people, when they go home, would certainly speak of the taste displayed by the people of Peterborough, and to cultivate this taste is one of the main ends of Horticultural Societies. The grass was killed in several places in the Park, and sod had to be relaid in the spring. This was caused by allowing the public to walk through it during the previous winter. This fall we took the precaution to put up a wire fence around it as well as printed notices to the effect that traffic was prohibited until spring. Some work has also been done towards the improvement of the Central Park on George street by having it gradually filled to the level of the surrounding streets. In another year or two we hope to have it laid out tastefully with walks and flower beds, and have it a real pleasure spot of recreation for the citizens in general. We have to thank a few of the directors, and Mr. Stevenson in particular, for procuring a grant of three hundred dollars from the town. This, with the county grant of $75, was expended in beautifying and improving the two parks. We have erected during the year, at the suggestion of the Jubilee Committee, in the Horticultural Gardens, quite an imposing tower, 75 feet high, on the top of which are placed six electric lights, kindly furnished free by the Electric Light Company. Cost of the power was generously paid by the town and county councils. Our membership last year was not quite as large as it was in 1886. This was partly owing to the absence of Mr. Stevenson in Ottawa during the early part of the season, but we hope to see the public interest revive during the coming year, and the list increased, as it certainly deserves to be. We commenced the year with a balance on hand of $102,07, but we were indebted to Mr. Stevenson for $350, which, we are now pleased to state, has been paid. The Treasurer has now (as shown in his statement) a balance on hand of $73.34.

We have also a note standing against us in the Bank of Montreal for $320, as well as a few small outstanding accounts amounting to $62.75, all of which we hope to pay off during the coming year.

In conclusion we wish to draw the attention of some of the Directors to the lack of interest especially shewn the time of our annual exhibitions and we trust that they will all unite in encouraging future exhibitions, at least, by their presence.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

P. HENRY, Secretary. J. H. ROPER, President.

Peterborough, January 12th, 1888.

The report was received and adopted.

Mr. Hill's Horse on a Tear.

At noon to-day Mr. E. C. Hill's horse, while standing in front of the Oriental, became frightened and ran away. The first plunge threw everything out of the sleigh, distributing the piles of bills and posters more rapidly and promiscuously than Mr Hill, who is a most conscientious bill-poster, could desire. The horse ran up George street and at the corner of Brock street turned east, leaving the hind bobs there. It then ran down Water street and was stopped at the Opera House by Mr. Wm. Clancy.

Oyster Rooms Open.

J. C. Craig has opened out his two comfortable oyster parlors on George street, where the delicious bivalves will be served up at all hours, in any style desired. Drop in and try Johnny's stews. Steaks, mutton chops and tea and coffee served until 12 o'clock at night. d

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD

THE CROFTERS' REBELLION CAUSES SERIOUS FEARS IN SCOTLAND.

An Address to the Pope Signed by 1,122,000 Women—Excitement in Galway—The Crown Prince's Condition—Mr. Balfour and His Libel Case.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Gazette this evening publishes the jubilee address of congratulation sent to Queen Victoria by the women of Great Britain. It is signed by 1,122,000 women.

The King of Portugal has had an attack of pleurisy, which has become acute.

Judge Dowse of the Exchequer Court Dublin, in granting a request of Mr. Balfour Chief Secretary for Ireland, to have remitted to Dublin the trial of an action for slander which Patrick Barrett of Ballibacloe has brought against the Chief Secretary, expressed sympathy for Balfour, whom he described as the most abused man in the Kingdom. He suggested that the slander may have been excusable and smeared as the humble position held by the plaintiff. The alleged slander with which Mr. Balfour is charged was contained in a passage of a speech which he made recently in Manchester, and in which he reflects upon the reputation of Mr. Barrett. Mr. Balfour had retracted his words in regard to Mr. Barrett in a letter to The Times on the day following the publication of his speech, but this did not satisfy Mr. Barrett, who wanted an apology published in every paper in which the speech appeared, the payment by Mr. Balfour of a reasonable sum to some local charity, and the payment of all costs.

There is much excitement in Galway over the arrest of John Roche and nine other residents of Woodford on a charge of assembling in violation of the law.

Drs. Schrader, Krause and Hovell, who are at San Remo, have issued a bulletin regarding the condition of the Crown Prince. They say the symptoms of the Prince's ailment during the last fortnight have consisted of somewhat more pronounced swelling on the left side of the larynx with an inflammatory irritation, which from there extended somewhat over the mucous membrane of the larynx. At the same time a more abundant secretion of mucous was perceptible, which, like the inflammation itself, is disappearing. The Prince's general health is very good.

The Grand Duke Alexis has been promoted to the rank of an admiral.

A special from London to The New York Herald says: "Nobody likes the look of this insurrection in the Scotch Highlands. The actual outbreak has not extended very far, but people behind the scenes know that all is in readiness for a movement on a considerable scale. At frequent intervals there have been debates in parliament on the crofters question. They were long and dull. Readers of newspapers invariably skipped these reports. So far so good. But the question itself is here revolutionarywise upon us, and we cannot skip that. The crofters complained that small holdings had been destroyed to make room for large sheep farms and deer forests. The quadruped has driven out the biped. Ross R. Winans' huge deer forests are a simple grievance. Men's homes are broken up in order that sport might be provided for a wealthy stranger. What is to be done about it? The authorities are bound to protect the rights of all citizens alike, consequently Government is at once drawn into this dangerous and difficult entanglement. A gunboat has been sent to anchor off Lewis. Troops will be despatched to the spot. If the crofters persevere they will be arrested. But it is impossible to arrest the whole population, scattered through a wild, mountainous region. The Government would find itself engaged in a series of hide and seek little battle and chase often isolated affairs like those which followed the rebellion of 1745. Meanwhile the Crofters' case will be vigorously taken up in Parliament. They have many friends there, including all classes of Home Rulers. Evidently the session is already arranging itself into Scotch nights and Irish nights, England being allowed out doors. That will not help the Government, for to say the truth, England is getting impatient and thinks her case also requires attention. If any blood is shed in the Highlands, and that may happen at any moment under present circumstances, a terrible thrill will run through the country. Some of the London papers talk lightly of such a contingency, but no sensible man can fail to perceive that the spectacle of troops shooting down the Scotch Crofters would greatly shock the people and fill them with a dread of finding themselves with an Irish difficulty in a new form—a source of present peril, a heritage of future disaster."

Lord Salisbury left Liverpool to-day. Crowds of people were at the station and cheered him.

The fog in Liverpool has cleared away, but has been succeeded by cimmerian darkness, which envelopes the city. Shipping on the Mersey is still at a standstill.

The Dublin Express (Conservative) believes measures will be offered in Parliament on the resumption of the session to deprive electors of the power to return persons to Parliament who have been convicted of certain crimes.

M. Leroyer, in his inaugural address as President of the French Senate, said that a number of measures of reform had been stopped too often by ministerial changes; but now, under a more stable Government there was every chance of progress. He trusted that the Government would avail themselves of the good will of the Senate and assist in legislation. The Senate, he said, would exercise vigilance, firmness, and the right to control which it derived from its constitutional prerogatives.

The Russian Council of the Empire has decided to introduce into the Baltic provinces the Russian police system. The nobles of the provinces have protested against this innovation, but without avail.

It is semi-officially announced that if the powers displace Prince Ferdinand the Czar is willing to compromise by establishing a provisional government so constituted as to guarantees to Russia the maintenance of her influence in Bulgaria. It is further stated that the Czar intends that Prince Cantacuzene shall become diplomatic representative at Sofia of such a government.

Mr. Arthur O'Connor arrived at Queenstown to-day. He speaks in glowing terms of the reception accorded Sir Thos. Grattan Esmonde and himself throughout the United States and Canada.

The Gazette announces the voluntary winding up of the Base Brewing Company. It is intended to turn the business into a limited liability concern.

The semi-official press in Berlin considers Lord Salisbury's speech at Liverpool enough to dampen the faith of optimists who continue to believe in the maintenance of peace. The reported advance of Russian troops into Podolia appears in the meantime to be suspended.

Judge Murphy, at the Munster Assizes, has sentenced fourteen moonlighters to terms of imprisonment varying from eighteen months to seventeen years, according to the gravity of their offences. He expressed himself as certain that with its growing facilities the law would be able to cope with moonlighters and soon force them to disappear.

THE KNIFE AT THE CENTRAL.

Guard Rutledge Stabbed in a Cell by William Neil.

TORONTO, Jan. 14.

What will probably prove a case of murder occurred at the Central Prison at 8.30 yesterday morning, when a convict named Robert Neil, aged 22, ran a 6½-inch knife into the stomach of Guard John Rutledge. It was done without any personal spite against Rutledge, although the convict had trouble with other guards.

Rutledge is an unmarried man of 23, and was once an attendant at the Provincial Asylum in this city. He was appointed guard at the Central Prison on May 3, 1886. Warden Massie is authority for the statement that he has been a thoroughly temperate man, neither drinking nor smoking.

As for Neil, he is a thoroughly bad character, although only 22 years of age. In August, 1883, he commenced a sentence of nine months for larceny. In July, 1887, he was sentenced to two years, lacking a day, in the Central for another larceny, and this is the term which he is now serving. During his first terms he had recorded against his thirteen misconduct reports, and during his present term he has already had fourteen bad conduct reports to his debit. On Nov. 21 Neil, who was at work in the broom shop, attempted to kill Guard Hunt by throwing an iron socket at him, but he missed. The next day he threw a broommaker's pounder at Guard Hartley, and again missed his mark. For this the Warden, by direction of the Inspector, ordered that he should be given twenty-five lashes. He was given fifteen, and his crime and promises of reform were such as to withhold ten in abeyance.

Neil was not fond of work and refused to do it. Last Wednesday he balked against work, and on Thursday he threw back the material furnished him for work.

At 8.30 yesterday morning when Guard Rutledge went to the door of Neil's cell, No. 7, on the first gallery in the south wing, he opened the door to allow Neil to bring out his bucket which another prisoner was ready to change for an empty one. Neil stopped as if to hand out the bucket, but suddenly grabbed a 6½-inch broommaker's knife, which he had concealed, and swinging the whole force of his body plunged it into the stomach of the guard.

Rutledge, against whom Neil had no personal grievance, was carried to the guard's room in the main building, and Neil was removed to the cell on the north-east corner of the south wing where he has since been under the supervision of Guard Ankstell, formerly of the police force.

Dr. T. W. Aikens, the prison surgeon, was summoned and attended Rutledge during the day. He found that the knife had entered the abdomen a few inches to the left of the navel, and had gone clean through till it struck the spinal column, only missing the main artery of the back by a quarter of an inch. The point of the knife was bent by the force of the blow.

It was decided to perform an operation, which was commenced at 10.30 last night by Dr. T. W. Aikens, Dr. Wilberforce Aikens, Dr. Wesley and Dr. McCulloch. An incision of nine inches was made in the stomach, the intestines were removed and a large quantity of clotted blood taken away. The cuts in the intestines were sewed up and so was the incision in the stomach. The World left the prison at 1.30 this morning, when the operation was not concluded. There were grave hopes that the operation which has not as yet would be fatal by this time.

CROFTERS' IMMIGRATION.

A LOAN OF $125,000 TO BE ADVANCED BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

Notes From The Canada Gazette—Another Blade on Outport of Customs—The Ocean Mail Contract—The Labor Commission Interview the Government.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—Mr. Alexander Begg, who is interesting himself in the Crofter immigration, is in the city. He has just arrived from England, where he laid plans for the settlement of a large number of Crofters on the Island of Vancouver before the Secretary for Scotland. The latter introduced him to Mr. Goschen and to Mr. Smith, First Lord of the Treasury, and subsequently they agreed to make an advance, as a loan, of $125,000 at 3½ per cent., guaranteed by the British Columbia Government. Mr. Begg is now on his way to British Columbia to get the assistance of the Provincial Government, and if the conditions are accepted some 6000 of these industrious people will settle on the Pacific coast to fish, farm, build boats, or any other kind of work suitable to them. A number of delegates will come over next spring to report on the advantages Vancouver Island possesses for this kind of immigration.

Mr. Andrew Allan was here to-day and his business is understood to have reference to the ocean mail contract, although enquiry of the Postmaster-General to-night elicited the information that nothing had yet been decided.

Messrs. W. Carson, Jules Helbranner and Michael Walsh of the Labor Commission are here to consult with the Government with reference to the future action of the commission. It is understood that the Government is anxious that the commission should complete its labors in time to report before the meeting of Parliament, so that any legislation which may be found necessary may be taken at the coming session. The commissioners think this is scarcely possible, as they believe it to be absolutely necessary that they should visit Montreal, where they will probably remain ten days or two weeks, Halifax, St. John and a number of other places before they will be in a position to report. The commissioners who were here had a conference with Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Acting Minister of Finance, to-night and the matter will probably be settled to-morrow as to whether the commission is to bring its labors to a close in time to report to Parliament or not.

The Postmaster-General and the Minister Railways and Canals have made an arrangement by which the mail service with Prince Edward Island will be greatly improved during the winter. A train will be run daily on the Island Railway from Cape Traverse on the arrival of the ice-boat from the mainland and connect at Emerald Junction with the train for Charlottetown.

Mr. R. J. Devlin has purchased the Kently property on the south side of Sparks-street, about midway between Elgin and Metcalfe, for $25,000. The property has a frontage of 66 feet on Sparks by a depth of nearly 200 to Queen, so that the price is over $3.50 per square foot.

FROM THE GAZETTE.

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery Chapleau Signs His First Notice.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain notices of the return of Messrs. Laurie for Shelburne, Lovitt for Yarmouth and Chouinard for Dorchester. This is the first notice signed by Mr. Chapleau, the new Clerk of the Crown in Chancery.

An order-in-council has been passed reducing the port of Lacolle to an outport and placing it under the survey of the Collector of Customs at St. John's and creating Araprior an outport of customs under the survey of Ottawa.

On the recommendation of the Minister of Customs an order-in-council has been passed ordering that veneers of wood, shaved or cut with a knife direct from the log, not planed or otherwise smoothed or manufactured in any way, shall be classed and rated for duty at the rate of 10 per cent. ad valorem.

The Bank of Nova Scotia gives notice of the annual meeting at Halifax on Feb. 15.

The Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway Company gives notice of application to Parliament for an act authorizing that company to convey to Her Majesty the Queen certain portions of their right of way in the City of Toronto and to the Land Securities Company another portion, in each case in exchange for other land and freed from any encumbrance on the land so to be conveyed.

Mr. J. H. Snowball gives notice of application to Parliament for an act to incorporate the Chatham Railway with power to purchase the line of railway running from the Intercolonial Railway at Chatham Junction to the town of Chatham and River Miramichi.

The annual meeting of the Canada Mutual Telegraph Company will be held at Montreal on Feb. 8, and of the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company at London on Feb. 1.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 208 and for Canada 30, or a total of 238 as against a total of 279 last week and 263 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of 1887 the figures were 302, being 206 in the United States and 29 in Canada.

THE MANITOBA MUDDLE.

THE FALL OF THE GOVERNMENT GENERALLY CONCEDED.

Uncertainty as to the Ultimate Outcome—Mr. Greenway "Won't Count His Chickens Before They're Hatched"—Francis' Majority 56—Some Cabinet Movements.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—While it is generally conceded that the Harrison Government will fall, it is not certain what the ultimate result will be. Leading Opposition members decline to say anything except that besides their own fifteen solid votes they have enough promises to ensure Harrison's defeat. Mr. Greenway would doubtless be called upon to form a cabinet, but whether he would form a combination with lesser lights among his opponents or not he refused to reveal to the press representatives to-day. "I won't count my chickens before they're hatched" is all he would say.

Burke's overwhelming defeat places the Government in a bad fix, even if it could exist by the casting vote of the Speaker. Under the circumstances it is unlikely that the Lieutenant-Governor would permit it to go ahead with only three ministers, and it is pretty certain that Harrison would not open another constituency just now and take the chances of another defeat. The Harrison Government seems to have been unfortunate since its formation, there being many combinations against it. One great factor in the defeat of the Provincial Secretary was the opposition of the very Conservatives who have been trying to oust Mr. Norquay for years. When that is accomplished they turn about and use that as an argument why his successors should be defeated. Norquay and Larivière loyally supported Burke, but could not carry their friends with them. Francis' majority is 56, he obtaining a majority at every polling place.

One statement which has been made for a prospective Cabinet is: Greenway, Premier; Prendergast, Secretary; Mayor Jones, Public Works, and Isaac Campbell, Attorney-General. The two latter are not in the House. A more probable one is: Greenway, Prendergast, MacArthur and Joseph Martin. Prendergast formerly supported the Government, and MacArthur is Independent. It is settled that if defeated Harrison will not appeal to the country, but will simply resign. A Conservative caucus was held to-night.

Queen's Endowment.

KINGSTON, Jan. 13.—Practically the required endowment for Queen's University has been raised. It may lack a few thousands, but the balance will be easily raised. Principal Grant, who has recovered his health sufficiently to resume lectures in theology, is enthusiastic over the success of the scheme. "I hope," he said, "that people have only begun to be liberal, for we will need more than the amount stipulated in the circular as the minimum sum, for many people have given to objects other than those for which the $300,000 was designated. The total amount has been subscribed by about 700 persons. Queen's at its next session will, with a greatly increased staff, be ready to cope with any sister institution in Canada. The students have supported the scheme loyally, for besides giving $4000 themselves, they have collected $2000 from friends during the vacation."

FAR FROM FRIENDS AND HOME.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for the Examiner.)

Oh! the desolation of those who are far away from friends and home. Their lonely feelings. Their constant thoughts of those left behind. Their weary minds and bodies. Their sleepless nights and their cries and tears. No one who has never been placed in such a position can possibly think of their troubles and of their constant longings for home and mother. Of their desire to look upon the old home once more, and to see the once familiar faces and to walk over again the old play grounds where they were, perhaps, so many and happy days. Many a man has almost given up hope and lost all ambition, always looking back to the days gone by and hoping before he dies to go back to the old, place where once he was so happy. But what of the poor woman, with no one to help and no one to save. Forced out upon the wide world to seek for her daily bread, or for promotion and comfort. All alone among strangers, all alone in a strange land, is it any wonder that she becomes disheartened and passes her days and nights in weariness and tears. Is it any wonder that she climbs some high hill and looks sorrowfully and longingly over the wide expanse which now separates her from her friends and home. For "be it ever so homely, there is no place like home." And she strains her eyes and almost fancies she sees the place above all others, where in imagination she constantly lives and where are centred all her thoughts and feelings. Down by the sea-side stands a mother and her son. She looks worn and troubled and the boy looks up into her face and asks her why she sorrows so. She tells him of the long time ago when a girl she lived in a happy home, far away across the sea. How she was thoughtless and giddy and was impatient of good advice. And how one dark night she went away and never saw home more. How she became a wanderer over the earth and how she lived and suffered. How her mind went constantly back to her old home, which she had thoughtlessly made desolate, and how often, in her dreams, she could see her father and mother, now prematurely old and bowed down with grief for the loss of their child. She told her boy that all her thoughts, by day and by night, were of home—of that old home of which she was once the pride, but now the shame. And she asked him to join her in every effort to secure the means to enable her to gratify her wish. She said all she wanted now was to go home again and die there. And she told him she wanted to be laid in the old grave-yard close by, where she felt she could rest in peace, and where the birds would come and sing sweetly over her grave. And she told her son to take warning by her sad example and strive to grow up a good and honored man.

Take me back to home and mother,
I am weary wandering here;
There can never be another
Spot on earth that is so dear.
Tho' I roam 'mid scenes of splendor,
Yet my heart is filled with pain,
And a longing, soft and tender,
Whispers, take me back again.

Take me back to home and mother,
For my heart is filled with pain:
Take me back to home and mother,
Only take me back again.

Take me back to home and mother,
To the happy scenes of yore,
Friends of childhood, sister, brother,
Long to welcome me once more.
I can hear their voices singing
In sweet memory's refrain,
To the past my heart is clinging—
Only take me back again.

Take me back, etc.

Take me back to home and mother,
Gentle words will greet me there,
For on earth there is no other
Kindness like a mother's care.
Life is but a dream of pleasure,
Sweetest hours must turn to pain:
Home is all I have to treasure,
Only take me back again.

Take me back, etc.

This is only one picture of those who are far from home. It is easy to find others, and I will just give one more. In a beautiful part of the country, far away, lived happily a man and his wife. Everything around was pleasant and inviting. And he was kind and good. His home was his world, and often in summer they might be seen walking together through the neighborhood; and on evening they sit together upon the verandah and talked of their happiness and comfort, and gave thanks to their merciful Creator for His many mercies, and for His goodness and blessings. So things went on until one time the man was called from home for some days. He told his wife to be of good cheer and that he would not be long away. He hastened up his business and hurried home. When he came in sight of his house a strange foreboding came over him that something had happened, for the blinds were all closed and there was no one to be seen. The wife did not come out to meet him, as was her wont. He entered the house and found it deserted. He called aloud but no one answered, and all his searching for her was in vain. And he could obtain no information respecting her. He searched everywhere, and he employed others to search also, but all in vain. So he sat down in his lonely dwelling and waited. And years passed by still, no tidings of his lost wife. He became prematurely old through his great trouble, and his hair turned grey, and his body was bowed down with grief and shame. He became a misanthrope and he shunned the faces of men and he seldom left his house or his grounds; and then, generally, when night had set in. One dark, stormy night, many years after, he was seated by the fire thinking over his past life and of all his troubles. The night was very cold, and he wondered what poor creature could be wandering through the chills. He went and went to the window to look out. He saw, through the blinding storm, what appeared to be a poor woman struggling in through the snow towards the house. He ran to the door and out upon the ground, and kindly helped her in. She was very thinly and poorly clad and was nearly frozen, and as soon as she entered the house her strength failed her and she fell down upon the floor. He raised her in his arms and carried her to the warm fire where he laid her upon the couch and called the servant and told her to prepare warmer clothing and to attend upon her during the night. She fell into a great sickness, and it was long before he had an opportunity of seeing and speaking to her. When he did see her he saw a poor, miserable, broken down, emaciated creature. She told him she had come home to die. And she said she could not die in peace until she had seen him once more and obtained his pardon. She told him that she was his long lost wife. She said she had travelled far over strange lands. That she could not fully describe her sufferings, and that she was far away from friends and home and no one to speak kindly or to care for her. She knew her days on the earth were few and she resolved before she died to go to the old home once more, that home where she had been so happy, and if possible to obtain her forgiveness and then she could go in peace. So she said she had wandered on day by day for many weary months suffering much and often hardly able to proceed. But God had kindly spared her and her journey in this life was soon to close. All she wanted was to be allowed to remain there and to die there and there to be buried in the quiet grave-yard near by, where once they had so often wandered. The husband was a kind-hearted man, so he provided for her comfort and carefully cared for her, although he could not do more. Let me now draw the veil over the days that were to come. He forgave her as he hoped to be forgiven, and she died in peace and was buried. And her grave was kept green, and in cold winter the cold winds blew over it and in spring and summer the birds near by sang their sweet songs of peace. Such is the case of many a poor deceived creature, and such there will be till the time is no more.

One might go on multiplying cases of people who are far away from friends and home. People who have gone out into the world to help themselves and to better their condition. Who have left the old home in sorrow, but resolved to persevere until they succeeded. It is sometimes a hard trial to do so, but honesty and good intentions are everything in this world in the race to success. It is after they get far away, with none but strangers to speak to, that they feel their loneliness and think of home. And when, at night, they sit in their solitary room their thoughts are sure to turn back to the happy past, and they wish they were children again. But time rolls on and the business of the world presses upon them and calls them into active life again; thus the days pass away and the long nights come, and they feel that there is nothing left now but to work on and, if possible, to succeed. But their paths are often hard to travel and their journeys tedious, and they get little sympathy, for the world in moving on and everyone is busy in the race of life. Still they strive to comfort themselves by hoping that one day they may go back to the old home, and ever more look upon the happy scenes of their childhood, although it may not last forever. The words far away from friends at home, are full of sorrow, but none but the absent one can realize their meaning.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: One car oats sold at 42c on the track to arrive; No. 1 red winter, buyers, 87c.

The suggestion is made that the banks should charge a transfer fee when stock is transferred, in order to cover the expense attending each transaction by the bank officials. The amount should be made sufficiently large to prevent brokers lending stock one to another, and it is suggested that a charge of $1 would be enough to recoup the bank for its trouble.

Very little stuff of any kind came to St. Lawrence Market to-day. Pork is still at $6.80 to $7.10 a hundred. Fine butter is very scarce and sells freely at 25c. Fresh laid eggs are also scarce and are quoted at 24c to 26c. Pickled eggs sell more freely at 18c to 19½c. On the grain market 100 bushels of oats, 100 of wheat and 300 of barley sold at yesterday's figures.

We quote the following figures: Beef, hindquarters, per lb, 5c to 11c; beef, forequarters, per lb, 3c to 7c; mutton, per carcase, 6c to 10c; lamb, per carcase, 7½c to 8½c; veal, 6c to 8c; pork, $6.80 to $7.10; chickens, per pair, 40c to 55c; ducks, per pair, 60c to 80c; geese, per lb, 8c to 9c; turkeys, per lb, 8½c to 10c; wheat, fall, per bush, 83c to 84c; wheat, spring, per bush, 78c to 83c; wheat, goose, per bush, 74c to 75c; barley, 55c to 60c; oats, new, per bush, 48c to 50c; peas, 66c to 70½c; timothy, $14 to $16; clover, $11 to $13.50; straw, $10 to $12; butter, pound rolls, 24c to 25c; butter, tub, 18c to 20c; cheese, per lb, 12c to 15c.

A Bloody Affray.

is often the result of "bad blood" in a family or community, but nowhere is bad blood more destructive of happiness and health than in the human system. When the life current is foul and sluggish with impurities, and is slowly distributing its poisons to every part of the body, the peril to health, and life even, is imminent. Early symptoms are dull and drowsy feelings, severe headaches, coated tongue, poor appetite indigestion and general lassitude. Delay in treatment may entail the most serious consequences. Don't let disease get a strong hold on your constitution, but treat yourself by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and be restored to the blessings health. All druggists. c

Quickly Relieved.

People are apt to get greatly excited in case of sudden accident and injury. It is well to be prepared for such emergencies. Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the handiest remedy known for burns, scalds, bruises, lameness, pain and all wounds of the flesh. It is used internally and exter ally. 2w1d

Unlimited.

The old or the young may at all times and all seasons of the year take Burdock Blood Bitters with benefit when requiring a blood purifying tonic, or a regulator of the stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys. 2w1d

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

THE CENTRAL BANK LIQUIDATION.

Broker E. S. Cox Summoned to Give Evidence.

TORONTO, Jan. 14.

At 1.30 yesterday afternoon an attache of the Sheriff's office served Broker E. S. Cox with an order to appear before the Master-in Ordinary at Osgoode Hall at 3 o'clock to be examined, in accordance with the application made by Mr. W. A. Foster the day previous, in connection with his (Cox's) dealings with the Central Bank. The Sheriff's man was busily engaged hunting Mr. Cox all morning, but it was after lunch before he managed to run across the broker in his Toronto-street office. On Thursday evening a clerk from Mr. Foster's office was busily engaged trying to meet Mr. Cox with the service paper but he did not succeed in his search, although the broker was comfortably quartered at his club.

Mr. Cox went directly to the Hall after being served, and was quietly promenading in the corridors outside the Master's office at 3 o'clock, the hour set down for the hearing. His solicitor, Mr. John Bain, Q.C., was telephoned for, but the lawyer was not overtaken, as he was engaged elsewhere. Before going to the Hall Mr. Cox had not had an opportunity of consulting Mr. Bain, although he had seen him before the service of the notice to appear.

In the meantime the Master's room, on the ground floor of the west wing, was rapidly filling up, and by half it was almost crowded. Inside the railing sat Mr. Foster and Accountant Lye. Outside were Liquidator Wm. Gooderham of the Central Bank, Henry Gooderham, Dr. James Carlyle, James French, Wm. Thomson, W. B. Hamilton, Wm. Robbins and others.

It was 2.40 when the Master, Thomas Hodgins, Q.C., took his seat. Mr. Kappele, one of Mr. Baig's law partners, rushed into court about fifteen minutes afterwards and said to the Master that they had just been served and were not prepared to go on with the examination. He asked that an adjournment be made till Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Foster said he had no objection, but would like to have Mrs. Cox's books, his ledger, cash-book, check-books, etc., for 1887 brought into court.

Mr. Kappele said they could have every access to Mr. Cox's books, and it was arranged that Mr. Foster and Mr. Lye would go to the broker's office at 1 o'clock to-day and examine them.

The Master then adjourned the hearing until Monday afternoon at 3.

While the court was waiting for Mr. Cox's counsel to arrive, Mr. Foster arranged some matters in connection with the bank with the Master. It was decided to appear before the court at noon to-day to devise a scheme for running the office, the employment of clerks, their number and the salaries to be allowed.

DUNDAS MAYORALTY RECOUNT.

Mr. Bickford's Majority Increased—The Hamilton Waterworks Test.

HAMILTON, Jan. 13.—The official test of the new waterworks machinery has so far been quite successful. The test was begun at 4.30 p.m. on Thursday and is to continue forty-eight hours.

The Hamilton Central Labor Union has named a committee to wait on Mr. Gibson, M.P.P., and Messrs. Brown and McKay, M.P.'s, and urge them to work against appropriations of public revenue being made to assist foreign labor to this country.

The recount in the Dundas mayoralty election took place before Judge Sinclair this morning. Instead of Mr. Bickford being counted out his majority was increased from one to six votes.

Rev. Mr. Luckens, late of Smith's Falls, has accepted the call of the Northern Baptist Church of this city, and has already entered upon his pastoral duties.

There was a small fire this morning in the factory of the Burn-Robinson Company, loss $300.

The installation of the officers of Branch No. 37, Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, took place this evening in their new hall.

"Prof." James Williams, who keeps a tonsorial establishment at John and Cannon streets, suspects that his wife has eloped with Miller Peters, a young colored barber who worked for him. Mr. Williams has not seen his wife or Peters since Saturday night.

The attention of the court at the assizes this morning was occupied in hearing the historical libel suit of McKay v. the County of Bruce. The court held that plaintiff had failed to prove the publication of a libel on the part of the county.

THE FISHERIES DISPUTE.

American Fishermen on the Lakes Said to be Interfered With.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—It is said that the fishery troubles will become more complicated before they are settled. Representative Chipman of Michigan has laid before Secretary Bayard complaints showing that annoyances are put upon American fishermen on the great lakes by the Canadian Government similar to those complained of by the New England fishermen.

The specific complaint is of the seizure by the Canadian Superintendent of Lake Fisheries, Marc, of nets valued at $30,000, which belonged to one Wilmot, a citizen of Michigan. It is complained that the Canadian authorities are annoying the American fishermen in every way possible and interfering with the fishery industry. Secretary Bayard has taken prompt action in the matter, telegraphing at once to the British Government a protest against the seizure of the nets.

Mr. C. W. Bunting arrived here to-day.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.

Henry Beeson, a Noted Swindler, to Be Arrested in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Henry Beeson was arrested to-day charged with swindling citizens of the City of Mexico in 1886 by selling to them $25,000 worth of tickets to a bogus series of operatic performances to be given by Adelina Patti, under the management of Henry E. Abbey. Beeson represented himself as Abbey's agent. The Mexican authorities have communicated and will extradite on receipt of requisition. The prisoner has a remarkable record, having successfully carried on his nefarious work in many of the European capitals. He swindled the Lord Mayor of London out of $2000 on the pretence that he was collecting money for the suffering Parisians during the siege of Paris. For this he was imprisoned for one year, but upon being released went into partnership with one Kerr and conducted a swindling pub-Bowdon in which he proceeded to give "tips" on sporting events. Finally the Countess De Goncourt, who lived in a French province, and who had lost $25,000 through the specials, offered a reward for their conviction. They were apprehended, convicted and received sentences of fifteen years each. Finding life too uncomfortable over the water, Beeson emigrated to this country, where he has carried on a successful business on the line.

Greenbacks in Peru.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Advices from Peru under date of Dec. 17 state that the greenback question in that country has reached an alarming stage. There is no confidence in the paper being bought up and there is no silver in the country.

Intense excitement has reigned in Lima and Callao owing to the paper currency continuing to decrease in value. Disorders are of daily occurrence in the market places and the streets, and it is impossible to foretell what may be the outcome of this crisis. Women have been seen trying to buy food with ten and twenty sole notes, and no one would receive them in payment. The streets had to be patrolled and strong squads of soldiers stationed in the markets to prevent people attempting acts of violence against those who refused to sell for paper money. Disorders have occurred at Huancavelica, and the acting prefect, Senor Apolinario Zaniga, and the treasurer, Senor Isidoro Sanchez, have been murdered.

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substance known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but a preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most enthusiastic endorsation. The weary, "all gone" feeling, with gnawing at the pit of the stomach, or a choking from undigested food so common to the weak dyspeptic. This trouble is soon remedied by Burdock Blood Bitters, which is a positive cure for the worst form of Dyspepsia. 2w1d

A Remarkable Case.

Frederick Wiles, of Minden, Ont., suffered with running sores on both legs, which the best of physicians failed to cure. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him completely. Scrofula, always due to bad colds, is curable when timely treated with B.B.B. 2w1d

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment somewhat amused. They say the Trenton comic business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for fools, and that they have only to make a statement, if misstatements not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, a la mode, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best values, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—DOLLAR. Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchases. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and as parties largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR made 16 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Champion. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of these trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 69c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

J. C. Turnbull

Is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who uses their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good value with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. dw

The Promotion of Good Works

A Sermon by Rev. Mr. Parker.—Practical and Eloquent, it meets with Public Approval.

Last Sunday morning the Rev. P. Clifton Parker, of the Baptist church, preached a sermon on the "Promotion of Good Works," which caused universal talk among the people, and its publication in condensed form will meet with public favor.

Mr. Parker said, following on the line of thought that we considered in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening during the "week of prayer", I wish this morning to consider the "Church's special aptness for advancing the work of Christ." Consider Titus, ii chapter, 14th verse.

The description of the work which anyone performs will depend to a great extent on the master whom he serves. But the amount and quality of that work will depend on the mood of mind in which he does it. The master may be good, and the things which he commands may be good, but unless the servant have an eager, willing mind little work will be done, and even that little will not be done well. Now, this is the glory of the Gospel, it not only invites you to be the disciples of a Saviour whose requirements are as worthy of your most active obedience as He Himself is worthy of your earnest love, but it undertakes to give you the energy and energies which the service of such a Master demands. That energy has its motive power in His love, His sacrifice and His great purpose. "For He gave Himself for us that He might redeem us from all iniquity and purify unto Himself a peculiar people zealous of good works."

Thus Christians are specially adapted for the promotion of good works.

This is one of the results of their being redeemed and purified. They have found, from their own experience, the Gospel to be of boundless blessing, and they would make it known to their fellow men. They have drunk of the fountain of living water and would let the stream go forth that will make glad the wilderness and the solitary place, and cause the desert to rejoice and blossom as the rose. They have had their hearts thrilled with a note of heavenly joy, and they would carry that song of gladness to those who are lost and sorrowing in the world. They have realised the peace of heart that springs of a consciousness of reconciliation to God, and they would that others should partake of the same blessing. They have seen Him of whom Moses and the prophets spake, Jesus of Nazareth, and like Philip they are anxious that their friends should see Him too.

To accomplish this, a great deal will DEPEND UPON THE LIFE.

The example of the church member must be consistent with the profession he makes: this must be insisted on in every Christian community. Without a consistent life, zeal for the spread of religion brings reproach on the Christian church. The mean, dishonest, ill-tempered, intriguing, or deceitful Christian, that is always putting himself forward in church and evangelistic work, does more harm to the cause of Christ than true man do good. He infuses poison in the pure Gospel stream, and would gild with hypocrisy the crown of Gospel success. Let such a man first learn to shew piety at home.

There is a great difference between church members, as we all know to our sorrow. There is the church member whose conduct or repute in matters of business stands high, the man in whom all who know him have perfect confidence, the honest man, "the noblest work of God", "whose word is his bond". Who was never known to do a mean, a doubtful, or a shabby thing, who is the first to speak charitably of the conduct of an erring brother, and the last to withdraw his sympathy from the poor wanderer whose generous impulses have made him a wreck. This man is like a great tower of strength in the Christian church. Then you can find the church member who has gone into bankruptcy, who has done so more than once, and has done so immorally. Who has dragged down his honest, confiding brothers and sisters, and risen to affluence in their financial ruin.

You can find the church member with reference to whom, as sure as his name is mentioned, people will shrug their shoulders, they say nothing, but the gesture has infinite meaning. There are church members whose store nobody would think of going who wanted a good article at a fair price, who put down one article twenty-five per cent., put up another one hundred, who are not contented to give you a decent article at a lawful profit. And there are church members whose mechanical work, whose carpentery, whose masonery, whose shoemaking, and whose every labor, is such that they need to be ashamed of; they are simply time servers. These are the men that drag down, and keep down, the church of Jesus Christ. Whilst it may be an abominable thing, whilst it may be truly disgraceful, contrary to all Christian rule and law, that a man should give way to intoxication; yet, a drunken church member does not do more harm than the dishonest church member. The man that reels and staggers along the highways of morality is surely as bad, if not worse, than our public streets; one is a great enemy to himself and the other is a greater enemy to his fellowmen. "We would to God," said one of our pastors not long ago in our denominational periodical, "that all such rubbish could be cleaned out." My brothers, let us be true and good. God has set his mark upon good men by making it one of the most powerful factors in moving men towards Him. Piety has certainly a more potent influence than position. A little captive Jewish maiden of Naaman's household turned her master to the true and living God. Surely kind hearts are more than coronets and simple faith than human blood. He purified unto himself a people for his own possession, zealous of God's works.

Then we would say that Christians have opportunities for promoting good works.

And how this work should be characterised by zeal. There are plenty of people in our town who, by diligence and attention to business, have made their little fortunes, and are now for the rest of their days enjoying themselves and taking life easy. And so there are plenty of people in our churches who have a consciousness of sins forgiven, who have with their Creator, and, secure in their relationship with Him, are taking things easy for eternity. They have got what grace they require for themselves, and the fate of others is no concern to them. Brethren, it seems to me the church is made a resting place from work, instead of a resting place to keep men laboring for Him who has said "work for the night is coming." We make it an hospital, where we can nurse our weaknesses, where it ought to be an arena where we can manifest our strength. A hiding place from slander and a guard of our integrity, when it ought to be an open city, whose inhabitants can endure reproach. A tower of cane, where we can receive the consolation of the Gospel, when it should be an assembly where we get our inspiration and be roused to a zealous promotion of good works.

Please don't mistake notes for meat. The most effective and potent influences in nature are the silent ones. The law of gravitation which holds together every atom of dust, makes no noise. The blood circulates through our frame, and pumps through our systems, and we listen in vain for its murmur. The brain of man, whose power can send thought flashing around the world more quickly than any electric force, works in unutterable silence. And the sun, the centre of our planetary system, drives the worlds above and the worlds below in all their courses, yet their is no speech or language; their voice is not heard. And so there may be great zeal, but no noise, and perhaps after all that work is most effectively and skilfully performed, which is emblazoned as no commentaries, recorded in no eloquence and published in no magazine. He gave Himself for us that he might purify unto Himself a people for his own possession, zealous of good works."

TORONTO TOPICS.

A statement was made yesterday by Mr. Stuart, President of the Hamilton and North western, with reference to the announcement that the Northern and Grand Trunk deal was off, to the effect that at the meeting of the two boards last Friday, the question of transfer of the Northern and Northwestern to the Grand Trunk was not discussed. Mr. Stewart admitted, however, that negotiations were in progress between the two companies, but denied that the hitch was over the Northwestern Railway.

The Grand Trunk's exploring party, under Engineer J. C. Bailey, sent out to locate the proposed extension of the line to the Soo, have completed their labor. Bracebridge, 376 miles distant from the Soo, will probably be the terminal point, and in this case, the line will run parallel with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The last meeting of the City Council of 1887 was held last night.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday three new members were admitted. The nomination of officers for the current year will take place Jan. 24, and the election a week later.

Mgr. Persico, the Papal Envoy to Ireland, is in ill health, and will soon return to Rome.

Many officers and students have been arrested on the charge of being implicated in the plot against the Czar.

Maloney, Internal Revenue Collector for this district, has served notice on the banks that a recent decision of the Commissioner held that a tax of 10 per cent. on certain notes used for circulation and paid out applies in full force to Canadian bank notes circulated within the United States, and continues:

"Under this decision it becomes necessary for all banks in this district to render returns to the Collector and Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the average amount of such notes as have been paid out by them for whatever period such notes have been omitted from the returns made under the provisions of law requiring returns from banks and payment of certain taxes by banks.

MEDICAL RED TAPE.

Is the Cause of a Poor Man Dying in a Cheap Lodging House.

At the City Morgue yesterday afternoon Coroner Johnson held an inquest on the body of a man named John Wright, aged about 55, who died at the lodging house of Joseph Smith, 202 Simcoe-street, on Wednesday night.

The evidence went to show that the deceased was ill of a lung disease, that on Wednesday noon Smith applied at the General Hospital for medical attendance for the man, that Mr. Murray McFarlane, a student, was sent to the lodging-house, and after examining the man, concluded that he was suffering from inflammation of the lungs, and wrote a letter to the Medical Health Officer stating that Wright should be removed to the hospital at once; that when the letter was presented at the Medical Health Officer's office on Wednesday Smith was told that Wright could only be admitted to the hospital on a blank form signed by a clergyman or a well-known citizen; that this could not be done because the man was a stranger; that Smith's signature, although he pays taxes on $2000 worth of property, was refused, and that the deceased died at 11 o'clock that night.

The jury expressed the opinion that much blame rests on the medical health officers for not having the deceased removed to the hospital, where his life might have been saved by proper care and treatment.

Revolutions in Hayti are hardly worthy of notice now-a-days as these occur so frequently, and have so little significance that they no longer add zest to one's coffee. But the revolution which concerns you vitally, because it effects your appearance, your comfort, your home, your happiness is the awful Revolution in the price of Winter Clothing now going on at T. Although it appears incredible that such knowledge can be acquired so quickly and so easily, the success of our students here in our college would satisfy the most skeptical. Wishing you success in your Educational Revolution."

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

MOVEMENTS OF RUSSIAN TROOPS CONTINUE ON THE FRONTIER.

The Czar's Silence on His New Year's Reception—The Bulgarian Throne—Stunt and His Blankets—The Continental Bourses—Cleveland's Letter to the Pope.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—It is learned from authentic sources that Russian regiments are being steadily moved forward in the direction of the Austrian and Roumanian frontiers, and it seems equally certain that Russia is massing troops on the line from Tiflis to the Armenian border. A large force of Cossacks has just arrived in Soutari, which is six hours by rail from Janv, and similar tales are received from posts of observation in Galicia. The troops in the Lublin district are suffering terribly from cold, forty sentinels having been frozen to death. Dysentery and typhus are prevalent among the troops, necessitating the services of a large medical staff engaged at high salaries. Wine rations are served daily to the men.

A semi-official statement appears to-night in St. Petersburg with reference to the failure of the Czar to make a speech at his New Year's reception. It is asserted that the Czar has not made any political statement on previous occasions, which is only partly true.

Yesterday evening the Czar pointedly refrained from conversing with Gen. von Schweinitz, the German Ambassador, and Count von Wolkenstein-Frostburg, the Austrian representative. At one period of the reception the Russian Generals and Ministers grouped themselves around the Czar expecting an important utterance. His Majesty, after whispering a few minutes with M. de Giers, turned to the others and formally offered the congratulations of the season. The incident is considered an intimation that the war party triumphs. Among the list of honors conferred, Pan-Slavists alone are honored.

The frontier movements continue to be accelerated. Division after division of cavalry pours westward into Volhynia. Trains loaded with artillery and munitions occupy the railroads and ordinary traffic is suspended. At Kieff, Odessa and elsewhere the authorities are buying up provisions and forage and along the line of the Vistula between Dunfly and Dromboye, a host of laborers are engaged in constructing redoubts. The Warsaw police have issued orders that all Austrians who have not permits to reside in Poland must quit Russian territory to-day. All Polish officers are being removed from the frontier regiments and sent to take commands in the interior.

On the German and Austrian sides the movements are kept a profound secret, but it is impossible to conceal the fact that there is an active passage of troops from Posen to the Silesian frontier.

The Prussian Diet was opened to-day. The Imperial speech contains no mention of foreign or military affairs. It declared there was hop that the progress of the Crown Prince toward recovery would be maintained. The condition of the finances of the Empire is favorable beyond expectation.

Eleven arrests have been made in Galway on charges of intimidation. A warrant for Wm. O'Brien is in the hands of the District Inspector, and he will be arrested as soon as he is released from prison. The Galway correspondent of The London Evening Telegraph sends the following to his paper:

Last evening Mr. Wilfrid Blunt was deprived of his overcoat by the prison officials. Thereupon, flinging his prison garb aside, he demanded his own suit, and on being refused, gathered his blankets around him, and thus attired, raced up and down his cell the remainder of the evening. To-day he staid in his bed. Mr. Blunt told the visiting justices, that Mr. Balfour in a recent interview, declared to him his intention of imprisoning six of the physically weakest of the Parnellites who would be unable to survive six months. The justices refused to receive a written declaration but advised that the prisoner be removed to a better room, that his overcoat be restored and that he be supplied with writing materials.

Mr. Blunt's overcoat has been returned to him and he has been removed to a warmer cell. The police prevented a serenade being given to him by a band. The people are excited and trouble is feared.

The Rector of the American Seminary in Rome has received from Archbishop Ryan the letter of President Cleveland to the Pope, together with the Constitution of the United States, dedicated to His Holiness. The rector will present them on the occasion of the reception of the American bishops, in order to avoid giving the Pope the fatigue of a special audience.

The Vienna News Freie Presse states that Russia recently made a proposal to Germany and Austria, to the effect that Prince Peter Karageorgevich be made ruler of Bulgaria. On the flat refusal of Austria to accede to the proposition, Russia withdrew it.

Taplow Court, the well-known residence of Henry Riversdale Grenfell, one of the directors of the Bank of England, was broken into by burglars, and property and money to the value of $9000 were stolen.

There was no demand for discount in London during the past week. There is stagnation in shares, more especially those of non-dividend paying companies. Neither the public nor speculators touched them.

Marquis Rosbambeau has received a letter from Mr. McLane, United States Minister in Paris, in which he expresses regret at his inability to attend the Yorktown banquet and says that the celebration recalls the glorious past of the French, and to the Marquis the remembrance of the soldier whose name he bears and the debt of gratitude America owes his comrades. He continues:

"It is to the ancient association of French and American soldiers on battlefields in the new world that is due the strong current of sympathy which has never ceased to draw France and America together. I greet it in the French soldiers present at the banquet, the representative of the French army and the President of the French Republic, a toast to whom I desire you to propose in my name."

Mr. Gladstone again returns thanks, through the press, for the numerous letters of birthday congratulations which he received. There is no truth in the report that he is going to Rome.

General Briere was wounded in the hip while hunting at Rambouillet yesterday, by the accidental discharge of a keeper's gun. The President was one of the party.

The Berlin Tagblatt reports that there is a serious difference of opinion between Dr. Mackenzie and the German doctors in regard to the Crown Prince's case.

Ex-President Grevy suffered a stroke of apoplexy last Monday.

CHANGES IN THE FEDERAL BANK.

G. R. C. Hammond and Wm. Hendrie to be President and Vice-President.

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—In order to quiet the rumors about the want of harmony in the administration of the Federal Bank, the directorate have decided to make changes they thought necessary to secure the smoothest possible working. The resignation of President Nordheimer and Secretary Playfair was placed in the hands of their co-directors on Saturday. A meeting was held at once, and after considerable consultation and negotiations throughout the day it was finally decided to select Mr. H. C. Hammond as President and Mr. William Hendrie of Hamilton as Vice-President. Mr. Nordheimer will remain on the Board, and probably also Mr. Playfair. It has not yet been decided which of the directors are to retire. The board now includes:

H. C. HAMMOND.	WM. HENDRIE.
S. NORDHEIMER.	J. S. PLAYFAIR.
WM. GALBRAITH.	H. E. CLARKE.
S. C. WOOD.	JOHN HOSKIN.

It is believed that the Federal has been doing a safe and good business for the past three years, that its assets are in good shape, and that it is worthy of the confidence of the public. It could liquidate to-morrow and pay dollar for dollar, even to its shareholders.

Central Bank Matters.

Accountant Lye made an investigation Saturday afternoon of Broker E. S. Cox's books, in accordance with the arrangement made at Osgoode Hall, Friday. Mr. Foster, Q.C., was represented by his managing clerk, while Mr. Kappele looked after Mr. Cox's interests. Mr. Lye was asked by The World what the result of his investigation was, but he declined to give any information. Mr. Cox's examination will take place before the Master-in-Ordinary at Osgoode Hall this afternoon.

Mr. Lye was appointed by the Master on Saturday to take charge of the working staff at the bank in the employ of the liquidators.

THE CRISIS IN MANITOBA.

The Harrison Government Will Resign To-day and Mr. Greenway Will be Sent for.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15.—The Harrison Government will resign to-morrow and Mr. Greenway be sent for. He will undertake the task of forming a cabinet if guaranteed adjournment of the House for a month in order to form a new ministry secure of re-election. If not, probably he will decline the premiership. Parties in the House are pretty evenly divided, the Conservatives claiming sixteen to sixteen, with three Independents, and the Reformers eighteen to fifteen, with two Independents.

Greenway's cabinet will probably consist of himself as Premier; Jos. Martin, Attorney-General; Mayor Jones, Public Works; A. F. Martin, Provincial Secretary, although some members of the party are opposed to calling in outside assistance, Jones not being a member at present. Both sides agree there should be no coalition, although it is not improbable that Mr. Prendergast, a supporter of the Norquay Government, may be selected to represent the French element instead of A. F. Martin. A redistribution bill will be introduced, and if not passed, Mr. Greenway will ask for dissolution, which must be granted, but if passed no appeal will be made to the country for some time.

A $150,000 Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The three five-story brick buildings, 54, 56 and 58 Warren-street, were completely gutted and a similar adjoining building was badly damaged by fire to-day. The loss on the building is about $50,000 and on the stocks of the eighteen firms occupying them about $100,000.

Northern Pacific trains are being pushed through with four engines for each train, two to move the plow and two to move the train.

Shut in the Schoolroom for 20 Hours.

DEADWOOD, Dak., Jan. 15.—O. E. Stanton, teaching school six miles north of Deadwood, with his three children was caught in the blizzard and was cut in to for twenty-two hours. GUARD RUTLEDGE DIES.

FATAL ENDING OF THE CENTRAL PRISON AFFRAY.

The Gibbet Will Probably be Convict Neil's Reward—Surgical Skill Could Not Save the Life of the Injured Warder, Who Passed Away at 4 o'clock Yesterday.

TORONTO, Jan. 16.

In one of the guards' rooms in the main building of the Central Prison lies the body of Guard John Rutledge, who succumbed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to the stabs in the stomach inflicted on him at 2.30 Friday morning by Convict Robert Neil, with a 6½-inch broommaker's knife. In the cell on the northeast corner of the lower tier of the south wing there is confined the vicious young man who will in all probability be hanged for his terrible crime.

It was 2.30 Saturday morning before Prison Physician T. W. Aikins, Dr. Wilberforce Aikins and Drs. Woods and McCulloch finished the operation of opening Rutledge's stomach and removing a handful of clotted blood. A medical student attended him for the rest of the night and on Saturday Dr. Aikins and Dr. Woods visited the wounded man. Dr. Wilberforce Aikins and Dr. Woods were at the prison yesterday looking after the case, but medical skill was of no avail except to prolong life for a few hours by the operation. Rutledge passed Saturday and Sunday easily. He was conscious up to 2 hours before death, and at times thought he would recover.

On Friday County Crown Attorney Badgerow took his ante-mortem statement, and on Saturday afternoon the injured man decided to make his will. He told Warden Massie how he desired to dispose of his property. The Warden drafted the will, which appointed him and Deputy-Warden Logan as executors, and Rutledge signed it at 8 o'clock that night. This appeared to relieve him. Despatches were sent to Rutledge's sister, Mrs. Griffin, who lives in New York, to his two brothers in California and Michigan, and to cousins living in the County of Peel.

Up till noon yesterday he was rational, and was able to converse. He then began to grow weak and doubtful of his recovery. To Guard Hunt, who was closest in constant attendance upon him, he said he feared they would never go out together again as they used to do. At 1 o'clock he spoke to Mr. Campbell, the prison bookkeeper, and shook hands with him. An hour later he grew delirious and was unconscious till his death, which occured at 4 o'clock. Inflammation of the bowels was the immediate cause of death.

The deceased's sister, Mrs. Griffin, who left New York at 6 o'clock Saturday night, did not arrive here till 8 last night, and consequently did not see her brother before he died. She was detained in Hamilton for 10½ hours yesterday because there was no train coming to Toronto till 6.30 in the evening. Mr. Samuel Stubbs, a cousin living in Charleston, Caledon Township, Peel County, also arrived.

Warden Massie last evening consulted with Mrs. Griffin and Mr. Stubbs as to the funeral. It was decided to bury Rutledge at Charleston, whither the body will be taken to-morrow afternoon. The prison chapel will be open from 1.30 till 2 for the admission of those who wish to attend the service, which will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Wallace and Rev. D. J. Macdonnell. At 2.45 the body will be taken to Union Station and thence to Charleston by the 3.45 train. This morning Warden Massie will notify Coroner Johnston, who will probably open an inquest to-day.

Ever since the stabbing Neil has been confined in his cell and closely watched. It was feared that if he got an opportunity he might do injury to himself or to some of the guards. Up to last night he had not been informed by the officials of the fact that Rutledge was dead, but it is presumed that he is aware of it, as he might learn it by hearing other prisoners talking to each other. On Saturday he asked one of the guards how Rutledge was doing, and on being told that he was very low and that an operation had been performed, he said with tears in his eyes: "Well, what'll become of me? I guess I'll swing for it if he dies." The guard said: "I've often told you to behave yourself or you would get into trouble," and Neil replied: "Yes, and I wish I had taken your advice." If the coroner's jury returns a verdict of wilful murder, as they probably will, Neil will be handed over to the Sheriff, and Warden Massie will be glad to get rid of him.

Warden Massie and the officials under him are greatly grieved at the death of Rutledge, who bore the reputation of being a quiet, unassuming young man without a single bad habit. His parents are in Ireland, where he was born, and the only relatives he had in America were those mentioned above.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE ENDOWMENT.

In view of the great interest felt in the subject by a large number of our readers, who have contributed liberally to bring about the happy result treated of in the following extract from the Globe, it is given as below:

"We are glad to learn that the movement for increasing Queen's College Endowment by a quarter of a million dollars has been entirely successful. The project has been gone into with a cordial alacrity which has left nothing to be desired, and the sum asked for has been secured with such comparative ease that those most interested may well be tempted to wish that they had named a higher figure, as they may now be led to hint at the necessity of a supplement fund to meet some additional improvements which are required to make the contemplated changes and additions, for the present at any rate, complete.

The speedy and entire success which has attended the efforts must be exceedingly gratifying to all the friends and well-wishers of Queen's throughout the province, and President Grant is specially to be congratulated upon this result, which has been largely due to his own unwearied efforts, seconded, no doubt as they have been, by the co-operation of a large and enthusiastic band of willing workers and liberal givers.

While we are still persuaded that it would have been better for the interests of higher education in Ontario had the authorities of Queen's College gone into the Federation scheme, yet seeing this has not been done, and apparently could not be, we cannot but add that the next best thing, in our estimation, is that which has actually been accomplished, by which Queen's University is in the fair way of being so extended and equipped as to render it second to none in the Dominion.

Any possible feeling of rivalry among the various seats of learning in this Canada of ours ought always to be of that generous and honorable description which befits their standing, character and aims, and we have no idea that any other exists. Nothing, we are persuaded, will please the University authorities in Toronto more than to know that the sister institution in Kingston is being so liberally sustained and extended, and while Toronto is sometimes very groundlessly blamed for wishing to draw every good thing to herself, we are quite sure that there is not one of her inhabitants who grudges the Limestone City its possession of a seat of learning which has in the past done such good work and which gives every promise of doing still better and more of it in the days that are to come.

We most cordially wish "old Queen's" all success, while we join with others in the very heartiest congratulations over the very gratifying result of this latest endowment movement on her behalf."

THERE is something interesting in the contemplation of the fact that Sir John is attending the Methodist revival services now being held in Ottawa. Since Sir John is too Conservative to incur any danger of being "converted," why he attends these meetings is a matter of nice speculation.

The Correct Time.

There are very few men who do not pride themselves on always having the correct time; and wonderful and delicate mechanisms are devised to enable them to do so. But the more delicate a chronometer is made, the more subject it comes to derangement, and unless it be kept always perfectly clean, it soon loses its usefulness. What wonder then, that the human machine—so much more delicate and intricate than any work of Man—should require to be kept thoroughly cleansed. The liver is the main-spring of this complex structure, and on the impurities left in the blood by a disordered liver, depend most of the ills that flesh is heir to. Even consumption (which is lung-scrofula) is traceable to the imperfect action of this organ. Kidney diseases, skin diseases, sick headache, heart disease, dropsy, and a long catalogue of grave maladies have their origin in a torpid or sluggish liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery by establishing a healthy, normal action of the liver, acts as a cure and preventative of these diseases. a

News Nuggets.

—Bobcaygeon is to have a fire hall.

—Mr. Thomas Stenson is erecting a large steam saw and shingle mill in Minden.

—Rev. J. F. Barker, Baptist minister at Whitby, has decided to remain instead of accepting the call to Orillia.

—The Chronicle claims the "thickest telegram slide in the Dominion" for Whitby. Where is Peterborough's slide this year?

—The Omemee Herald says:—"On Thursday last Omemee was alive with horse buyers from Peterborough. Some very fine horses were offered but few were sold, as the prices offered were not high enough."

—Joseph Valentine, of Haliburton, the other night while walking struck his leg against a log, breaking it at the spot where same had been stabbed a few weeks before by an accidental cut with a broad-axe.

—A farewell supper was held at the Dominion Hotel, Minden, on Friday evening of last week in honor of Mr. J. Edgar Croly, M.A., brother of Mr. T. M. D. Croly, who was leaving for Stratford.

—The Bobcaygeon Independent has a decidedly original advertisement this week calling on delinquent subscribers to pay up—"Pardonnez moi! Touching that dollar. N'oubliez pas! Signed, Prop. Hab Ind." Then below comes:—"Say, sonny! When the Boss gets on to talking French he's mad as a meat axe, and don't you let that slip your memory. Signed—X Dev. Reb. Ind."

—At a meeting of the citizens of Minden last week it was resolved that it was advisable in the best interests of the village of Minden and the back country to endeavor to have the time for the commencement and completion of the Victoria Extension Railway extended, and that a subscription list be opened to cover the expense of so doing. Nearly half the required amount was subscribed on the spot, and a committee was appointed to look after the matter.

—A Kinmount correspondent writes:—"Mr. Pusey's railway is subject to alternate periods of progress and depression. One of the latter is now prevailing and specie payments are temporarily suspended. The depression will probably soon pass over, and then we shall have another spasm of energy and progress. The work of building railways through a country which has no inhabitants is always difficult, but Mr. Pusey's indomitable perseverance will certainly succeed."

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

A Reform Candidate for Glengarry—The Labor Commission—Statistical Report.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—The three members of the Labor Commission who were here left for Hamilton last night. It is understood that it has been decided that the Commission must complete its labors as speedily as possible so as to report in time for action to be taken at the coming session of Parliament. The Commission will go from Hamilton to Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and St. John, and may visit a few other places. Probably a week or ten days will be spent in Montreal.

It is rumored here that the Liberal choice for an opponent to Mr. McMaster in Glengarry will be either Mr. Rayside, M.P.P., if he can be induced to risk certainty for an uncertainty, or Mr. A. F. McIntyre of Ottawa.

The first statistical report on the production, value, exports and imports of minerals in Canada during the year 1886 and previous years has been published. Its author, Mr. C. Coste, mining engineer to the Geological Survey of Canada, explains the unavoidable circumstances under which the delay in getting out the report occurred and promises the early appearance of the report for 1887. The total value of the mineral productions of the Dominion for 1886 was $10,589,361. The largest item in the list is coal, $5,617,295; the next gold $1,330,442, petroleum $439,797, copper $354,000, phosphates $304,338. The value of the mineral exported from Canada was $3,330,821, of which $1,720,939 was from British Columbia, $1,010,240 from Nova Scotia, $309,661 from Quebec, $186,574 from Ontario and $101,349 from the Maritime Provinces. The United States was the largest importer, the value being $3,115,666, and the next largest, Great Britain, $589,832. The report is a very valuable one and appears to have been prepared with much care.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Peantown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man—Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

A TRUE BILL.

Returned Against Financier Taylor for Embezzling $15,000.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A true bill was found by the Grand Jury yesterday against Henry Taylor for embezzling $15,000 belonging to the Ontario Investment Association. Taylor was not ready for trial, so the case goes over till the Spring Assizes.

The case of the Indian, David Schuyler of Oneida Village, charged with counterfeiting silver coin, fell through. Thos. Green v. Hall, an action on an account, resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for $623 and costs.

The Grand Jury in their presentment called His Lordship's attention to the fact that there are at present three indigent lunatics confined in the County Jail, one of them being dangerous, and that these cases have been refused admittance to the asylum under the pretence of no room, while several persons of means have been admitted thereto since such refusal.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Gratton of Queen's-avenue, while about to enter a street car, was knocked down and run over by a sleigh driven by Jas. McIlhargy of Biddulph. The lady had her shoulder and arm fractured and was otherwise so severely injured as to make her recovery doubtful. McIlhargy seeing what he had done, whipped up his team and drove off at a rattling pace. Officer Morgan, who witnessed the affair, pressed a passing milk sleigh into the service, gave chase and captured McIlhargy at St. John's Village, four miles distant, compelling him to return to the city and establish his identity.

THE FISHERIES COMMISSION.

Lengthy Session Saturday—Canadian Mugwumps and Fossils.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A lengthy session of the Fisheries Conference was held yesterday, but what progress may have been made is is impossible to conjecture. From the apparent good feeling which exists between the representatives of the two countries, it may safely be inferred that nothing insurmountable has yet presented itself which would render a solution impossible.

Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Charles and Lady Tupper have been invited by President Cleveland to dine at the Executive Mansion on Thursday next.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Joseph Richardson, aged 56, of the firm of Richardson & Boyle, foundrymen, was arrested on Saturday night on a charge of criminality with a 12-year old girl named Dunning, the daughter of a stone-mason living near the White Bridge, St. Mark's ward.

What will probably be shown to be a most brutal case occurred in the West End on Saturday night, resulting in the arrest of Joseph Richardson, aged 56, of the firm of Richardson & Boyle, foundrymen, of 458 Queen-street west, on the charge of criminality with a 12-year-old girl named Lizzie Dunning, the daughter of a stonemason, who lives near the White Bridge in St. Mark's Ward.

For some time past it was expected that Richardson was not all right, and it was decided to watch him. It was known that the girl had visited the foundry before, and so Precinct Detective Johnston was not surprised when, between 8 and 9 Saturday night, he saw the girl enter a lane leading to the foundry. A few minutes later he got in and caught Richardson, who had promised the girl a quarter, committing the offence charged. He removed the prisoner to St. Andrew's Market Police Station. Richardson has been boarding at 117 Denison-avenue. His wife is in the Insane Asylum and the girl's mother is a patient in the Hospital. He will be proceeded against under the Charlton Act.

The office of The Saturday Night, on No. 9 Adelaide-street west, was broken into and 500 copies of last week's issue of the paper were stolen Saturday night. Detectives Davis, Burroughs and Johnston arrested William Harper, Herbert Stone, John Hickey and John Sutherland, four newsboys, and a number of the papers were recovered.

Burned on the Track.

CHERRYDALE, Ill., Jan. 15.—A serious accident happened early yesterday morning four miles south of this place on the Illinois Central Railroad. A freight train was running on short time to meet a passenger train at Wakenda. At Bookydell it ran into the rear of a freight train, completely demolishing the engine, which was burned upon the track, together with eight cars loaded with pork and flour.

Died of Hunger and Thirst.

SAGUA, Jan. 13.—The schooner Louis G. Rabel, from Boston, picked up and brought to this port eight sailors of the American bark D. Chapin, which foundered on the voyage from Turk's Island to Boston. The captain, one sailor and the cook died of thirst and hunger after ten days' exposure in an open boat.

SAID SHED FOR LOVE.

Millionaire Mason, Tinplate Her Lover Bankrupts Himself.

MOUNT AIRY, Miss., Jan. 15.—A startling report comes from Hancock, a town bordering on New York State, located about fifteen miles from North Adams, without railroad or telegraphic connection. Carrie Brockaway, 18 years old, is a handsome daughter of Farmer Brockaway. Of late she has received marked attention from Washington Sweet, but his attentions were strongly objected to by the girl's father and two brothers, who warned him to cease. The lovers, however, met in sequestered places, the girl showing considerable spirit in the matter. Brockaway and his sons becoming incensed to the action of the daughter armed themselves with shotguns and revolvers, and set out for Sweet's house to annihilate him. He heard of their coming, surrounded the doors, placed a gun handy, and awaited their coming. The Brockaways demanded admittance, but the answer was a shot from one of the windows which took effect in the hip of one of the sons. The father and the other son caught their wounded companion, dragged him behind a wood pile and then began shooting at the window from which the shot was fired by Sweet. The latter returned their fire for a few minutes when he ceased.

In the meantime Carrie, having heard of the action of her father and brothers, started for Sweet's house, arriving there shortly after the latter had ceased firing. The Brockaway's approached the house the calling to her lover not to shoot, and the door was forced. Sweet was found on the floor, apparently dead, with a bullet wound in the right shoulder. Carrie gave an agonizing scream, upbraided her father and brother for causing the death of her lover, and seizing a carving knife from the table, which was partially set for dinner, cut her throat and falling across the body of her lover bled to death before a doctor could be summoned. The wounded Brockaway was brought into the house when it was found that his hip was badly shattered by the charge from Sweet's gun, and he is in a critical condition. Sweet was hit by a bullet from a revolver which passed upward and lodged in his neck. He is also dangerously hurt. The population of the hamlet near by is composed wholly of French Canadians who are in a high state of excitement, dividing their sympathies, and more shooting is liable to occur.

Inaugural Meeting of the Town Council. Swearing in the Members.—Appointment of Auditors.—Standing Committees.

The members elect of the Town Council of Peterborough for the year 1888, having filed with the clerk their certificates of election and subscribed to the declaration of office, took their places this morning at eleven o'clock, as follows:—His Worship, Mayor Stevenson, in the chair; Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, Winch, Kelly, McNeil, Hall, Yelland, Moore, Douglass, Langford, Landy, and Hartley.

After routine Mr. DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that Messrs. Landry, Douglass, Moore, Yelland, McNeil, Cahill, the Mayor and mover of the motion be a committee to strike the standing committee for the year 1888.—Carried.

AUDITORS.

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, seconded by Mr. Kelly, Mr. James Stratton was named as the other auditor.

A by-law was duly passed through its different stages confirming these appointments, defining the duties of the auditors and marking the remuneration of each auditor $75.

Mr. YELLAND, on the third reading of the by-law, stated certain objections he had to Mr. Hall. Mr. Hall, some time last summer, while collecting milk for government analysis, called at his house and asked for a pint of milk. Mrs. Yelland stated that she had nothing but skimmed milk on hand and did not sell milk. However, Mr. Hall got a pint of milk, and the first thing he (Mr. Yelland) knew of the matter, he saw his name in the government report as a vender of "skimmed milk." He thought this was rather sharp practice, and that a man who would do such an act was not worthy of being an auditor of the town of Peterborough. (Laughter.)

Mr. CAHILL explained how the mistake arose, and that Mr. Hall was prepared to make the amende honorable.

Council adjourned till 8 p.m.

J. C. Turnbull

Is not pretending to sell goods at or below cost—which everybody who uses their judgment will find to be an utter impossibility. As the old adage says, we do not use a sprat to catch a whale, or in other words, sell a towel at five cents—which is less than cost—and charge one dollar for something else (that the people are not such good judges of) that is only worth seventy-five cents, but endeavour to give good value with every parcel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, Turnbull has had a marvellous turnover of his fall and winter stock, far outreaching his expectations, the bulk of his heavy goods being sold out early in the season, which enables him to place on his counters several job lines at less than manufacturers' prices. Inspection invited. dw

Gold.

The rumor of a rich find of gold in the Richardson Hill at El Dorado, Madoc Township, appears to have some foundation in fact. Some six weeks ago Mr. J. B. Church, of Madoc, and another gentleman of the same village, purchased an option from the present owners of the famous Richardson mine and after engaging Mr. Mark Purcell, of Marmora who first discovered gold in the hill, and who has long claimed that he knew the exact location of the gold bearing lode, they had a new opening made under his direction. From this opening, which is as yet but 14 feet deep, I have seen a specimen of dolomitic rock in which there is a good "show" of gold, and much other material was promising. Mr. Purcell and his friends are of course very jubilant, as they declare they have struck a bonanza in discovering the main vein, which was supposed to exist, and which has been vainly sought for at great expense for many years under the direction of mining experts. All previous explorers succeeded in finding was a series of rich pockets, and it is regarded by many as probable that the latest discovery is of a like character. Further developements can alone determine this question, which is of great importance to the future of the northern part of this country, for if a vein is proved to exist in the Richardson hill other localities in the district will be carefully explored and some of the old mines reopened and worked.

A Lover of Horse Flesh.

Major Mulligan, staff officer of pensions was at the Oriental last Friday, paying off the veterans. He is a noted horseman. In England he owned the well known racers Veni, Newton Le Willows, Leading Suit, and others. He was the owner of Alarm, who carried of the Welton stakes at the Woodbine, Toronto, for three successive years. He also owned the celebrated jumping mare Kathleen. He picked her out of a farmer's team and purchased her for $60. After being in his hands for some time she was taken to the exhibition grounds. She defeated the best jump 4-10 feet, by one inch, and afterwards gave an exhibition leaping 5½ feet. He sold her for $400. She afterwards became the property of a company, was taken to the United States, where within a year, they made $10,000 out of her. Speaking of the purchase of horses for the British Army the Colonel thinks the government should take the matter in hand. They should start a farm near the Rocky Mountains where the grass is plentiful and succulent where the climate is admirable. The government would be doing the same as it is now doing to promote agriculture, viz., establishing experimental farms. There is no doubt, that the experiment would be a successful one. The cost of raising would be little and the prices good. When it is found that horses of the right kind were raised in large numbers the agents of not only the Imperial Government, but those of France, Germany, and other countries would come here for their supplies.

Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Annual Meeting—Secretary Financial And Other Reports—The old Board of Directors Re-elected.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held in the council chamber at noon to-day. There were present—President, James Stevenson; Secretary, Jas. Edwards; Superintendent, J. Kelly; Messrs. J. J. Landy, Hon. R. Hamilton, Reg. V. Clementi, E. B. Edwards, R. Kingan, H. Deane, G. M. Reger, W. Cumming and J. G. Macdonald.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been taken as read, the President read the following report:—

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your directors beg to submit the following report for the information of the stock-holders:—

During the present year your directors have completed the improvements on the property recently purchased from Mr. Burnham, and have planted it with ornamental trees. Considerable improvements have been made in the other parts of the cemetery. The caretaker's house was found to be in a dangerous condition owing to a defective foundation. Alterations and repairs were effected in this matter at a cost of about $300.

The well in the caretaker's yard being in an exceedingly foul condition we considered it necessary to have a new one sunk. This has been accomplished by boring to a depth of 65 feet at an outlay of about $130.

A considerable addition has been made to the water-works system by the laying of more than 2000 feet of new mains, the expense being about $140.

A proper map of the grounds inclusive of the new portion has been made. We think the improvements made have added very considerably to the beauty of your already beautiful cemetery.

In the building of their new railway the Grand Trunk took a small portion of our ground, and in lieu of this have agreed to convey to your company a portion of land adjoining which your directors believe to be of equal value.

We are in hope that during the present year steps will be taken by the town to secure the road-way leading to the Cemetery from further inroads by the lake.

Our receipts for the present year have amounted to more than $3,000, and our expenditure to about $2,700, which leaves a considerable balance in the favor of the company.

Full details will be given in the reports of your very efficient Caretaker and your Treasurer, both of which will be laid before you.

JAS. STEVENSON,
President.

THE CARETAKER'S REPORT.

The report of Superintendent Kelly, a lengthy one, was next read, giving a detailed account of the expenditures and receipts of the year and a review of the work done. It will be published in full to-morrow.

THE HOUR OF MEETING.

At the suggestion of Mr. Kingan it was decided that the hour of meeting in future be three o'clock in the afternoon.

Mayor Stevenson mentioned the fact that the town council were taking in hand the question of cribbing Little Lake, to which reference was made by superintendent Kelly, and he had no doubt the work would soon be done.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Board of Directors of last year was re-elected by ballot, as follows:—Messrs. Landy, Stevenson, Donnistoun, Clementi, Reger, Stapleton, J. Burnham, Deane and Hon. R. Hamilton.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT—Jas. Stevenson, M.P.

Arrested on Suspicion.

The Three Supposed Safe-Blowers and Horse-Thieves in Limbo at Toronto.

Saturday evening Acting-Chief Adams received a telegram from Toronto stating that three men had been arrested there on suspicion of being the men who had attempted forcing the safe in the Dickson estate office here, and of stealing Mr. Howden's horse. Officer Adams asked for descriptions of the men arrested, and these arrived by mail this morning. They do not, however, correspond with the descriptions of the men seen about here who are suspected. The names of the arrested men are given as Fred Greenfield, James McFadden and Frank Gleason.

Mr. T.G. Haslitt was consulted by the police, and as he has sworn out a warrant for their return to Peterborough, Acting-Chief Adams goes up to Toronto on the 5:52 this evening to bring the prisoner to town.

—Victoria county council meets Tuesday, 17th Jan.

—West Victoria Farmers' Institute will be held Jan. 16th and 17th, in the opera house, Lindsay.

ONE-PRICE PEGS fell in a swoon on the sidewalk in front of Kidd's boot and shoe store, the Low prices nearly killed the old chap.

Police Court.

MONDAY, Jan. 16.

Timothy Foy, a stalwart, able-bodied vagrant, stood up before the police magistrate and acknowledged the truth of the charge that he was without a home or visible means of support. "I suppose you won't object to three months," quoth the P.M. "No," came the reply, and Timothy was handed his commitment papers, with which he marched off to his winter residence on the hill.

TWO MONTHS.

Edward Greer was arrested Saturday night by Acting-Chief Adams on an old charge of a violation of the Canada Temperance Act. The defendant moves about on crutches, the result of a broken leg. He formerly kept a "dive" on Simcoe street. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was committed to gaol for two months, after admitting that he had no distress. "These are very unfortunate circumstances connected with your case," said the magistrate; "you got your leg broken in a drunken brawl and then you are sent to gaol for two months to get starved. When your leg gets well again and you get out of gaol, you had better not try this thing again or you won't be so leniently dealt with.

LARCENY.

The charge of larceny preferred against Fred Hicks, late night-watchman in the Grand Central hotel was next taken up. The evidence corroborated the particulars of the case as given in the EXAMINER at the time of the arrest, and the prisoner was sent up for trial. Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution; Mr. C.W. Sawers defended the prisoner

Baptist Church.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Church was held on Thursday evening last, Jan. 12th. The Rev. P. C. Parker, Incumbent, occupied the chair. The reports presented showed the church to be in a good condition, not withstanding the fact that they had been ten months of the year without pastoral oversight. The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—

DEACONS:—John Walton, Wm. Graham, Samuel Curtis, Alex. Gillespie.
CHURCH CLERK:—Mr. W. Aldridge.
TREASURER:—Mr. S. Curtis.
S. S. SUPERINTENDENT:—Mr. E. Duff.
USHERS:—Messrs. J. C. Turnbull, L. Croly, Aldridge E. Elcome, Hy. Grandy.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Trenton canoe business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, kapt-like, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought as Auction for Cash and comprise a handy, last call Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be bewildered, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 33 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 99c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

MR. PARNELL STATES HIS VIEWS TO A REPORTER.

Another Anti-Socialist Bill to be Submitted to the Reichstag—The German Budget—M. Tirard's Financial Scheme Rejected—Russia Will Not Disarm.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—In reply to Prince Lobanoff, the Russian ambassador to Vienna, who had spoken of the movements of the Russian troops, Count Kalnoky said that he had taken note thereof. Austria had peaceful intentions also, but the situation created by the advance of troops would be judged by military councils. It is currently reported that the second Caucasian army corps has received orders to proceed to the Austro-Roumanian frontier. Large reinforcements of Hungarian troops will be sent by the Government to Transylvania. It is announced in The Warsaw Journal (semi-official) that sixteen barracks will be built at Suvalki, Kalvaria and Maryampo, on the Russian frontier.

Advices from St. Petersburg to the Porte deny the rumors of an actual or intended disarmament in connection with the Bulgarian question. The military armaments of Russia will not be subordinated to those of any other nation.

Several Italian staff officers are in Berlin, consulting with the German military authorities. Their mission is supposed to be in connection with Italy's undertaking to send 150,000 troops to Galicia in the event of war.

The financial scheme of M. Tirard, Prime Minister and Minister of Finance, has been virtually rejected by the Budget Committee of the French Chamber of Deputies. The committee also refused to agree to an immediate surtax on sugar, applicable to the stock now in the hands of the refiners. The tax should commence in September next, the best season. M. Tirard made vain efforts to convince the committee that the 75,000,000 francs yearly pocketed by the refiners was the sole cause of the deficit in the budget.

In an interview granted to a reporter of The Freeman's Journal, Mr. Parnell said he believes it cannot be doubted that there are grave discussions in the Cabinet, and that a crisis may occur at any moment next session over some English question. He advises the Parnellites and Radicals to facilitate Government business, so as to avoid the charge of obstruction. The Liberal-Unionists, he says, will certainly separate on English matters. The recent reductions of rent by the Land Commission are not half what the Irish tenants are entitled to, and the party should take such action as will oblige the sub-commissioners to reopen the whole question. In his opinion the Nationalists will gain three seats in Ulster at the next parliamentary election.

Ras Aloula and other Abyssinian chiefs have been summoned to a council at Adetwah by King John, to arrange for a forward movement when the main body joins Ras Alula's forces at Asmara.

The Reichstag will have to consider another anti-Socialist bill, calling for more stringent measures towards Socialists than those heretofore offered. Expatriation or total loss of citizenship is provided in certain cases. The reason for this excuse is that those who have been expelled resume their agitation in new places of abode and in places not previously affected by Socialist propaganda.

The changes that the municipal authorities of Paris had been found guilty of organizing a revolt during the late crisis were refused by M. Sarrien, Minister of the Interior, in the French Chamber of Deputies to-day. The Minister intimated that he would promote a special bill including the Prefect of the Seine in the Hotel de Ville, and would ask the urgency for the same. An order of the day implying confidence in the Government was carried by 365 to 170.

The German Minister of Finance submitted his estimates to-day for the fiscal year, 1888-89. The receipts and expenditures, which balance, are placed at 1,410,726,821 marks. The revenue is increased 121,626,793 marks against an increase in expenditure of 81,295,902 marks. The estimates of railway receipts show an improvement of 2,225,000 marks, and the taxes on brandy and sugar are expected to yield 71,000,000 marks. A new item of 20,000,000 marks is inserted in the estimates as a contribution to the requirements of communal schools. The Budget for 1886-87 showed a surplus of 14,000,000 marks, while the Budget for 1887-88 left an available surplus of 28,000,000 marks.

The steamer Mula at Tarragona reports that in lat. 40° north, long 9°, 45 mins west, on Jan. 2, she met an American-built bark, painted brown. The bark signalled that she was leaking, and asked assistance, which, owing to the state of the weather, the Mula was unable to render.

Professor Galbraith of Dublin has received a letter from Archbishop Kaer, stating that membership in the National League is not compatible with his membership of the Finance Committee of the church. In reply the Professor says he joined the league to protest against the action of the British Government in Irish matters. If his resignation is publicly requested he will retire, but he will do so with sorrow and regret.

The freedom of the city has been conferred by the Dublin corporation upon Lord Ripon and John Morley. As Mr. O'Brien's health forbids him attending open air receptions the demonstration proposed to be held in his honor in London will be limited to a banquet. The doctors advised Mr. O'Brien to go to a warm climate.

Senor Furgoerver, Spanish Minister of Finance, announced in the Chamber of Deputies to-day that the Bank of Spain will convert the floating debt into a loan of $25,000,000 at a maximum rate of interest of, 3 per cent. during five years.

The report is denied by the police that Mr. Pyne, M.P., has escaped from Lisfinny Castle, where he has defied the authorities for some time past.

M. Flourens, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, is trying to establish an entente between France, Russia and England.

POLITICS IN MANITOBA.

MR. T. GREENWAY FORMALLY INSTALLED AS PREMIER.

The New Cabinet—Parliament House Again Crowded—The New Members Introduced—The House Adjourned Until Thursday.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 16.—The Government formally resigned at 11 o'clock to-day. His Honor Governor Aikens immediately sent for Mr. Thos. Greenway, leader of the Opposition, who repaired to the Government House and was called upon to take hold of the reins of government.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the reassembling of the Legislature. Owing to the absence of Mr. Greenway at Government House the House did not meet until 3.45. Hon. Mr. Hamilton introduced an act to amend the Election Act of 1888.

Mr. MacArthur, member-elect, Assiniboia, was introduced by Messrs. Luxton and Drewry, and took his seat on the Ministerial side of the House. This caused considerable laughter, but the Liberals shouted out that it had been done only to save time. Mr. Frances, member-elect for St. Francois Xavier, was introduced by Martin and Greenway, and took his seat for the time on the same side as Mr. McArthur amid great applause.

From good authority it is learned that the Greenway Cabinet, which will be announced in the Legislature on Thursday, will be composed about as follows: Thomas Greenway (Mountain), President of the Council and Provincial Treasurer; Mayor J. H. Agnew, Provincial Secretary; Joseph Martin (Portage la Prairie), Attorney-General; James A. Smart (East Brandon), Minister of Public Works; J. A. Prendergast (La Verendrye), Minister of Agriculture. The Liberals have not committed themselves to a reduction of the number of Cabinet Ministers, and think it is necessary the Cabinet should retain five members. All the abovementioned who are at present in the Legislature are certain of re-election. Several rural constituencies have been placed at the disposal of Mayor Jones. The Legislature will adjourn for four weeks on Thursday to allow the new Ministers to appeal to their constituents.

RUTLEDGE WILFULLY MURDERED.

So Says a Coroner's Jury at the General Prison Yesterday.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Central Prison Coroner Johnson opened an inquest on the body of the Central Prison guard John Rutledge, who was fatally stabbed by Convict Robert Neil, alias Thompson, alias "Scotty," on Friday morning. Mrs. Griffin of New York, the deceased's sister, was present, and so was Neil. Police Court Clerk Meyerley produced this copy of Rutledge's ante mortem statement, made before Hugh Miller, J.P., on Friday:

"About 8.30 o'clock this morning I carried a bucket of coal into the cell occupied by Neil, in the first gallery on the east side of the south wing. I put the bucket down outside the door, and then opened the door so that he could take it in. He walked out and then down as if to grab the handle, but suddenly raised himself again and stabbed me. I felt the knife cutting me. Neil swore as he plunged the knife into me. I turned to run down the stairs, and looked behind as I ran. I saw Neil following, also running. I shouted, when he whooped around and went back to his cell. Neil and I never had any cross words nor disagreeable in any way. I can give no reason why he stabbed me. I did not see the knife. I walked to the Warden's office, holding my hands over the wound. After reporting the attack to Mr. Massie I swooned. I believe that I am in a dangerous condition."

Deputy Warden Logan, several of the guards, and some prisoners who had worked with Neil in the broom shop, testified to his bad temper and habits and to attempts he had made to assault other guards.

Drs. Aikins, McCulloch and Woods, who had been in attendance upon Rutledge and who had made the post mortem examination, gave evidence to the effect that death had been caused by inflammation of the bowels, brought on by a knife wound.

It was a foregone conclusion that the jury would return a verdict of wilful murder on the part of Neil, which they did without much delay. The coroner committed Neil for trial and the convict is still confined in the prison. Rutledge's body will be taken to Charleston, Ont., by to-day's 2.45 C.V.R. train.

ALL FOR THE PUBLIC WEAL

IS WHY BROKER COX OBJECTS TO AN OPEN EXAMINATION.

The Disappointed Throng That Filled one of the Master-in-Ordinary's Court Rooms—The Hearing Sent to a Special Examiner—An Interesting Argument.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.

A large and disappointed throng of spectators and reporters slowly filed out of the Master-in-Ordinary's court room in Osgoode Hall at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Why were they disappointed?

Because Broker E. S. Cox's examination in re Central Bank affairs did not take place.

Something startling was expected as the result of Mr. Cox being put through the examination process by Mr. W. A. Foster.

The Master took his seat at 2.30 and he looked at Mr. Foster and then towards Mr. Bain. Mr. Foster said he was ready to proceed with the examination of Mr. Cox.

This brought Mr. Bain to his feet at once. He said: "I must ask that the public be excluded from the courtroom while this examination is in progress. It is merely an examination, to secure information, and not a trial. An examination before the Master has been held to be of a private nature in England. The same ruling holds good in this case. The proposed examination was for the purpose of discovering something relating to the assets of the bank. It was not a suit to which Mr. Cox was a party, but simply an examination which Mr. Cox had a right to ask through counsel should be private. Otherwise it might act injuriously to the interests of Mr. Cox's business. He had this right according to the statute."

Mr. Bain read the statute and continued: "As a private examination all the facts could be elicited, but the public would not be present. Nothing was to be gained by a public examination, but indirectly injustice might be done to Mr. Cox. Their only object was to give information, and this might be done equally satisfactorily and in the interests of all concerned by a private examination."

Mr. Foster, counsel for the liquidators, said it was immaterial to him whether the examinations were public or private. It was a matter for the courts to decide. The witness had been summoned before a public court, and he saw no reason why the examination should be private. The court should not decide this without some evidence that it would be against Mr. Cox's interest to be publicly examined.

Mr. Bain said it was not usual to have affidavits in such a case, but to accept statements of counsel as to matters of fact. At the same time he was prepared to put in an affidavit by Mr. Cox in support of the contention that the examination should be private on the ground that it might injure his private business. He was willing to give full and free information.

Mr. Foster wished to know how Mr. Cox's business could be in any way injured through these proceedings being public. A mere statement of the fact was manifestly insufficient.

Mr. Bain said an affidavit would be sufficient. What motive was there for the public being present?

The Master: "I have no right, without some good grounds, to exclude the public from this examination. This is my opinion, but I will adjourn the court for a short time to confer with some of the learned judges before giving a definitive decision. If I think it right to exclude the public or otherwise, there would be the right of appeal."

The Master then left the court for conference, and on his return said that his opinion and those with whom he had conferred was that his was a public court, and he had no authority, except in certain cases, to exclude the public. Both of the judges with whom he had conferred had had considerable experience in such cases, and they agreed that the only precedents for excluding the public from court rooms were: 1. Where the parties in attendance were unruly or verged on contempt of court; 2. Where it was in the interests of the public morality that the evidence should not be disclosed. Neither of these objections was advanced in the present case.

Mr. Bain said he considered the order made exceedingly vexatious to his client, and he consequently would put in his affidavit to that effect.

Mr. Foster: "I call for the examination of Mr. Cox."

Mr. Bain: "I have the right to appeal. To proceed with the examination now would simply be to deprive me of my right of appeal."

Mr. Foster: "I would rather have the examination go on in private than defer the examination."

The Master said that the only way the examination could be privately conducted was by a reference to one of the special examiners. In that case none of the rules of his court would apply to the examination. He was sitting there as a presiding officer of a public court and in a public court room, and he knew of no authority that he possessed to exclude the public other than the grounds he had named.

Mr. Foster then suggested that they go to the Master's private office or to the Central Bank building. In the latter case he would guarantee that the public would be excluded. He was decidedly opposed to any delay; so were the liquidators.

The Master said he was in favor of expediting the matter. Sometimes slow justice was injustice. He suggested Tuesday next for the examination, which would give Mr. Bain an opportunity of appealing against his (the Master's) decision that the examination should be public.

Mr. Foster thought this adjournment an unusually large one.

Mr. Bain said he could not possibly go on with his appeal before the regular day, which would be next Monday.

The Master: "I am desirous to accord a full measure of fairness to both sides. I will enlarge the hearing until Jan. 24 at 2 p.m."

Mr. Foster said: "I cannot acquiesce in this decision, and sooner than delay Mr. Cox's examination for a week I will consent to a special examiner hearing the case. This I very much regret, as you, sir, have heard all the proceedings so far, and are quite familiar with the case. We will accept the reference in preference to delay."

The Master: "Very well."

The counsel in the case then left the liquidators then adjourned to the Master's private office, and after talking over the matter the name of Mr. George M. Evans was decided upon as the examiner.

Mr. Evans will be asked to appoint an hour for the hearing this afternoon.

This is evidently a exemplification of Bill Vanderbilt's answer to the New York reporter: "The public be damned."

MEREDITH V. TAYLOR.

Justice Galt Gives a Heavy Judgment Against the London Financier.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—At the Assizes to-day Chief Justice Galt (without a jury) heard the civil case of R. M. Meredith v. Henry Taylor, to recover $15,337 which plaintiff claims Taylor agreed to pay him for 325 shares of Ontario Investment stock. It was on the capias in this action that Taylor was incarcerated on Sep. 2. Plaintiff produced the agreement in the case, which bore the signature of Taylor and himself. Plaintiff had purchased the stock in Toronto in 1882, on the representation of Taylor that the Ontario Investment Association was a sound concern. Plaintiff supposed that the shares were owned by Toronto parties but found out they had it really been "palmed off" on him by Taylor. The first agreement set out the actual consideration of the sale, but Taylor had objected to this for fear it might give others a clue and involve more claims, so it was changed to read that Taylor agreed to buy this stock back "for $1 and divers other considerations." Plaintiff stated that he only paid 123 for it. Henry Taylor was called in defence, and denied having anything to do with the transfer of the stock to plaintiff, that Meredith had called on him several times in regard to rumors about members of the board and wanted to see the association's books, which he (Taylor) refused to show. Subsequently he got a letter from plaintiff which he considered in the nature of a threat; he (Taylor) offered to take the stock back at par, plaintiff wanted 38 premium, though the stock was then selling at 30 to 35. Meredith took till next day to consider, and then presented a memorandum to the effect that in consideration of not taking criminal proceedings against witness he (Taylor) agreed to buy the shares. Witness refused to sign this, and suggested it should read "in consideration of $1." In this form the agreement was signed. He (witness) had nothing to do with selling Meredith the stock; he only agreed to take it back on account of Meredith's threats of criminal proceedings. The books were produced which showed that the stock sold to Meredith was Taylor's and was not held in trust. To Mr. Osler Taylor stated his only reason for fearing prosecution was the injury it would do the companies with which he was connected.

Justice Galt gave judgment in favor of plaintiff, with costs, saying: "I find the defendant himself proposed to the plaintiff to give him the bond, and that if he was apprehensive of personal criminal proceedings it was not through plaintiff's threats."

Case Under the Liquor License Law.

HAMILTON, Jan. 16.—The first case taken up at the Assizes this morning was that of Trice v. Robinson. It was an action brought by Mrs. Alice Trice against Robert Robinson, keeper of an hotel in Orkney, under section 88 of the Liquor license law, to recover damages for the death of her husband, Henry Trice. The plaintiff claims that Robinson supplied her husband with liquor in excess on June 1 last at his hotel in Orkney, and that his death on the Grand Trunk Railway, about a mile from Copetown, on the same day was the result of drinking to excess. The plaintiff claims $1000 damages, the full amount allowed under the liquor license law. The case was not concluded to-day.

	$1055 45
Balance of Receipts over Expenditure	$ 493 65
Total number of Interments during year	126

In presenting my annual report I might mention some of the improvements that have been made during the year. That section of ground described on the map as section "E," better known as the portion of ground about one and one-half acres, where the McGown shanty stood—this place was all cleared of stumps and stones, was graded and seeded, which required quite an amount of labor and expense; now it is one of the prettiest spots in the cemetery.

Section "V" was also cut down and re-graded. All the new ground that was done in 1886 had to be cultivated and re-seeded on account of the dry season.

There were several hundred trees planted in the spring, which also required quite an amount of care and watering. A cedar hedge was gathered and planted from the main entrance up to the slope of the hill on both sides of the road, which hedge in a few years will be a grand improvement.

The trees and shrubs that were planted last spring have done fairly well, taking into consideration the dryness of the weather.

The boulevard all along Haggart street was finished and sodded, and will in a year or two make a nice green sward, which will add to the beauty of the cemetery.

There were a lot of small stones scattered about in the cemetery which were of no use for building purposes. These stones I caused to be made into gutters or water courses. Some 2780 feet of these water courses have been made, which will save the roads from washing away as the water flows down the inclines in spring, and when rain storms occur. These gutters are ornamental as well as useful. The building of them was a very tedious job, and took considerable time.

This season there have been two thousand feet of trenches dug and pipes laid for watering purposes through the new grounds. This will complete the system for watering the grounds for some time to come, and has proved very satisfactory when the supply of water was sufficient.

The pumping power we have now in use is not adequate to furnish water enough for the requirements of the cemetery in dry seasons such as the past, and scarcely sufficient for ordinary years. The clearing and cutting away of the trees on the improved parts causes greater evaporation and the ground, therefore, requires more irrigation.

I would, therefore, recommend that an additional pump or mill be placed to connect with the present system, as it would, I believe, be more efficient than one pump, even if more powerful. As in the case of one getting out of repair the lawns and terraces might suffer while waiting repairs. If there were two mills one would partially supply water while the other was being repaired.

The lower part of the Cemetery usually called the flat, which is yet covered with trees, needs some improvements. Some fall to thin all underbrush, dead trees and limbs removed, thereby having a parklike appearance to all the surrounding parts of the grounds.

The necessary repairs done to the house during the past season caused some extra labor in painting the mantelpiece, etc., for which there were no monies, rebates, as well as several other works that were done during the season.

I would again call the attention of the Directors to the necessity of urging upon the Town Council to lose no time in building a crib work along Crescent Street, as the water is wearing the roadway so fast that there will soon be no roadway left. As I see it every day I am in a position to know what damage has been done in the last few years, that can never be made up except at a very large expense. I have known it to wash away a width of four feet in a single night during high water with a northerly wind blowing.

A sidewalk along this street is much required for the accommodation of the large number of towns people who visit the Cemetery in summer.

I am Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
JOHN KELLY,
Superintendent.

News Nuggets.

—On Monday afternoon of last week as Thomas Haig, of Seymour, was attending a circumference saw, by some means, he attempted to clean some chaff away and his left hand was caught by the knives. The first cut severed the point of the fingers, the second almost the middle of them, the third in the centre of the hand and the fourth above the wrist, crushing the bones of the forearm.

—The Lindsay Warder says :—"Miss Harper, of Peterborough, was in town last Saturday to make arrangements for starting a shorthand class in Lindsay. Miss Harper is a competent teacher and well qualified to give lessons in the most used system. She will probably give the first lesson on Tuesday next. All who are interested will do well to give her a call. Class was organized Thursday evening."

—Orillia has a chance for another railway. The C.P.R. will build one, it is said, from Clarement to Gravenhurst should the Grand Trunk get control of the Nestleton. The new line would pass through Mara and Rama townships on the east side of Lake Simcoe, and so would be only a few miles from Orillia at the most. A connection could easily be secured by means of a bonus. The Packet-Letter thinks this railway transfer will cost Orillia dear. It says the town will not be any better off than a one-railway town after all.

The Amherstburg Echo is responsible for the following :—"There is a young lady in a neighboring town, who moves in good society, who cannot go to sleep without putting her thumb in her mouth. She has tried in vain to cure herself of the habit. She got it in childhood, and has kept it in mature years, in spite of many attempts to cure herself. Moral : Don't let the baby suck its thumb." There are a great many men in Peterborough who cannot go to bed without putting their whole hand to their mouth, but the hand is not empty.

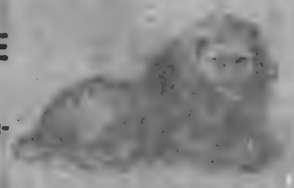
FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH



Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Pentown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says : "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56 ; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00 ; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

Tenders for the Militia Supplies — Stores for Shipwrecked Mariners in Distress — The Exchequer Court.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16.—The Militia Department has awarded the contract for next year's supplies for the Canadian Militia. The total amount will be about $100,000. It is noticeable that not a single contract goes to Toronto.

The Marine department has received an appeal from two of the crew of the schooner Hattie F. Rich, shipwrecked at Souris, P.E.I., on Dec. 20, for assistance to enable them to reach their homes at Shelburne, as they are in a destitute condition. The captain, it appears, refused to afford the men any aid whatever, but the Marine Department has authorized the granting of an allowance to them.

The statement that April 15 has been fixed for voting on the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act in Renfrew is incorrect. No date has been fixed. As stated in this correspondence some three weeks ago the three years since the coming into force of the act in Renfrew, Simcoe, Huron and several other counties where repeal has been applied for, does not expire until May 1, and consequently under the last order-in-council passed on the subject, polling on the repeal cannot take place sooner than two weeks before that date, but it does not follow that it must be on April 15, and, as a matter of fact, no dates have been fixed in any county where there has not been in force the full three years.

In the Exchequer Court this morning the adjourned case of O'Brien v. The Queen, which is a claim in respect of the building of an examining warehouse in the City of Quebec, again came on for hearing. It was ordered that the documents which are before the arbitrators shall form part of the case, also that the petition is evidence and the petition that the claim avail as a petition of right be taken as the statement of claim in this case. The statement of defence was likewise ordered to be produced within forty days from this date.

Not the Burglars.

Contrary to expectations, no constable went to Toronto last evening to bring the three arrested suspects back to Peterborough. It was at first intended to do so, but after comparing the descriptions of the men with those suspected here, it was considered that the Toronto police had made a mistake, and they were telegraphed to let the men go.

The question was raised by a councillor, and pending information as to whether there will be a free lunch provided, the invitation was not accepted.

Grist Mill Burned.

About two o'clock Sunday morning the grist mill owned by Mr. John Martin, Garden Hill, was discovered to be on fire, and was totally destroyed. The origin of the fire was a mystery, as there has been no fire on the premises since the previous forenoon. The building was partially insured. It was fortunate that the roofs of the adjoining buildings were covered with snow or the Orange Hall and Methodist church would have been surely burnt.

A New Encampment.

From a communication received from the Grand Scribe, M. D. Dawson, London, it is learned that a charter has been granted for a new Encampment of Oddfellows, to be established in Peterborough, in connection with Otonabee Lodge, in the course of a few days. The Grand Patriarch, John Sinclair, Petrolia, and the Grand Scribe, will perform the instituting ceremonies. They will stop over here for that purpose, on their way to Carleton Place, where they will institute another encampment. The new encampment will enter upon its existence under the most promising auspices, as, in addition to the charter membership, there are numerous applicants for admission. The Encampment rooms over Otonabee Lodge Rooms are undergoing the necessary preparations to fit them for occupancy.

The Mayor's Annual Treat.

"Say, Boys," said Mayor Stevenson to the reporters at the council meeting last night, "come around to the Hub after the meeting and we will have some oysters." So around we went with all alacrity, and found the Councillors, Inspector Pope and Market Clerk Doherty seated about a long table, Mayor Stevenson gracing the head of the board. After the luscious mollusks were devoured, Mr. Cahill proposed the Mayor's health, which was drunk with hearty goodwill. His worship replied in his customary happy manner. Other speeches were heard from all about the festive board, Councillor Cahill bringing the proceedings to a close by calling on Mr. Doherty for a few remarks, after which "the Pope" would dismiss them with his blessing. Both the gentlemen named responded, the latter with "happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again." The company broke up about midnight, all highly pleased with the Mayor's "treat" which he evidently intends shall be of annual occurrence as long as he is to be at the head of civic affairs.

Police Alarm and Real Fire.

At 3 o'clock to-day a fire alarm rang for the north part of the town. The hose reels and hook and ladder sleighs were out in a trice and directed to go north. They almost got to Hilliard's Mills when they found out there was no fire in that vicinity. They returned and while standing at the corner of Smith and George streets, they were told that the alarm was a false one as to location and that the real fire was in Sawers' terrace, Stewart street. They immediately started for the scene of the fire, and on arriving found it to be in the end occupied by Mrs. Trew. Meanwhile while the brigade had been away on the false beast, station master-Brandrette, of the G. T. R., put his men to work. They used the hose belonging to the company, and when the brigade arrived two streams were playing on the fire from the hydrants. As the firemen hove in sight a cheer went up from the crowd. The fire was in the roof of the building, which was badly damaged. The terrace is owned by Mr. C. W. Sawers, who has an insurance of $2,000 in the Royal. Mrs. Trew, an aged widow living almost alone, carried a policy for $350 in the Agricultural on her household effects. Very little of the contents were saved. The other apartments were occupied by Messrs. Foley and O'Neil, and were very little damaged.

A SEWERAGE SCHEME

The New Town Council Takes Up the Question

A Committee Appointed to Consider a Sewerage Scheme.

At the first business session of the Town Council for the year, Monday evening, all the members were present. After the minutes had been read and confirmed the report of Acting Chief Adams was read and referred to the Committee on Supervision of Police.

A communication was read from Mr. R. Clegg, asking the Council to reduce the brigade from 20 to 18 and increase the salaries of the firemen from $30 to $39; also one from Mr. Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Brigade, asking for an increase of salary to $100.—Received.

Messrs. Wm. Aldridge, David Menzies and Cornelius McGrath applied for the position of assessor.—Received.

Mr. Alex. Wallace applied for a refund of butcher's licenses for unexpired term—On motion of Mr. McNeil the prayer of the petition was granted.

ACCOUNTS.

R. H. Adams, sundries	$ 4 00
D. Gallagher, coffin and burial	7 00
D. Sullivan, charity	11 00
Met. Grocery Co.	32 55
J. Edgecombe charity	15 00

The accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

TAXES REMITTED.

Mr. Moore presented the report of the Court of Revision, recommending remission of the taxes of C. B. Smith, less school tax; remission of taxes on assessment of personal property of E. B. Wilson on his late woolen mill property, to the extent allowed by the Council for 1887; remission of taxes on assessment of personal property of J. Whyte & Co., to the extent granted on real estate; remission of taxes on the Salvation Army Barracks on Aylmer Street.

The report was adopted.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Davidson, chairman of the Committees appointed to strike the Standing Committees reported recommending as follows :—

FINANCE—Davidson, Cahill, Moore, McNeil, Kelly, Douglas and Kendry.

STREETS AND BRIDGES—Cahill, Douglas, Yelland, Langford and McNeil.

COURT OF REVISION.—Moore, Davidson, Langford, Kelly and Douglas.

FIRE WATER AND LIGHT—McNeil, Hall, Yelland, Davidson and Kendry.

CHARITY—Hall, Winch, Yelland and Hartley.

HEALTH—Yelland, Hall, Winch, Hartley, Douglas, Moore and Cahill.

APPOINTMENT TO OFFICE AND SUPERVISION OF POLICE—Kendry, Kelly, Moore, Hall, Yelland, Winch and McNeil.

LICENSE—Yelland, Hartley, Winch, Kendry and Langford.

PROPERTY—Hartley, Davidson, Hall, Yelland and Kelly.

PRINTING—Davidson, Moore, Hartley, McNeil and Langford.

JOINT COMMITTEE—Moore, Langford, Davidson, Cahill and Yelland.

MARKET—McNeil, Cahill, Kendry, Kelly and Winch.

The first named on each committee to be chairman thereof; the members of the Charity Committee to have charge of the distribution of charity in their respective wards; the chairman to call a meeting once a month and report to the council at the following meeting the names of parties receiving charity and the amounts given.

A LITTLE DEBATE.

Over this report there was a little squabbling, Mr. Kelly moving that Mr. Kendry be placed on the Streets and Bridges Committee. This led up to a spirited discussion, in which the question of the expenditures in each ward arose, the different speakers each claiming that the other wards, except the ones represented by them, got the lion's share of the "boodle," either by actual amount or proportionate comparison. Mr. Hartley seconded Mr. Kelly's motion, which was carried, the Mayor remarking that the councillors didn't have much to fight about, as they had over-run the appropriation anyway about $1500. Mr. Kelly also moved that Mr. McNeil be placed on the License Committee, which was seconded by Mr. Winch and carried.

Mr. MOORE thought some provision should be made for a Building Committee, to prevent the erection of "shells" in the fire limits. He advocated the appointment of an inspector.

Mr. DAVIDSON said the committee intended to appoint an inspector for that purpose.

Mr. KENDRY suggested that a man be appointed janitor of the town buildings, market clerk and building inspector all in one.

The report was finally adopted.

MOTIONS.

Mr. HARTLEY moved, seconded by Mr Kendry, that Messrs. D. W. Dumble and R. Weir be reappointed school trustees for the present year.—Carried.

Mr. KELLY moved, seconded by Mr. Hall, that Messrs. Wm. Aldridge and Cornelius McGrath be appointed assessors for the year, and that the town solicitor be prepared to draft a by-law.—Lost. By subsequent motion it was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

SPALDING'S BAY AGAIN.

Mr. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the town commissioners be requested to hand over the $700 in their hands resulting from the sale of a lot in ward No. 1, for the purpose of building a bridge on Townsend street.

Mr. MOORE moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, in amendment that the money be handed over to the town of Peterborough.

Mr. CAHILL made an eloquent appeal in support of his motion, by which, he said, a large portion of Spaulding's Bay would be covered over. Mr. Moore considered that this amount should not be appropriated for that purpose, as they had no guarantee that the expenditure would be limited to that amount. Mr. Yelland thought the amount would be better laid out in cribbing Little Lake. Mr. McNeil contended that as there was a by-law on the records of the county which decreed that all the land in the vicinity of the Bay should be devoted to the purpose of filling in the Bay, the motion should carry.

Mr. CAHILL then added to his motion "that the street and bridge committee have control of the expenditure of the money, and report before doing so to the council."

The matter was finally settled by Mr. Moore withdrawing his motion and Mr. Cahill's was allowed to lie on the table.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

Mr. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Hall, that a special committee composed of Messrs. Moore, Kelly, Winch, Davidson, and the mover and seconder, be appointed to take into consideration the question of sewerage—to obtain information as to the best system to be adopted to meet the requirements of this town, and report to this council.

Mr. McNeil in offering the motion said he thought the time had arrived when this important matter should be taken up, and as it would take two or three years to complete the enterprise, a start should be made at once.

Mr. MOORE said his mind had been running in the same groove as Mr. McNeil's, but he considered the best move would be to call a public meeting of citizens to discuss the matter. He moved to that effect, seconded by Mr. Yelland.

Mr. DOUGLAS said that both the public meeting and the committee would be in the dark. The best plan he considered was to spend a few hundred dollars and get a competent engineer's estimate; then there was a meeting to work on.

Mr. CAHILL said that the citizens didn't want to be hunted out of town by high taxes and he for one would not vote for this heavy expenditure. He believed if any man wanted a drink he should pay for it and build it himself. He thought the people were not prepared for such a gigantic scheme. (Applause from the spectators.)

Mr. KELLY was glad to see this scheme on foot and thought it was in good hands when Mr. McNeil had hold of it. He advocated sewerage as a growing necessity.

MAYOR STEVENSON said that an estimate of Mr. Lumsden, a competent engineer, was such a high figure that it startled him so he had never dared mention the matter. It was over $150,000.

Nearly every member around the board had his little "say," and finally Mr. McNeil's motion was carried.

A COMPLAINT.

Mr. MOORE entered a complaint on behalf of Mr. Hope and Mrs. McKee, residents of London street, who were lying ill in their houses. They complained of the hordes of howling dogs who ran about untaxed, and greatly annoyed the whole neighborhood. They asked the Mayor to instruct the police to enforce the dog by-law. Mayor Stevenson expressed his willingness to do so.

Mr. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. McNeil, that the Street and Bridge Committee be instructed to advertise for tenders for street supplies and let contracts for same.—Carried.

Mr. HALL moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the clerk be instructed to advertise for tenders for 100 cords of wood.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. MCNEIL the petitions of R. Clegg, Secretary, and Chief Rutherford, of the Fire Brigade, were referred to the Fire, Water, Light and Finance Committees.

Mr. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the clerk prepare a by-law for the appointment of a building inspector and that R. Pope act as such in the meantime.—Carried.

The council then adjourned for two weeks.

The Criminal Record.

Annual Report of Acting Chief Adams—A Number of Suggestions—Last Year's Record.

At Monday evening's meeting of the Council, Acting Chief Adams presented his annual report as follows :—

To the Mayor and Town Council :—

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith beg to submit a report of the cases tried at the Police Court during the year 1887.

The total number was 466, as compared with 357 in 1886, showing an increase of 111 cases, mainly made up by an increase of 72 in the number of Scott Act cases. It must be remembered also that last year a large number of County Scott Act cases were tried at the Police Court, while this year the number of such has been very small, owing to the appointment early in the year of a County Police Magistrate in the person of Mr. George Edmison. Although the main part of the work in connection with these cases was done by county officers, they go to swell the total.

The statement on the whole I consider a most satisfactory one, showing, as it does, that our large and rapidly growing town is almost entirely free from crime of a serious nature.

During the year the number of tramps who applied for shelter was below that of any other year since a record has been kept.

The cash receipts far exceed those of any other year on account of the many and heavy fines imposed in Scott Act cases. In some cases considerable difficulty has been experienced in collecting these penalties, and six persons were committed to gaol in default of payment. Three of these afterwards paid their fines in gaol and three served periods of two months each. Several others left this section to avoid payment and are still away.

As the town grows larger complaints, regarding the by-law governing cabmen, increase. The police are appealed to very frequently by strangers who desire to know how much per hour the drivers can charge for the use of their vehicles, as there is no by-law regulating the amount. We are unable to tell them and each driver charges as he likes. I would suggest that the by-law be amended by adding to it a proper schedule. On the other hand the cabmen are without proper protection and if a fare refuses to pay, they have no speedy way of recovering their money. This matter also requires attention.

Regarding the stand at present used by the carters, complaints have rather increased than decreased; and now that the new post-office is about to be occupied, some other place must be found. The schedule of rates chargeable by carters needs revision, as each man now apparently has a different tariff.

It will be noticed that while the work has increased it has been done by three men instead of five as in 1886. In addition to police duties, a large amount of work has been done on the market as building inspectors, and last, but not by any means least, as sanitary inspectors.

Appended is a list of the cases disposed of at the police court, compared with the year 1886.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

R. H. ADAMS,
Acting-Chief Constable.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Jan. 17.

John Sanderson, a youth about 15 years of age, sobbed and sniffled violently when he was charged with the theft of $2 from a neighbor, Alexis Cope. The lad was remanded a week to secure his father's attendance at court, and, as the magistrate said, "to give the boy a chance to get his face cleaned up."

Wm. Anderson was yesterday arrested by Acting-Chief Adams while drunk on the streets. Anderson just left the gaol yesterday morning after serving three months for larceny. He celebrated the event by a grand drunk. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $2 or 20 days in gaol. He hadn't any money. "You just got out yesterday?" asked the magistrate. "Yes." "Then you had better go back again; I think it is the best place for you."

P. J. Donoghue's name was next called, but the bearer failed to respond. Evidence was taken to prove the charge of a breach of the Scott Act. Only one witness was examined, but he testified to buying whiskey and beer at the defendants barber-shop on Simcoe street. It seems that Donahue closed up his business on Saturday night, removed all his goods and chattels, and is now to be counted among those who have passed hence to parts unknown to avoid punishment for violations of the Scott Act.

A fifteen year old girl named Annie Irvine was charged with being without a home or any visible means of support—otherwise a vagrant. Her old grandmother stated in court that the girl would not remain in the house at night, but wandered about the streets till one o'clock in the morning and later. The police also testified to the girl's street-walking habits. It seems that she has been taken out to service, but her reprehensible conduct has always brought about her dismissal. She was sent to gaol for a couple of months. Her mind is considered to be not of the strongest calibre.

Personal.

Miss Lizzie Evans and her company are stopping at the Grand Central. Mr. C. E. Callahan, manager, is also at the Central.

Mr. Joseph McClelland, a former resident of Peterborough, called on the EXAMINER today. Mr. McClelland is now travelling for a large Toronto wholesale house. He is looking well and his many friends were pleased to see him again.

Mr. A. P. Cheate left town last evening at 5.52 for Toronto, where he has secured a position on the reporting staff of the Toronto World. For the past three or four years Mr. Cheate has occupied with good success the position of reporter on the Review, and during that time has worked up a high reputation as a capable, clever news gather and a reporter of no small literary ability. His knowledge of shorthand is of a practical order. The EXAMINER wishes "Arthur" every success in the new "World" of action upon which he has entered.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE OCEAN MAIL AND OTHER CONTRACTS.

Mischievous Statements—Tidal Observations—Death of Earl Cavan—Customs Appointments—A Treasury Board Decision.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—Mischievous and interested parties continue to spread the false information that trouble is being caused by Canadian Customs officers refusing to allow Manitoba grain sent through the States a free entry into Canada. The Minister of Customs has received considerable correspondence on the subject, owing to the publication of erroneous statements in the press, and it may be of interest to give the views of Assistant Commissioner Parmalee on the subject. He says:

"There is of course no truth in the statement, but just so long as it suits the interests of certain parties to keep the falsehood rolling, so long will they do so, notwithstanding the unqualified contradictions that have been published. The Northern Pacific Railway and its connections are treated in precisely the same way as any other road, and cars shipped in transit from Canada over it are served just as any other of their kind."

It is understood that the report of the Minister of Marine will contain the results of tidal observations on the Atlantic coast conducted last season by Commander Gordon. The observations were taken upon the representations of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

The announcement is made of the death of Earl Cavan, father of the Hon. Octavius Lambert of the Department of the Interior. The new peer, Lord Kilcoursie, who is member of Parliament for South Somerset, has ever since he sat in the House of Commons been a warm supporter of Mr. Gladstone.

Seven of the crew of the schooner Volant, wrecked at Souris, P.E.I., who were reported to be in a destitute condition, have been assisted by the Marine Department to reach their homes in Newfoundland. The Volant was registered at Montreal.

The ocean mail contract is understood to be still undecided, but the impression gains ground that arrangements will be made with the Allan and Dominion lines for a new contract for an improved service. Rumors having been afloat that the two great railway companies had been asked to contribute towards the increased subsidy which a faster service must involve, Postmaster-General McLelan was questioned on the subject, and said:

"The idea has been expressed that the great railway corporations, such as the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies, who will benefit, so largely, by the proposed improvement in the service, should contribute a portion of the increased expenditure, that the change will necessarily involve. There has, however, been no material decision."

The Public Works Department has let the contract for the proposed public building at Coaticook, P. Q., to Mr. Thos. T. Shurtliff, of that place, and the contract for the public building at St. Jerome, P. Q., to Mr. J. Fitzgerald, of St. Alphonse-DeKildair. Both were the lowest tenderers.

Orders-in-council have been passed, making the following Customs appointments: Messrs. Joseph E. Pinsonneault, to be a sub-collector in Her Majesty's Customs at the outpost of Lacolle, under the survey of the port of St. Johns, Que., vice P. Doucet, superannuated; Gray Farmer, to be a preventive officer at the outpost of Campbello, under the port of St. Andrew's, N.B.; Chas. B. O'Reilly, to be a sub-collector at the outpost of Front River, under the port of Dundee, vice McGibbon, deceased.

The Treasury Board recently considered the question of gratuities to the widows and other representatives of deceased officials and decided that the order-in-council confirming such gratuities to an amount equal to two months' salary of permanent clerks only must be adhered to, and that if it was deemed desirable to grant a gratuity to the representatives of any employe not on the permanent list the money must first be voted by Parliament.

Suicide at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Jan. 17.—Lonford Woobrish, a commercial traveler belonging in Halifax, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in his sample room in a Sydney hotel. He was a sergeant in the Halifax Battalion that served in the Northwest Rebellion and was very popular here. The coroner's jury found that he was temporarily insane.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.

On the local stock market to-day, the bids for Montreal rose from 215½ to 217. Ontario was held at 112¾ as against 113 yesterday. Federal commenced to fall yesterday after 13, when 84½ was bid till to-day it stands at 80¾ asked, and 79¾ bid. Dominion was firm and remained unchanged. The transactions to-day were: Commerce 2 at 119¾; Federal 19, 10, 5 at 80; Dominion 10 at 219; Consumers' Gas 6 at 176½; B. and Loan Association 6 at 103½.

St. Lawrence Market was well stocked this morning with meats and vegetables, but a marked dulness prevailed in the dairy and poultry sections. Potatoes sold readily at $1.10. Several unfortunate farmers lost the sale of their stock of potatoes, owing to the frost touching them before they reached the city. Beef, by the quarter, dropped 2c. The market was overstocked with hay and straw, and as a result the best timothy dropped from $15 to $14, and straw from $11 to $10. The retail prices of meat remain unchanged. The grain market was active; 350 bushels of fall wheat sold from 83c to 84c; 400 bushels of spring brought from 78c to 82c, 300 bushels goose changed hands at 72c. The market for barley opened auspiciously with signs of firmness, but before 11 o'clock it weakened and the prices fell from 76c to 81c to 75c to 80½c, at which price 1500 bushels were sold. 500 bushels of oats sold at 50c to 51c. No peas were offered.

We quote the following prices: Beef, hindquarters, per lb. 6½c to 8c; beef, fourquarters, per lb. 3c to 7c; mutton, per carcase, 7c to 8c; lamb, per carcase, 8½c to 9½c; veal 6c to 8c; pork $7.10 to $7.30; chickens, per pair, 40c to 55c; ducks, per pair, 75c to 80c; geese, per lb. 8c to 9c; turkeys, per lb. 8½c to 10½c; wheat, fall, per bush. 83c to 84c; wheat, Spring, 78c to 83c; wheat, goose, 73c to 74c; barley 76 to 81c; oats, per bush. 50c to 51c; peas 60c to 66c; timothy 12c to 14c; clover, 11c to 13c; straw 10c to 60c; butter, pound rolls, 24c to 25c; butter, tub, 20c to 22c; cheese, per lb. 12c to 13c.

ELECTION TRIAL.

Beginning of the East Simcoe Election Case in Orillia—The Court Room Crowded.

ORILLIA, Jan. 17.—The East Simcoe Dominion election trial, commenced to-day before Hon. Justice Rose. Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., and Mr. Corbould appeared for petitioner, and Mr. J. J. McLaren, Q.C., for the respondent, Henry H. Cook.

Mr McLaren made objection to the case proceeding, six months having expired, but His Lordship overruled him.

Mr. McCarthy called William Harvey, the Secretary of the Reform Association, who testified that he handled no money during the election campaign. He received a letter a few days ago from Mr. McLaren's firm to see some parties who were named in specific charges, and he saw them.

Alex. W. Ambrose, the financial agent of the respondent, was called, and said he received $1,011.85 from Mr. Cook, spent $744.64, returned $300, and kept the balance to pay himself. He told Mr. Cook, who said it was all right, that he intended to give him something.

Joseph Owens, called on specific charges 15 and 18, was a voter at last election, received $5 from James Patten at the Russell House the day before election. Cleland, the bartender there, said boodle was going, and that witness could get it from Patten. He got it from Patten, who said, "Don't charge it in the house."

Christopher Cleland, the bartender, swore that he (Owens) asked him the day before election if he thought he could get any money, and he said he ought to, and that it would be safe to take it.

James Patten testified that he was clerk of the works at the new Asylum, Orillia, in the employ of the Ontario Government. He sent Owens $5 the day before the election. He did not give it for election purposes. He never expected to get it back, as he is not worth anything. He never asked for it. He never saw Mr. Lees before. He sent Arthur Young, a laborer, $3 after the election; he sent no one else money.

Patrick Finn testified: My wife is proprietor of the Russell House. Mr. Owens asked me if there was money going and I told him I thought not; did not offer Lees any money. Don't think I showed people upstairs to Mr. Patten the day before the election. Did not take a great part in the election.

Thomas Lees testified that Finn told him that they were offering $10 for a vote. Finn asked witness to have a drink and witness took what was called lime juice and it was pretty hot juice.

At the time of adjournment Mr. McCarthy had not concluded his evidence on the question of agency. There are a great number of witnesses subpœnaed and the court was crowded all day.

Halton Conservatives.

MILTON, Jan. 17.—A meeting of the Halton Conservative electors was to-day held in Roper's Hall here for the purpose of nominating a candidate. There was a large attendance, and several gentlemen were nominated, but all retired with the exception of David Henderson, banker, Acton, who was the unanimous choice of the meeting. The nominations were as follows: 1st, W. C. Beasley, farmer, Trafalgar; 2nd, Dr. Webster, Norval; 3rd, George Andrew, auctioneer, Oakville; 4th, Reps. Bradley, farmer, Stewartown; 5th, John Murray, Township Clerk, Esquesing; 6th, David Henderson, banker, Acton. Mr. Henderson spoke for about ten minutes, but dwelt on nothing of importance and spoke mainly on his own personal character.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 17.—The long strike of the shoemakers in this city, which has continued since Nov. 1, has collapsed, the men returning to work on the manufacturers' scale.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS

ISSUE OF THE NEW CANADIAN PACIFIC ALCOMA BRANCH BONDS.

The Crofter Insurrection and the Tithe Revolt—The Pope's Mediation Between England and Ireland—Mr. Sheehy Removed to Sligo Jail—The Crofters' Meeting—War Notes.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Applications were invited to-day by Messrs. Baring Brothers, the London bankers, for $700,000 Canadian Pacific Algoma branch 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds in denominations of $1000, $500 and $100 each, to mature July 1, 1937. The issue price is 98½ per cent. The trustees for the bondholders are Sir Charles Tupper and Lord Revelstoke. The fact that Canadian Pacific shares and bonds have been steadily rising lately, and are to-day 83½ and 104½ respectively is a good augury for the new issue.

A cablegram was received by the Canadian Pacific authorities to-day at Montreal, stating that the loan had been applied for four times over.

The Credit Lyonnais yesterday issued invitations in London and Paris for $723,000 4 per cent. bonds of the province of Quebec. Nominally the bonds are issued at par, but the interest running from Jan. 1, and the whole money not being called up till March 16, the real price is a few shillings under par. Provincial bonds now stand at 107.

It is stated in Quebec to-day that the provincial loan has been floated in London, England, this morning. The amount issued is set down at $732,000 sterling, maturing in 1928. They are placed at par with the Credit Lyonnais.

At the meeting of the Associated Chamber of Commerce, from Feb. 21 to 23, Commercial Union will be discussed upon a resolution requesting the Council to watch the movement vigilantly, and communicate the great interest the Chamber takes in the question to the Colonial Office. Means to increase trade between Britain and the colonies will also be discussed at the meeting.

The Highland Land League urge on the Secretary of State for Scotland that the British Columbia emigration scheme will not settle the crofter question. The real remedy, they say, is further amendment of the Crofters' Act.

The demand for Canada Northwest Land shares was quite a feature of to-day's market, the firmness being based upon unconfirmed reports current as to a change in the colonization scheme which is expected to improve the value of the company's property.

The Crofter insurrection in the Orkney Islands and the tithe revolt in Wales, are causing great anxiety.

Mr. Sheehy, M.P., has been removed from Tullamore Jail to the jail at Sligo for the remainder of his term of imprisonment.

The police on the island of Lewis were charged and routed by the crofters upon attempting to make arrests for destroying fences of sheep farms. Troops are being sent to assist the police. A number of crofters arrested on the island of Lewis, charged with engaging in the riots, have just been tried and were acquitted by the jury.

During the debate on the Naval Estimates in the Reichstag to-day, Herr Rickert referred to the statement which appeared lately in The Cologne Gazette, saying that the chief importance of the German navy lay in its strength for coast protection, it being a means of defence rather than of offence. If this were the case, he asked, why should Government lavish money on a navy already sufficient for all defensive purposes.

Gen. Von Caprivi, the Minister of Marine, replied that the German navy was equal to other purposes than coast defence. The Admiralty, he said, would adhere to its plans for strengthening the navy. In its present condition, however, the navy had no reason to fear meeting any foe.

The Militar Wochenblatt publishes with authority a reply to The Invalide Russe's late compassions of the frontier forces. It says that authentic estimates of the peace effectives stationed in the frontier provinces of Austria, Germany and Russia show that Russia has 315,000 men with 660 field guns; Austria 38,000 men with 180 field guns, and Germany 96,300 men and 396 field guns. The Wochenblatt next compares the military situation on the Russian side of the frontier with that on the German side, taking the forces within territories of about equal area, and shows that the Russians within 119,511 square kilometres have 122,376 men, 24,196 horses and 2711 guns of all kinds, while the Germans within 119,456 square kilometres have only 81,714 men, 14,630 horses and 396 guns.

The garrison of Warsaw, consisting of 20,000 men, 2000 horses, and 80 field guns, is contrasted with the garrison of Koenigsberg, consisting of 7700 men, 1400 horses and 50 field guns, and the garrison of Breslau, with 9000 men, 1180 horses and 36 field guns.

Referring to The Invalide Russe's assertion that 4850 kilometres of railway have been constructed in Eastern Germany since 1878, The Westminster states that the railway extension since 1873 amounts to only 1000 kilometres.

A special from London to The New York Times says that the papers are filled with news of Russian movements of troops. It appears certain that the Second Army Corps is now under marching orders from the Caucasus to the Roumanian frontier, and the bulk of the Eleventh Corps is being moved forward; one cavalry division and one rifle brigade are on the Roumanian frontier, and one cavalry division and two infantry divisions are apparently going towards the Galician frontier. Russia is thus massing her troops to give force to a second proposal of Prince Karageorgevich for the Bulgarian throne. It is practically certain that he will be rejected by the Powers. Then the question is: Will Russia fight?

A special train has arrived at Warsaw with a large quantity of explosives, half of which will be despatched in the citadel and the other half distributed at various stations on the railway lines leading to Austria and Germany.

After a two hours' session to-day the British Cabinet decided to grant concessions calculated to avert a Unionist hole on the Local Government Bill.

The American ship John T. Berry, from Philadelphia, Oct. 3, to Hiogo, was burned on Jan. 9. Fourteen of the crew were landed at Nambrusera Heads. A boat containing eleven other seamen is missing.

The Parnellites are divided as to the proposed tactics of their leader during the coming session of Parliament. Mr. Parnell favors abstaining from obstruction in order to precipitate a rupture between the Unionists and the Conservatives over the English Local Government measure. Messrs. Healy and Dillon oppose his program. A meeting of the party will be called by Mr. Parnell early in February.

The Univers has a despatch from Rome saying the English Cabinet accepts in principle the Pope's mediation between England and Ireland based upon Mgr. Persico's report. The Pope demands moderate Home Rule, and advises the Conservatives to take the wind out of Gladstone's sails by adopting the leading points of his program with the support of the Irish clergy.

BIG FIRE AT MONTREAL.

Several Stores Gutted—A Terrific Explosion—Losses and Insurance.

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the premises of J. S. Thompson & Co., auctioneers, 249 St. James-street. When the firemen opened the door a terrific explosion occurred, smashing the extensive plate glass windows in the adjoining stores and making huge rents in the walls. The fire spread to Barrett & Co.'s "Tobi Ban," both stores being gutted. The building was owned by the estate of the late F. M. W. Larocque, and is valued at $35,000. It is nearly a total wreck; insured for $10,000 in the Ætna and $3000 in the Hartford. The other losses and insurances are: J. S. Thompson, loss $15,000, insurance $5000; P. Z. Chouinard, loss $300; Oddfellows' Hall and Sons of England rooms destroyed, insurance $600; Peacock's athletic apparatus factory, loss $1000; Tobi Ban, loss $16,000, insurance $15,000. Hart & Son, job printers; J. K. Harper, jeweler, and H. Michaels, cigar dealer, also sustained slight losses.

Premier Mercier Goes to Europe.

QUEBEC, Jan. 17.—It is announced here this evening that, instead of being on his way to Georgia, as generally supposed, Premier Mercier sailed from New York to-day by one of the White Star liners for Europe, presumably on business regarding the negotiation of the Provincial loan. It is added that he is rapidly regaining his health, and that he will meet the Legislature in March.

Commercial Union at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The story telegraphed to a Toronto paper a day or two since, to the effect that no prominent member of either branch of Congress is in favor of Commercial Union, is simply absurd. The fact of the matter is that there is a very strong sentiment that way, and it looks as if that was the only true sentiment of the fisheries question. Perhaps a Commercial Union, as it is suggested by some of the Canadian papers, might not be acceptable to all parties, but it is certain that with modification it would go through. The reason why neither Mr. Chamberlain nor Sir Charles Tupper has ventured to suggest it is simply because they both know that it would be eagerly taken up by the American Commissioners. Should their proposition be accepted it can be at once seen in what light they would be placed, and to avoid this they have taken good care that Commercial Union shall not come before the conference in any form.

Steamships Overdue.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Nothing has yet been heard of the steamer Britannic, from the Mediterranean with 830 passengers. The steamship Netty Abby, which left Gibraltar the same day, arrived to-day. She encountered very heavy weather and had to put into Bermuda. The French steamship La Gascogne, due last Sunday, has not yet arrived.

SPECIAL VALUE in school boots at Kidd's

Coal Oil.

China Hall will deliver to any part of the Town, Ashburnham and Auburn, best Canadian Oil for 15c., and American water-white at 25c. per imperial gallon.

Snowshoeing.

The Y.M.C.A. snowshoe club had its first genuine snowshoe tramp of the season Tuesday evening. A number of the members wore pretty blanket costumes, and the effect was striking. The club tramps every Tuesday evening during the season.

Sentiment Cricketers.

An effort is being made by the Peterborough cricket club to bring the Australian Cricketers and Irish Gentlemen to Peterborough next summer. The two representative teams are making an American tour, and the Peterborough club is anxious to try conclusions with both.

Collegiate Institute.

The average daily attendance at the Collegiate Institute is now from 185 to 190 much larger than ever before since the Institute was established. There are large classes preparing for the various summer examinations.

A Coming Comedy.

Mr. Harry Webber, the Famous comedian, will shortly appear in this city, in his World-popular Comedy, "Nip and Tuck," and his new success, "Heiress Hunters," also some new musical comedies and operettas, which he alone has the right to produce. The company in support will embrace artists of recognised merit.

At the Opera House.

Lizzie Evans and her dramatic company resented "Our Angel" to a fair audience Tuesday evening, though the merits of the play deserved a better attendance. Miss Evans, the "little electric battery", as Blossom Jennings, the heroine, was the life of the play. The new songs, medleys and dances that were introduced scored successes with the audience. The company goes from here to Toronto.

That Carnival.

The Carnival in the skating rink Friday evening of next week will boast of several unique attractions not hitherto features of such events. Characteristic curling matches will take place between Irishmen vs. Italians and Scotchmen vs. Dudes, the winners to receive as prizes specially made besoms decked with heather. Another innovation will be a drill on ice performed by the members in full uniform. The fire brigade band will be in attendance. Let everyone attend. The admission fee is 25c.; children 15c.

How the Mistake Happened.

The fire brigade nor fire alarm service were in no wise culpable for the bungling which occurred at the fire Tuesday afternoon. The alarm did not come over the wires, but was rung from the central hall by an excited Salvation Army Soldier, who when asked where the fire was, gesticulated wildly with his one hand and shouted excitedly "away up straight north over the railway track." The brigade followed directions with the result already known.

A Livery Runaway.

Tuesday evening about eight o'clock a runaway equipage came flying down George street. In the cutter a young lady sat, bravely trying to rein in the mad beast. At Schofield's drug store it took to the sidewalk, and passed between the electric light pole and Taylor & Macdonald's store, dashing straight ahead for McClelland's plate glass windows. But it swerved to the left suddenly, upset the cutter and threw the young lady out on the road. Then it continued to Water street, and when just around the corner below the Stewart house it stopped, fell and was fairly caught. The young lady, after being tenderly cared, jumped up quickly and declaring she was not hurt walked rapidly away. The cutter was badly damaged.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held in their hall, Monday, Jan. 16th, at 4 p.m. The President, Mrs. Rutherford being ill, the ex-president took charge of the meeting. Twenty minutes were profitably spent in devotional exercises. After some discussion, it was decided to invite the Provincial Convention to meet in Peterborough next October. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:—"We the members of the W.C.T.U. respectfully pray that Scientific Temperance Instruction be placed on the programme of studies for the town and county of Peterborough, as prescribed by the department of Education, and that the inspectors of Public Schools for town and county be requested to insist that a copy of the Temperance Text-book be in the hands of every scholar from the second form up." The secretary was advised to forward a copy of this resolution to each of the inspectors.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

An Alleged Silence on Canadian Relations With Great Britain.

TORONTO, Jan. 18.

In the absence of President Goldwin Smith the Commercial Union Club of Toronto was presided over last night by Vice-President R. H. Jones.

Mr. W. H. Leathers Gordon read an able paper on "The Effects of Commercial Union on Our Relations With Great Britain." He argued that the strongest opposition to Commercial Union came from those who are most interested in excluding from Canada American manufactures; that the policy of exclusion of British products was incorporated by the Government of Sir John Macdonald in 1879, and that the present proposal was only carrying that policy one step further for the sake of affording greater gain. If trade improved, which was exceedingly probable, it would tend to the enrichment of the country, which would render safer and more profitable the investments of British capitalists in Canada, and Canadians would then be less prone to leave Canada to seek a home in other lands.

Mr. G. Mercer Adam, Mr. R. C. Steele, M. H. Jones, Capt. Wm. Hall, Mr. Jas. Pearson and others took part in the discussion, emphasizing the position taken by the reader of the paper.

Capt. Hall moved that Mr. Gordon be requested to hand his paper to the secretary, in order that it be incorporated in the literature of the club. Secretary Thomas Shaw seconded this, and it was agreed to unanimously.

Mr. Gordon Waldrôn of Huron County was elected a member.

Mr. Pearson gave notice that at the next meeting he should move that the title of the club be altered to "Commercial Reciprocity Club."

TORONTO TOPICS.

Pending the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury, which meets on Monday next, the convict murderer Neil will be kept in the Central Prison.

The funeral services of Guard Rathbone, stabbed to death by Robert Nail in the Central Prison on Saturday morning, were held at the prison chapel yesterday afternoon. The chapel was filled with friends and acquaintances of the dead guard and by citizens. Rev. D. J. Macdonell conducted the services. The remains were afterwards taken by train to Charleston, where they will be interred.

Mr. R. S. Cox was examined, re the Central Bank, yesterday for nearly four hours before Special Examiner Evans. Only Mr. Foster, counsel for the liquidators, Mr. Bain, counsel for Mr. Cox, and Mr. Lee, the accountant, were present. What was elicited is not known.

John Holmes, a G.T.R. baggageman, who lived at 29 D'Arcy-street, was found dead in his car by Conductor Carnell of the express train, which left Toronto for the east at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The discovery was made after the train passed Cobourg. Mr. Holmes had put off baggage at Brighton station and Napanee, and his sudden death occasioned surprise. Heart disease is thought to have been the cause of death. The remains were brought to the city last night.

The grocery of J. & F. G. Sinclair, at 122 Front-street east, was burglarized Monday night. The thieves carried off a quantity of liquor and tobacco.

Dared To Be True

A Great Physician Disregards the Mandates of Royalty.

Dr. Radcliff was the most celebrated physician of England in Queen Anne's time. He amassed a very large fortune, and was for many years the physician to the Queen as well as to most of the English nobility. For some reason the Queen took a dislike to him at one time, and dismissed him as Court physician. In her last illness, however, she sent for him.

He refused to obey the summons, declaring "since her Majesty's case is so desperate and her distemper incurable, I hardly think it proper to give her any disturbance in her last moments, so near at hand, but rather let her die as easy as possible."

Dr. Radcliff observed, a short time before his death "when I was young and yet unskilled in medicine, I possessed at least twenty remedies for every disease; but now, since I have grown old in the art of healing, I know more than twenty diseases for which I have not even a single remedy."

The late Dr. Holland, who was an educated physician some years before he died, said in Scribner's monthly: "It is a fact that many of the best proprietary medicines of the day are more successful than many physicians, and most of them were first discovered or used in actual medical practice. When however, any shrewd person, knowing their virtue and foreseeing their popularity, secures and advertises them, in the opinion of the biggest, all virtue went out of them."

The late Dr. Dio Lewis, who seldom prescribed any medicine, wrote to the proprietor of Warner's safe cure: "If I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble, I should use your preparation. The testimony of hundreds of intelligent and very reputable gentlemen hardly leaves room to doubt that you have fallen upon one of those happy discoveries which occasionally bring aid to suffering humanity."

Dr. R. A. Gunn, Dean of the U. S. Medical College of New York, somet he time wrote and published: "The ingredients of Warner's safe cure are among the most valuable medicines of our materia medica, and the combination is such as to insure the best possible action on the kidneys and urinary organs."

Dr. W. D. Robson of London, late surgeon in the Royal Navy, wrote to the family Doctor; "Having had more than seventeen years' experience in my profession, I conscientiously and emphatically state that I have been able to give more relief and effect more cures by the use Warner's safe cure than by all other medicines ascertainable to the profession."

Dr. Andrew Wilson, F. R. S. E. editor of Health, London, Eng., advises a correspondent of his paper: "Warner's safe cure is perfectly safe and perfectly reliable."

These high physicians are skilled, as independently as honest; in true to the conscientious teachings of their noble profession that they dare tell the truth, to Kings or Queens or the whole world.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Pentown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming but"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had headache since.—J. H. Sammers, Stephney, Conn.

I thank God that you ever invented such a medicine for catarrh. I have suffered for five years so I could not lie down for weeks at a time. Since I have been using Ely's Cream Balm I can rest.—Frank P. Burleigh, Farmington, N.H. eodw3

Remarkable Restoration.

Matthew Sullivan, of Westover, Ont. was ill with dyspepsia for four years. Finding doctors did little good he tried Burdock Blood Bitters; six bottles cured him and he gained in weight to 178 pounds. B.B.B. cures the worst known cases of erosic dyspepsia after all else fails. 2w52

PROF. WOOD, F. L. S.

(Lecturer, Trinity College, Dublin).

For a prospectus of his system of training the memory. Recommended by clergymen, doctors and lawyers in all parts of Great Britain, United States and Canada for the wonderful results attained. Lectures and sermons can be fixed in the mind by once reading over. Foreign languages learned at the rate of from 20 to 120 words per hour. Dates and figures (the most difficult of all subjects to remember) cannot be forgotten after being once read.

Rev. W. H. Pope, D. D., (author of Pope's Theology, etc.), says:—"I have great pleasure in testifying to the vast benefit to be derived from the study of your system of Memory. Although it appears incredible that such knowledge can be acquired so quickly and so easily, the success of our students here in our college would satisfy the most skeptical. Wishing you success in your Educational Revolution."

Rev. Chas. H. Rosetis, Pass Head, N. S., says: "I am much pleased with the whole system, and am fully convinced of the true Psychological basis of the science."

A BROKEN RAIL.

Responsible for One Accident and a Train Despatcher for Another.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17.—A passenger train on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad was wrecked this morning near Bluffton, O., by a broken rail. The locomotive and baggage car ran over the break all right, but the smoker and ladies' car turned over on their sides and were dragged 300 yards before the train was stopped. Alfred Gybert, a traveling man from Fostoria, O., jumped from the front platform of the smoker, saw the car toppled over on him, or wishing him to death.

The cars took fire from the stoves after the wreck, and it was only by heroic exertions on the part of the train men that fearful loss of life was prevented. Frank Mayo's "Nordeck" Company was on the train and several of the actors were hurt.

A Careless Train Despatcher.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 17.—A special from Avoca just received says: "Erie trains 13 and 107 collided this morning one mile south of Avoca. Engineer Frank Maynard of Rochester was killed instantly, his head being cut off. Both engines were completely wrecked and one car derailed, but no other serious injury occurred. The firemen of both trains and Engineer Frank Marsh on No. 107 jumped. The tender of train 107 was driven into the mail car. Mail Agent Dalepeia of Avoca saved his life by jumping just as the engines came together. Physicians from the villages were promptly on hand rendering assistance. It is said in this city that Train Despatcher S auerbie of Wayland was to blame for the collision."

ACCIDENT IN A SAWMILL.

An Employe Fatally Injured—Death of the Sufferer.

ITHACA, N.Y., Jan. 17.—Wm. Covert, an employe in W. A. J. Osmun's sawmill, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon. The engine was stopped to do some packing, and Covert, thinking he had time to sharpen a tooth in the saw, stood with his leg thrown over the saw, with the thigh resting against the teeth. The usual signal was given before starting the mill, but he did not hear it, and the saw that usually makes about 300 revolutions to the minute began tearing and lacerating the flesh and bones of the knee-joint and followed along the thigh bone, shattering and splintering it for about two-thirds of the way to the hip-joint.

Doctors amputated the thigh. The operation proved to be too great a strain for his already weakened condition, and he succumbed to the shock about one hour after the amputation. Covert was about 40 years of age. He leaves a wife and two children.

BECKWITH MUST DIE.

The New York Court of Appeals Refuses to Grant Him a New Trial.

HUDSON, N.Y., Jan. 17.—The Court of Appeals this morning decided against granting a new trial to Oscar F. Beckwith, charged with murder. He will probably be taken before the Columbia Oyer and Terminer, now in session, and be re-sentenced. He has been sentenced to be executed five times, and by this decision will be sentenced again, making six times the sentence of death has been pronounced upon him.

[Oscar F. Beckwith, it will be remembered, was the perpetrator of the terrible crimes which shocked Amsterdam, N.Y. He was traced to Canada and captured, and after a tedious delay extradited from Toronto.]

THE MANITOBA CRISIS.

Four Members Arrested by the Reform Caucus Last Night.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 17.—The Reform caucus was held to-night, when Greenway, Jones, Joseph Martin and Smart were accepted as the new Cabinet. The question of a French representative was left till another caucus.

A. F. Martin is pressing his claims, and, if he succeeds, Prendergast's show for political distinction is gone.

Much dissatisfaction is felt at Jones' selection, but the party finally agreed to accept him. Jones is absent, but he has wired he will accept office.

Coal in New York State.

TROY, N.Y., Jan. 17.—The discovery of what is declared to be good anthracite coal on the farm of Andrew McClelland in Hebron, Washington County, recently, has been followed by preparations to develop the "find." A shaft is down six or eight feet already, and the quality of the coal improves below the surface. A railroad has been surveyed from Salem to Hebron, ten miles, and the rights of way are being secured.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the Tactics some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the Commercial Community are taken for idiots, and that they have no sprite whatever, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, humb-like, will take it all in and believe your word of it. Now, to please it mildly, this is somewhat amusing to meself. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his colossal sales, they are after the hole value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—DOLLAR. Don't be hoodwinked, don't be gulled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 33 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Champion. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price today is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Photo Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 89c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Incendiarism at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Jan. 17.—An attempt to burn the residence of Mr. Wm. Flavelle, a prominent resident of the town, was made at an early hour this morning. About three o'clock a resident of the adjoining house was awakened by a light shining through the window. Hastening to the place, it was found that the floor of the verandah, the door of the front porch and the surroundings had been saturated with coal oil and were all on fire. Fortunately it was seen in time and easily extinguished, but not before the mat, the door and floor of the verandah were considerably injured. An attempt was also made to fire the premises of Dundas & Flavelle Bros., dry goods and produce merchants (of which firm Mr. Flavelle is a partner). Sometime during the night coal oil had been poured on and around a door in the back part of the store and set on fire, but owing to the quantity of snow about it did not make any headway. The only cause which can be surmised for the dastardly act is that the members of the firm have taken an active part in the enforcement of the Scott Act, and Mrs. Flavelle entertained Mrs. Youmans during her recent visit to the town. In both these bottles on which were whiskey labels were used to hold the coal oil, evidently the cards of the perpetrators.

AGRICULTURISTS IN COUNCIL

Annual Meeting of the West Riding Society.

Favorable Reports from the Secretary and Township Societies—A fair Attendance of Members—Election of Officers and other Business.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society was held Wednesday afternoon, in the old Music Hall, Peterborough, President Rutherford in the chair. Among those present were:—Messrs. Jos. Redmond, Wm. Fair, Jos. Bernard, J. B. McWilliams, Jos. Tully, G.M. Rogw, J. J. Hartley Jno. Moore, Wm. Collins, Jas. Davidson, G. W. Fitzgerald, Hugh Davidson, John Garbutt and Chas. Cameron.

The first business was the reading of the Secretary's report and that of the Treasurer, as follows :—

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

To the Members of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society.

GENTLEMEN,—In reviewing the history of our Society for the past year, I may state at the outset that in giving you a detailed account of the business, however minute, of the Agricultural Association, the necessary routine, observed in transacting such business year after year, resembles one another so much that very little new can be said. We started this year with a balance due Treasurer, after paying for outstanding prizes, of $955.64.

The Directors appointed to conduct the Society's business through the Jubilee year, most of whom were men of long experience in Agricultural Exhibition work, with the veteran ex-M.P.P., Mr. Carnegie as President, who had taken an active interest in everything appertaining to the welfare of Agriculture for the last quarter of a century at least, alternately filling during that period the honorable positions of President, Director or Secretary of Agricultural Associations. With such a strong directorate and experienced veteran at the helm; much progress was anticipated. The Spring show of stallions and bulls was held in the Town of Peterborough, on the Agricultural Show Grounds, on the afternoon of Saturday, April 30th, 1887. Number of entries as follows, viz.—Stallions, 27; bulls, 10; gate receipts, $67.70. Prizes awarded for stallions $66, bulls, $42, judge of horses, Robert Miller, Brougham; judge of bulls, Jno. Campbell, Woodville; Spring show 1886; number of entries for stallions, 32; bulls, 12; showing a decrease in the number of entries for stallion, 5, and bulls, 2. The prizes offered for stallions in 1886 amounted to $100, and for bulls, $62, showing a decrease for 1887 of $34 in prizes for stallions, and a decrease of $10 in prizes for bulls, thus accounting, perhaps, for the decrease in entries. However, the gate receipts of 1886 only amounted to $54.30 while last year's receipts amounted to $57.70, a net gain over 1886 of $3.40. About this time your Secretary received a circular from the Ontario Central Agricultural and Live Stock Associations, of Port Perry, bearing upon an important matter in connection with Central Fairs, and as no definite action has as yet, that I am aware of, been arrived at, and that the Board of Directors for 1888 may be fully acquainted with the matter, I think I cannot do better than insert all that transpired in this report. The Port Perry circular read as follow:—

SIR,—Having in view the fact that in this province large Central Fairs are rapidly and effectually taking the place of the old time agricultural societies, who, for many years, have received large annual grants from the public treasury, while no legislation has yet been proposed by which monetary aid or assistance to central fair associations could be secured, our Board of Directors are of the opinion that the period has arrived when united action on the part of all associations having for their object the improvement and development of agricultural, mechanical, scientific and artistic pursuits, should be taken to bring the subject to the special attention of the government and legislature, feeling that public sentiment would readily approve of liberal annual grants to properly conduct central fairs.

In order to place the subject before the Legislature it is proposed that a deputation of representatives from each Central Fair Association shall wait upon the Government and endeavor to obtain the necessary legislation to secure reasonable grants.

The Association propose sending three representatives, and ask the co-operation of your board. As the present session of the Legislature will probably close about the middle of April it will be important to act promptly in the matter—probably Tuesday, the 5th of April, is as late a date as it would be wise to name. Should your board approve of the movement, and is prepared to co-operate, kindly let us hear from you with the least possible delay; we will then notify the Government definitely of our proposed interview and obtain their concurrence.

It will doubtless be well for the entire deputation to meet in Toronto on the morning of the day fixed for the interview, so as to discuss the subject and get the scheme in the best possible shape to present to the Government.

Awaiting your early reply, I am

Your obedient servant,

H. GORDON,
Secretary.

After some discussion on the matter, our President, Mr. Carnegie, drafted the following resolution, which was moved by Mr. Fair and seconded by Mr. Collins—That, with reference to the communication of the Ontario Central Agricultural and Live Stock Association of Port Perry, it be resolved that while this Society sympathizes with the object set forth in the communication of the Port Perry Association, it is of opinion that it is not only too late to obtain any practical results during the present session of the Ontario Legislature, but that the whole matter requires to be fully considered before submission to the Government. Under these circumstances this Board is of opinion that instead of the proposed meeting of delegates in Toronto on the 5th of April next it would be better to arrange for a like meeting to be held at some convenient point and time during the ensuing summer, to consider the whole matter of government grants for exhibition purposes, with a view to having the results of their deliberations acted upon by the legislature at it next session.—Carried. This resolution was forwarded to the Secretary of the Port Perry Agricultural Association. Subsequently a meeting was held in Toronto during the summer of 1886. Messrs. Rutherford and Vance represented this Association. There was nothing of any importance done at the meeting, further than appointing a secretary who was instructed to call another meeting sometime in January of this year, when it was hoped a large number of representatives from the Central Associations would respond to the call, and be prepared to discuss fully the matter of government grants to Agricultural Associations. I have received no word as yet of the proceed meeting.

The resignations of our President, Mr. Carnegie, and Director McNeil, caused much regret, the former for his well-known administrative ability and experience in connection with agricultural exhibitions, and much good to the Society was expected from the reputation of the latter as a successful exhibitor and farmer for public entertainments. As neither of them could be prevailed upon to withdraw their resignations, having the interests of the Society at heart, but not the time at their disposal to do justice to those interests, with much reluctance the Board accepted the resignations.

Mr. Wm. Rutherford 1st Vice-President was unanimously elected President of the Society and Mr. McClelland Elsworths as first Vice-President, Two Directors being required to complete the number of the Board Messrs. Hugh Davidson and Joseph Forster were on motion appointed Directors of the Society. This being the Jubilee Year of our Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, an extra effort was made by the Directors to have our Hall Exhibition worthy of the event. From June till October many meetings were held for the purpose of revising and enlarging the Prize List and soliciting subscriptions from prominent business men, so that the liberality, intrinsic value and number of prizes would not fail to attract, and bring large crowds to the Exhibition. Manufacturers, merchants, hotel keepers and other gentlemen in town responded nobly. Useful articles amounting in value to $208.00 and in cash $208.00 were obtained. The contributions of farmers in the district amounted to $74.00, nearly two thirds of that amount coming from one subscriber, viz.—Wm. M. Fair, Esq., one of the directors. Surely such indifference as manifested by the farmers generally in contributing towards the support of an institution entirely devoted to their interests, merely needs to be mentioned, in order to expand their sympathies, and incite them to give a more liberal support, individually, and also collectively through their County Councils. Before proceeding further with this report I think I can not do better than follow out the plan I adopted last year and while thanking, in the name of the directors, those gentlemen who so liberally contributed of their means towards the support of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, give them the greatest publicity in our power by inserting their names in this report and publishing it as the "honor roll" of gentlemen having the interest of the Peterborough Central Exhibition at heart, as follows :—

Membership last year 220, including the 140 prize winners in 1886, from whom one dollar was deducted. This year we start with 158 paid members, and it is to be hoped that the directors of 1888 will succeed in rolling up the list to 300 at least.

And now a word, in closing, about the exhibition. Entries for 1885, 925; for 1886, 1,506; for 1887, 1,877, more than double the number of 1885, showing a marked progress and enlarged interest manifested by exhibitors. To keep a firm hold of this interest is the primary duty of the directors. They should, therefore, make the attractions during the exhibition as interesting and entertaining as possible, so that the gate receipts will show as much progress from year to year as the above entries do. True, last year we had, unfortunately, the elements against us, but there was too much time lost in the speeding in the ring attractions, between the heats. Very many complaints were heard in this respect. Some said "why did you not get the Highland Dancers to fill up the time?" They gave great satisfaction last year. I have heard some gentlemen call the Toronto Industrial Exhibition a circus. Well, even so, it draws the crowd, gate receipts roll up, thereby enabling the directors to award larger prizes to the agricultural and all the other departments of their so called circus. It's much better for the money to be in the coffers of the Industrial Exhibition than in the capacious pockets of either Barnum or Forepaugh. I trow, therefore, that the best course our directors for 1888 should follow, is to run a little in the line of the Industrial Exhibition, held at Toronto.

D. D. GALLETLY,
Secretary.

TOWNSHIP SOCIETIES' REPORTS.

Annual report of the Directors of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society for 1887 :—

We held our fall show on Oct. 13th, and 14th, and are pleased to be able to give favorable report. The weather was favorable and the attendance good, the gate receipts exceeding that of any previous year, while the show in general was good.

The exhibit in horses this year was a little behind the average, although some very good animals were shown. The cattle, sheep and pigs, we think, were in advance of last year's, which shows that the stock-raisers of our township are taking a greater interest in their stock. The poultry were fairly represented, there being some very fine birds shown. The grain this year was a little behind in quantity but not in quality. Clam M, dairy produce, was well represented and shows that the bread and butter makers of the township take great interest in their work. But chief praise for raising the standard of the show so much above the average belongs to the ladies, they having surpassed themselves this year, although their efforts in home manufactures and in ladies' work always reflect great credit on themselves and on the show where they exhibit. The show in fine arts was up to the average, while that in flowers was remarkably good, considering the very dry season.

WM. RUTHERFORD, President.
E. B. TRUSCOTT, Secretary.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, resulting as follows :—

PRESIDENT—Wm. Rutherford.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—John Garbutt.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Robt. Vance.
DIRECTORS—Wm. Fair, Geo. W. Fitzgerald, Jas. Stevenson, M.P., Jos. Forster, Wm. Collins, Jos. Tully, John Moore, James Baptie and John Mounsey.

MR. JOS. TULLY thought it would be advisable to change the date of holding the annual exhibition, as it was generally considered to be too late in the season.

MR. G. M. ROGER supported Mr. Tully's suggestion, but other speakers thought that as other outside exhibitions had been arranged for with this in view so as to cause no clashing, it would not be advisable to change the date.

The matter of changing the number of days of the exhibition next came up, and it was decided by vote to have this year's exhibition cover three days instead of four.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Directors, at a subsequent meeting re-appointed Mr. D. D. Galletly secretary, and Mr. C. McGill Treasurer.

Coming Attraction!

The Incomparable Singing Comedienne Frankie Kemble, as "Sybil."

The New York News has the following about the new star in a new play that appears here Monday, January 23rd :—

"Last Monday a new play, by Clay M. Green, was given at this house. It is called 'Sybil', especially written to give Frankie Kemble an opportunity to show off her versatile talents, and in this respect it fulfils all the requirements. Miss Kemble is one of the brightest and prettiest soubrettes on the stage, and is possessed of real artistic talent as opposed to the usual boisterous "getting around" of the average singing comedienne. She first came to the public notice as Yum Yum, since when she has steadily gained ground. Many of her audiences were fairly surprised at her powers. The support was all sufficient, and an audience that filled every seat in the house thoroughly enjoyed the performance, which is of the liveliest description. Meanwhile 'Sybil' scored an unmistakeable success in the metropolis." Id

Messrs. M. Halpin and J. Clancy pleaded guilty to second violations of the Scott Act and were each fined $100 and costs.

A Memory of Early Days.

Base of childhood's tender years.
Swallowed oft with groans and tears,
How it made the flesh recoil,
Loathesome, greasy cn tor oil!
Search your early memory close,
Till you find another dose:
All the shuddering frame revolts
At the thought of Epsom salts!
Underneath the pill-box lid
Was a greater horror hid,
Climax of all inward ills,
Huge and griping old blue pills!

What a contrast to the mild and gentle action of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, sugar-coated, easy to take, cleansing, recuperating, renovating the system without wrenching it with agony. Sold by druggists. c

Discharged.

The Mail says :—"Fred Greenfield, Jas. McFadden and Frank Gleason, on a charge of being implicated in a burglary and sabbath-breaking affair at Peterborough, were brought before the Police Magistrate yesterday and discharged, on account of the police authorities at Peterborough not having sufficient evidence to convict."

Hypothetic Intervening.

Dr. Clarke, medical health officer, wishes the reports that diphtheria is becoming more prevalent in town, denied. He states that the severity of the disease has been greatly decreased, and that the score caused by a number of houses being recently placarded is groundless, as they were all old cases which the physicians had neglected to report before. The police are after a number of medical gentlemen who have been in the habit of too long delaying reporting cases under their care. All reports as to the increase of the epidemic, Dr. Clark says are silly exaggerations.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

STRAINED RELATIONS BETWEEN FRANCE AND ITALY.

A Warlike Message From M. Flourens to the Italian Premier—The Church and the League—The Trafalgar-square Riots Trials—Mr. Balfour's Perils.

LONDON, Jan 18.—Commercial and financial business was depressed in Paris to-day, and the Bourse was heavy on account of the strained relations with Italy. The evening papers attack Italy violently, and La France refers to Premier Crispi as "Bismarck's valet." Instructions have been given to the French consul at Florence as regards the course he should pursue in case the incident is prolonged.

It is semi-officially announced that Count de Mouy, the French Ambassador at Rome, having informed M. Flourens that the Proctor of Florence had intimated his intention to remove on Friday the seals affixed by the French Consulate to the documents relating to the Hussein successor, M. Flourens has requested Count de Mouy to inform Signor Crispi that if such an act of violence is committed the French Government will hold Italy responsible.

The Paris urges the Government to demand complete satisfaction from Italy for the indignity offered to the French Consulate at Florence, and, in the event of a failure by Italy to comply, to sever the relations between France and Italy and expel all Italians from France.

M. Flourens, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Count Menebrea, the Italian Ambassador, had a friendly interview this evening. An early settlement of the dispute over the Florence incident is now certain.

A London despatch to The New York Tribune says that official anxiety about Mr. Balfour has greatly increased. If the police authorities are to be believed he is in greater danger of assassination than Mr. Foster ever was, whose repeated escapes were almost miraculous. Plot after plot to murder the Chief Secretary has been frustrated. The Vice-Regal Lodge, where he resides, and Phœnix Park, in which the lodge stands, are swarming with detectives who do not allow him to take a step alone.

The view taken by the primate of the Church of Ireland that Prof. Galbraith's position as a member of the Finance Committee of the church is incompatible with his membership of the National League, has been sustained by the conference of the church now in session in Dublin. Prof. Galbraith will, he says, retire from the church committee.

Father Matthew Ryan was released to-day, after serving one month in Limerick Jail for inciting the people to illegal action in connection with the plan of campaign. He was met by 10,000 persons and received with loud cheers and congratulations from the Mayor, Sheriff, Municipal Council and many clergymen.

The crowd escorted Father Ryan fourteen miles to his parish at Herbertstown. The police followed the whole distance but were delayed when half way to Herbertstown by a car which had been drawn across the road. Father Ryan was thus enabled on his arrival home to address the people without interference. He advised the tenants to adopt the plan of campaign, which he said was moral and just, notwithstanding everything that lords, both spiritual and temporal, said to the contrary. A Nationalist meeting announced to be held at Ballygawley, County Tyrone, tomorrow has been proclaimed.

The trial of Cunningham Graham, M.P. for Lanarkshire, and M. Burns, the Socialist leader, charged with participation in the Trafalgar-square riots on Nov. 13, was concluded to-day. The charges of rioting and assault were laid aside, but they were sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment for taking part in an unlawful assembly.

In the Rouen Cathedral to-day a priest personated God in a dialog with the Devil. The representation becoming furious, blasphemy and even the "Marseillaise" and "En revenant de la revue," and the police had to be called to quell the disorder. Several arrests were made, but an attempt to clear the cathedral was unsuccessful.

The Landwehr clauses of the Military Bill were disposed of in the committee of the Reichstag to-day, and an amendment was also adopted relating to the period of service, the effect of which will be to enable men who enter the active army before their twentieth year to leave the Landwehr earlier. The measure will give the army in time of war nearly 700,000 additional trained men. The bill received the approval of the committee without further amendment. The cost is estimated at between 80,000,000 and 100,000,000 marks.

The Russian Government has renewed its anti-German measures in the Baltic provinces. Forty Lutheran clergymen in Livonia have been deprived of their benefices without a moment's notice because they used only the German language. The Czar revives the post of Governor of the Three Provinces and holds that official specially responsible for Russianizing measures.

The Polish Circle in Vienna has received an accession of strength in the persons of the exiled nobles hitherto residing in France and Italy. They have learned from Warsaw that secretly printed proclamations, unauthorized by the Polish Nationalists, bearing the arms of Poland and Austria, are being circulated in Warsaw. These proclamations call upon the Poles to rise in view of the impending war. The directors of Polish journals in Galicia held a conference in Lemberg and decided to maintain the greatest reserve and to warn Russian Poles against the men who are trying to incite a rising.

There is a ministerial crisis in the Admiralty Department. Lord George Hamilton and the civilian members of the board are in antagonism. The First Lord is pledged to effect further financial reforms, and to overcome internal resistance has made the reorganization of the department a Cabinet question. A committee of the Cabinet has been formed to investigate the question under the presidency of Mr. Goschen. This matter has caused consternation in naval circles.

The great success of the issue of Argentine bonds is generally admitted in the press to-day. The result has far exceeded the sanguine expectations of the brokers. It is certain, however, that complaints will be heard from disappointed applicants. The scrip is quoted at 1¼ premium.

The issue by the Credit Lyonnais of the Quebec Provincial four per cent. loan has also been a success. The applications covered the amount asked in London alone before 12 o'clock today, and 1¼ premium has been obtained.

WHAT DID HE DO WITH IT?

Confidential Bookkeeper Young of Detroit Arrested For Embezzling $50,000.

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—Chas. E. Young, for several years confidential bookkeeper and cashier in the Michigan Carbon Works of this city, and last fall promoted to the treasurership, has been arrested, charged with embezzling $50,000 of the company's funds. About six or eight months ago the suspicions of President Jarvis were aroused. Business had increased in magnitude, yet the profits returned were not as large as formerly. Young was the last man suspected. Mr. Jarvis personally examined the books in search of a clue, which he finally found in some apparently inexplicable items of expense, in what was called the petty cash book. Then he went back to 1885 and traced the books up from that year. His diligence was rewarded by finding monthly defalcations beginning at $200 and $300, and increasing to $700, $800, $900 and $1000 at a time. Since Jan. 1, 1885, about $50,000 has been appropriated. The first intimation Young had of the discovery was on Monday afternoon, when the deputy sheriff, armed with a capias, called upon Young at his office and took him into custody. His arrest was kept secret, and not until last evening did the fact of his incarceration become known. The jail officers even then refused to allow the prisoner to be interviewed, and he has, as yet, seen only his counsel. When arrested Young disclaimed all knowledge of speculations, and thought he could explain all if given a chance.

Young had a secret hearing before Judge Hosmer. After the interview in the lawyer's office he was remanded to jail in default of $50,000 bail. Bondsmen have not yet been found. Young is about 37 years old, has a wife but no children. What he has done with the money is a mystery, as he was not known to have frequented gambling houses or speculated. He has not lived it all out.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Jan. 18.—Frank Fouckner, a young Austrian, this afternoon shot his wife Addie three times in the head, inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal, and then shot and instantly killed himself. A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

ROBERT ORME OF LONDON TOWNSHIP FOUND DEAD.

On His Way Home From Lucan a Bullet Sent by an Unknown Hand Pierces His Brain—The Post Mortem and Inquest.

LUCAN, Jan. 18.—Robert Orme, a farmer residing on the 16th concession of the Township of London, attended a cheese factory meeting here yesterday. At 10 o'clock last evening he left the village on his return home. About three miles from the village, when nearing his own residence, he was met by some party, evidently only one person, who must have got into Orme's cutter, as every appearance indicates a severe struggle between the murdered man and his assailant.

The horse and cutter arrived home without the driver and robes. When the man's son, who had been awaiting his father's return, found the horse he immediately got into the cutter and retraced the road, supposing that the horse had run away and left the driver on the road. One mile and three-quarters from his residence he found the dead body of his father and the robes on the side of the sleigh-track. He deposited it in the cutter and drove home. He then came back to Lucan and gave the news to his friends.

Several of the villagers proceeded to the scene of the tragedy, and upon a close inspection found the man's cap, a trail of blood for a short distance, and also the revolver with which the dead had been committed.

The man's overcoat and other garments were open, which evidences the fact that robbery was the object. It is supposed that there was not much money on his person, as no money was paid out at the meeting of the cheese manufacturers, and on examination of his pockets a $2 bill was found in one of his pants pockets. He had no weapons of any kind on his person. He owned a revolver, but it was at his house with all the chambers empty. Neither was there any ammunition in the house.

Apparently nothing was disturbed on the murdered man's person. Only the overcoat and undercoat were unbuttoned. A memorandum book in the breast pocket of his overcoat was not disturbed. The revolver found was a first-class one, thirty-two calibre, with silver mounted pearl handle. Four chambers were empty.

THE MURDERED MAN.

Little Light Thrown on the Tragedy at the Inquest.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Robert B. Orme, the victim of last night's tragedy on the town line between Biddulph and London, was about 45 years old, born on the eleventh concession of London and had been a life-long resident of the neighborhood. He was a member of the Methodist Church, as were also the rest of the family, and was a well-to-do farmer. Rev. James H. Orme, the Methodist minister at Wardsville, and J. W. Orme, proprietor of The Lucan Enterprise, are brothers of deceased.

The inquest held to-day by Dr. Hostack of Lucan failed to throw much new light on the tragic event. Whitfield Orme, 17, eldest son of deceased, testified that when his father left for Lucan yesterday to attend the cheese factory meeting he was apparently in good health and spirits. Whitfield described the return of the horse and cutter last night about 10 o'clock without a driver. The horse was not heated. Witness and his brother found their father lying beside the road about a mile from home. The robe and horse blanket were partly under him. The body was still warm, but showed no signs of life. When the boys got their father home they found the bullet hole in his head.

John H. McConnell of Lucan testified that blood was traced for over 100 paces toward Lucan from the place where Orme's body was found, and here his cap lay in the snow with blood on the front of it. Near the cap a revolver was found and the side of the cutter was covered with blood.

Ernest Orme, a younger son of the victim, corroborated his brother's evidence and the inquest was adjourned for a week.

The post mortem made by Dr. Sutton of Clandeboye showed that the bullet, a 32-calibre one, had entered the right side of the skull and lodged in the lower part of the brain on the left side. The weapon was a new self-cocking six-chambered revolver, 32-calibre. Four chambers had been loaded. One was charged when found. There were three empty shells in the pistol, one shell being an old one and slightly rusty while the other two had been recently exploded.

A few days ago Orme drew $150, his share of profits in a cheese factory. He spent $50 or $60 of this money in London, but the balance is not accounted for.

In the absence of any clue to the murderer there is talk of suicide, but no plausible reason can be assigned why Mr. Orme should have taken his own life.

CENTRAL BANK'S AFFAIRS.

HOW THE WORK OF LIQUIDATION IS PROCEEDING.

About Forty Cents on the Dollar in View—Proceedings Before the Master—The Niagara Central Rates.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.

The work of liquidating the Central Bank goes slowly forward. The announcement made yesterday that not 40 cents on the dollar would be realized by depositors, cast a gloom over North Toronto and Guelph where much of the money on deposit came from. The effect of the failure in Guelph is luminously set forth in an extract given below from a Hamilton paper. All the information that could be obtained yesterday confirms the general belief that 40 cents will not be realized, and that only in instalments and after much delay. He who waits for the liquidators coming generously to his relief trusts a broken reed. There will be much squabbling, much litigation, much going to and fro and much noise—but little money for the creditor.

The shareholders are also in uncomfortable plight. The proceedings before the Master-in-Ordinary at Osgoode Hall yesterday were to the end to let no shareholder escape under guise of transfer or otherwise.

Mr. Foster moved for leave to sue certain parties, the names and amounts being set out in an affidavit sworn to by Mr. Campbell, in his possession. He also moved for an order sanctioning certain actions taken by the liquidators on Jan. 6, on their own authority. The orders asked for were made, and it was also directed that proceedings should be taken in the other cases by the liquidators, according to their own judgment of what was to the advantage of the estate of the bank, provided that no action was started without at least a reasonable security for costs, and that no action was to be brought to trial without an order from the Master.

Mr. Foster asked, in reference to the list which was to be prepared of contributories liable as shareholders, whether the names of those who had transferred their shares within the month prior to the suspension should be included, or only those to whom the shares had been transferred. After reciting the provisions of the Winding-up Act, which are more general than those of the Bank Act, in that they direct that not only all persons by law liable, but all persons who are not explicitly freed by law from liability shall be brought in, the Master directed that the liquidators should use their own discretion and bring before him on Saturday next, Jan. 21, as full a list as possible, when the whole matter will be discussed.

The Master directed Mr. Campbell to give him an account on Saturday next of his action as interim liquidator.

In the afternoon Mr. James Maclennan, Q.C., appeared before the Master on behalf of the Niagara Central Railway. It seems that that company borrowed $160,000 from the bank, giving as security notes endorsed personally by the directors and others interested in the road, said notes extending over eighteen months, and an agreement was also made that when the notes matured debentures of the City of St. Catharines were to be substituted for them. Instead of keeping these notes in the safe of the bank the management rediscounted them with other banks in order to raise money to carry it over the difficulties that beset the path of the Central. The Dominion Bank got one of these notes for $35,000 and the Imperial one for $34,500. Mr. Maclennan moved that under the agreement made not to dispose of the notes, the liquidators should be ordered to take them up out of the moneys in their hands. This was opposed by Mr. O'Brien for the liquidators. The Master, however, ordered that the $35,000, which is due to-day, should be taken up by the liquidators, and notice given by advertisement to the shareholders when the other note matures.

The Central Bank in Guelph.

The failure of the Central Bank is felt more in Guelph than in any other community in the country. A branch of the bank was established in Guelph under the management of a gentleman who was popular with the business people of the Royal City. The result was that a large proportion of the business men of the place withdrew their accounts from the older banks and placed them in the Central. Many men of means were induced to become stockholders in the new concern, and a considerable proportion of the whole stock of the bank was held in Guelph. The crash came and Guelph is in sackcloth and ashes. The failure of the bank made such a clean sweep of the available money of the Guelph people that it is now almost impossible to collect accounts in that city. Business of every kind, except the larger manufactories, is hampered, and the whole city is plunged into such a condition for lack of money that it will be marvelous if some of the business concerns will be able to pull through.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL

Tom S. Rubidge's Discouraging Report.

A Documentary Dumper on the Scheme—The Hostile Engineer's Report Dragged Out for Him—Is it Worth the Money it has Cost?

The report of Engineer Rubidge, about which there has been considerable correspondence in the EXAMINER recently, is at last given to the public through the medium of the Empire from which the following is taken The discouraging and evidently hostile tone of the report, makes it incumbent on the friends of the scheme to so ply the commission with facts and figures that, it cannot by its report add to the unfavorable, light in which Engineer Rubidge's report is calculated to throw the Trent Valley Canal project:—

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—Previous to issuing instructions to the Trent Valley Canal Commissioners the Department of Railways and Canals, with the view of facilitating the labors of the commission, called upon Mr. Tom S. Rubidge, engineer in charge of the works in progress, for a report upon the projected undertaking, together with such plans and sections as are now ready, and also a careful estimate of cost of construction resulting from a close instrumental survey of the entire route.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The distance between Trenton, at the mouth of the River Trent (a point 73 miles from Kingston by the Bay of Quinte route), and Waubaushene, on Matchedash Bay, is 197 miles following the main line of navigation as finally located, and the total lockage required in ascending and descending to and from the summit 840.5 feet. Of this distance 109 miles are already a good natural navigation, requiring but little improvement, and Mr. Rubidge says it is quite practicable to improve the remaining 88 miles so as to convert the whole distance into a navigable channel for river tugs and barges. The limit of the scale of navigation which can be attained, and which Mr. Rubidge recommends as best adapted to the capabilities of this route, is calculated for barges of not exceeding 250 tons, i. e., for locks 134 feet long by 33 feet wide by 5 feet depth on the mitre sills. Prism of canal 50 feet wide on bottom and 6 feet in depth. A close estimate of the cost of construction, the details of which have been carefully worked out, exclusive of land damages and claims for riparian rights, the completion of existing isolated works, with the partially improved intermediate reaches, including also all recently constructed works under the head of Trent navigation, none of which Mr. Rubidge had the means of ascertaining at the time he wrote his report (he then being in Peterborough), indicates the probable cost of construction to be $8,684,650.

In the years 1832-35 a survey was made by Mr. N. H. Baird, and an admirable report thereon prepared by him, in which he graphically describes the leading features of the country traversed. Inasmuch, therefore, as the route recommended by him is practically that upon which Mr. Rubidge reports a further description of the route is not given.

The practicability of Baird's survey as a whole was confirmed by the preliminary examination of 1882 83 and has served as a basis in subsequent operations. The main line of water communication as recommended by Baird has generally been adhered to although many changes to suit the altered circumstances of the case have necessarily been made in the method of improvement suggested by him at a period so remote, and when the country was a comparative wilderness.

CHARACTER OF WORKS.

The quality of the various structures is proposed to be similar to the standard of the St. Lawrence canals, and they are designed to be as substantial as possible and fully equal to the class of work described in the specifications for the Trent navigation. The rivers and lakes followed by the main line as a rule are long and shallow, their shores low and highly cultivated, and as in the case of the Trent and Otonabee rivers already occupied by mills and manufactories. It has, therefore, been considered unwise to attempt to alter the existing levels by constructing dams across their channels, the effect of which would be to drown a large extent of country, thereby destroying arable lands, creating sickness and also interfering with alleged riparian rights, so generally and largely claimed by owners of land on the line of the proposed improvement. To avoid these conflicting interests and complications, also in view of the contingency of the partial destruction of the system of dams—as recommended by Baird—by freshets or otherwise, the engineer says recourse must be had to collateral cut where practicable, and this method has been selected in preference to the original project, wherein the canalization of the rivers formed an important feature.

The cost of the execution of the work will much depend on the nature of rock found on the route (which, so far as ascertained, is limestone), its hardness in excavating and its suitableness for purposes of construction.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS.

As pertinent to the cost of this vast undertaking, particularly in the event of future works being authorized, Mr. Rubidge says an important element presents itself for consideration, viz., the excessive claims for damages by owners of alleged riparian rights, as exemplified in connection with works recently completed on Trenton Falls and Lakefield, on the Back Lakes Division, and also in former years on the Trent and Otonabee Rivers. Throughout this chain of waters the inhabitants for whose benefit the improvements were designed, now complain of the injury they have caused and seek redress therefor. Under these circumstances the engineer says that if the projected canal possesses even a limited share of the importance which is attributed to it by those locally interested, or is deemed worthy of improvement by the Government, it should readily be conceded that the bed and waters of the rivers and intermediate lakes traversed by the main line are public property and belong to the state, and that therefore private persons have no right to encroach upon them. He, therefore, urges that, as a preliminary step to proceeding further with new works, a thorough investigation of the whole subject of riparian rights be made in order that the ultimate position of the Government may be defined.

THE TOTAL COST.

Completeness is given to the report by the addition of data supplied by Mr. Page, Chief Engineer of Canals, which Mr. Rubidge had not in his possession.

Mr. Rubidge's estimate for the works to be done to form a line of navigation adapted to the passage of vessels carrying 250 tons burden, amounts to the sum of	$8,684,650 00
Isolated works, consisting of partial improvement of intermediate reaches, are not included in the above. These, Mr. Page says, may be reasonably placed at	200,000 00
Land damages and claims for riparian rights, flooding of lands, etc., are also not included. These, from the demands that have already been made, with other unforeseen expenses, Mr. Page sets down at	450,000 00
Work in progress under the head of "Trent Navigation," surveys, etc., when settled for in full will probably cost	650,000 00
Grand total	$9,984,650 00

THE WELLAND ROUTE V. THE TRENT.

From the Sault Ste. Marie or the Straits of Mackinaw, points common to both routes, Waubaushene, on Georgian Bay, and Sarnia, on Lake Huron, are lake ports equidistant therefrom, and are therefore selected in making a comparison in time or distance between those places and Kingston, viz.:—

WELLAND ROUTE. Distances. Miles.		TRENT ROUTE. Distances. Miles.
Sarnia to Welland Canal	240	Waubaushene to Trenton	127
The Welland Canal	20	Trenton to King ston	73
Welland Canal to Kingston	165		270
	805

WELLAND ROUTE

	72 Hours.

TRENT ROUTE.

	Hours.
Lake and river—122 miles, at 6 miles per hour	20
Canals and improved reaches—88 miles, at 3 miles per hour	29

	80 Hours.

SUMMARY.

Welland.		Trent.
Time, hours	72	Time, hours	80

Lake and river, miles	475	Lake and river, miles	122
Canal, miles	30	Canal and improved reaches, miles	88
Lockage, feet	330	Lockage, feet	350

From the above Mr. Rubidge says it will be seen that from either Chicago or Duluth to Montreal the time of transit would be eight hours in favor of the Welland route. With reference to this comparative statement of distances, time in making the respective voyages, etc., between the Welland and Trent routes, Mr. Page adds a note that it should be borne in mind that a vessel by the former route can take a cargo from six to seven times greater than could be done by a vessel using the line of navigation represented as suited to the Trent Valley route.

The Correct Time.

There are very few men who do not pride themselves on always having the correct time; and wonderful and delicate mechanisms are devised to enable them to do so. But the more delicate a chronometer is made, the more subject it comes to derangement, and unless it be kept always perfectly clean, it soon loses its usefulness. What wonder then, that the human machine—so much more delicate and intricate than any work of Man—should require to be kept thoroughly cleansed. The liver is the main-spring of this complex structure, and on the impurities left in the blood by a disordered liver, depend most of the ills that flesh is heir to. Even consumption (which is lung-scrofula) is traceable to the imperfect action of this organ. Kidney diseases, skin diseases, sick headache, heart disease, dropsy, and a long catalogue of grave maladies have their origin in a torpid or sluggish liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery by establishing a healthy, normal action of the liver, acts as as a cure and preventative of these diseases.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent, profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "give aways;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual meeting of the united townships of Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society was held in the Agricultural Hall, Warsaw, on Thursday, Jan. 12th, and was well attended—as usual. The Directors congratulate on the success of their labors for the past year. There is one grand thing that has been done by this old and reliable society, viz., that of bringing in pure bred stock bulls, Durhams, Ayrshires and Holsteins, to this neighborhood for the use of its members. There is a marked improvement in stock of late years in these parts. Only one thing has to be done, viz., to join the Society and receive its benefits. The Society at the present time can boast of its forty members with a balance in the treasurer's hands of nearly $300. The legislative grant for the last year was over $100. The Society held their fall show in October last which was well attended and was a success, where the marked improvement in stock could be readily seen. The directors, with president Smith as leader, work with energy and good will, and feel satisfied that the old Society is still the A No. 1 in the county of Peterborough or province of Ontario. All communications addressed to Wm. Snelgrove, secretary, Warsaw.

AN ANIMATED DISCUSSION.

Over the Proposition to Continue Recorder Taylor's Examination in His Cell.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The proposition to hold another judicial session in Banker Taylor's cell to-day gave rise to a very animated discussion in the corridor of the Court House between County Crown Attorney Hutchinson, Mayor Cowan and Taylor's counsel, Mr. James Magee.

Mr. Hutchinson questioned the right of Mayor Cowan to preside at the examination. The Mayor stated he had been requested by the magistrate to do so, but admitted he had no written authority to that effect. Mr. Hutchinson then emphatically declared the trial of the case must be held in the Court House or not at all. The Mayor said that in consideration of Mr. Taylor's physical condition the examination would be held in the debtor's cell.

Mr. Hutchinson: "If Taylor was able to go before the Chief Justice he is able to come up in open court on these charges. I'm going to have no more hole and corner business."

Mr. Magee: "Let us get Dr. Smith, the jail's surgeon, and hear what he has to say."

Mr. Hutchinson: "You need not trouble yourself. I decline to be governed in this matter by the opinions of any one, especially a man like him. I place no confidence whatever in him."

The jail surgeon here appeared on the scene and Mr. Magee appealed to him.

Mr. Hutchinson: "The conduct of Dr. Smith in this case has convinced me that there is no use placing the least reliance on him. I decline to pay any attention to what he may say."

Dr. Smith: "I don't ask you to take my statements for it. Here are the certificates of Sir Henry Clarke and Dr. Woodruff."

Mr. Hutchinson said he didn't care for any certificates. Anybody who saw Taylor before the Chief Justice knew they were all tomfoolery.

The Mayor then read the certificates. That from Sir Henry Clarke stated that it would in all probability endanger Taylor's life to mete out to him the treatment of any ordinary criminal. Dr. Woodruff's was to the effect that he was suffering from an acute form of heart disease.

Mr. Hutchinson said he would let the information lapse and bring Taylor before the Grand Jury at next assizes direct. Subsequently, however, it was agreed between Mr. Magee and Mr. Hutchinson that the case should be adjourned till Monday, when the Police Magistrate would take it up.

A BRILLIANT GATHERING.

Twelve Hundred Invitations Accepted for the Ball at Government House.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—The ball at Government House last night was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever witnessed in Toronto. The greatest throng ever seen within the gubernatorial mansion had assembled by 9.30. It was the first "big ball" held there since Sir Alexander Campbell and Miss Marjorie Campbell became its host and hostess. Over 1500 invitations had been sent out and 1200 had been accepted. The ladies were there in the proportion of four to three, but the throng was too dense to enable anyone to gain a correct idea of the richness and beauty of the hundreds of feminine costumes. Sir Alexander and Miss Campbell spent over an hour in receiving their guests when they began to arrive. Miss Marjorie looked lovely in white tulle as she assisted at the early receptions.

Hon. O. Mowat, Hon. A. S. Hardy and Hon. G. W. Ross did the honors for Sir Alexander's constitutional advisers, and as is usual with these astute politicians, they did it well. The Attorney-General was frequently quizzed about his meeting with Sir John and the Governor on Tuesday, but he was too deeply concerned in the gay scenes around him to talk about such trivial matters. By the way, the gentleman from Brantford who presides over the State Department is really an attractive to the ladies on such occasions.

TORONTO TOPICS.

It is reported that Hon. Mr. Pardee will leave shortly for Florida in search of improved health.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Conservatory of Music was held yesterday, and the report submitted showed the institution to be a decided success, the number of pupils having increased from 100 at the start, Sept. 5, to 260.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment somewhat amused. They say the Tories mean business men are promising would lead one to believe that the General Conference are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it must have not to be already known it is, the Public will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to please it mildly, this is expecting almost too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and cheaper's largely, just such Goods as are in general demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be hood-winked, don't be misled with transparency in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Cant. well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this smother the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' [illegible] pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00. SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 69c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's, where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

Sunday School Feast.

Wednesday evening a most successful school feast, provided by the teachers and friends of St. John's South Ward Mission Sunday School, was held in the mission school rooms, Dalhousie street. From half past six to eight o'clock a delicious menu of refreshments—cake, coffee, etc.—was served to the pupils. After this a very entertaining programme of vocal and instrumental music and recitations was presented. Mrs. Seward and Miss Watt gave vocal solos. Miss Ettie Martin, Edith Evans and a chorus gave a song. Miss Louise Yokome and Mr. A. V. R. Young gave violin solos. Recitations were given by Mabel Roy, Richard Watt, May Martin, Alice Barlow, Birdie Martin, Phenie Hillier, Lacy Sabine, Lillie Rook, Harold Hilliy and Tillie McFarlane. After bags of sweets had been distributed by the children by the superintendent, on behalf of the teachers, and by the superintendent to the teachers coffee, half of the pupils, a delightful evening's enjoyment, to the children as well as their parents who were present in large numbers, was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the Queen." The superintendent Mr. Young and the zealous and devoted teachers, are to be congratulated upon the success of the annual feast and upon their success in conducting the school. Master Fred-lie Benton, a diminutive little organist covered himself with glory by his excellent performance on the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Seward were also present and gave valuable assistance, as they are always ready to do on similar occasions.

Southerners in Canada.

The profound ignorance of Canada and Canadian customs common among foreigners was illustrated Tuesday afternoon at Fairweather's fur store. Several members of the Lizzie Evan's troupe dropped into the store to purchase furs. They came from New Orleans, and this was the second time in their lives they had ever entered a fur store, the other occasion being in St. Louis, where one of them bought a sealskin sacque for $450. They asked numerous questions as to skating, how snowshoes were worn, how toboggan slides were operated, etc., and one of the gentleman purchased a pair of moccasins just to see how they went. He was drawing them over his boots when the clerk explained to him how they were worn. As the company was only to be in Canada a week or so, he didn't think it worth while to buy moccasins if he had to take off his boots every time he wore them. This was the first visit to Canada of several of the company, and they expressed the opinion that if they lived in our bracing climate very long they would not take back the sallow faces with which they came. Fairweather & Co. sold them a couple of sets of furs, which they said would only be of use to them during their short stay in Canada, as they went directly south from here.

Wellington Won.

At the regular meeting of the St. Peter's Literary and Debating Society in the Murray street school house, Wednesday evening, a debate was held upon the subject: Resolved, that Wellington possessed greater qualities as a statesman and a soldier than Napoleon Bonaparte. President J. D. McIlmoyle occupied the chair. The affirmative was led by Dr. Brennan, assisted by Mr. R. Henry; the negative, in the absence of Mr. J. O'Meara, was kindly shouldered by Mr. Hugh O'Leary, of Lindsay, who was paying a visit to the school. Mr. J. J. Sheehy lent him valuable assistance. The debate was very spirited, and was listened to with evident interest by a large audience of ladies and gentlemen and a number of the clergy. The affirmative were awarded the victory. After the debate songs were rendered by Miss Begley, Miss McFadden, the Misses McIlmoyle and Dr. Collins, Miss A. Macdonald acting as accompanist. Before the meeting closed a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Mr. O'Leary for his kindness in leading the negative side of the debate in the unavoidable absence of the appointed speaker, Mr. J. O'Meara, and Mr. O'Leary was made an honorary member of the Society. The next debate will be held two weeks hence, the subject of which will be announced later.

Stenographic Success.

Miss E. Harper, of Peterborough, was in Lindsay on Tuesday and in the evening organized a class, in shorthand instruction, of eleven pupils. Miss Harper's Lindsay class meets every Tuesday and Friday evening. In the meantime Miss Harper will continue her daily class at the Mechanics' Institute building here. Miss Harper is a competent teacher of stenography, and this latest evidence of her success at organizing classes for instruction in the art is certainly a proof that her efforts in behalf of public education are appreciated and that the young people are beginning to realise that in the study of shorthand there is both mental improvement and pecuniary profit. Miss Harper is also agent for the Remington type-writer, which she is prepared to sell at the lowest prices.

Ashburnham Council.

Rooney by the council. The first business meeting of the council will be held next Monday evening.

Farmers' Institute.

First Public Meeting—College Professors and H. F. Pa., Present—Interesting Matters Treated of.

Thursday, Jan. 19.

The first meeting of the West Riding of Peterborough Farmers' Institute convened in the Court House this morning. There was a fair attendance of farmers present, Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., occupied the chair and, and after a few preliminary general remarks introduced the first speaker, Prof Mills of the Agricultural College, Guelph.

Prof. Mills was pleased to meet with the farmers. He had been engaged in institute work since 1884, and it had been very successful. He thought that no other institution was doing so much in proportion to the outlay as the Farmers' Institutes of the country. As early as 1862 he had advocated the extension of the college vacations at Christmas, so that the professoriate could meet the farmers directly and personally. In 1884 he had organized the first institute and since that time the staff of the Agricultural College had assisted at 30 to 40 institutes each year and this year the number would reach 50. He came to counsel with farmers not to teach them. He emphasized the importance of farmers meeting together and comparing notes of their necessarily varied experience. The Farmers' Institute was doing good solid work, and it had come to stay. Referring to in which farmers were behindhand, Prof. Mills said there were too many weeds, thistles, etc. He had determined to clean up the Model Farm or sell it (cheers). He was well acquainted personally with the hard work on a farm. Farmers couldn't afford to cultivate dirty fields—the best of soils were not rich enough to give place to both crops and weeds. The full yield could not be secured without thorough cultivation. First, look to a good seed bed; then, second, the loosening of the soil to give the roots a chance. Barley needed a shallow seed bed and oats and wheat a deeper one. The third result of cultivation was an increase in the water-holding power of the soils. The absorption of ammonia is facilitated by loosening the soil, the air has a better chance to act on the soil and convert the mineral constituents into plant food. The more the soil is stirred the better it resists drought. This applies to root crops especially. The best time to clean soil is before it gets dirty, and great gain will come from cultivating the soil about roots even if it is not dirty. Root crops are a substitute for summer-fallowing only when the roots are kept clean. Ploughing stubble once after harvest won't do. All stubble ground should be ploughed twice, by hook or by crook — no time found for this purpose is wasted; cultivate the stubble at once the crop is off. The weed seeds are started and a later ploughing turns them under. Keep ahead of the weeds. The importance of clover as a soiling crop, was strongly insisted on. It had a great faculty, however the thing was done, of attracting nitrogen—and making it a constituent of the soil available for plant food. The close of Prof. Mills address brought remarks from Mr. Learmonth, of Otonabee, and Mr. A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, and the President, Mr. Fitzgerald, generally endorsing the position taken by Prof. Mills.

Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., was invited to speak and said he was pleased to see so many present at the first meeting of the institute. There were as many farmers present as he expected. He had omitted to mention to the officers of the Association that it was the desire of the Minister of Agriculture that the question of Commercial Union should not be discussed at any meeting at which the Professors of the Agricultural College were present. Owing to his (Mr. Stratton's) absence from town the President would occupy the chair in the afternoon, and Mr. Stevenson, M.P., would occupy the chair at the evening meeting, and he trusted that all the farmers present would seek to get other farmers, present in town, to come to the meetings of the Institute, and to share in the undoubted benefit arising from the addresses made, and the subsequent discussions, and exchange of ideas. After he had announced the public meeting in the Opera House at 8 o'clock, the Institute adjourned until two o'clock p.m.

Mr. Stevenson gave a short address, pointing out the benefits to be derived from meetings of this kind.

Personal.

Master Willie Chamberlain, son of Mr. W. H. Chamberlain, went to Toronto to-day to attend St. Michael's College.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, at a meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, to receive the report of the provisional directors, was appointed one of the first vice-presidents.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., and Mr. W. H. Moore were among the large gathering of representative men who attended the annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company at Toronto on Tuesday.

Mr. Joseph Picard (with Mr. H. LeSrun) is in Toronto taking his first holidays during the past sixteen years he has been in Peterborough. Mr. Picard certainly deserves his holidays and it is to be hoped he will thoroughly enjoy them.

Prof. Mills, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, and Mr. C. Drury, M.P.P., East Simcoe, are in town attending the meeting of the Farmers' Institute. Prof. Robertson, of the Agricultural College, and Mr. Dryden, M.P.P., South Ontario, will address the Institute to-morrow.

Mr. J. T. H. McEwan of Manitoba, spent yesterday in town, calling on friends, en route to Scotland where he has been called by the death of his father. On the way from the North West Mr. McEwan was imprisoned four days in a Pullman car by the snow blockade.

POLITICS IN MANITOBA.

The Fifth Portfolio Still Unassigned—Mayor Jones Sentenced.

Winnipeg, Jan. 18.—The Free Press announces this morning what The World did several days ago, that the new Cabinet will consist of Greenway, Jones, Martin and Smart. The fifth seat, usually accorded Frenchmen, is left vacant, but will be secured by Prendergast. A. F. Martin pressed hard for it, but the Reformers feared that unless Prendergast was taken in they would lose one vote. The latter will be Minister of Agriculture.

The Conservatives hold a caucus to-morrow, when doubtless they will decide to oppose Prendergast in La Varendrye, and Jones and Smith in Winnipeg. There is a strong feeling in Conservative circles against both Jones and Prendergast.

It is learned that no struggle is the opposition to Mayor Jones that he has wired declining a seat in the Greenway Cabinet.

Highway Robbery at Windsor.

Detroit, Jan. 18.—Edward Krum, residing at Harrow, Ont., while strolling about Windsor on Saturday evening suddenly found himself in the toils of three footpads, who had, it appeared, been dogging his footsteps for some time. They relieved him of his watch and $30 in cash in a very professional way. The man reported the affair to Chief Bains and then returned to his home. The chief obtained a tolerably fair description of the highwaymen, and inferring that they must have crossed to Detroit came to this city and secured the aid of detectives. With only the description of the men the detectives, from their familiarity with the crooks of the city, succeeded in locating the trio, and last night lodged all three in the police station. As registered, their names and addresses are: James Findley, alias Finner, 21 years old, Windsor; Henry Pratt, alias Mushey, aged 22, Detroit; William Sugden, alias Rockford, aged 19, Windsor.

A Perjury Case at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 18.—John Stuart was charged by John Glasgow with perjury. It appears that Stuart rented a farm near Waterdown from Glasgow and as Mr. Glasgow had boarded out there during part of the summer there were contra accounts between landlord and tenant and the plaintiff claims they exchanged receipts in full. Stuart afterwards made affidavit that Glasgow owed him $200, and the arrest of the defendant followed. The case was adjourned until to-morrow.

MORE TROOPS AND SUPPLIES OF WAR SENT TO THE FRONTIER.

Bismarck said Recently Opposed to a Russian Commission in Sofia—For Strategic Reasons—Soldiers Suffering in Barracks.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The correspondent of The New York Times says that news is received from Poland of the arrival of fresh troops, the building of temporary barracks and the gathering of supplies and munitions of war.

The Vienna papers without exception receive the Czar's Moscow message, in which he believes that peace will prevail, with cheers. They say that Russia has serious reasons to paint things rose-colored until she raises a loan somewhere. Every large banking concern in Paris, it is said, has refused to listen to propositions for a Russian loan, giving the war rumors as a reason.

An Imperial decree just issued in Constantinople orders the War Ministry to run the greatest defenses in and around Andrinople.

The Military Bill has passed its first reading before the Committee of the Reichstag to-day, the Committee reserving the right to formulate proposals on the second reading of the bill.

After the return to Berlin of Count Shouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, negotiations will be resumed for a settlement of the Bulgarian question. It is reported that Prince Bismarck and Count Kalnoky agree to oppose the despatch of a Russian commission to Sofia and that they neither support the nomination of a regency under which the election of a new prince could be effected. The Emperor of Austria's desire to depose Prince Ferdinand has been instigated by the speech made by Ferdinand to his officers on New Year's day, in which he defied the efforts to dislodge him.

M. Sipourdan, a member of the Roumanian Cabinet, has come to Berlin to obtain an insight into Prince Bismarck's views on the political and military contingencies involving the interests of Roumania.

Advices from the frontier report further arrivals of Russian troops. One infantry division has arrived at Doubno and another at Ravno. The work of fortifying Doubno goes on without cessation.

The condition of the Russian troops on the Galician frontier is growing worse. Typhus fever is raging especially at Camp Casatochan. The cholera is so miserable that there have been many deaths from frost and general privation. The Warsaw commissariat is hastily forwarding provisions. A special sanitary corps started yesterday for Casatochan. The suffering of the troops is so great that in the opinion of Berlin military circles it will be impossible for them to remain encamped two months. Their condition, it is believed, must hasten the decision of the Czar, as the troops must either be given active work or be withdrawn from the frontier.

The Austrians also suffer, being badly housed, but their commissariat is good and the medical staff vigilant. In view of the hardships suffered by the Austrian troops and the sickness prevailing among the Russians, the Vienna war office has decided not to increase the forces on the frontier at present.

The Berlin court carnival fetes will be held at the Imperial palace, this year. There will be no levee. Presentations to the Emperor and Empress will be made during the fetes at the palace. General Von Schweinitz, German Ambassador to Russia, and Prince Bismarck will attend the carnival.

The headquarters of the Third Roumanian corps has been removed from L'Jalatz to Braza, and the headquarters of the Fourth corps and Seventh infantry division from Jassy to Roman, for strategic reasons connected with the massing of Russian troops in Bessarabia.

It is now officially denied that Bismarck has said upon Germany would enjoy peace for the next thirty years.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND HOOTED IN DUBLIN.

Justin McCarthy's Statement—Lord Salisbury's Successor—The Blessing of the Nova—A Strong Assertion—Non-Interference of the Pope in Irish Affairs.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The ancient ceremony of the blessing of the Nova was performed yesterday at noon. The Czar, bareheaded and attended by a numerous suite, left the Winter Palace and crossed to the pavilion erected on the shore of the river to witness the dipping of the Holy Cross by the Metropolitan Archbishop into the Neva through a hole cut in the ice, in celebration of the feast of the Epiphany. The usual salute of artillery accompanied the blessing of the waters, and the colors of all the troops were sprinkled with consecrated water. The Empress, the diplomatic body, and Lord and Lady Churchill witnessed the scene from the windows of the palace.

A London despatch to The New York Tribune says the Prison Board has not yet received permission of the Chief Secretary for Ireland to follow the recommendations of the visiting justices to remove Mr. Blunt to a comfortable cell, and to give him fire, a Bible and [illegible] materials. He is still confined in a [illegible], the assistant chaplain has been refused admittance, and every effort has been made to prevent him from speaking, although he has intimated his intention and desire to supplement his statement about Mr. Balfour.

With regard to the letter of Sir Henry Drummond Wolff to The Times, in which he contradicts the statement made by Mr. Shaw-Lefevre that Wolff had negotiated with Justin McCarthy touching the Home Rule question, Mr. McCarthy himself writes that he made no such statement, but merely said that the Nationalists were trying to get a pledge against coercion. The negotiations with reference to Home Rule was carried on with Lord Carnarvon.

Mr. Balfour was hooted while entering the building where he was going to attend the Judges' luncheon in Dublin to-day, by a crowd gathered outside which waited for his reappearance to hoot him again. When he came out he was received with fierce yells and jeers and cries of "Balfour, the liar," which were continued until he was out of sight.

It is altered in United Ireland that the Government had made arrangements for the arrest of Canon O'Mahony, who charged Major Roberts, the Governor of Cork County jail, with corrupting young girls, and Canon Keeler, but had been deterred by an intimation that no Catholic constable in Cork County would make the arrest.

The Rome Opinione says it is hardly probable that the Pope has the intention to interfere in the settlement of the Irish question in the interest of the British Government. There is nothing to justify the hope of a successful issue to the Duke of Norfolk's mission, this is really [illegible]. The Pope, the newspaper adds, cannot go beyond advising the Irish bishops to follow a policy of prudence and moderation, as the Irish question is not of a religious nature. Gladstone's policy is best calculated to pacify Ireland.

TUESDAY'S TRAGEDY.

The Theory That Robert Orme Took His Own Life Gathers Ground.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The theory held by a number of persons that Tuesday night's tragedy on the London town line was simply a case of suicide is, in some measure, strengthened by to-day's developments. It appears that on Friday a man answering the description of Robert Orme purchased in a Dundas-street gun shop a 32-calibre self-cocking revolver, similar to the one with which Orme was shot. The purchaser quickly made his selection and, without any comments, promptly paid the price asked and left the store.

The proprietor of the establishment and the clerk who sold the weapon believe, from the published description, that their customer was Robert Orme, and state that they can identify the pistol when it is produced.

Deceased's life was insured for $2000.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Government Detective John Murray reached Toronto last evening from St. Paul, Minn., after having but a few hours before safely lodged John Kaiser Harris in the Berlin County jail. Harris is the young man who committed forgeries to the extent of some $5000 in the countryside around Berlin and fled the country.

He was tracked by Detective Murray to St. Paul, and on Oct. 5 last he was arrested in a remote part of Minnesota, where he was teaching a German school under the name of John Walther. Detective Murray had a great deal of trouble with his man, both in apprehending him and fighting the extradition proceedings. Harris has several influential friends in Minnesota who used every ruse to baulk his return to Canada on the serious charge of forgery, but Detective Murray met them at every point and landed his man after over three months of hard work.

Jacob B. Huber, a farmer and drover of Lancaster, Pa., swindled a number of persons at that place some months ago by forging the endorsation of wealthy people to notes and checks, aggregating $8000. He then skipped to Canada with the boodle, arriving in Toronto in November last. He dressed well, spent his money freely for a time, but subsequently deserted the ranks of the "rounders" and joined the Salvation Army. Whilst at dinner yesterday at the Albion Hotel he was taken into custody by Detective John Cuddy upon a warrant secured for his apprehension by Detective Gill of Lancaster. Forgery is the crime charged. The prisoner has intimated his willingness to return to Pennsylvania for trial without fighting extradition proceedings.

Hon. G. W. Ross presided at the opening lecture of the present session of the Normal School yesterday morning and delivered a short introductory address. He said that there were 7000 school teachers in Ontario, that 1000 new ones were needed every year, and that 1000 passed the examinations last year. Principal Kirkland read his lecture, dealing chiefly with the work before the students. Principal McIntosh of the Model School and Rev. Hugh Johnston also spoke, and Mr. Ross announced that a half holiday would be granted.

An advertisement printed in the city papers calling a meeting of the private shareholders of the Northern Railway only attracted a few gentlemen to the council room of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon. Hon. J. B. Robinson, who is taking a prominent part in getting these shareholders together, was voted to the chair. Owing to the absence of several interested parties the meeting was adjourned till this afternoon. Mayor Clarke's presence was particularly desirable, as the city is interested to the extent of $200,000.

The friends of Mr. Geo. Gamble entertained him at Headquarters last night on the occasion of his leaving the firm of W. A. Murray & Co. to go to New York. They presented him with a diamond pin as a token of their respect. The chair was filled by Mr. [illegible] Horswell and the vice-chair by Mr. R. S. Morrison, and an enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. Gamble takes with him the best wishes of his many friends.

BY THE BROCKVILLE, WESTPORT AND SAULT ST. MARIE RR.

The Distance Shortened by One Hundred Miles—Another Railway Subsidy—Sitting of the Exchequer Court at Cornwall—Annual Dinner of the Kingston Cadets.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—The New York, St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway Company are petitioning the Parliament of Canada to congratulate a line of railway from a point in or near the town of Brockville, to a point in or near the city of Ottawa, with power to amalgamate with any other companies in order to reach Montreal and other cities in this province.

Judge Burbidge will open a sitting of the Exchequer Court on Wednesday at Cornwall to hear further evidence in the Cornwall Canal expropriation case of Mom, Ryan & Shields against the Dominion Government.

Lord Frederick Hamilton, brother of Lady Lansdowne, will shortly pay another visit to the capital. His Mr. Chaplean has recovered from his recent attack of bronchitis.

The annual dinner of the ex-cadets of Kingston Military College will be held at the Russell House on Saturday. The dinner is held in the principal cities in turn.

Mr. Wood, M.P. for Brockville, was in the city to-day. He said that by Feb. 7 forty miles of the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway will be open from Brockville to Westport and regular trains running. He is very hopeful of the success of the road and said:

"It will be the shortest route between the 'Soo' and the seaboard inasmuch as it is an air line, and by bridging the St. Lawrence at Brockville a connection will be formed at Morristown with a complete system of American railways. The local traffic will also be good, for the road so far runs through the eastern garden of the province and there are thirteen towns and villages along the line. The Canadian Pacific Railway will not be able to handle the freight of the Northwestern States, and our road, which shortens the distance to the seaboard by at least 100 miles, cannot fail to control a large share of the through freight."

The Fish Question.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Fisheries Conference lasted upwards of two hours to-day, and still the conference have not come to a definite understanding, as they are to have another meeting on Saturday. The utmost secrecy is maintained on both sides. Even the chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs says he has been unable to gather anything from Mr. Bayard as to the progress of the Conference. In referring to the matter to-day, Mr. Belmont made a significant speech to your correspondent. He said: "I am opposed to the repeal of the tax on fish, and I am confident that the members of the Foreign Affairs Committee will stand by me in this. They regard this tax as a political rather than a commercial matter, and they will oppose its repeal, even though it may be recommended by the Ways and Means Committee." Mr. Belmont went on to say that his object in opposing the tax is a desire to maintain a leverage upon Canada in the event of future complications arising between the two countries. It begins to look now as though the House will not add salted and cured fish to the free list.

The Opera House Meeting.

Farming as an Occupation.—Not so Bad After all.—Prof. Mills on the Subject Question.—The Ottawa Central School.

The public meeting in the Opera House last night was not very largely attended. Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., occupied the chair, and in a brief address introduced the first speaker of the evening.

Mr. Drury, M.P.P., in opening, spoke of the great benefits these Farmers' Institutes were to the agricultural community, though he was sorry townspeople did not take greater interest in it as they were equally interested. Referring to the subject of his address, "Farming as an Occupation," he said he had been a farmer all his life and had never had cause to regret it. Boys living on the farm have a tendency to move into cities, a step which he considered a great mistake. On the farm they had all the benefits of pure air, food and water, wholesome exercise, sweet and sound sleep, none of which can be enjoyed in the city. He then referred to the independence of the farmer's life, which he thought should atone for many of its hardships and disadvantages. Farmers, too, were men of leisure, and after their day's work was over they could rest quietly without any business matters to worry over. Then a farmer's hours of labor were more reasonable, for though at certain seasons they worked from daylight until dark, yet taken all the year round their hours were very moderate. The contention that money could not be rapidly made on the farm he admitted, yet tillage of the soil yielded a steady competence for the working man. Regarding the generally rough personal appearance of farmers, which led to their designation as "hayseeds," he thought farmers should pay a little more attention to this apparently unimportant circumstance of their lives. He urged farmers to take newspapers, particularly those especially devoted to the dissemination of agricultural knowledge, and thereby keep themselves posted. The speaker contrasted the difference in the appearance of city residences and farm houses generally, which, as a rule, were not places of comfort. If boys were to be kept on the farm, there must be an air of taste and comfort about the house.

THE CENTRAL FARM.

Mr. FLETCHER, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, was the next speaker. He gave a few facts about the farm with which he was connected. The government, he said, intended to have this one central farm and four divisional farms, in the maritime provinces, the Northwest, Manitoba and British Columbia. The location of these latter had not, however, yet been decided upon. At the Central Farm they had 465 acres of land suitable for their purposes. Their operations were principally in the line of seed testing. Samples were sent in by the farmers free of charge, the government having agreed to carry all samples and distribute the seeds at the Central Farm free of charge. Another important work was the introduction from Russia of a hardy grain, the Red Northwest, a variety which ripens before the early frosts and 10 or 15 days in advance of the Red Fife wheat. The question was asked why not these divisional farms established all over the Dominion? Simply because, except in Ontario, the provincial farms did not do the work, and why should the other provinces be left out? The Central Farm, for one thing, was endeavoring to introduce new fruits, such as were grown in cold Russia; to improve the quality of the fruits now grown in Canada: to report out to farmers what was best for them. Referring to his personal researches as botanist and entomologist, he asserted that every year the loss to farm produce by the inroad of insects was never less than 10 per cent., and sometimes as high as 25 and 30 per cent. The speaker gave figures showing the annual loss to the Dominion from the ravages of insects, which ran away up in the millions. There was a remedy for this too, he said, but unfortunately they hadn't yet discovered any practical remedy. For every pest in Canada he said there was an average of seven insects feeding upon it; the apple tree has no less than 200 varieties of insects preying upon it. He believed that remedies could yet be found for all of them. A few remedies had already been found, but the great majority of the pests committed their ravages undisturbed. In the botanical department much progress was being made in arborial and vegetable improvement, and experiments are being made to encourage the growth of fruit and timber.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Prof. MILLS began his address on the subject of schools. He said that in this democratic county the work of the public schools was of the utmost importance. If any great far reaching change, for better or worse, were to be made, it could best be done through these schools. It followed that the responsibility of the teacher was enormous, and nothing can make up for deficiency in the teacher. Nothing was truer than that "the master makes the school." The speaker denounced those "cheap" teachers when better ones could be procured for a few more dollars. Referring to Scotchmen, "by nature" their thrift, general intelligence and thirst for knowledge so justly proverbial, the energy in past days. Passing on to the question, what should the schools of our province undertake, what subjects teach and what not to teach, he thought first of all "it was most important to give children a thorough elementary training. The great majority of the boys and girls of our province were entirely dependent upon these schools for their education, and it was a national question, are the schools doing the best for them all round?" He contended that they did not, though on the whole they did fairly well. He thought the first principles of agricultural education should be introduced in order to enable their boys to make their labor as productive as possible. That the tendency of study in public schools was largely in pursuit of literary tastes, and a boy left the farm after having gone through the country first a district to unusual labor, and agricultural labor in particular. He considered that too much attention was paid to detail in some of the subjects taught in public schools which could be better taken up by a study of the first principles of agriculture. He urged a little less grammatical detail, less compositional exercise, as a mathematical subject, which, unfortunately, too often ousts the study of English composition and writing, and more direct or incidental teaching of agriculture. Prof. Mills produced a print of a box illustrating the potato bettering pest breeding, which he ran over to show how the fundamental principles of entomology could be taught. Prof. Mills wanted the fundamental principles of education taught, he said, but he wanted the first principles of agriculture also taught in our public schools. Minister Ross had promised to have it introduced into the public schools as soon as the farmers spoke for it. Prof. Mills advocated the establishment of thirteen agricultural schools, one in each electoral district, to educate those young men who intend to remain on the farm, and pointed to the example of Sweden in this matter.

Votes of thanks to the speakers of the evening were moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and seconded by Mr. M. H. Sanderson. Mr. Jas. Stratton, P.S.I., supported the motion, which was carried unanimously.

Agriculture in the Schools.

At the Opera House meeting last night, a report of which appears in another column, after Prof. Mills had concluded his address on the public school question, Mr. D. W. Dumble and Mr. Jas. Stratton, School Inspector, made a few remarks coinciding with the Professor in his call for a more simple and practical school education. His recommendation to establish agricultural schools throughout the province they also suggested, Mr. Stratton suggesting that each farmer give 25c. a year for this purpose. Mr. Dumble proposed that the farmers ask their county council to make a grant to the Collegiate Institute here so that the building could be enlarged, an agricultural professor engaged and the principles of farm husbandry taught the young men from the country attending the Institute.

FACTS, Sir; Nothing But Facts!

GOUGH

Is hard up and must raise the wind—he has too many Overcoats on hand, and he must, like the Waggon-Maker who has too many Sleighs on hand in an open Winter, sell them at any price.

Lots of other fellows have got the Stomach Ache—because GOUGH sells so cheap. Witness how the Dry Goods tumbled when the Wonderful Cheap Man took a hand in—One Chap over in the wholesale Fish District, has his ads written in Penntown, where the sewers run on top of the Street. He feels so bad he don't know how to describe it, so says: "He's crippled in Price;" we don't doubt it. Then there is another one he is tied up to Crowbar Bros. of Gotham—these fellows are as stiff on their prices as a Crowbar, and squeeze 50 per cent. profit out of their poor victims, but the victims are under the thumb of Crowbar Bros. and can't help themselves—Then there is the fellow who cannot advertise, It makes him nervous, he uses a whole quart of Camphor a day, and tells customers, "GOUGH is selling so Cheap, it is perfectly demoralizing to trade; I don't know how all this is coming out"—It merely comes out that the customer steers straight for the Wonderful Cheap Man--Then there is another fellow, if he sees one of GOUGH'S men on the street he yells "Give away;" he knows GOUGH gives away more than the high-priced fellows sell.

In the interest of the public I want $10,000 and I must have it. I am after a big Bankrupt Stock the biggest yet, and it requires the cash to get it. Therefore I will from now until January 1st, give ON OVERCOATS AND SUITS A DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT. on my former low prices. This brings my $1 95 Overcoats that other people advertise worth $3.62 down to $1.56; my $2.95 one to $2.36, advertised by others to be worth $6.00; my $3.75 one to $3.00, advertised by others to be worth $7.50, etc., etc., and yet this advertiser says he will save you money on an Overcoat to buy a suit. Talk about poking fun at the public but this big drive in Overcoats bought at 33⅓ Cents on the Dollar is the biggest lie on earth. GOUGH placed an order yesterday for 33 hundred Suits, and 22 hundred pairs of pants extra. This is more clothing in one order than those delusive advertisers will sell for the next ten years. If you want to see the Goods to back an advertisement up go to—

GOUGH, the Modern Clothier and Wonderful Cheap Man.

PROF. WOOD, F. L. S.

(Lecturer, Trinity College, Dublin).

For a prospectus of his system of training the memory. Recommended by clergymen, doctors and lawyers in all parts of Great Britain, United States and Canada for the wonderful results attained. Lectures and classes can be fixed in the mind of any reading over. Foreign languages learned at the rate of from 10 to 20 Arabic per hour. Dates and figures (the worst offenders of all subjects to remember) cannot be forgotten after being once read.

Rev. W. H. Pope, D. D., author of Pope's Theology, etc., says:—"I have every reason to believe the vast benefit to be derived from the study of your system of memory. Although it appears incredible that such knowledge can be acquired so quickly and so easily, the success of our students here in our college would satisfy the most skeptical. Wishing you success in your educational Revolution."

Rev. Chas. H. Corey, Port Elgin, N.B., says: "I am much pleased with the whole system, and will freely recommend it to those who require such a help to memory."

POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Favored by the United States National Board of Trade.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The National Board of Trade convention spent two hours of their forenoon session discussing the postal telegraph resolution proposed by the New York Board of Trade and Transportation. After an animated discussion on the resolution, which declares that the usefulness of the postoffice department should be extended in the direction of telegraphic communication, and urges the earliest favorable consideration of the question by Congress, the resolution was adopted by a two-thirds vote.

Erastus Wiman of New York spoke in opposition to Government control of the telegraphs. He said that in the British Post-office report of 1887 the table of receipts and expenses for the years 1868 to 1887, inclusive, shows a deficiency increasing annually, amounting during the last fiscal year to over $3,000,000. To meet this loss the whole population is taxed to defray a cheap telegraph service for the benefit of the commercial and professional classes alone. The telegraph is essentially the adjunct of commerce, and it is estimated that not more than two per centum of the entire population ever use the telegraph in any one year, and in the United States not over five per cent. of the revenues of the telegraph is derived from family and social messages. About 8 per cent. is derived from news service, and the remainder, about 87 per cent., is commercial and speculative, the greater part being the latter.

The question of Commercial Union with Canada was discussed at some length and the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Council be directed to memorialize Congress to provide for commercial relations with the Dominion of Canada upon the broad and comprehensive principle of complete reciprocity.

The discussion of the question of the abolition or reduction of the Internal Revenue was occupied a large part of the afternoon session. At the close of the discussion the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That recent events have shown in a manner which cannot longer be disregarded the danger to the business interests of the country from our Government continuing in time of peace the excessive taxation which was necessary in time of war. A large surplus in the Treasury tied up the circulating medium which is the life blood of commerce, exposes the people to still heavier taxation in the shape of high rates of interest, spells a menace to industry, dwarfs business enterprise, gives the Treasury a power over commerce which was never contemplated and is a constant temptation to extravagance in the administration of our government.

Resolved, That business men of all parties, whether Protectionists or Free Traders, should unite in demanding early action by Congress to reduce our present overburdensome revenue in a way which will leave undisturbed existing industries.

Resolved, That while it is desirable to reduce the internal taxes, it is not desirable to abolish the Internal Revenue system as a whole.

The resolution, embodying a proposition to recommend the total repeal of Internal Revenue taxes, failed.

Blew Out the Gas.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Two stalwart, middle-aged men applied for a room at the International Hotel yesterday morning and registered as T. P. Parker and L. Fulton of Shubenacadie, N.S. They were assigned to room 61 on the third floor. At 8.30 this morning it was noticed that gas was escaping from their room. The room was burst open and the bodies of both the men were found lying on the floor dead. One had the water pitcher clutched in his hand, and the other lay beside the bed. The latter had a bruise on the bridge of his nose and another on the cheek. The gas was on at full force. The coroner will investigate.

HALIFAX, Nov. 19.—The two men, Parker and Fulton, asphyxiated in New York, reported to be Nova Scotians, are not known at Shubenacadie, but Cushman Fulton left Truro for New York on Monday. He was a son of Thomas Fulton of Lower Stewiacke, and is engaged in lumbering. He leaves a wife at Onslow. Parker is believed to be a son of the late Thos. Parker of Salem, near Shubenacadie, who left there some years ago for the States.

It was probably the good sleighing that induced so many farmers to come to the city to-day. The market was overstocked and a general decline in prices was the result. Beef sold $1 a hundred lower this morning than it did on Thursday last week; retail prices generally remained unchanged.

The only article on the market that could boast of an upward tendency was poultry, which is very scarce and advancing in price. Fifty loads of hay sold at $11 to $15.

The Farmers in Conference.

A Well Attended Session of the Convention—Dr. Crevier's Paper on Symptoms of Rapes and Cattle Diseases—Mr. W. Collin's "Cattle Feeding"—Prof. Robertson's Ideas on Butter-making.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

At the afternoon session there was an increased attendance. Mr. M. E. Sanderson occupied the chair.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy, of Otonabee, first read a paper on "Mixed Farming." He said that public interest was being aroused all over the country on this subject, and while special farming may, in some cases, be profitable, it was generally admitted that mixed farming was the best policy of the average farmer of this country. He condemned the tendency of farmers to rush into the production of an article that had, the season before, been a very successful one. Next year the conditions may be changed and disappointment follow. And while mixed farming was advisable, there was a danger of becoming too much mixed. The soil of our country, he considered, was capable of producing just double the quantity of grain, roots, and grass than it was doing. It has been shown, he said, that it costs $16.47 to raise and acre of wheat, and that the average product per acre is 19 bushels, which at present prices represents a loss of about 60c. per acre. It was evident that some change must be made to make the business profitable. He urged economy and bringing up farms to their full capacity, and thus gain in quality and quantity what they lost in price. There was a diversity in the nature of the soil, and what one farm would grow perhaps the next could not. He knew of some men, he said, who had given up farming in disgust because they could not raise, perhaps, as much wheat or barley as their neighbors. He advocated the growing of clover wherever possible.

Prof. Mills asked Mr. Kennedy if he considered the only relief lay in increasing the quality and quantity of the produce. Did he not depend on the prices or outside agencies of any kind?

Mr. Kennedy replied that that was the only relief he saw. In response to a question as to what he considered the reason why, if the land was capable of producing twice as much as it did, it was not done, he said he believed it was due to a lack of system on the part of farmers, and because they didn't keep up their lands by fertilizing. He spoke of the relative merits of ashes and manure. He had experimented by placing manure on one part of a field and burning an old straw stack on another part, and the crop from the latter was better.

FERTILIZING.

Mr. A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, asked him how he accounted for the fertilizing qualities of straw.

Mr. Kennedy replied that he could not do so, as he wasn't a chemist.

Messrs. Davidson and Sanderson corroborated Mr. Kennedy's statement of the good results following from burning straw.

Mr. Kidd thought it would be better to use the straw as an absorbent of the liquid manure that goes to waste in stables before putting it on the fields.

In response to a question, Mr. Kennedy said the sub-soil of the country was good, and the surface was good too if properly treated, but there seemed to be something lacking to make it first-class. He believed there was nothing to equal clover. He plowed it down when it was green, about the month of October. He always plowed down the second crop.

Mr. Drury, M.P.P., said he was inclined to think that there were some particular circumstances surrounding Mr. Kennedy's case that gave a good result, but he would not recommend it for general use.

Prof. Mills said that when stubble was plowed under it took a long time for it to decompose. In burning, the organic substances were destroyed and the mineral substances were left in the ash. What goes off into the air chiefly is carbon. You would have better results, he said, if you could convert that straw into manure, say with liquid manure and rotting it by which means you will retain all the constituents, and they will return to the soil in time.

In reply to Mr. Kidd, Prof. Mills said the stubble was about half of the weight of any plant.—the exact proportion he forgot.

Mr. Kennedy said his method of destroying the soil was to summer-fallow, and plow in clover. He considered that the land could be ameliorated out by [illegible]

Prof. Mills said a good method was to sow one crop of buckwheat about June and another two months later. These two successive crops had been dried and [illegible]

Mr. Kidd said he had a farm [illegible] valued very low on account of the [illegible] great, and if it could be got rid of in this season this way it was worth a good deal to him.

Prof. Mills guaranteed that it would do so.

Mr. Learmouth, of Otonabee, described his method of getting rid of the grass, which he did by successive plowings for a couple of seasons.

Mr. Willan considered this barnyard manure question one of importance. No manure could become plant food until it was soluble. As regarded the application to the soil, he said from his own experience he found it best to keep his manure on the surface. After plowing in the fall (his soil being light clay) he spread the manure on and left it all winter, and sowed next spring without plowing.

PREPARING THE SOIL.

Mr. A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, next read a paper on "The Best Method of Manuring and Preparing the Soil." The question of manuring was, return for what we receive. He said from his own experience that the best means to bring up a run-down farm was to green manure it. If clover would not grow, plant some manurial cereal such as peas, rye or buckwheat, and turn it into the soil with the plough. He didn't believe in depending solely upon the barnyard manure for fertilizing. The chief difficulty was in the limited supply, and to meet requirements stable and barn floors should be cemented and the liquid manure saved. He advocated caring for manure and not allowing it to remain in the yard subject to the storms. He said manure should be kept moist, not let burn nor leach; let it be carted to the field early and applied to root crop, and that only. Every farmer needed all the acres of roots that he had 30 wagon loads of good manure to put under. The paper described the writer's method of planting root crops. He ploughed in spring, put on manure, covered it up again and sowed 3 to 4 pounds of seed per acre and top-dressed with say 500 lbs of guano, phosphates or land plaster, which under favorable growth will defy all the insects. The turnips should be thinned when 3 inches high, allow no weeds to come up, and as soon as the crop is housed plough deeply, cultivate thoroughly and next spring drill in barley, with 8 to 10 pounds of clover per acre. That process he said, would almost double the product.

Prof. Mills asked if Mr. Kidd had applied any of these special fertilizers.

Mr. Kidd replied that he had applied plaster and found it useful. He applied the plaster right over the turnips as they were sown. He was sorry to say that turnips were not much grown in the county of Peterborough.

A little discussion followed upon the methods of growing turnips, the majority agreeing with Mr. Kidd's method. Mr. Kidd said turnips would have to be more grown than now if farming was to be successful. The use of salt in sowing turnips was unanimously advocated.

Mr. Davidson believed if the manure was drawn out to the field in the fall it would save time. He said he put it on whether there was snow or not.

Mr. Millburn said he had tried it on the side of a hill, about two acres, but not until the second crop did he see any good results.

Mr. Jos. Trennum said he had found that in the spring the liquid manure did not run as much as might be imagined. He had come to the conclusion that fall was the proper time to put out manure. They saved valuable time that way. He didn't spread it out, but heaped it up.

Mr. Davidson opposed Mr. Willan as regarded heating. He believed in piling the manure up in the barnyard and letting it heat before taking it to the field.

THE MERITS OF CLOVER.

The question diverged to clover seeding.

Mr. Kennedy advocated growing two crops of clover and plowing both under, but Mr. Stothard and Mr. Drury contended that if both crops were cut and the roots plowed under that would give enough nutriment to the soil.

The question of whether a second crop of clover in a season was, as a rule, as good as the first was put to a vote, but very few thought it so.

Mr. Drury spoke on the subject of summer fallowing. He expressed entire faith in summer fallowing and said he preferred it to excessive manuring. His main argument in its favor was that it was sure death to thistles. He said he had never seen a successful farmer who had not summer-fallowed. He used to depend altogether on gang plows, but that being too expensive he had invented a thistle exterminating machine of his own, a wide shear cultivator, with arms about five feet wide, some in front and some behind. Mr. Drury said that after fallowing he always sowed his grain without manure.

Prof. Mills then entered upon a chemical analysis of the composition of the soil and plant. He explained the action of the different constituents of the plant in burning and decomposition. He urged farmers to preserve liquid manure, a pint of which was equal to a whole load of manure. After a little discussion the meeting adjourned.

FRIDAY MORNING.

There was a large attendance at the opening this morning. In the absence of Mr. Stevenson, M.P., Mr. Fitzgerald, president, occupied the chair and called upon Dr. Crevier, V.S., to read his interesting paper on PARTURIENT APOPLEXY.

This affection was described as declaring itself sometimes from the very first hours after delivery, oftener after three days, seldom after six or eight days. It has been seen as late as the fourteenth day and in some cases before delivery and after an abortion. It comes on just as well after a prompt and easy delivery as after a laborious one. The animal will have chills, lameness and spasmodic contraction of the legs. She does not chew her cud and she has an expression of anxiety, often changes her place, keeps moving her tail, will often lie down and rise again at once, thus indicating the presence of abdominial pains due to inflammation of the womb. The chills which last about a quarter of an hour are not followed by heat of skin, as in [illegible] the case in fevers. The animal will often sit like a dog, but oftner be stretched out on the right side, the head on the left side of the chest and if the head is forced back to a normal position it will fly back as if drawn by a spring. She will look at her abdomen. There is a torpor and dullness and the animal will let herself be moved like a mass. But for the moaning it would be thought she was dead, showing a collapse of strength. If as rarely happens the animal should stand up, there is excessive tenderness of the back bone over the kidneys, back arched, and tail hanging moveless, eye dull, dry and small in socket, with dilated pupil. Often the globe of the eye can be touched, and no notice is taken. Ears generally hang loose, legs, body and horns cold, heat one or two degrees above normal. There is grinding of the teeth with a flow from the mouth of spingy saliva like tinned tea, [illegible] coated, gastric and enteric [illegible] the general organs congested. If there is peritonitis, they are swollen, the vagina is dry, very little urine and obstinate constipation. The abdominial viscera are paralyzed, no peristaltic movement, a little bloating. If there is emphima present it is a bad sign, the heart beats hard, breathing calm, but pulse fine and rapid, 70 or 80, or even 90 per minute; healthy pulse from 35 to 50. Animal insensible, and towards the last, loss of of sight, and" persistent muscular contractions towards the end. As complication there is inflammation of the womb, often in the mass of pneumonia and pyohemia. The progress of the disease is [illegible] if they last three days and death comes, on after 24 hours.

Lampers, or congestion of the roof of the mouth, due to teething, was recommended to be treated by using soft food while teething is going on. There is no other treatment needed. Burning the roof of the mouth was denounced as a barbarous practice, cruel and useless.

The small supernumerary teeth, called "wolf teeth", do not in the least interfere with the horse's health, except they happen to deviate from the normal position, when they may interfere with mastication, but this very rarely occurs. They are not in any way connected with the eyes of the animal. Horses will get blind with or without "wolf teeth." The barbarous and utterly useless practice of removing these teeth is a practice only indulged in by quacks and ignorant men.

In regard the lameness of horses it was folly to try to have the lameness of horses located and treated by a blacksmith; as well expect a shoemaker to treat bunions and corns.

Mr. Hilliard—Do you not find indigestion frequent?

Dr. Crevier.—That is due to gluttonous eating. Treat by placing small stones in their feed, the horse will then eat more slowly. Dr. Crevier continued, denouncing the quack practice of drenching, slitting ears, boring horns, etc., for the fancied cure of diseases.

CATTLE FEEDING.

Mr. Wm. Collins gave a paper on "Cattle Feeding." Care was to be taken to avoid heavy feeding after leaving grass. He insisted on mixed feeding, cut hay and straw mixed with chopped grain. Turnips were indispensible as an article of diet. He did not favor the use of manufactured foods. Regular feeding is essential, and the farmer must use great discretion as to quantity. Stables should be warm and well ventilated. Begin to feed for profit at 3 years. Native stock does not pay for stall feeding. Better bred stock pays better, as was shown by a comparison of a low grade and a well bred grade greatly in favor of the latter.

To Mr. Davidson—It is not often convenient to give a little grain before taking off grass.

To Mr. Kennedy—It is not my experience, that feeding can be done profitably from the beginning.

To Prof. Robertson—I don't approve of feeding five times a day. I prefer feeding and leaving the stock quiet. I have found feeding dry the better plan. I give salt twice a week, and curry my cattle and water them in the stable. I feed as rapidly as possible, make beef as fast as I can.

Prof. Robertson favored feeding a little salt every day.

Mr. Learmouth favored keeping salt within reach of cattle constantly.

BUTTER MAKING.

Prof. Robertson of the Agricultural College, Guelph, gave a short address on butter making, prefacing it with a few remarks on raising stock. His experiments showed that cows deprived of a regular supply of salt, fell off in their milk and that irregular salting was injurious. Milk from cows not salted turned sour earlier and tainted more easily. He used granulated salt. There were 36,000,000 pounds of butter made in Ontario in a year, and 350,000 cows engaged in butter making. The extra profit from making butter that will sell for five cents more per pound is $1,500,000. Improving quality is the only way of improving price. This could be done by preventing milk absorbing foul odors, by preventing milk souring before cream rises. To do this use deep setting cans and keep milk at a proper temperature, best attained by surrounding the cans with ice water. The best way of getting all the butter out of cream is to mix different skimmings twenty-four hours before churning. Have the cream properly [illegible] before churning. Prof. Robertson's address was listened to with deep interest.

Hon. Mr. Hardy, Provincial Secretary, said he was passing through town and learned that a Farmers' Institute Convention was in progress. He was a little surprised that an institute had not been organized before. He believed Farmers' Institutes were the most successful adjuncts to the usefulness of the Agricultural College, and he urged farmers to do everything to promote the interests of their institute. The hon. gentleman was well received and heartily applauded at the close of his remarks.

Supposed Burglary.

Minore's bakery and confectionery works on Simcoe street was "done" for last night. The burglars were evidently green-horns in the business, as they didn't touch the safe, but confined their attentions to cigars and confectionery. They gained entrance through a window in the gang-way between the biscuit and look works buildings. From the foot-prints in the snow (large ones they are, too) it is evident that they first tried a sliding window in vain. Then they broke a pane of glass in another window, loosened the catch and secured an easy entrance to the bake-shop. Taking a knife off the table they prized off the lock on the door leading to the front shop, where they secured about $150 worth of spoil, including $6 in change taken from a drawer, between six and eight thousand cigars and a large quantity of confectionery. They cut all the strings off the window blind to tie the boxes of cigars together. Mr. Minore thinks the burglars watched the place all evening, and seeing that the traveller had just returned from a trip, presumed there would be some whiskey lying about. Mr. Minore, however, took the cash home with him.

Rather Sudden.

Owing to the fact that Lieut.-Col. M. D. Dawson, of the military school, London, who is the Grand Scribe of the Grand Encampment of Oddfellows of Ontario, has to visit the Department at Ottawa on official business, and, being desirous of making the one trip cast do for both occasions, at the request of Mr. Dawson, the Grand Patriarch, Mr. John Sinclair, of Petrolia, has decided to institute the new Encampment at Peterborough, on Thursday next, 26th inst. The distinguished visitors are expected to arrive in town by the 11.30 a.m. C.P.R. express. No doubt they will receive a hearty welcome from citizens and Oddfellows in general. The visitors will probably be tendered a banquet. Owing to the very short notice preparations are being hurried forward as fast as possible. Extra help is being put on to complete all arrangements.

Badly Burned.

Mrs. R. Carjew, living in the north ward, was last night badly burned about the head and arms. She was in the house of Mrs. Powell, (the butcher); in lifting the lamp by the bowl the bottom fell out, spilling the coal oil all over her. It ignited at once, and before her clothes could be torn off and the blaze extinguished, she was severely burned about the head and neck.

MANITOBA'S GOVERNMENT.

The New Ministers Take the Oath of Office—False Rumors.

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—After fifteen years of opposition, the Liberals took possession of the Government benches in the Legislative Chamber to-day. Mr. Greenway and his Cabinet proceeded to Government House at 2 o'clock, and were sworn in as follows :

Thomas Greenway, Premier and Minister of Agriculture.

Joseph Martin, Attorney-General and Railway Commissioner.

James A. Smart, Minister of Public Works.

James E. P. Pendergast, Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Jones was not present, but is expected to arrive at the earliest possible moment.

Although many rumors have been sent to Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal journals from a correspondent here who is in the employ of the Canadian Pacific and Mr. Norquay, stating that a lack of unanimity exists among the Liberals in the new Cabinet. They are totally unfounded. The only difference of [illegible] part in the exercise was on the selection of a Keewatin representative. The English-speaking portfolios are considered the strongest possible combination the Liberals could form, and the press are unanimous for them.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amazed. They say the Tractus some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are 'taken for idiots'; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public lamb-like will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to place it mildly, this is expecting altogether too much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales. They are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise mainly, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. Don't be head-winked, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this to-day he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, cheddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchels cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

Now don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE FRENCH AMNESTY BILL REJECTED BY THE COMMITTEE.

Release of Wm. O'Brien From Tullamore Jail—Lord Churchill and Mr. Balfour—Activity in the Government Arsenal at Toulon—The Italo-French Unpleasantness Settled.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Wm. O'Brien, M.P., editor of United Ireland, left Tullamore Jail to-day, after being imprisoned since Oct. 31. While proceeding to the priest's house in Tullamore, a large crowd followed him and cheered him repeatedly. There was no disorder.

The President of the Landtag was received by Emperor William to-day. In the course of his remarks he said there would be a further considerable improvement in the Prussian finances if, as he hoped, peace was maintained, in spite of the present uncertainty of the political affairs of Europe.

The New York Tribune's London despatch says: "By far the most interesting rumor in connection with politics is that which represents Lord Randolph Churchill as meditating a coup against Mr. Balfour. His friends aver that he is disposed to set himself against the manner in which coercion is now carried out. One of them goes so far as to say that Lord Randolph will attack Mr. Balfour before Parliament meets. Lord Randolph is still at St. Petersburg, where he remains till next week. But his correspondence is large, and no man keeps himself better informed of what is going on. Should he become convinced that coercion is unpopular with a strong section of his own party, no step he might take would be surprising. He and Mr. Balfour were formerly allies. Between them they constituted exactly half of the fourth party. They never, however, worked together very cordially. Mr. Balfour never really came to the front in public life till he became Chief Secretary for Ireland. Then he came with a rush, which astounded nobody so much as Lord Randolph. He undoubtedly stands at this moment between Lord Randolph and the leadership of the House, the post which the latter covets beyond all others, and for which he has already shown such singular capacity. Were Mr. Balfour to retire from the Irish Secretaryship, it would be, supposing that he retains his present ascendancy in the party, to take the place which Lord Randolph might hope speedily to regain. This it is, which to cynical observers, lends an air of probability to the stories of Lord Randolph's dislike to coercion.

Mrs. Crooke, a cousin of Dr. Cross, who was recently executed at Cork, has been arrested on the charge of starving her husband, a gentleman of property, aged 57, who died a short time ago. Mrs. Crooke and her husband lived in the same neighborhood with the Cross family. Stories of foul play led to an inquest, at which several doctors swore that death resulted from starvation. The jury returned a verdict that the wife was responsible for her husband's death. The woman was admitted to bail.

The Committee of the French Chamber of Deputies, to which had been referred the Amnesty Bill, has reported adversely to the bill.

The proposal to make the positions of Minister of War and Minister of Marine permanent ones, not to be affected by Cabinet changes, has passed the first reading in committee.

The committee on Municipal Law has approved of the bill for the establishment of the official residence of the Prefect of the Seine in the Hotel de Ville.

The Journal des Debates states that the ministers came to a unanimous decision at to-day's council to refuse the application of M. de Lesseps for authority to issue lottery loans for aiding in the construction of the Panama Canal. As a consequence Panama Canal shares toward the close of business on the Bourse fell 25 francs.

The French Government arsenal at Toulon has suddenly become the scene of great activity. Nothing is left undone to place a squadron of ironclads and all the available cruisers in readiness to sail. The men at the yards are working extra time.

At a meeting in Belfast to-day the Ulster Land Committee passed a resolution approving of the compulsory abolition of dual ownership of land, and protesting against the action of the Government in excluding Ireland from the benefits of the coming Local Government Bill.

The discovery by the police of a new movement among the students has led to the indefinite postponement of the opening of the universities.

Prince Bismarck has been requested by the Sultan to send a competent German to Asia Minor to instruct the natives in the better working of mines and forests and in husbandry. The first experiments will be conducted in the Province of Brussia, and the instructor will hold the rank of Assistant Governor of the province.

Emperor William remarked with regret to the President of the Landtag that the Landwehr Bill made considerable financial demands, but these, he said, were absolutely necessary in view of the increasing armaments of Germany's neighbors.

The Florence consular incident has been settled. The Italian Prester will be reduced to the fourth grade, and the French Consul will be approved by his Government.

Grand Trunks are adversely affected by the traffic returns, and in sympathy were American descriptions. Pacifics were dull.

Sir John Pender, presiding a meeting of the shareholders of the Direct Cable Company, said the sixpenny rate had ceased to bring in an increased amount. The directors desired a conference of the competing companies to decide a fair rate. He thought if the traffic developed by-and-bye the sixpenny rate could be maintained. A shilling rate, he said, would not be a burden to the public, and it would be satisfactory to the company.

The statements cabled here from New York reporting a deadlock in the Fishery negotiations, owing to the Canadian demands, naturally attract attention, but are discredited in official circles, where hope of a settlement is still cherished.

The Times has a long article on the Commercial Union movement, arguing that in the light of recent events, especially Mr. Chamberlain's visits, Commercial Union is not likely to be finally adopted by either political party.

The Times also contains a letter signed "Stewart," from Winnipeg, asserting that Canada must have Annexation unless the Imperial Parliament pays some attention to Canadian affairs. The letter only excites ridicule among persons here intimate with Canadian matters.

QUEBEC'S PRIME MINISTER.

Mr Mercier's Mission in Paris—Representation of the Province at the Centenary Exhibition.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—After a good deal of the ridiculous mystery, posing and denials for which some of Mr. Mercier's friends and organs are noted, it is now announced this evening by La Patrie—that he actually sailed from New York for France on Wednesday, that he is going to Paris to meet Commissioner of Crown Lands Garneau, and that the object of his trip is to take measures to have the Province of Quebec represented at the International Exhibition of 1889. Why, people are asking, could not this announcement have been made at once, without so much mystery and prevarication? Another story is to the effect that the principal object of Mr. Mercier's visit is for the purpose of arranging with the French Government for the Province of Quebec to be represented at the French International Exhibition proposed to be held in 1889. It will be remembered that the Imperial Government refused to take any part officially in the exhibition, on the ground that next year would be the centenary of the great French revolution of 1789, and the Dominion Government followed suit. As soon as the determination of the latter was known, Mr. Mercier, it is said, took steps to sound his supporters on the subject, and when he announced his intention of communicating with the French Government on the subject of the province taking an active part in the exhibition, he was enthusiastically supported by the leading men of his party as well as by the French Chamber of Commerce; and it is said that he intends not only to use all his influence to develop intercourse between the two countries, but he hopes to place on a successful footing a scheme of French colonization on somewhat similar lines to that proposed by Mr. Chapleau. This is Mr. Mercier's first trip to Europe, and will probably occupy a month or six weeks. As soon as the Premier returns he will issue writs for the different by-elections, and will, it is expected, meet the House in April.

One of the city papers is authority for the following story in connection with the Quebec Premier's stay in New York: "Mr. Mercier's first care on his arrival in New York was to attend High Mass in the little church on 76th street, which is the rendezvous of the French-Canadian colony. Mass was celebrated on the occasion by His Lordship Mgr. Grandin, the venerable Bishop of Prince Albert, who happened to be in New York. The Quebec Premier and his party were shown to seats of honor. After mass, Rev. Cure Tetreau invited Mr. Mercier and his friends into the vestry, where they conversed for some time with the bishop, the local clergy and a number of notables. Among the visitors was Gabriel Dumont, the Métis Chief, who now resides on Staten Island, but comes every Sunday to divine service with the French Canadians. His entrance produced a sensation, and Mgr. Grandin and the robust son of the prairies exchanged some words in the Cree language before the conversation became general. On Monday Mr. Mercier held a reception of his compatriots at his hotel, and offered a superb dinner to all the French Catholic priests in the city."

South Ontario Farmers' Institute.

OSHAWA, Jan. 20.—A meeting of the South Ontario Farmers' Institute was held in the Town Hall here this afternoon. Mr. G. E. Mowbray, president of the association, occupied the chair, and stated that the object of the meeting was to take into consideration the advisability of establishing a creamery in this section. Mr. George Browning, Inspector of Queensboro, gave his views and experience on such institutions. A motion was carried appointing a committee to canvass the neighboring districts to know what encouragement the farmers would offer such institutions. Report as to meeting to be held in Oshawa.

Postal Telegraphy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Before the Senate Committee on Postal Telegraphy, to-day, President Green of the Western Union, in the course of argument in opposition to government competition, stated that he desired to contradict the popular error which assumed that the Western Union was owned by one man personally. Never in its history had this been the case. The entire board of thirty directors owned not more than three-eighths of the stock while the other five-eighths was owned in every state and territory of the Union by more than 20,000 people.

THE ARREST OF GAMBLE.

THE ALLEGED MURDERER OF LIZZIE BRAY CAUGHT IN ROCHESTER.

He is Held in This City at the Disposal of the Canadian Authorities—Extradition Proceedings to be Instituted Forthwith.

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—John E. Gamble, the young piano polisher and alleged betrayer of the girl Lizzie Bray, who died at her boarding house, No. 69 Walton-street, in this city, on the 19th of December last, from the effects of an abortion, was arrested in Rochester, N. Y., at an early hour yesterday morning. The peculiarly suspicious circumstances under which Miss Bray died, it will be remembered, resulted in a coroner's inquest being held. Detective John Cuddy worked up the case, and brought before the jury evidence that convinced them of Gamble's responsibility for the crime that caused her death. Consequently a verdict of wilful murder was returned against Gamble by the jury. In the meantime he had decamped, fearing, no doubt, that the truth of his criminal relations with the unfortunate young woman must necessarily be exposed by the enquiry. He was first traced to Bowmanville, but before the machinery of the law could be set in motion to secure his apprehension he managed to get away from that town, covering his tracks so shrewdly that all efforts to discover his whereabouts proved futile.

Thursday night about 11 o'clock his hiding place was revealed to the authorities here in a despatch from Detroit, the address given being "365 St. Paul-street, Rochester, N.Y." Immediately instructions were wired to the Rochester authorities to arrest him, which they did promptly. A despatch containing the news of his apprehension reached here about 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

Detective Cuddy started for Rochester at 12.30 yesterday afternoon for the prisoner. Extradition proceedings will be instituted immediately.

Gamble's whereabouts were discovered through the agency of a letter written by him from Detroit to an acquaintance residing here. In that epistle he protested his innocence declaring that the young girl died from the effects of an operation performed on her to hide disgrace by a relative. The detectives had a reply penned, and in the same mail communicated with the authorities in Detroit, requesting them to shadow the postoffice and arrest the person calling for the letter addressed to Gamble. Late Thursday evening a young man inquired at the delivery wicket at the Detroit postoffice for the letter. He was arrested, but instead of being the right person it was discovered to be the fugitive's brother Edward, who subsequently disclosed his hiding place. This information they immediately wired to Toronto with the result that Gamble was arrested as already stated.

THE CAUSE OF IRELAND.

Mr. Phillips Thompson on the Subject.

Resolutions Sympathizing With Ireland—Opinions of Local Men—Enthusiastic Addresses on Every hand.

At the lecture in the Opera House Friday evening on "The Cause of Ireland," there was a fair attendance. Dr. R. Kincaid occupied the chair.

There were on the platform, besides the chairman and the speaker of the evening, Rev. Fathers McEvay and Conway, Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald, Jas. Stevenson, T. Cahill, T. Dolan, J. D. McIlmoyle, J. Griffin, Jas. Stratton, John O'meara, Dr. Brennan and D. W. Dumble.

The chairman, on opening the meeting, said he felt pleasure at being able by his presence to show his interest in the cause of Ireland, and hoped and expected the day would soon dawn when Ireland would be given her rights and come to the front again. The cause of Ireland was not a question of religion or politics, but one of "right." Referring to the claim that Irishmen were unable to govern themselves, he pointed out to some examples of Irish statesmen who had proved that such was not the case. The speaker referred to the able shouldering of the cause by such Englishmen as Gladstone, and the people of this country should support him. Another charge laid at Irishmens' doors was that they were bigoted, but this was disproved by the very fact that he himself, a North of Ireland Protestant, occupied the position of chairman at this meeting. He thought it would be a great source of strength to England if Ireland was given her rights and taken into friendly intercourse with the mother country. An argument used against the giving of help to Ireland by people of this country was that they did not understand the real position of affairs, but the speaker felt sure that the people of Canada did understand it and were doing more to understand it by bringing in such men as Dr. Burns, Mr. Justin McCarthy and others to lecture on the subject. He then introduced the speaker of the evening.

THE CAUSE OF IRELAND.

Mr. Phillips Thompson said the cause of Ireland was one of freedom, and one in which the people of Canada had a sympathetic and material interest. It was a cause of grumbling that so many poor Irish immigrants come over to this country, but were they not driven out of their own country by oppression and cruelty? Referring to the constitutional privilege of expressing one's opinion, he said the imprisonment of Mr. Wilfrid Blunt would force the question of whether Ireland was to be continually tyrannised over. Every one who spoke the English language and lived under the Union Jack had a deep interest not only from feelings of common humanity but in seeing this stain of disgrace wiped from the escutcheon of England. The state of affairs in Ireland to-day was, the taxes are levied, raised and collected by men without the authority or consent of the people. The people of Ireland really had no voice in the matter. But there were wider and greater grievances. Mr. Mulhall, who is imformed on the subject, gives us, said the lecturer, some startling figures. He proves that from 1841 to 1881 the 826,000 farms in Ireland were reduced to 499,000; and the 1,328,000 houses to 914,000. This wholesale depopulation was directly attributed to the oppression that holds Ireland down. Then he dealt with the claim that Irishmen were not able to govern themselves. Supposing they were. He(the speaker) held that self-government, bad though it be, was better than nothing, because government was of itself a process of education, and they would soon learn. It was often said, oh! there are two Irelands, that there are two classes of people, that the Celtic and Catholic element would not unite with the Saxon and Protestant element. But this he considered no argument at all, because past events showed that both Protestants and Catholics, Celts and Saxons, united in fighting the legislative battles of Ireland. But if there were two Irelands, there were also two Englands. If there was a despotic, tyrannical England, there was, thank heaven, a freedom-loving England, of which Gladstone was the head, and which was in favor of granting Ireland her rights. (Applause.) As to the claim that Home Rule was the wish of the minority only, he pointed out that at the last elections a great majority of the members returned to parliament were Home-Rulers. How absurd it was that one part of Ireland would oppress the other simply because they were of different blood extraction. The speaker said he liked an honest bigot, but the Liberal-Unionists of England were not such. He quoted a paragraph in print showing that while the Liberal-Unionist openly expressed the belief that the Roman Catholics would oppress the Protestants, they at the same time insidiously suggested that the Irish priesthood might be bribed over to desert their people. He was he said. He said everyone with the cause at heart should have the feeling that he ought to be [illegible] who have been imprisoned for upholding the right. The Crofters of Scotland and the London mob were disturbing the peace of those whose tyranny has placed them almost as low as the tenants of Ireland. The question, said the speaker, was spreading beyond control of the oppressors. The system of landlordism, he said, was just as bad for England and America as Ireland, though in Ireland it had culminated and its evil effects had reached a crisis sooner. And it had produced similar results in New York, where last year some 72,000 families were evicted, while in Ireland the number of evictions was 2,033. The Irish question, he repeated, was not one of nationality; it was the result of an evil-working principle, the system of land-owning. There was nothing peculiar about Irishmen that made them resist oppression; it was the national outbreak of manhood against tyranny, and it would be a disgrace if Ireland was content under all her wrongs. (Applause.) The fact that ever since Parnell cut adrift from the Tory party and formed a party of his own that would continually and only have in view the cause of Ireland, and the success he thereby scored, the speaker said was full of significance. It was a splendid example to others who wished to attain similar ends. Contrast that with the life of dread and fear of Mr. Balfour, whose steps were continually dogged and whose guilty fears had led him to place about himself a system of spies for protection. There could be no peace without justice, the speaker said, and while he did not justify assassination, he would say such a thing would be only the natural outcome of the actions of those oppressors. In conclusion he said though the prospects now were not of the best, yet it should be remembered that the darkest day was just before the dawn, and they must hope that the time was near at hand when Ireland would receive her rights. He urged Irishmen and all lovers of justice to stand firm in spite of all persecution, and they would gain the victory. They should be cheered by the idea that revolutions never move backward. (Applause).

REGRETS.

After the address Secretary McIlmoyle read a letter of regret from His Lordship Bishop Dowling, who was unable to be present, expressing his hearty sympathy with the cause of Ireland, and enclosing as a practical token of the same a cheque for $20. Another from Dr. King was also read regretting his inability to attend.

THE FIRST RESOLUTION

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, in moving a vote of thanks to the lecturer, took occasion to say a few words anent the Irish cause, and presented the following resolution:—

That as Irishmen and descendants of Irishmen enjoying the blessings of Home Rule in Canada, we sincerely sympathise with our fellow countrymen in the old land, who are now suffering in prison cells because of their constitutional efforts to obtain justice for Ireland, and that we express our strongest approval of and faith in Mr. Chas. Stewart Parnell, the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, and the brave band of English, Scotch and Welsh Members of Parliament who are now striving to obtain Home Rule for Ireland, and thus put an end to oppression and wrong, and establish, instead, freedom and concord between the people of Great Britain and Ireland.

Mr. Jas. Stratton, in seconding the resolution, said he had the cause of Ireland, the home of his childhood, at heart. He was a Protestant and an Orangeman, an Irish Orangeman, but he did not think that because of that he was in favor of injustice to the land of his birth. He was in favor of equal rights, justice and liberty to men of all creeds and nations, and he hoped that injustice to Ireland and Irishmen would soon be removed by the efforts of Mr. Parnell aided by Mr. Gladstone, and the thousands of English and Scottish Liberals who heartily co-operated with those noble men. In the course of his remarks he touched upon several points made by the previous speaker, heartily concurring with the sentiments expressed.

The motion was put to the meeting, and of course carried unanimously.

NUMBER TWO.

Dr. Brennan, in a vigorous speech, moved the following resolution:

That we declare that the imprisonment of Mr. Wm. O'Brien, M.P., the Right Hon. T. D. Sullivan, M.P., Lord Mayor of Dublin, Wilfred Blunt and other prominent National and Liberal speakers and journalists, is contrary to the principles of justice and fair play.

We regret that in this century of enlightenment and advanced civilization unjust and tyrannical coercive laws should be applied for the prevention of individual freedom of speech and the suppression of the liberty of the press, and we extend to these gentlemen and their fellow prisoners in Tullamore and other jails in Ireland our sympathy for their patient endurance of the indignities of p ison life in the interests of suffering humanity and the vindication of the right of constitutional agitation by voice and pen.

We trust that the day is not far distant when their self-sacrificing efforts will be crowned with the success they so ardently hope for.

Mr. O'Meara, in seconding the resolution, made an impassioned address in which he denounced the policy of the British government in imprisoning and oppressing now as they did in days of yore—tactics, he said, which were despicable and were sure to fail. He was loudly applauded.

This motion was also carried.

NUMBER THREE.

Mr. D. W. Dumble next expressed his sympathy with Ireland in her struggles for freedom. He made eloquent references to Ireland, and submitted the following resolution:

That this meeting tender its hearty thanks to the representative men of Canadian political parties who, on the floors of the Dominion and Provincial Legislatures and elsewhere, have given voice and expression to their own and their constituents' feelings that the people of Ireland should be governed by laws made by themselves, through representatives elected by themselves to an Irish parliament, and that we earnestly ask them to continue to assist the Irish cause with their powerful support, as we feel confident that until these results are attained peace and harmony cannot possibly exist in Ireland.

Mr. T. Cahill, in seconding the resolution said that the local members of parliament deserved thanks for the stands they made in the cause of Ireland.

The resolution was then put to the meeting and carried.

Mr. T. Dolan moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Thompson, which was seconded by Mr. McIlmoyle and carried.

Mr. McIlmoyle next moved a vote of thanks to the Chairman, which was seconded by Mr. O'Meara, Mr. Cahill took the chair, and the motion was carried with a cheer.

A Memory of Early Days.

Some of childhood's tender years.
Swallowed oft with sighs and tears,
How it made the flesh recoil,
Loathesome, greasy as tar oil!
Search your early memory close,
Till you find another dose:
All the shuddering frame revolts
At the thought of castor salts!
Underneath the pill-box'd
Was a greater horror hid,
Climax of all inward ills,
Huge and griping old blue pills!

What a contrast to the mild and gentle action of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, sugar-coated, easy to take, cleansing, invigorating, removing the system without wrenching it with agony. Sold by druggists. o

CANADIANS IN WASHINGTON.

A Delegation From St. Johns—The Fisheries Conference—Mr. Chamberlain Entertains.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A delegation from St. Johns, Quebec, are here urging the repayment of duties on pressed hay. They allege that under a misconstruction of the law the United States customs officers at St. Albans for several years illegally collected duty on all pressed hay shipped from St. Johns across the frontier. By a subsequent ruling of the authorities here this practice was abolished and the shippers now claim repayment of the duties paid previous to that date. They state that they are receiving every possible assistance from the Canadian Ministers who are at present in Washington, and appear quite hopeful of success.

The manager of one of the Toronto papers arrived here a few days since and subsequently there appeared in his paper what purported to be a history of the Fisheries Conference. The oft-repeated misstatement of disagreement between Sir. Charles Tupper and Mr. Chamberlain is the only one calculated to do much injury, and even it has so often been denied by those in a position to know that it should be rather harmless. It may be as well, however, to state that the description of the alleged position of affairs is wholly the production of imagination.

Mr. Cockburn, M. P., and Mrs. Cockburn are at present in Washington.

Among the other Canadians in the city are Mr. Ketchum, of the Chignecto ship railway scheme, and Mr. Chipman, Q. C., of Kentville.

Mr. Chamberlain gave a large dinner party at the Arlington to-night.

THE MILLINERY SEASON.

A London Jury Decides as to its Termination—L. and Pt. S. Railway Officers.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—At the annual meeting of the London and Port Stanley Railway Company to-day the following directors were elected: Joseph Hickson, Charles Stiff, J. Hobson, Robert Pritchard, Andrew Cleghorn, W. J. Reid, James Egan, Geo. Barrell and John McClary. The following officers were re-elected: President, Jas. Egan; Vice-President, Mayor Midgley of St. Thomas; Mr. Bowman retaining the office of Secretary.

A Division Court jury to-day decided the somewhat delicate question as to the duration of the millinery season. A Miss Law of Oshawa sued Messrs. Smylie for $34 wages. Miss Law stated that Messrs. Smylie had engaged her to come to London at $13 a week, telling her she would be employed at least until the new year, but instead of this plaintiff was discharged in the last part of November. Defendant stated she had only engaged Miss Law "for the season," whatever its length might be. The witnesses failed to agree as to how long "the season" had lasted, whereupon Judge Mackenzie instructed the jury that if they failed to learn from the evidence what the agreement really was they should base their verdict on the average length of the millinery season. The jury found for the plaintiff for $40, placing on record their judgment that the millinery season should end at the beginning of December.

POKING FUN.

The Public are at the moment, somewhat amused. They say the Tories some business men are pursuing would lead one to believe that the General Community are taken for idiots; that they have only to make a statement, it matters not how grossly untrue it is, the Public, humble, will take it all in and believe any word of it. Now, to please it mildly, this is supporting Chicanery to much. However, it is quite true that the Public don't care a button how much a man lies about his actual purchases, or about his actual sales, they are after the best value, or in other words they want to find the House giving them the most for their money—all things being equal.

33 1/3 Cents.—Now these are the figures representing the actual average SHEPPARD paid for his last purchase. The Goods were bought at Auction for Cash and comprise largely, just such Goods as are in actual demand at this season of the year, and in buying them to-day you will positively save DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR. DOLLAR. Don't be hard-wished, don't be misled with trumpery in the way of premiums. All the stuff given away only represents 10 per cent. on the actual purchases, when SHEPPARD is giving you about 30 per cent. off.

QUAKING, SHAKING, CRASHING, SLASHING.

But SHEPPARD cannot help this. If merchants pay too much for their Goods, and then have to sell at less than cost to compete with SHEPPARD'S prices on which he is realizing a profit, who is to blame? Surely not Peterborough's Great Cheapside. SHEPPARD'S MISSION is to sell Goods as Cheap as the Cheapest man living, and a little cheaper if possible, and this is how he will do it.

LOT ONE.—Piles of Mens' Overcoats, regular price $6.75. This is an All Wool Coat, well made, and SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $3.95. This knocks the bottom clear out of anything ever shown before. Also Boys' Overcoats running up to Mens' sizes, regular price, $6.50, SHEPPARD'S price to-day is $2.95. Won't this shatter the prospects of the man who is after the earth.

LOT TWO.—Mens' Suits $3.75 and pure wool Canadian Tweed Suits in Mens' all sizes $4.95, would be as cheap as dirt at $6.95. Boys' Suits, really nice and lots of them $1.95, and an Overcoat to match $1.95. Think of this, no trashy, shoddy Goods, SHEPPARD is not in that business.

LOT THREE.—'Xmas Goods, Plush Albums, regular price $2.00, SHEPPARD'S price 98c. Children's China Tea Sets complete in Gold and Cardinal, regular price $1.50, SHEPPARD'S price 50c. Satchells cheap—in fact all 'Xmas Goods at ½ regular prices.

ow don't be humbugged or cajoled out of your hard earned money, but go straight to Sheppard's where you will save Dollar for Dollar. This is a Monster Sale of Cheap Goods.

LOCAL NEWS.

High Priced Cattle.

A carload of fancy bred cattle arrived in town yesterday for Mr. Jos. Redmond, of Otonabee. The animals were of superior breeds, and were shipped from England, where they were purchased by Mr. Redmond early in the fall, but owing to the strict quarantine established at Quebec they were detained at that point for 91 days. The result is a nice little bill of expenses for Mr. Redmond, and it is said the cattle when delivered to him cost him in the neighborhood of $7,000.

A Gigantic Tableaux on Ice.

Yes, an incessantly-changing kaleidoscope, a much-mingled mixture of the grave, the gay and the indicious; extremes of every kind met in right good fellowship; nationalities, creeds, mythological and meteorological personalities, and all classes of men, monkeys and angles jumbled up together in chaotic confusion. That's about the size of it. And all flitting about on sharp steel runners, graceful or gruesome to look at as the case may be. The Canton carnival Friday evening, Jan. 27th, will be, as the bills announce, a gigantic tableaux on ice. Keep the date in mind.

A Fast Mail Line.

Mr. Jos. Buller's horse ran away from the post office this forenoon, where it was standing while the mail bags were being taken out, and in its flight down George street struck several cutters without doing much damage. Near Charlotte street it collided with another sleigh, and the mail bags, which had just come in by the C.P.R. express, were scattered over the road. The animal was stopped on Sherbrooke street, after the sleigh had been badly damaged.

A Mathematical Problem.

If a 200-yard spool of 6 cord cotton (best quality) costs 2c. at Gough's, how much should a 100-yard spool of 3 cord cotton (inferior quality) cost from a delusive advertiser in order to be as cheap as Gough's?—The first school boy giving the correct answer to the above through the columns of the EXAMINER will receive a pair of skates for a prize. dw

Land League and Literary Society Concert.

There was rather a small attendance at the concert given at the Opera House Friday night under the auspices of the Land League and Literary Society. The reserved seats were best filled. The length of the programme and the coldness of the hall detracted considerably from the enjoyment of the occasion. A large part of the programme was the admirable and logical address of Mr. Phillips Thompson on "The Cause of Ireland," a full summary of which appears on the second page of this issue. The musical part of the programme was full of merit. In instrumental music Prof. Doucet's orchestra supplied several splendid selections, conspicuous being Clement's "Echoes from Ireland" and Williams' "Irish Medley," in which Mr. F. Oliver, the clarionet, took the solo parts with very great success, his unassuming modesty, as well as his excellent execution, challenging praise. Miss McDonald's brilliant rendering of the pianoforte solo, Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriciosa," revealed a marvellous technique and a fine combination of firmness and delicacy of attack. Mr. Burdick's harmonica performance was a decided novelty and "caught" the boys immensely. Mrs. McIntyre's vocal solo, "Teresa's Farewell," was given a decidedly spirited rendition, well worthy of the hearty encore to which she gracefully responded. Mr. T. Dunn, by request, sang, in his usual perfect manner, "The Gay Hussar," and his success was rewarded with a very cordial encore, to which he also responded. The duet "Good Night", with flute and violin obligato, was very prettily sung by the Misses McIlmoyle. Miss Annie Dunn sang with great sweetness and finish Reboundi's "Alla Stella Confidenta". She has a voice of great sweetness which she manages with excellent taste and judgment. Miss Lily Begley rendered in an effective and charming manner, "Am I Remembered in Erin," making the most of the large capabilities of her rich, full, well-cultivated voice. She was honored with a recall and sang very sweetly "The Minstrel Boy." Mr. M. Dunn's "Waiting", given in good style and voice, concluded the programme of a very entertaining concert. Miss Annie Delaney furnished the pianoforte accompaniments in a very judicious and satisfactory manner.

Frankie Kemble's Success.

The following is from the Toronto Mail, respecting Miss Frankie Kemble's appearance at the Grand Opera House :—"Greene & Balasco's comedy drama 'Sybil' was presented for the first time at the Grand Opera House last night with Miss Frankie Kemble in the title-role. The play is not one of the strongest productions of its authors, but it proved entertaining to the audience. Frankie Kemble made a very favorably impression. She is an agreeable singer and a soubrette with with much chic, is attractive in appearance and can alternate her light comedy with effective bits of pathos. Miss Kemble was joined in several medley duets by Harry B. Ball. Little Josie Lloyd took the role of the child Bessie very intelligently. The play is billed for the remainder of the week." Frankie Kemble and company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House in "Sybil" on Monday evening, Jan. 23rd. Prices 25c., 50c., and 75c. Seat plan at Hartley's.

Extension of Time.

A further extension of time has been granted by the British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Company to those desirous of becoming policy holders, entitling all those taking out policies at once to share in the coming division of profits on April 11th, prox. Application should be made immediately to E. E. Henderson, General Agent, Peterborough. With all the new schemes of Life Assurance, Henderson still continues a plodder in the good, old, safe, sound, reliable and enterprising "British Empire," and is fairly entitled to a fair share of the patronage of the insuring public. Those contemplating insurance should first satisfy themselves by investigation of the claims of local agents and the advantages they offer, before dispensing of their patronage to wandering agents—here to-day and elsewhere to-morrow. Deal with the men you know and with the men who live among you. 2d1w

Harry Webber.

Referring to the appearance in that city of the Harry Webber troupe, which is billed for Bradburn's Opera House next Wednesday evening, Jan. 25th, the Marshall, Mich., daily Chronicle says :—"The Harry Webber troupe last night gave the best of satisfaction to a full house. It is one of the best companies which has visited this city in some time. All the members are artists, and little Carrie Webber excited the greatest enthusiasm. The play to-night is 'Success', and is an interesting one, giving the company full scope." 1d

The Executive Committee of the T.N.A.—East and Center—A Rather Small Attendance—General Discussion—An Appeal for Funds—Assessing the Municipalities.

The first meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trent Navigation Association was held in the Council Chamber, Peterborough, on Friday afternoon. There were present, Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., chairman, presiding; Mr. M. B. Morrison, mayor of Trenton; Mr. J. B. Thompson, reeve of Orillia; Rev. W. Logan, Fenelon Falls; Mr. W. Bennett, reeve of Midland; Mr. M. Boyd, Bobcaygeon; Mr. D. R. Murphy, Trenton; and Messrs. Carnegie and Hilliard, Peterborough.

Mr. CARNEGIE, secretary, read several letters of regret from gentlemen unable to be present. He also pointed out that members of the Executive Committee were expected to be chairmen of sub-committees in their districts.

Considerable discussion of the subject brought out the points that the building of the canal would increase the value of land through which it ran, and also afford lake front prices for grain. In spite of railways in the back country the price of grain had not been increased.

In reply to a suggestion that Mr. Carnegie should be employed to collect evidence to lay before the Commissioners, and that he should be paid for his services and fully equipped to devote his whole energy to the matter,—

Mr. CARNEGIE said that if he took hold of the work, he should like to have a clear understanding as to expenses. The municipalities should appropriate a maximum sum for expenses.

Remarks were made emphasizing the fact that this canal lay entirely within Canadian territory, and the route avoided the dangers of lake navigation, and that the canal could compete successfully with railways as to carrying capacity and rates. The opinion was expressed that as the work though a Dominion one, was wholly within the Province of Ontario, the Ontario Government should make an appropriation in aid of it.

The fact was pointed out that in addition to the grain and timber trade an unlimited water power would be made available along the route, and that when the canal was opened the resulting factories would supply a large trade in shipping manufactured articles and in bringing in supplies. Montreal, as the terminal point of the Trent Canal crafts was deeply interested in the scheme. The following resolution was adopted :—

Mr. D. R. MURPHY moved, seconded by Mr. J. B. THE MANITOBA LEGISLATURE.

A Resolution Likely to be Decided on—Norquay's Short Cut.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 20.—The Legislature met again to-day and adjourned till Thursday next. His Honor came down and assented to the one-man-one-vote measure passed yesterday.

In view of the announcement that it was decided in the Conservative caucus yesterday to oppose the re-election of Mr. Greenway and his Ministers, the new Government has practically decided to dissolve the House and appeal forthwith to the country. Mr. Greenway was seen this morning and stated frankly that it was almost certain the House would be immediately dissolved, as he presumed His Honor would grant the new Government the constitutional right of appeal to the country. He was convinced that the country, as well as the City of Winnipeg, was overwhelmingly in favor of the Liberals at present. Little doubt existed in his mind that his Ministers would be returned anyway, but he did not propose giving the Conservatives an opportunity of concentrating all their forces in a few constituencies. The late Government, after getting the affairs of the country into a helpless muddle, threw up the sponge, thereby acknowledging their inability to cope with the situation. They had recommended that he be called upon to form a Government, and at the very outset they proposed throwing obstacles in the way of developing a policy to rescue the province. Under the circumstances the best thing to be done would be a general appeal, although he would have preferred to see an honest Redistribution Bill passed first, such as the Liberals had all along been pledged to. However, he did not fear the results, even with the old bill and the lists prepared under the direction of the late Government. It is understood that nearly all Mr. Greenway's followers are in favor of a general action.

The name of Ambrose Lepine, who figured in connection with the first Riel rebellion, is mentioned as an opponent of Mr. Prendergast in La Verandrye and James Penrose is a probable candidate for Kildonan. Attorney-General Martin will be opposed in Portage la Prairie by Mr. Smith, Premier Greenway in Mountain by Robert Rogers, and Mr. Smart in Brandon by C. Cliffe, editor of The Brandon Mail.

Trains on the C.P.R., eastern division, are again seriously delayed by snow drifts. To-day's train is twelve hours late.

In the Legislature to-day a petition was presented by Mr. Norquay praying the Legislature to pass a bill creating him a lawyer.
